Making like a banana and splitting

The strong, gusty winds the area experienced on Monday and Tuesday, March 29-30 caused a few trees to fall over, including this pine tree located along 11th Avenue SW in Cambridge. The winds actually caused this tree to snap at the base of the thick trunk sometime Monday night. The city quickly cut the tree up as it was partially laying on 11th Avenue, with only a stump remaining by Tuesday evening.

North Branch explains stormwater fees

BY BILL STICKELS III
EDITOR@COUNTYSTAR.COM

Over the past month or so, residents of North Branch have received what many have believed to be a new bill from the city in their mailboxes. The reaction to this bill has been loud, with some claiming they are refusing to pay this “new” bill.

During the March 23 City Council meeting, Finance Director Joseph Starks attempted to put residents’ minds at ease, explaining the story behind this bill, which is labeled as a “Stormwater Utility Fee.”

“We have received a number of questions and comments on the rural stormwater fee bills that have been coming from the city,” Starks said.

To start off, Starks said this is not a new fee. He said prior to this year, the fee was added onto residents’ property tax bill, however recent changes to state and county statutes required the city to bill for this item separate from the property tax bills.

“It has been in place for many years,” he said.

“Federal and state regulations require the city to treat stormwater runoff. There is a cost to implement the state and federally mandated plan - i.e. ‘unfunded mandate.’ So the city imposes a stormwater utility fee to pay for this city service.”

He added that by statute, that fee can only be used to fund the wastewater treatment program, “it cannot be mixed in with the general fund.”

Starks said when the city was mandated to bill it separately, the city sent an informational letter to all residents about two to three weeks ahead of time explaining the upcoming bill. He said they also added a Q & A tab to the city’s website, along with posting information on the city’s Facebook page.

“We didn’t include the information with the bill itself, which looking back, I wish we had,” Starks admitted.

City Administrator Renae Fry further explained that while all residents are charged this fee, not all residents will see this yearly bill. Any customers of North Branch Water & Light will have their fees divided into 12 payments that will be made at the same time as they pay their NBW&L bill. It is only non-customers of NBW&L that are now receiving a yearly independent bill.

Council member Patrick Meacham added that this new billing method actually adds transparency to city government since if the council, who

C-I Schools faces $1.7 million in budget reductions

BY BILL STICKELS III
EDITOR@COUNTYSTAR.COM

Part of the informational packet the Cambridge-Isanti School District rolled out during last year’s Operating Levy Referendum campaign was the fact that if the referendum isn’t passed by voters during the November election, the district would most likely be facing a third year of budget reductions. That prognostication is now becoming reality.

During the March 25 School Board meeting, Finance Director Chris Kampa and Superintendent Dr. Nate Rudolph gave a preliminary presentation of the district’s budget reduction strategy for the 2022 fiscal year. This strategy will result in the overall reduction of the upcoming budget by $1.7 million.

To begin the presentation, Kampa reminded the board that as a district, Cambridge-Isanti Schools is ranked in the bottom 7% in the state for general education revenue. The district is currently 308th out of 330 school districts in that one category. Compared to the average district, C-I Schools generates $6.4 million less in funding. To combat that, the district has cut $7.5 million in expenses over the last two years, yet still must make additional cuts this year.

“We’re addressing the expense side of the ledger, when our challenges is on the revenue side,” Kampa said. “The reason that is, is because revenue solutions take much longer and are the harder fix.

‘We’re addressing the expense side of the ledger when our challenges is on the revenue side.’

Chirs Kampa
C-I Schools Director of Finance

There is really only four ways you can increase the revenue. You can grow your enrollment. You can get more fundraising or grants. You can have a referendum. Other than that, you can work with lawmakers to make laws that make school funding more equitable.”

HOW BUDGET IS BEING REDUCED

Unlike the previous two years, where the budget reductions were made by almost entirely cutting staff, programs, or increasing fees, almost half of this year’s adjustment is proposed to come from deferring expenses for another year.

“They (the finance department) have been able to identify about $700,000 of one-time funding that we are going to propose to utilize towards the reductions this year,” Dr. Rudolph said. “That defers the dollars another year. If we apply that this year, that makes our target $1 million in reductions. But its important to understand when we do so intentionally and we do so to make sure that we understand that that $700,000 will come

Sap run keeps sugar shacks busy

BY TERRY SALMELA
NEWS@MORAMINN.COM

In the spring, when there are below freezing temperatures at night followed by above freezing temperatures during the day maple tree sap begins to flow. That is when maple syrup producers go to work to capture the sugar laden sap. They tap their trees and hang collection bags or buckets on their trees. Collection is followed by a long cooking process to boil off much of the water leaving sweet maple syrup to bottle and enjoy.

One family that continues this maple syrup making tradition is the Gerdin family in Maple Ridge Township located on their family farm just south of the Kanabec County line in Isanti County southwest of Braham. They are continuing this tradition that was started by their father K. Vernon Gerdin back in 1952.

“We used to tap a lot more trees before 1996. That was when a tornado destroyed a lot of our trees,” said Vernon’s son Chip Gerdin.

Last week, Gerdins had collected over 2000 gallons of sap from 400 taps and finished cooking out 50 gallons of syrup in their first week of making maple syrup. “In 2020 we got 100 gallons of syrup in three weeks. You don’t know until the end of the season how much you are going to get. Once it warms up enough for the buds to come out and the ice is out of the lakes, it’s done running,” he added.

Paul Kylander who farms east of Mora has also been making maple syrup for many years. He said that his maple trees started running a little early this year. He started collecting sap on March 3rd this year while last year he started March 5th.

This year he has 700-800 taps in trees in four different sugar bush woodlots that have Sugar, Red and Silver Maple. As of last weekend, he had collected over 3000 gallons of sap and produced 80 gallons of syrup.

Another area maple syrup producer is Phil Bendickson who makes maple syrup northeast of Mora. He said that last week he had collected some 2,800 gallons of sap from 300 taps. He hauls sap from trees on his son’s property near Braham in a 425 gallon tank on his trailer. He runs the sap through a reverse osmosis processing system to make syrup.

He said, “This year is about the same as past years. It did start running earlier. It will run as long as it freezes and thaws and the trees don’t bud out.”

Gerdins collect the sap from three different sugar bush woodlots. After drilling a hole into a tree, they install a metal tap into the hole. A blue plastic bag with a metal top is hung on each tap to collect the sap when it runs. They then collect the sap using a skid steer with a 300 gallon poly tank mounted on a pallet that rests on the forks of the skid steer. They drive the ski steer through the sugar bush and pour the sap in the bags from the trees into a strainer on top of the tank.

The sap is hauled home to their farm and pumped into a bulk tank. When they get enough sap, they fire up their wood burning boiler evaporator. A batch of sap moves from the tank into the evaporator by continual gravity flow. Gerdins burn about one cord of wood in the evaporator for each 20 gallons of syrup produced. After a few hours of evaporating most of the water off they end up with maple syrup.

Cooking the sap into syrup takes several hours. Fortunately, it usually coincides with the state high school and NCAA tournaments. So, the Gerdins have a TV in their sugar house to be able to watch the tournament games while they keep an eye on their evaporator.

Depending upon the sugar content, it takes 30 to 40 gallons of sap to produce one gallon of syrup. For example, last weekend the sap from a Silver Maple that they sampled in their yard was at 2.9% sugar. So, if all the trees were at that level it would take about 33 gallons of sap to produce one gallon of syrup.

Kylander stores his sap in bulk tanks which is pumped into his evaporator system. This year he has a new steam-away 3 ft x 10 ft sap evaporator that he purchased from near Dubuque, Iowa. It processes 120 gallons of sap/hour in a continuous flow system. It compresses and filters the syrup.

A unique feature is that the steam-away system creates one gallon of soft water from every three gallons of sap. He stores the soft water in poly tanks and uses it for cleaning the system, his garden and other uses.

He said that he has been doing this for 20 years. Why does he spend many hours a day and sometimes from morning until night to cook syrup each spring? He said that he does it as a hobby and to produce syrup for his family, friends and to sell some.

Chip Gerdin summed up why his family does maple syringing when he said, “It is a family tradition and nothing is better than fresh Swedish pancakes smothered with maple syrup and butter on them.”

Photographers capture images of the county throughout history

Since Isanti County's founding in 1857, many area photographers have captured countless images of the landscape and its inhabitants. While there certainly were more contributors within Isanti County than this article reflects, it takes a brief look at some of the earliest and most well-known photographers and their work. Bogge, Stadin, Tunell, and Carlson have become household names during various points in history when discussing area photography. One of the first studios in Isanti County was opened by 29-year-old Andrew Bogge of Cambridge. Andrew was born in Sweden in 1861 and arrived in Cambridge around 1882. He started his business at his home on the northwest corner of Highway 95 and Birch Street North.

Bogge specialized in portraits and cabinet cards, but also took many photographs of area businesses. He began taking photographs in Isanti County around 1890. Many of the photos in Isanti County Historical Society's (ICHS) collection contain images taken by Andrew Bogge. He continued to take photographs until selling his business to Daniel Stadin in 1902. Daniel Stadin, another Swede, worked out of Bogge's home studio until 1907, at which point he had a building erected on the corner of Main Street and 3rd Avenue Southwest. His timing coming into the photography industry was perfect, as the population of Isanti County was fairly high and folks from all over wanted photographs taken. Stadin not only took photographs within his studio, but he also traveled around Isanti County taking images of rural life on the farm. He continued his work until selling his business to Nils Carlson in 1933.

Nils Carlson, after having worked around the Town of Isanti, eventually situated himself in the prominent brick building at 235 South Main Street in Cambridge (currently occupied by NorthStar Wealth Management) where he took thousands of photographs over 22 years. Many of Nils' images continued the theme of people and places around Isanti County. Some of his more well-known images are those of early road construction, public gatherings, farm life, and elected officials. Nils remained at the Carlson studio until 1955. He then turned the business over to his nephew Roger.

Roger Carlson, along with his son Steve (who took over ownership in 1990), undoubtedly contributed the most photos within Isanti County. Between Nils, Roger, and Steve, photos numbered in the tens of thousands from 1955-2013.

Looking at the City of Isanti's past brings us to John Wikstrom. John and his wife Kate operated a photography business mostly around the City of Isanti and locations such as Athens, Bradford, Isanti Township, and Bethel. In 1905, 19-year-old Peter Carlson from Sweden who studied and lived with the Wikstroms, eventually purchased the business. He only owned the studio for a short period of time before going to work with Stadin in Cambridge. Peter continued to serve areas of Isanti until 1920, at which point he moved his business to St. Paul. The quaint two-story home that was once a thriving studio still stands at 109 Main Street West in downtown Isanti, directly across from the Wooden Churn / Creamery Café. Interestingly enough, Peter and the aforementioned Nils were brothers - photographic talent obviously ran in the family.

Stanford Township in the southwest corner of Isanti County is the former home of area photographer Oscar Widmark. Oscar started his business out of a rented home in Stanford Township around 1904. He specialized in portraits and studio cabinet cards. Oscar took photographs in the areas of Stanford, Isanti, Bradford, Crown, and St. Francis. Oscar eventually purchased the Wikstrom Studio in Isanti where he continued his business until 1920.

L.M. Tunell worked primarily around central and eastern Isanti County. His main studio was located in Cambridge in what today is the current Cambridge Bar & Grill building. Tunell conducted business around Isanti County from 1895-1915, the images within ICHS' archives are varied in subject matter and are incredibly well detailed. Based upon many of the images in the collection, Tunell seemed to gravitate around Skogman Lake, just east of Cambridge. In fact, the Tunell name can still be found in that part of the Isanti County today.

Readers might be sensing a theme as we look further into the county and its historic photographers. Many of the businesses started around the turn of the 20th century focused on commerce, industry, and people. Photographers made images both in the studio as well as offsite, and did so in the main areas of commerce within each town.

Readers may also note that a wide variety of locations throughout Isanti County were represented by many photographers. Continuing onto Braham, located just north of Cambridge, there is little known about the Seline Brothers Studio. Currently, ICHS has several images with their maker's mark. Research of the Seline Brothers led to Alfred and Richard Seline. Both of their occupations were listed as "barber" in the 1900 census. However, a 1910 census reveals the Selines as "photographers." Richard resided in northern Minnesota and Alfred, just north of Braham near Grasston. One of their more well-known images is that of the Tremont Hotel in Braham taken in 1905.

J.W. Rand conducted business around Cambridge and areas of Isanti County from 1890-1900. Rand took several images that have become quite familiar for many over the years. His popularized image of workers at the top of Cambridge Lutheran Church has been published in many books. Rand seemed to gravitate towards early threshing crews around the county as well. Several images in ICHS' collection of Rand's work include country schools too. Another popular image is that of the first steel bridge across the Rum River at Cambridge. It's unclear if Rand had a formal studio in Isanti County or just traveled from his studio in Rush City.

Rounding out the list of Isanti County photographers ends with the only known woman photographer. Flora Danielson was active in Cambridge between 1890-1910. There isn't a lot of information on this particular photographer other than a couple of images within ICHS' collection. There is no known studio on record as to where she conducted business, but Flora appeared to have taken both studio photographs as well as landscape images.

To learn more about past photographers of Isanti County or to see examples of their work, please feel free to stop by the Isanti County Historical Society and browse through hundreds of historic images.

SAM KLOCKSIEn is Executive Director of the Isanti County Historical Society, which is located at 33525 Flanders St. NE, Cambridge. He can be reached at 763-689-4229 or director@isanticountyhistory.org.

Concerned about latest budget reductions

Back in college, I took Economics 101 in order to fulfill one of my general requirements. I wound up getting a C in that class, and it was the most satisfying C I had ever received on a report card.

When I started covering government meetings, I once again found myself getting an economics education. And while all government finances can be confusing enough, school district finances makes that college economics class look like a first grade math class.

In brief, school districts must plan on next year's budget based on a good amount of educated speculation of how much revenue will be brought in. In simple terms, its like an employee who has no control over whether they will be working 40 or 20 hours per week having to decide if they can afford a non-refundable vacation a year in advance.

But that's not the half of it. The revenue that is brought in must be allocated to a multitude of different funds, with many of those funds being dedicated to one specific expenditure. Plus, several of those funds have to be used for only that specific expenditure. If a district allocates money to replace an HVAC unit that turns out not needing to be replaced, they can't then take that money to help pay for a teacher's salary.

Based on what I have learned and acknowledging I still don't know everything, I tend to lean towards trusting what a school district's finance director says is good, with the belief they are doing the best they can under very difficult situations. Besides, common sense says that with all those headaches, the last thing they want to do is add another one by having to go through annual budget cuts, which is exactly what the Cambridge-Isanti School District is going through.

With all that being said, I will admit I cringed a bit when listening to C-I Schools' latest preliminary budget reduction strategy. As predicted last October, the voting down of the operating levy referendum by area voters has resulted in needing to cut $1.7 million from their budget for next year. While some of those proposed reductions are in staffing, which is never pleasant, the part I am referring to is the deferring of $700,000 in expenditures.

Even in their presentation, they admitted these expenditures will eventually have to be paid. They're not going anywhere. As the popular governmental expression goes, they are simply "kicking the can down the road" in hopes a better economic solution can be found in the relatively near future.

But based on the current political climate, that seems to be a mighty big gamble to be making. Despite the state and national government's appearance of doing anything necessary to spur rebuilding the economy in light of COVID, at best that will be a temporary fix, with the government returning to their old, familiar funding philosophy once everything returns to "normal."

Locally, while C-I schools has had a history of general financial support, that support has waned over the years, with the district, justifiably or not, losing the trust of many in the general public.

If they can find a way to not have to make budget reductions next year, much of that lost trust should be returned. But if we start hearing the district has to take the same dire actions next year, especially considering the reductions could balloon to $2.4 million, any remaining trust might get lost, causing a snowball effect for the future.

For our, the district's, but most importantly the students' sake, I hope its the former and not the latter.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Countering Trump's accolades

To the editor,

Thank you, Jerry Grell for your letter extolling the virtues of the Trump presidency. You're right, no president has done more to the country than he has. I have a few additions to your letter.

Yes, Trump returned his 4-year salary of $1.6 million. Do I have to ignore $8 million that taxpayers paid directly to his companies for his vacations and golf outings? Do I ignore as much as $13 million people paid to stay at his properties to get his approval?

Trump does deserve some credit for the "Great American Outdoors Act." We also have to weigh the passage of the law against his administration's moves to significantly weaken it right after the 2020 election.

It's true, black unemployment dropped to historical levels during his term. How about the rates at the start and end of his term? Looking at one snapshot in time is like a losing Indy 500 driver claiming he won because he had the lead for one lap. Trump's black unemployment numbers started at 7.5% and finished at 9.2%. For comparison, during Obama's second term the rates went from 13.7% to 7.5%.

Mr. Grell said that, during Trump, the US became the biggest exporter of oil. If that's true, then why did we need the Keystone XL pipeline? A leak in that pipeline could have destroyed more than 110,000 agricultural jobs and $40 billion in economic activity.

The glaring omission in Mr. Grell's list of what Trump did to the country is his handling of Covid-19. We could compare US death rates to the rest of the world and see how disastrous Trump was but I'll just look at two numbers. 400,000 US deaths during Trump. Lancet, the British medical journal, stated that 40% of those deaths could have been avoided. Will whatever Trump did well economically bring those 160,000 people back?

Thanks for supporting Bluejacket gymnastics

To the editor,

The Cambridge-Isanti Gymnastics team just completed a fun season in which they earned the Mississippi 8 Conference Championship, Mississippi 8 Conference Academic Championship, and sent three individuals to the State Gymnastics Tournament. Their accomplishments would not have been possible without the help and support of a lot of people. On behalf of the gymnasts and coaching staff I would like to extend our sincerest thank you to those who helped in our journey.

Thank you to Mark Solberg and Robin Schultz for all of their work arranging schedules, officials, programs, and overall encouragement. A very special thanks to the custodial staff and to all of the bus drivers who delivered us safely to and from all of our meets.

Thank you to the doctors for keeping our girls as healthy as possible and providing the very best in care.

Thank you to our local papers for such wonderful coverage and photos.

Last, but definitely not least, thank you to all of the parents and our spouses. It was a tough season with many restrictions and the parents never complained about any of them, even though they were only allowed to watch their daughters compete in person twice all season. A special thanks to Krissy Barber, Jodi Donnan, and LaRae Klocksien for organizing our cheese and apparel fundraisers.

Thank you to everyone watched any of our meets via livestream and supported these hard-working athletes. We hope to see you all in person next season.

Celebrate Easter

EASTER IS THE time Christians celebrate Jesus’ resurrection from the dead. Gene Peterson writes in his book, The Message, “The men said, ‘Why are you looking for the Living One in a cemetery? He is not here, but raised up. Remember how he told you when you were still back in Galilee that he had to be handed over to sinners, be killed on a cross and in three days rise up?’” Then they remembered Jesus’ words. They left the tomb and broke the news of all this to the eleven and the rest.”

Easter is celebrated on the first Sunday following the full moon that occurs on or just after the spring equinox. In Christian calendars this is called the “Paschal Full Moon.” In 2021 the spring equinox occurs Saturday, March 20. The first full moon after that date rises on Sunday, March 28. Therefore, Easter will be observed on the subsequent Sunday which is Sunday, April 4.

CELEBRATING A BIRTHDAY is more than another year...it allows the adventure and purpose of life to continue. March 3 was my 85th celebration.

A pot luck was held on the Legacy Harbor pier with ribs and wings. Thirty plus boaters and a visit by our son, Carter, and his family made it special. Sixty-five cards were received. Ten percent of the cards had special greetings including a staff member offering a cake when we return in late April. There were lots of text messages, too.

One has to enjoy every birthday before they take them away. Aging has sorrows also as family and friends die.

Dining out is earlier. The 10 o'clock news gets missed but I'm wide awake for the 6 a.m. news. Naps after lunch have become routine.

Life insurance sales people stop calling but car dealers think we need extended warranties. The last new car we bought was in 2014 and we don't have all the electronic gadgets figured out yet.

Splitting restaurant dinners is practical but buying groceries at big box stores doesn't work. Catsup and pickle jars are just too big, last too long, and we can't lift them.

Health issues become more serious. Medical research, new drugs, and now vaccinations are readily available and encouraging.

Prices were very different in 1936. The average worker made $1,713.00 per year. An average home cost $3,925.00. Gasoline was 10 cents per gallon. A loaf of bread cost eight cents. A Studebaker car cost $665.00. A lady's swim suit cost $6.95. A first class stamp was three cents. Federal government spending was $48.23 billion.

Some pop culture and important events from that year include: The beginning of the Spanish Civil War; Germany breaks the Treaty of Versailles; the Pan Am Clipper, flying boat service begins service between America and Britain; “Gone with the Wind” by Margaret Mitchell is published; some popular movies were: “The Alamo”, “The Great Ziegfeld”, and “The Charge of the Light Brigade;” the New York Yankees won the World Series over the New York Giants 4 to 2; Minnesota was the NCAA Football Champion (7-1-0); Eugene O'Neill won the Nobel Prize for literature; Benny Goodman and orchestra recorded “Stomp-in'at the Savoy” on Victor Records; the Baseball Hall of Fame was established and players elected were Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner, Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson; the first ski jumping tournament is held in Red Wing, Minnesota; the airship “Hindenburg” takes its first flight in Germany; the first stock car race is held in Daytona, Florida; boxing legend, Joe Louis, is knocked out by Max Schmeling; Life Magazine made its debut; RCA displays TV for the press; the 40 hour work week is approved by Congress.

THANKS FOR ALL the friendships, column readers and God-given favors.

Good news from finance department

2021 is off to an exciting start for the Finance Department, and entire City of North Branch for that matter. Recently, the City recently received a credit rating upgrade and positive outlook from Moody's. This is fantastic news for the City during a normal year by itself, but it's absolutely incredible during a global pandemic and year in which credit rating downgrades are at or near an all-time high. Why is the credit upgrade important? A higher credit rating leads to lower interest costs which, in turn, means savings for taxpayers. It truly reflects North Branch's commitment to being fiscally conservative, declining debt burden, financial policy development and ongoing tax base growth.

In other news, the Finance Department has been busy reviewing and implementing new financial policies. The most recent example would be the Debt Management Policy that Council approved at the March 9 regular council meeting. The development of a debt management policy is a key piece to sound financial management and is recognized by bond rating agencies. It establishes parameters for issuing new debt and managing current debt and helps ensure fiscal responsibility and resilience. The department has also been busy improving outdated processes and policies with the goal of ensuring the City's assets are safeguarded and saving taxpayer dollars. The outlook is bright for the City!

You don't have to go it alone

In an effort to raise awareness, educate our community, reduce the stigma associated with Alzheimer's disease and assist families with resources who have been touched by Alzheimer's disease; this month's article highlights exploring the possibility of seeking support with care-giving by speaking with a professional therapist. The demands of care-giving can be exhausting and overwhelming. But there are steps you can take to manage stress and regain a sense of balance, joy and hope in your life. Figuring out how to work with a therapist can be daunting. Here are some tips that can make taking this step easier.

KNOW WHEN TO SEEK HELP

Building a therapeutic relationship may be helpful when your ability to function is curtailed by “feelings of anxiety, lack of motivation, feeling lost or hopeless, social issues, dealing with caregiving issues, relationship struggles, grief, family crisis, etc. If you are spending at least an hour each day worrying or thinking about these issues, causing you to feel distracted or to under function in important roles in your life, you may benefit from therapy.

KNOW THAT THE FIRST HURDLE WILL BE THE HARDEST

Meeting a therapist is stressful, especially for somebody who is already struggling. But therapists want to help. Even if the first therapist you see is not the right fit for you, or there is no sliding - scale spots left, or they don't take your insurance. Reaching out is the first step and good therapists will do their best to either be the one that helps you or refer you to someone who can. Good therapists are trained not to leave people in the lurch.

TALK FIRST

Ask for a 15 - minute phone call before you book an appointment. Write down your questions in advance (or search “questions to ask a therapist” online). Therapists are working for you. They can be considered part of your care-giving team. Advocate for yourself and ask lots of questions.

FIND YOUR FIT

You are a unique individual. If you do not find a therapist who you click with, it is not guaranteed that they will be understanding about your unique struggle or educated about what you are dealing with. There are search engines like Psychology Today, Inclusive Therapists and Therapy Den that can make finding a match easier. Therapists can indicate their own identities, along with basic information about their training and specialties.

LISTEN TO YOURSELF

Keep checking in with yourself. Is this person answering questions in a way that feels defensive, or do I feel held by this person? Are my questions being answered honestly and thoroughly? Do I feel comfortable right now? You can derive a lot of information from sitting with your own reaction to the person. The best therapist will help you uncover the wisdom inside you to help heal.

North Branch Schools are back, and on track

It is so wonderful to have our students and staff back from spring break and with such enthusiasm!

Recently, I had the opportunity to review data collected as a result of President Biden's executive order.

NB School News
Sara Paul

The data provided the first nationally representative picture of schools offering remote learning, in-person learning, or a hybrid of the two. Only 38% of grade four students and 28% of grade eight students in the nation are attending school in person (ASBO). In the coming months and years, as we learn more about exacerbated inequities, learning shortfalls, and the mental strain the last year has had on children and families, and what we have accomplished together in NBAPS will only become more apparent.

For us, ensuring safe learning environments has been a collective effort between families, students, and staff. We have worked together to keep communication lines open, and have practiced mitigation efforts to provide safe learning environments.

For many of our students, the bus ride starts and ends their school experience each day. I have prioritized riding along on bus routes to verify we are following safety protocols of assigning seats, taking daily attendance, and physically distancing students by running buses at 50% capacity.

I have had the opportunity to meet the amazing people who serve as bus drivers for our school district. I observed one of our bus drivers greeting each student by name. In his greeting he was taking attendance, which students barely noticed. What students heard was, “It is so great to see you today!” And when a student was missing, he asks about them, showing how much he cared about each rider. He often responded with, “We will miss them today.” All the students knew the protocols, and it was clear they didn't want to let him down.

Another bus driver shared the protocols for ventilation on the bus that is key to our mitigation efforts. Her clear expectations and warm demeanor made the ride to school safe and enjoyable for all.

Each and every staff member in our school district plays such a significant role in the lives of our students. Highlighting the work of our bus drivers brings me great joy! The next time you see an NBAPS bus, I hope a smile comes across your face as you consider the wonderful people that serve as our bus drivers and help to keep our students safe!

We are on track for a great spring. Go Vikings!

OBITUARIES

David C. Johnson, II

David Charles Johnson II, 66, of Cambridge passed away on Sunday, Nov. 29, 2020, at Cambridge Medical Center. He was 66 years old.

He was born on Dec. 1, 1953, in Sidney, Montana to David and Margaret (Kries) Johnson and moved to Aberdeen, Maryland in 1954 when Dave Sr. was called to service. The family returned to Minnesota two years later, finally settling down roots in Cambridge, MN. David attended Cambridge public schools, elementary through high school (graduation class of 1972), during which he managed Springvale Campground and organized/started and played hockey at Cambridge High School and was pitcher for the Cambridge High School baseball team.

David and his wife, Nancy (Hilgendorf), met at Drake University, Des Moines, IA, where they attended the College of Pharmacy from 1972-1977, and were married on Aug. 7, 1976. After living and working in Mason City, Iowa for almost three years after graduation, they moved to Isanti, MN in February, 1980 to establish Isanti Drug, a dream of David's since high school. Together they owned and operated Isanti Drug for almost 30 years where David was a pharmacist and became a pillar of the community, caring deeply about those around him and serving the Cambridge-Isanti area. After closing Isanti Drug in 2009, David went on to manage the pharmacy at Cub Foods in Cambridge and from there, the pharmacy at Coborn's in Isanti in 2017 where he remained until his retirement in 2020.

David had a beautiful voice and loved music, almost any time of the day you could find him belting out his favorites tunes or singing along to the radio. He was active in his church throughout his life and enjoyed singing in the choir and teaching Sunday school.

David's passion for flying started early and he completed his first solo flight in October, 1970. After completing college and starting business and family, he returned to the air and purchased his beloved 1967 Piper Cherokee Six (call sign N4159W) in 2001. One of the things David enjoyed most was taking his plane to local fly-ins and pancake breakfasts where he spent time talking and listening to stories of others who shared his love for flying. The Cherokee plane was the source of many adventures for David and his family over the years, including trips to Wisconsin, Colorado, Iowa, Michigan, Kansas and over the Rocky Mountains to Montana.

In addition to flying, tending to his impressive vegetable gardens and orchard, tooling around on his John Deere, and spending time at the family cabin on Green Lake in Princeton, MN filled his life with enjoyment and satisfaction. But above all else, David loved having his family together; nothing brought him more joy than when those he loved surrounded him. Family gatherings were frequent and full of tradition and laughter.

David was preceded in death by his father David C. Johnson I. He is survived by his wife, Nancy; daughter Lisa LaPlante (Doug Small) of Brooklyn Park; son Nathan (Breanna) Johnson of Lake-wood, CO; daughter Lana (Nicholas) Kuchinski of Westminster, CO; six grandchildren, Madeline and Lauren Schindlbeck and Burke LaPlante, Selah and Kingston Johnson and Lucian Kuchinski; mother Margaret Johnson Barr of Princeton, MN; brothers Kevin (Heidi) Johnson of Blaine, Steven Johnson of Bloomington; and sister Debbie (Bob) Johnson-Hill of Carbondale, CO, as well as many nieces & nephews.

A Memorial and Celebration of Life for friends, community and extended family will be held at 1 p.m., Saturday, April 10, 2021, at Long Lake Lutheran Church, Isanti. Visitation two hours prior. Memorials are preferred to the church. Condolences at www.carlsonlillemoen.com. Arrangements are with the Carlson-Lillemoen Funeral Home and Cremation Services of Cambridge.

Jack H. West Sr.

Jack Howard West Sr. passed away at his home in Heber Springs, AR on March 10, 2021. He was 81 years old.

Jack was born in Burlington, NJ to Howard and Evelyn (Force) West on July 16, 1939. He was the youngest of seven children.

Jack's first job was driving a tractor at an apple and peach orchard. From there he got into road construction. He said he really liked when he got to use the backhoe. That love for tractors and other equipment stayed with him his whole life.

He was united in marriage to Rosemary Phillips on Jan. 23, 1960. They were married in Berlin, NJ. They made their home in a few different towns in NJ, but their favorite was their house that they had in Clementon, NJ. They would often have large holiday and birthday celebrations there with extended family and friends while living there. Those were some of the things that were missed the most once they moved.

Jack served in the US Army from 1962 through 1964.

In 1977 Jack and Rosemary decided it was time for a change and in August, 1977 they moved the family to Braham, MN. Soon after that three of Jack's brothers also moved to MN. Jack and Rosemary lived in a few different places after moving to Braham, but all of them were in Isanti County. They settled in a place in the Bradford area.

After moving to MN, Jack switched professions from road construction and became a welder. His primary job was with Arrow Tank in Cambridge, MN. He worked there until he retired.

In the late '80s Jack and Rosemary decided that they had enough of MN winters, and they started thinking about moving someplace warmer. Sadly, on May 20, 1988 they lost their daughter Kathy due to a car accident. That caused them to want to stay closer to family and they put that decision on hold for several years. Finally, in 2005 they did move to Heber Springs, AR.

Jack had an inquisitive mind and he loved reading books on all types of subjects. Sometimes the odder the better. That led to some interesting conversations! He loved fishing. When he lived in NJ crabbing and clamming were also favorite hobbies.

He could fix almost anything, and if he didn't know how to fix it, he would usually be able to find a book that would tell him how to do it. He loved to keep busy. That included trying his hand at wood carving and a lot of putzing around in the yard.

When they moved to AR their property had a lot of very large rocks everywhere. Jack would love spending time on his tractor moving them to create more grassy areas as well as doing other things to make the yard look nicer. Also, since their house did not have a basement, he built a tornado shelter so that mom felt safer.

On Jan. 24, 2015, after 55 years of marriage Rosemary passed away. After that we tried to convince dad to move back "up north" but he really did not want anything to do with the MN winters.

Jack was preceded in death by his daughter Kathy, his wife Rosemary and five of his siblings: Betty, Robert, Howard Jr., Richard and Donald as well as his parents.

Jack is survived by his children, Carolyn O'Brien of MN, Jack (Melinda) West Jr. of ND and Ashlee West of AR. Jack has six grandchildren, Krissy O'Brien, Katie O'Brien, Dan (Adrienne) O'Brien, Bailee West, Hannah West and Emma West. He is also survived by his sister Jane (Wesley) Anderson of Pennsauken, NJ.

OBITUARIES

Raymond C. Magnuson

Raymond Carl Magnuson of Cambridge, MN died peacefully surrounded by his family on March 21, 2021, at GracePointe Crossing. He was 94 years old.

Ray was a much-loved husband, father, grandfather and great-grandfather as well as a respected physician and community and church leader. He lived a rich and full life dedicated to his faith and in service to his fellow man.

Ray was born on June 7, 1926, in Minneapolis, MN, the first child of Henning Charles and Ruth Caroline Magnuson. He was a very bright child, full of mischief, energy and curiosity. When the family moved from Minneapolis to the family farm in Foley, MN after Ray’s second grade year, his new teacher placed him in the fourth grade for his reading proficiency.

Ray spent his later high school years living and working on a relative’s farm. He graduated at age 16 and traveled that summer to Chicago where he visited the Museum of Science and Industry. He was enthralled by the exhibits showing the complexities of the human body and decided then and there that a career in medicine was for him.

Ray completed his premed education in two years at the University of Minnesota and then began medical school, graduating at the age of 23. In 1950, after a year’s internship in Duluth, MN, he opened a private practice in Cambridge, MN with his classmate Gerald E. Larson. The two were lifelong friends and partners. Ray practiced medicine for over 50 years in Cambridge and his little practice grew into today’s large multi-specialty clinic.

He married Janet J. Widen on Sept. 8, 1950, and a year later, their only child, Toni Rae was born. Janet and their unborn son died the following year from a fulminate polio infection. Shortly after, Ray was called to serve in the Army as a 1st Lieutenant during the Korean War from 1953-1955. During this time, he met Marie Ann Nelson at First Baptist Church. She was a new second-grade teacher at the local school. They married Dec. 28, 1953, and spent the next 67 years together. They had three children; Terri, Todd and Tricia.

Ray was a man of many passions. His faith in Jesus Christ was of paramount importance to him and he lived his faith daily. He loved reading the scriptures and serving as a member of the First Baptist Church of Cambridge, as well as supporting the ministry of New Pathways. On four separate occasions throughout his life, he traveled to Africa to use his talents providing medical care at mission hospitals. Education was another passion, and he believed that it could provide opportunities, power and open doors. “Education is one thing no one can ever take away from you.” He supported his own children’s educational pursuits, as well as those of other young people in the community. He served on local as well as a college school boards and raised money for the local community college. He was generous with his time and resources, believing that “to whom much is given, much is expected.”

Ray was also passionate about nature, caring for the land and enjoying the outdoors. He loved to fish, introducing his grandsons to “real fishing” in Canada. He planted tree farms and had his own little game reserve with a small trout pond which he loved to fish on.

Ray was preceded in death by his parents Henning and Ruth Magnuson, sister Lois Huhnerkoch and first wife Janet Widen Magnuson.

Ray is survived by wife Marie Ann Magnuson; children Toni Magnuson (Paul Kuhnmuench), Terri Rinke (Henry), Todd Magnuson (Sarah) and Tricia Carlson (Paul); brother Vernon (Mabel) Magnuson and sister Gladys Blomquist; grandchildren Emily Kuhnmuench, Tim Kuhnmuench and Stefanie Kuhnmuench, Kari Rodas, Megan Rinke, Amy Rinke, Eric Magnuson, Leah Miller, Anne Magnuson, Molly Magnuson, Erin Lindner, Kathryn Carlson, Luke Carlson and Daniel Carlson, soon to be 12 great grandchildren and five great, great grandchildren.

Memorials are preferred to New Pathways. The family of Ray Magnuson wishes to extend our sincere thanks to Dr. David Pearson, the staff at Allina Hospital, GracePointe Crossing and our church family at First Baptist Church.

Public visitation was from 11 a.m. - 3 p.m., Wednesday, March 31, 2021, at Carlson-Lillemoen Funeral Home in Cambridge. Private service to follow. Pallbearers: Dr. Paul Carlson, Dr. Paul Sanders, Dr. David Pearson, Dr. Dale Berry, Dr. Allen Mork, Dr. Al Baas. NORTH BRANCH AREA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The North Branch Area High School Air Force Junior Reserve Officers’ Training Corps (JROTC) program has been accepted to compete at the 2021 National High School Drill Team Championships on May 1, in Daytona Beach, Fla. The Vikings competition team consists of Crystal Markel, Dayna Nelson, Brianna Hendren and Gabi Hanson. Less than five percent of the thousands of JROTC units nationally are accepted to compete at the National High School Drill Team Championships. Schools accepted into the Nationals deserve high praise, as their mere selection denotes a level of quality few other programs can boast.

The Viking Air Force JROTC team is working hard to ready themselves for the Nationals, as well as raise the necessary funds to attend and compete, and the remarkable cadets who qualify deserve special recognition for attaining this unique status. This trip would not be possible without very generous donations from the North Branch American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars organizations and fund-raising the cadets accomplished.

The National High School Drill Team Championships allow the finest programs in the world to compete in drill and ceremony competitions in order to crown a National Champion in one of several competition levels and divisions. The Viking Cadets will compete in Color Guard, Knockout Drill and the crowd pleasing Exhibition Drill. Few honors can compare with being selected to attend the National High School Drill Team Championships.

Over 3,500 high schools across the country maintain JROTC programs. Over 400,000 high school cadets take part in this exceptional program nationally, bringing citizenship, discipline, personal responsibility and leadership into the lives of young men and women who voluntarily choose to participate. The cornerstone for many JROTC units are their drill and color guard teams, which perform in many local and regional drill meets. At the pinnacle of drill meets stands the National High School Drill Team Championships. In its 39th year, the “Nationals”, as it has become known, will host over 150 school and over 4,000 cadets from 30 states.

REDUCTIONS: $700,000 of $1.7 million will come from deferring expenditures back on top of our $1.7 million structural deficit next year. It doesn’t go away. We are utilizing this strategy to reduce the impact on students for the 2021-2022 school year, but we recognize that by doing so, we may face deeper cuts for the fiscal year 2023.”

In general, the remaining $1 million in reductions may come from administration and operations ($264,000), academic and class size ($736,000), and co-curricular/fees for service ($65,000). Specifically, the buildings and grounds department would see a $42,000 reduction, co-curriculars would see their entire reduction be in the form of the reduction of some middle school sports, reducing the purchase of uniforms, plus a donation from First Bank & Trust to offset the increase of student activity fees.

Rudolph said they have identified $197,000 in administration and other operations reductions, plus the net savings of $229,000 from this year’s retirements considering replacement costs.

Another $245,000 would come from the School For All Seasons.

“As you recall, last year we needed to reduce Minnesota Center, our Middle School Program. We were able to hang on to our K-5 School For All Seasons program at that time,” Rudolph said. “Now, due to a need for further reductions and declining enrollment, we need to consider School For All Seasons program again. The reduction represents approximately $245,000 and includes both personnel and operational savings.”

Rudolph said the district will be meeting with affected families in the coming days to discuss options for meeting their needs “in new and creative ways.”

Finally, $286,000 would be reduced in teacher staffing, which would include some “right-sizing for enrollment losses and scheduling adjustments.”Those teacher staffing reductions is proposed to come in the form of 5.5 Full Time Equivalent (FTE) in the Elementary, and 5.0 FTEs at the secondary level.

WHAT COMES NEXT

Rudolph emphasized these adjustments are currently only preliminary in nature. The district will now engage in listening to online feedback, conduct staff meetings, conduct board presentations and discussions, plus hold a virtual public meeting, which is scheduled for April 7.

The district will notify the staff of the final recommendations on April 16, with the board voting on those recommendations at their April 22 meeting.

FEES: North Branch addresses residents’ concerns over billing sets the fee schedule each year, were to raise this fee, it wouldn’t be buried in the middle of a residents’ property taxes.

WHAT IS IT USED FOR?

Some of the other confusion was regarding what this fee pays for, with some believing it only applies to cleaning stormwater drains and holding ponds.

“This fee allows us to maintain infrastructure system within the jurisdictional footprint of the city,” explained Public Works Director Shawn Williams.

He said the city frequently is called upon to fix or clean out catch-basins in order to keep water flowing off of city streets. The city also inspects all of the holding ponds in the city in order to prevent abutting properties from getting flooded. All of this is paid for from this fund.

Another popular service in the city is partially funded by this fee. Williams explained the gas and maintenance of the city’s leaf-vac is paid for with this fee, but the equipment itself was purchased before this fee was imposed over 20 years ago. He added if the city were to expand the program, the fee would pay for that.

MAYOR LIFTS EMERGENCY DECLARATION

Under consideration of the growing number of people being vaccinated for COVID and based on the recent decrease in Governor Walz’s restrictions, Mayor Jim Swenson formally revoked his Sept. 8, 2020 emergency declaration. The brunt of the declaration meant that elected and appointed city officials could participate in open meetings from their private residences via either video conference or phone.

With the revocation, those officials must now either attend meetings in person, or they can still attend via video if their location is made open to the public at least three days prior to the meeting. If an official still can only participate via phone, they are not allowed to vote.

Jennifer Leimaile Ho
Minnesota Housing Commissioner

5,139 households purchase their first homes last year,” said Minnesota Housing Commissioner Jennifer Leimaile Ho. “These affordable loans make homeownership more accessible for more Minnesotans.”

First-time buyers can get started by contacting participating lenders in Isanti County. Visit www.mnhousing.gov for a full list of approved lenders, current interest rates, and program eligibility. You can also view a recent webinar held by the Isanti County EDA at <https://www.co.isanti.mn.us/742/Isanti-County-Housing-Realtor-Lender-Pre>. The webinar also includes information on housing assistance resources available to maintain safe and affordable housing through Lakes and Pines in Mora.

Minnesota Housing collaborates with individuals, communities, and partners to create, preserve, and finance housing that is affordable. Find out more at www.mnhousing.gov.

Isanti, Chisago Counties in burning restrictions

CONTRIBUTED
MN DEPT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

As warm and dry weather continues to spread throughout the state, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources has begun compiling a list of counties placed under burning restrictions.

Beginning Wednesday, March 31, the DNR will restrict open burning in the following counties: Anoka, Benton, Chisago, Hennepin, Isanti, Kanabec, Mille Lacs, Morrison, Ramsey, Sherburne, Stearns, Todd, Washington and Wright.

The state will not issue burning permits for brush or yard waste in these counties until these restrictions are lifted.

“Wildfire danger is especially high in April and May because we have dry conditions with no snow protection,” said Casey McCoy, DNR fire prevention supervisor. “Once the landscape ‘greens up’ fire danger goes down—but until then, restrictions reduce the potential for wildfires.”

If people need to dispose of yard waste, McCoy recommends composting, chipping, or taking brush to a collection site. For information on how compost yard waste, visit the DNR’s guide to composting yard debris.

People who burn debris will be held financially responsible if their fire escapes and burns other property.

For information and daily updates on current fire risk and open burning restrictions, visit the DNR website: mndnr.gov/burnrestrictions.

Here's how taxpayers can track the status of their refund

Fast and easy refund updates

Taxpayers can start checking on the status of their return within 24 hours after the IRS acknowledges receipt of an electronically filed return or four weeks after the taxpayer mails a paper return. The tool's tracker displays progress in three phases:

1. Return received
2. Refund approved
3. Refund sent

To use Where's My Refund?, taxpayers must enter their Social Security number or Individual Taxpayer Identification Number, their filing status and the exact whole dollar amount of their refund. The IRS updates the tool once a day, usually overnight, so there's no need to check more often. Calling the IRS won't speed up a tax refund. The information available on Where's My Refund? is the same information available to IRS phone assistants.

Is the St. Croix River region to become a National Heritage Area?

National Park Service approves proposal; Congressional approval next

BY JASON SCHULTE
EDITOR@OSCEOLASUN.COM

Those who have lived by it, worked on it or enjoyed its features have long adored the St. Croix River Region.

Local volunteers have been working for years to make the region a National Heritage Area. In that process, a rather significant development occurred recently.

The National Park Service, which oversees the National Heritage Area program, approved the North Woods and Waters (NWW) of the St. Croix National Heritage Area's feasibility study last month after determining the plan meets all of its criteria.

"This is a major achievement," said Bill Neuman, NWW Vice Chair.

He went on to explain the benefits of what it would mean.

"It's having a national recognition for the significance of the region," he said. "The economic development potential would make it hard to oppose because of the amount of visitors it would bring in. "We've been working on this for at least 10 years. It's not a fast process, but a through one."

The proposed Heritage map would cover 18 counties between Minnesota and Wisconsin. On the Wisconsin side, it's as far north as Solon Springs in Douglas County and stretches all the way to Prescott in Pierce County. On the Minnesota side, it's as far north as Carlton County all the way to Prescott.

"We've gotten a lot of input," Neuman said, from those communities within the map. Those communities have told their stories about how their life is impacted by the River.

Neuman said the NWW worked with a writing team at the National Park Service to illustrate "how best to tell our story."

What would be that story?

As according to their website, "travel within the Heritage Area provides opportunities to experience small historical communities and reignite your interest in a past where abundant wildlife and white pine forests fueled the fur trade and lumber industry for nearly 300 years – followed by dramatic migrations of people from the Atlantic Coast and immigrants from throughout Europe."

The next step in the process is going to be one of the toughest – congressional approval. Neumann said Rep. Ron Kind of Wisconsin has drafted legislation to designate it as a Heritage Area. That's just the first step.

"We need strong Congressional support from the House and Senate on both sides of the River," Neuman explained. "We've been talking to legislative staffs on a regular basis."

If approval were granted, it would join 55 other designated National Heritage Areas in 34 states across the country. The closest ones are the Silos and Smokestacks National Heritage Area in Iowa, the Northern Plains National Heritage Area in North Dakota and the Motor Cities National Heritage Area in Michigan.

"We continue to be optimistic," Neuman concluded. "We've got good people helping us."

Rangers top Jackets in section finals

BY BILL STICKELS III
EDITOR@COUNTYSTAR.COM

Coming into the Section 7AAAA girls basketball finals, everyone in the gym knew what Forest Lake's defensive game plan would be for stopping the Bluejacket offensive attack: focus on containing standout junior Mikayla Aumer. Even the limited Ranger student section focused much of their attention on Aumer, vocally keeping track of her missed shots at the start of the game.

Besides that, the Rangers employed a staunch, physical defensive presence towards the rest of the Jacket squad, successfully snuffing out what appeared to be quality open looks at the basket off of ball movement away from Aumer.

All of that, coupled with referees who were somewhat forgiving of the physical play, led to a 58-50 win for the #1 seeded Rangers over #2 seed Cambridge-Isanti. The win sent the Rangers on to the State Class AAAA Tournament for the second time in three years. The loss relegated C-I to receiving the runner-up trophy also for the second time in three years. Last year, the roles were reversed as the Jackets took home the championship while Forest Lake was the runner-up. Even though Forest Lake was successful in their defensive strategy, the Jackets started the game equally successful in controlling the Rangers offense, resulting in a tight defensive first half with the Rangers holding a 21-18 lead at halftime.

However, while the Rangers started to find their offensive groove in the second half, the Jackets would continue to be held in check, only managing a couple mini runs that kept the game from getting out of hand.

The final boxscore told the tale of the game. Even though Aumer finished with 28 points, she was held to only three assists, and C-I's next highest point total was seven from Croix Vavra. By comparison, Forest Lake's Logan Anderson matched Aumer, scoring 27, with Greta Krieger adding 14.

Despite the loss, the Jackets finished what some were considering a rebuilding year by going 15-5 on the season and playing in their third-straight section championship game. C-I also looks poised to make it four-straight next year, only graduating one starter and four total players.

ISANTI COUNTY NOTICE OF DELINQUENT TAXES

ISANTI COUNTY
DELINQUENT TAX LIST

The following table contains a list of Real Property located in Isanti County on which taxes and penalties became delinquent on January 1, 2021. Interest calculated from January 1, 2021, and county costs must be paid along with the total tax and penalties in order for a parcel of Real Property to be removed from the delinquent tax list.

STATE OF MINNESOTA
COUNTY OF ISANTI

DISTRICT COURT
TENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT

File No. 30-CV-AD-21-7

NOTICE OF DELINQUENT TAXES

TO ALL PERSONS WITH A LEGAL INTEREST IN THE PARCELS OF REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE FOLLOWING DELINQUENT TAX LIST

A list of real property in Isanti County on which delinquent property taxes and penalties are due has been filed with the District Court Administrator of Isanti County. This list is published to inform all persons that the listed property is subject to forfeiture because of delinquent taxes.

The property owner, taxpayer or other interested person must either pay the tax and penalty, plus interest and costs, or file a written objection with the District Court Administrator. The objection must be filed by April 30, 2021, stating the reason why the tax or penalty is not due on the property. If no objection is filed, a court judgment will be entered against the property for the unpaid tax, penalty, interest and costs.

For property under court judgment, the period of redemption begins on May 10, 2021, and ends three years later. The period of redemption means the time within which taxes must be paid to avoid losing the property through forfeiture.

To avoid forfeiture, taxes on the property must be paid by May 13, 2024.

To determine how much interest and costs must be added to pay the tax in full, contact the Isanti County Auditor-Treasurer Office, Government Center, 555 18th Ave SW, Cambridge, MN 55008-9386. The telephone number is (763) 689-1644. Website www.co.isanti.mn.us.

*Executive Director
Chamber of Commerce*

As the new executive director for the North Branch Area Chamber of Commerce, I would like to let you know how very excited I am to join the team of our chamber members. Understanding the weight of this past year due to COVID-19, let me ask a question, "What is it you are looking forward to this year as we leave the COVID slump that has marked us all personally and professionally?" I am looking forward to discovery of how we rebuild and rejuvenate our lives, our community, and our businesses! Please stop into the office at 6063 Main Street, Ste B and talk for a while. Let me know your thoughts of how we move forward together. Forward is our direction in 2021!

Jeffrey Richardson

*Board of Directors
Ecumen North Branch*

Hello, my name is Jeffrey Richardson and I am the executive director at Ecumen Retirement Community and I have been given the privilege of serving on the Chamber Board for over a year and more recently voted into the VP role. After spending the last 30 years living and working in big cities I love the small town feel of working in North Branch. I see lots of growth opportunities for this community in both housing and business development. Besides getting to know the other board members the thing that excites me the most about being on the board is community involvement.
