Recall Vos Campaign Advocates for Transparency and Honesty Amidst Forging Allegations

At the heart of the Recall Vos campaign lies a steadfast commitment to the principles of election integrity and the secure fabric of our Republic. Our efforts to initiate a recall were conducted with utmost respect for legal standards, engaging a broad coalition of community volunteers, professional circulators, and numerous citizens who participated via mail. Despite rigorous verification processes to identify and eliminate fraudulent entries, it has come to our attention that certain petitions may contain signatures that were unlawfully obtained.

In light of these allegations, the Recall Vos campaign not only welcomes but supports a thorough investigation into the suspected forgeries. Further demonstrating our dedication to transparency, we are voluntarily presenting over 400 signatures previously withheld over concerns of authenticity, rooted in our belief that some circulators may have violated their sworn affidavits. It is our firm stance that any individual found falsifying witness to these signatures should be held accountable to the fullest extent permissible by law.

We urge a note of caution amidst these proceedings: the process does not mandate circulators to verify the identity of signatories, a loophole that could potentially enable community members to pass off forged signatures to unsuspecting volunteers. This issue is compounded by reports of signatories facing undue pressure from associates of Robin ‘CCP’ Vos, aimed at undermining their support. To those who find themselves targeted by such tactics, we stand with you; we urge you to hold fast to your convictions, refusing to be swayed by the intimidation efforts of Vos and his cronies.

“The essence of our republic is the collective voice of its citizens. We shall not waver in the face of attempts to silence the dedicated residents of Racine County by Robin ‘CCP’ Vos and Meagan Wolfe. Our resolve is stronger than ever,” asserts Matt Snorek, lead petitioner of the Recall Vos initiative.
