Residents and county staff review a map of the east fork of Nookachamp Creek and identify areas that need attention in a watershed management plan. The plan will aim to propose projects that reduce flood risk while improving fish passage.

U.S.: Review of possibly privileged Trump papers already under way

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has completed its review of potentially privileged documents seized from former President Donald Trump's Florida estate this month and has identified a "limited set" of materials that potentially contain attorney-client privileged information, according to a court filing.

The filing from the department follows a judge's weekend order indicating that she was inclined to appoint a special master who would review requests for a special master who would review the documents taken during the Aug. 8 search of the Mar-a-Lago estate and ensure that any that might be protected by claims of legal privilege be set aside.

In revealing that the department had completed its review of potentially privileged communications, law enforcement officials appeared to be suggesting that the special master might now be unnecessary.
