Celebrating the people who make healthcare happen

While May 10–16 is officially National Hospital Week, health doesn't begin or end within hospital walls. That's why at Geisinger, we call it Healthcare Week – to honor the many hands, minds and hearts that keep our communities healthy.

From our clinicians to our administrative professionals, maintenance teams, therapists and volunteers, every role at Geisinger matters. More than 27,000 people show up every day with purpose, skill and commitment to support patients, caregivers, members, students and one another.

This Healthcare Week, join us in recognizing the professionals who power our mission.

Our deepest thanks to every Geisinger team member.
