INVESTIGATION CONTINUES REGARDING DEATH OF INFANT TWINS

Autopsy Results Pending

Pocatello Police detectives are continuing the investigation into the death of infant twins, Gabriel R. Medrano and Tryce E. Medrano. Initial results of an autopsy, done on November 21, 2011, indicate no signs of trauma to either of the boys. Several toxicology samples were taken and are being sent to a lab for testing, which may take several weeks before results are available. Investigators will continue to look into all possible investigative information and the case will remain as an active investigation pending lab results.

No further details are being released at this time.
