

Davis Design Announces Promotion of Erin Dobesh and Christian Petrick to Principals

Davis Design is pleased to announce the promotions of Erin Dobesh, AIA, NCARB, and Christian Petrick, AIA, to Principal. The promotions recognize their leadership, design expertise, and contributions to the firm's work across Nebraska and the region.

Since joining Davis Design in 2015, architects Dobesh and Petrick have contributed to projects across the firm's core markets, bringing experience in healthcare, civic, and industrial design. Through close collaboration with clients and project teams, they have helped deliver thoughtful design solutions that serve communities throughout the region.

As Principals, Dobesh and Petrick will continue to mentor staff, support project teams, and advance the firm's mission of creating environments that make a lasting impact. Dobesh holds bachelor's and master's degrees in architecture from the University of Nebraska–Lincoln, and Petrick holds a bachelor's degree in architecture from the University of Nebraska–Lincoln.

