

Rush City Regional Airport Fly-in event displays antique aircrafts

Three airplanes buzz the field and create white trails (contrails) for the onlookers to enjoy.

The Douglas A-1 Skyraider with bombs attached to its folded wings was on display during the Rush City Airport Fly-in on June 13. Rush City is one of the sponsors of the event that paid for the aircrafts to be displayed at Rush City Regional Airport. Rush City Mayor Dan Dahlberg said the event is a great opportunity to showcase airplanes that not many people get to see, as well as bring people visit the airport. On display included helicopters, warcrafts and more.

Photos by Sarv Mithaqiyan

Huey helicopter.

Beech T-34A Mentor.

Side view of the Douglas A-1 Skyraider.

North American AT-6G Texan.

Deb Dahlberg serves breakfast during the Fly-in event alongside other Rush City Lions Club members. Breakfast included pancakes, eggs and sausage, as well as coffee and other items.

B-21 Miss Mitchell.

Rush City Mayor Dan Dahlberg prepares the eggs.

Rush City Schools Superintendent Brent Stavig (left) and others prepare sausages and pancakes (right).

