Unmatched reach

The University Daily Kansan has been the voice of students at the University of Kansas since 1904. We’re KU’s only student-led, on-campus news organization, so we offer unique advertising opportunities for anyone wanting to reach students, faculty and staff, as well as the Lawrence community. We publish daily at Kansan.com, on our mobile app and in our email newsletter. We publish a print edition during basketball season. The Kansan is also your exclusive resource for on-campus marketing, from street teams to posters to sidewalk chalking.

UDK basketball confetti tradition

Reach students and show your Jayhawk spirit with one of the most beloved fan rituals in college sports.

For decades, KU students have used copies of the Kansan in a unique and dramatic pregame ritual...

UDK staffers hand a copy to every student at each home game. Students read it while they wait for the game to start. Then, they take it apart. The center poster becomes a shield to shake as the visiting team is introduced. (Meanwhile, students stare at the ads on the back!) Then they shred it, creating a shower of confetti to welcome the Kansas Jayhawks to the court.

Web/mobile banner ads

$15 per 1,000 impressions, minimum 10,000 impressions

Banner ads are the fastest, easiest way to get your message in front of the University Daily Kansan’s audience. Ads appear on the home page and/or inline within stories on Kansan.com and the UDK mobile app.

Leaderboards are our most prominent offering, appearing on web just below the UDK nameplate and also inline with articles. Mobile leaderboard (sold together) appears in the same positions on mobile.

Medium rectangle ads are our most popular and versatile size, appearing in the right sidebar on web as well as inline with articles on web and mobile.

Half page is our largest size, capable of conveying the most information. It’s exclusive to the right sidebar on our web home page.

Sizes shown are proportionally correct, but may not be actual size. Visit Kansan.com or download the Kansan app for examples in context.

Policies and terms

Our advertising agreement

Advertisers and advertisements are subject to approval by the University Daily Kansan. The Kansan reserves the right to reject or remove any advertisement at its sole discretion at any time. These guidelines apply to all advertisements appearing in the print publications of the University Daily Kansan as well as its digital properties, which include but are not limited to Kansan.com, Kansan-affiliated mobile apps and Kansan-controlled social media accounts (Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, et al.).

The advertiser or advertising agency assumes full liability for its advertisements and agrees to defend and indemnify the Kansan against any and all liability, loss or expenses arising from claims of libel, unfair competition, unfair trade practices, or infringement of trademarks, copyrights, trade dress, patents or proprietary rights of privacy resulting from the publication of the advertiser’s ad. The University Daily Kansan is not liable for damages caused by the content of paid advertisements or inconsistent reproduction quality outside its control. Ads that look like editorial material must clearly indicate that they are PAID ADVERTISEMENT; the Kansan reserves the right to insert those words above any ad.

All advertising is subject to approval by the Kansan’s acceptance committee. The committee reserves the right to refuse any advertising that does not meet its standards of acceptance. Any ad dealing with a politically or socially controversial issues will be subject to the approval by the committee. The committee shall be made up of the Kansan’s business manager and sales manager. Only publication of an ad denotes acceptance by the Kansan. Only the general manager and/or business manager have the authority to make adjustments to charges for advertisements or services. The University Daily Kansan is responsible for first-run errors only. The University Daily Kansan is not liable for typographical errors that do not lessen the material value of the advertisement, nor for any error that was visible on a customer-approved proof. Advertisement errors that are the fault of the University Daily Kansan will be credited or discounted at the discretion of the general manager and/or business manager. Claims must be made within 10 business days of publication error. After this period, the University Daily Kansan is exempt from liability due to error.

Payment

The University Daily Kansan reserves the right to require prepayment for any order, at its sole discretion. Payment is due prior to the publishing of the advertisement or delivery of any service unless credit is established. First-time clients are required to pay in advance. Accounts desiring credit must have an application approved before credit will be extended. The application is subject to approval by the general manager and business manager. Allow five to 10 business days for application review. A credit application must include contact information from three of the applicant’s recent business vendors.

Payment terms for billable accounts are net 30 days. Accounts more than 30 days past due will incur an additional charge of 5% and will not be able to advertise again until that balance, including any late fee, is paid in full. Additional 5% late fees will be added for each additional 30 days that an account is past due, and such accounts may be referred to a collections agent for payment. Accounts past due for 60 or more days will have to re-establish credit and will revert to pay-in-advance until credit is re-established. All returned checks will be charged a $50 processing fee. The University Daily Kansan reserves the right to amend these terms and add others at its sole discretion.

Materials and deadlines

Artwork and other materials must be received five calendar days before any advertisement is published or service is rendered. Materials handled after that deadline may cause the order to be canceled or a 25% charge for extraordinary handling to be added, at the Kansan’s discretion. Cancellations by the advertiser must be received at least five days before advertisements or services are scheduled, or the order will be charged in full. The Kansan reserves the right to insist that any signed agreement be honored in full, despite cancellation.

Creative assets (artwork, video, text, etc.) created by the University Daily Kansan for any advertiser are the property of the Kansan, but advertisers may seek permission from the business manager and/or creative director to reuse such assets in other contexts.
