Steel Wheels apart, but closing the distance

Quintet creates album separately

By RICK BROWN

UNABLE TO TOUR, The Steel Wheels sets about to create music in a different way. Playing bluegrass, Americana and folk music, the band skipped performing in Nebraska due to the COVID-19 shutdowns and instead recorded a new album, “Everyone A Song, Vol. 1.” The band plans to release the recording on Nov. 20.

KEARNEY — Members of The Steel Wheels call Virginia home — but they have a special connection to central Nebraska.

The quintet of Americana and roots musicians have performed in Lincoln, Hastings, Broken Bow and Loomis numerous times. Led by Trent Wagler, the band added Nebraska to its touring schedule more than a decade ago with legions of fans throughout the state.

With at least seven studio albums featuring Wagler and the band, The Steel Wheels draws from a large catalog of original bluegrass, folk, gospel and Americana music. Add to the list the band’s 2020 release, “Everyone A Song, Vol. 1.” The project began after the COVID-19 shutdowns canceled the group’s tours. They turned to a new model of writing and recording.

The band’s website explains: “With the five members isolated from each other and their listeners, they quickly shifted from veteran touring outfit to home recording gurus. Songwriter and lead singer Trent Wagler conceived of a project titled ‘Distance Together,’ an avenue for fans of the band to commission works and send musical greetings to their loved ones.”

The band created effective and intimate music, writing songs for individuals, friends and families, often relating to a specific time and place. Some of the songs celebrated weddings or anniversaries while others commemorated the loss of loved one or the completion of a life’s work.

One composition, “The Healer,” features banjo and fiddle lines that drive the story of a magnetic personality. After a lifetime of service and work, the pandemic denied friends and family a chance to say goodbye. Another cut, “Water and Sky,” pays tribute to songwriter John Prine with simplicity and depth as it creates images of a dreamy Kansas landscape and the strong personalities who live there.

Spread throughout three states, members of the band recorded more than 60 songs during the first months of the shutdown. They each contributed different lines of music to the recordings, layering the songs and then emailing the files to the next member for a contribution. Nebraska Brass putting their gigs online

By RICK BROWN
Yard Light Media

KEARNEY — The Nebraska Brass started sharing music in 1987 with the goal of preserving the great American tradition of brass music.

The group will perform a series of free online concerts starting with “A Trip to the Zoo” at 3 p.m. Sunday, live from Our Savior’s Lutheran Church in Lincoln. The program features Camille Saint-Saëns’s 1886 suite “The Carnival of the Animals” arranged for brass quintet.

For more than three decades, members of the Nebraska Brass have presented five series of concerts yearly throughout the state. Led by Dean Haist, the group also has performed with larger ensembles such as Omaha Symphony Orchestra, Lincoln’s Symphony Orchestra, Nebraska Jazz Orchestra, Dallas Symphony, Chicago Symphony Orchestra and Mannheim Steamroller.

In June, after three months of inactivity because of the pandemic shutdowns, Haist spoke about a planned online concert at the Lied Center in Lincoln.

“The last gig I played was with Nebraska Brass on March 8 in Aurora,” Haist said. “I haven’t performed with any other musicians for three months, which is unheard of in my career. We’re a bit anxious on our end because we have to social distance for this. We have to be at least 6 feet apart.”

The online performance went well enough that Haist created an entire season of online concerts. Fans of brass quintet music can enjoy the free concerts through June. The schedule includes:

- Sunday — “Trip to the Zoo” from Our Savior’s Lutheran Church
- Dec. 20 — A Nebraska Brass Christmas featuring holiday

In this graphic novel, everyone pays

By ANDREW A. SMITH
Tribune News Service

Ready to curl up with a good graphic novel? Here is a good one:

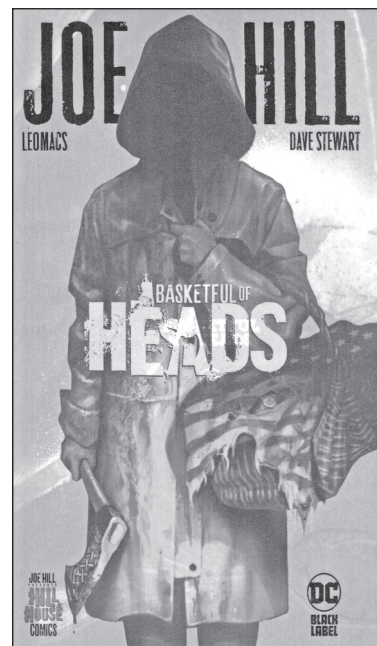

DC Comics has launched a horror line called Hill House Comics, starring writer Joe Hill, beginning with “Basketful of Heads” ($24.99). You might wonder why this Hill fella rates his own line of comics, but you can stop wondering when I whisper that he’s the son of Stephen King, which he does not advertise.

Nor should he, as he clearly can stand on his own. “Basketful of Heads” is not only scary, it’s a thrill ride full of memorable characters and plot twists that even this veteran didn’t see coming.

The lead character is an ordinary teenage girl named June Branch who finds herself in extraordinary circumstances. Like: a whole lot of people trying to kill her, for reasons she doesn’t understand. It’s her story, and Hill never lets us forget that she isn’t a spy or a stone killer or a superhero or anything else that would help her cope.

Oh, have I not mentioned the axe yet? Well, it’s important plot-wise, in that it’s responsible for the titular heads. But honestly, this one magic bit — and it’s only one — is sold as straight forwardly as everything else. Plus it doesn’t really affect the plot that much, making it almost background for June’s adventure. An adventure, I hasten to add, where everyone has a price to pay. Even June.

KSO kicking off the holidays Tuesday

Gaines to lead musicians in seven festive pieces online

By RICK BROWN
Yard Light Media

KEARNEY — Music often connects listeners to the traditions, moods and festivities of holidays.

Alison Gaines, director of the Kearney Symphony Orchestra, hopes to celebrate the upcoming holidays with a concert featuring music by Bach, Beethoven, Mozart as well as more modern composers like Scott Joplin and Edward Elgar.

“Holiday Kick-Off” acknowledges a variety of holidays — Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year’s, Kwanzaa as well as Hanukkah.

“There really isn’t a big repertoire of Thanksgiving music,” Gaines said. “Ralph Vaughan Williams has a piece for choir and orchestra called ‘Song of Thanksgiving,’ but Thanksgiving is a more recent holiday than Christmas. Christmas has had a lot of years to get some repertory going.”

The Kearney Symphony Orchestra usually presents a holiday concert between Thanksgiving and Christmas. This year, because of the COVID-19 shutdowns and restrictions, Gaines decided to program a free livestreamed concert 10 days before Thanksgiving. The orchestra will present “Holiday Kick-Off” at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. To access the video, visit unk.edu.

“Because it’s happening before Thanksgiving instead of its usual first week of December, we’re calling the concert ‘Holiday Kick-Off,’” she said. “We will use the same format we had in our first concert this season: Brass and percussion playing first, followed by music from the woodwinds and then the strings.”

Although Gaines moved to Kearney from the Chicago area in 2018 to direct the orchestra and to teach at the University of

Welcome to Lollipop Woods

Food Network brings 'Candy Land' to life

By MICHELLE ROSE
TV Media

With its candy-themed visuals and “no math or reading required” gameplay, “Candy Land” was probably one of the first board games you or your children (or your friends’ children) ever played.

Kristin Chenoweth

Different versions and new game features have been introduced throughout the years, including the addition of characters in 1984. Even today, about 1 million copies are sold each year. It’s one of those games that most people remember fondly, and that sense of nostalgia is exactly what Food Network is tapping into with its new competition series.

Premiering Sunday on Food Network, “Candy Land” is a sweet new series that brings the Hasbro board game to life. Multi-talented actress Kristin Chenoweth (“Pushing Daisies”) is your host for all six episodes but, like Netflix’s “Crazy Delicious,” the true star of the series might be its set design.

Gumdrop Mountains, Lollipop Woods, Peppermint Forest and more — these are the locations featured in the game, and wait until you see them reimaged as life-sized, edible settings. Expect to see a real-life gingerbread house at Chocolate Mountain and plenty of lemons growing on the vine in Lemon Lime Springs.

Yes, finally, there is some actual candy involved with this version

Nebraska at Kearney, she had ties to Nebraska.

“For Thanksgiving, my partner Ben and I would travel to northeast Nebraska to stay in the farmhouse of his uncle near Stanton,” Gaines said. “We’re not doing that this year, for the first time in eight years, because of the shutdowns.”

To help find comfort during these challenging times, Gaines selected music that celebrates a variety of holidays. The program includes:

Brass and percussion

■ Trumpet Voluntary by Jeremiah Clarke (1674-1707)

■ “The Easy Winners” by Scott Joplin (1868-1917)

■ “Nimrod” from “Enigma Variations” by Edward Elgar (1857-1934)

Woodwinds and percussion with members of First Lutheran Church's Bell Choir

■ “Sleighride,” German Dance No. 2 by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (1756-1791)

■ Military March by Ludwig van Beethoven (1770-1827)

Strings with Franzika Brech, flute soloist

■ Capriol Suite by Peter War-

lock (1894-1930)

■ Orchestral Suite No. 2 for strings and flute solo by Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750)

“To me, ‘Sleighride’ by Mozart evokes the oncoming of winter,” the director said. “Peter Warlock’s piece, ‘Capriol Suite,’ imitates music of the Renaissance and early Baroque periods. Music like ‘Greensleeves’ and other carols are often associated with the Christmas season and this piece often echoes that type of music.”

The performance also features “Nimrod” from Elgar’s “Enigma Variations.” Gaines programmed this piece of evocative and contemplative music as a remembrance of those who have passed away because of the pandemic.

of “Candy Land.” But forget about drawing a card to advance; it’s a Food Network cake and candy competition after all, so there will be challenges to complete along the way.

In each of the six episodes, the teams of professional cake and sugar artists will have to step into these candy-themed lands to forage for unique flavors and ingredients to create sugary masterpieces. They’ll have to present their confections to “Spring Baking Championship” winner Nacho Aguirre and Food Network’s Aarti Sequeira, who will judge the showpieces based on creativity, technical execution and how well they incorporated the candies from each land.

The judges determine which team can move along the game path, and the first team to make it to King Kandy’s Castle wins the game and the $25,000 grand prize. Of course, there will be a few “curveballs” that will test the contestants’ skills, and the challenges will range from designing an edible means of transportation to a one-of-a-kind gift worthy of King Kandy himself.

Immediately after the premiere on Sunday, Food Network will air a one-hour special hosted by designer David Bromstad, who will take viewers behind the scenes to see how the set was created. And if you’re still craving more, check out FoodNetwork.com for the exclusive web series “Inspired by Candy Land,” in which baker Dan Langan creates more confections inspired by the board game.

Brubaker said of the project: “Process has a great deal to do with the outcome of a creative undertaking. Some of the pressure is off when you are just at home, instead of at an expensive studio, so you might take some risks that you wouldn’t usually. Also, we were working at a pretty fast pace, so you just had to trust your first instinct and not overthink it.”

Part by part, the songs were arranged and recorded, often with little discussion as to who was providing which part, or even what instruments should be included. The band relied on their years of musical camaraderie and intuition to imagine the whole, adding their voices while being careful to leave room for the next in line.

The Steel Wheels created “Everyone A Song, Vol. 1” from a desire to close the distance created in the midst of the pandemic, Wagler noted.

“Maybe I was dreaming of being an essential worker,” he said. “It made me ask the question: What’s essential about music? It’s the connection, the understanding, the beauty and magic of melodies that transcend us with the words that say, ‘You there, I see you, and you see me, and doesn’t it feel good to not be alone in the world?’ That’s what art has to offer, especially right now. And planting real stories right in the middle of it kind of pushed aside any other pretense or distraction about being cool or whatever.”

What's new on Netflix

“The Crown” Season 4

Treat yourself like royalty and tune in to Season 4 of “The Crown,” debuting Sunday. Nominated for more than 170 awards and winning 65 – three of which were Golden Globes – “The Crown” tells a dramatized version of the story of Queen Elizabeth II from her wedding in 1947 up to the present day. Starring Claire Foy, Olivia Coleman and Imelda Staunton as Queen Elizabeth II through various stages of her life, this biographical drama series has become known for its attention to detail with respect to the costumes and set design, as well as, of course, the superb acting. Season 4 will focus on the time period between 1977 and 1990 and will introduce Australian actress Elizabeth Debicki in the role of Lady Diana Spencer – something many fans have been waiting years for. Another notable character joining the plot this year will be Britain’s notorious “Iron Lady,” Prime Minister Margaret “Maggie” Thatcher (Gillian Anderson) – there is even the very likely possibility that we will get to meet princes William and Harry this season, given that both of their births fall within Season 4’s timeframe.

“The Boss Baby: Back in Business” Season 4

This baby boss is back in the office once more on Tuesday. This computer-generated cartoon series tells the story of Boss Baby (JP Karliak), a white-collar employee in the corporate world with the baby-creation company, Baby Corp., as he tries his best to balance his work life with his home life with the help of his brother, Tim (Pierce Gagnon).

“Alien Xmas” (2020)

“Alien Xmas” comes to Netflix on Nov. 20. When kleptomaniac aliens descend to Earth and try to steal away its gravity, the only thing able to save the planet from certain chaos is the spirit of Christmas ... and a tiny extraterrestrial named X. Based on a 2015 story book of the same name by Jim Strain and Stephen and Charles Chiodo – two of the three Bronx-born brothers of “Killer Klowns from Outer Space” (1988) fame – they have been working tirelessly ever since to turn it into a stop-motion animated film.

What's new on Hulu

“No Man’s Land”

“No Man’s Land” comes to Hulu on Wednesday. Despite his family’s belief that his sister (Mélanie Thierry) died during a suicide bombing in Egypt two years earlier, a young French man named Antoine (Félix Moati) – believing to have seen her in a news reel – travels to Syria to attempt to find her. With the threat of ISIS looming and the knowledge that his sister now may be fighting the terrorist group as a part of the YPJ women’s protection unit, Antoine has to decide whether he should risk everything to find his sister and bring her home or let her stay with the group she has come to see as family, and with whom she’ll continue to fight for the freedom of others. This Oded Ruskin-directed (“Absentia”) series also stars Simon Harrison, James Krishna Floyd, James Purefoy, Dean Ridge and newcomer Jo Ben Ayed in significant roles.

“Animaniacs”

Calling all cartoon-heads, ‘90s babies and Fanimaniacs! The animated-creature sensation “The Animaniacs” has risen from the dead and is coming directly to Hulu on Nov. 20. In this new iteration of the zany, slapstick comedy adventure series, main characters Yakko, Wakko and Dot will discover new trends from Beyoncé to social media, learn the meaning of the term “catfishing” and get up to plenty of the same antics for which we know and love them.

“Mouse” premieres Wednesday. From the team behind the Disney Channel’s Emmy-winning “Mickey Mouse” animated shorts, this new series will release two shorts every Friday beginning on Nov. 27, following its premiere next Wednesday. These shorts each last seven minutes.

“The Lego Star Wars Holiday Special” (2020)

Tune in on Tuesday for the premiere of its new holiday film, “The Lego Star Wars Holiday Special.” Rey (Daisy Ridley) sets off on a solo adventure to gain a deeper knowledge of The Force while her friends prepare for Life Day back home. When she stumbles upon a mysterious temple along the way, Rey is launched into a cross-timeline journey. Now, the only question is: will she make it back in time for Life Day?

What's new on Prime

“Small Axe”

Step into a world rich with delicious food, powerful music and strong community as “Small Axe” debuts its first episode Nov. 20 on Prime. Marketed as “a collection of five films,” this British-American anthology series focuses on the lives and hardships of the large but under-represented community of Black West Indians in London, England, between 1969 and 1982. Inspired by true events, each episode (to be released every Friday between Nov. 20 and Dec. 18) follows a person or series of events that had a remarkable effect on the community at large – whether for better or for worse. Kicking things off with an unbelievably timely two-hour episode detailing the riots and trial centering on The Mangrove Nine, each subsequent episode will run one hour in length.

Take a “paws” from the daily grind to tune in to “The Pack,” premiering Nov. 20 on Prime. Twelve people and their furry forever-friends travel around the world to complete various tasks in this “Amazing Race”-esque adventure show with a canine twist. Hosted by celebrity dog Lucy and her human companion, world gold medal skier Lindsey Vonn (because, let’s face it, in this series the dogs get top billing!), the 12 teams compete within the pack for a chance to win the grand prize of $500,000 and an additional $250,000 to be donated to an animal charity of their choosing.

“Christmas Crush” (2019)

Be careful what you wish for this holiday season because you just might get ... your next-door neighbor? Inject a little fun-loving romance into your schedule on Sunday. When Addie (Cindy Sampson), under the influence of the holiday spirit and an ill-guided piece of advice from a friend in her building, wishes that her neighbor would fall in love with her, her wish comes true – sort of. Failing to specify which neighbor – she meant the cute, “normal” one named Sam

(Robin Dunne) – she accidentally causes her new and rather over-the-top neighbor Pete (Chris Violette) to fall head over heels in love with her. Addie must find a way to break the Christmas love spell and return her life – and Pete’s – to the way it was intended to be.

SUDOKU

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku.

This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's how it works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each column, row and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes.

Stars to sing for nurses on Thanksgiving

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Stevie Wonder, Celine Dion and Gloria Estefan will be among the entertainers honoring nurses in a star-studded benefit virtual concert on Thanksgiving.

Nurse Heroes announced Tuesday that the concert called Nurse Heroes Live will stream on the organization's YouTube and Facebook along with LiveX-Live at 6 p.m. Nov. 26. The benefit will provide money for a variety of programs including scholarships for nurses and their children.

Whoopi Goldberg will host the concert with special appearances by Oprah Winfrey and Billy Crystal.

Other performers include Josh Groban, Black Eyed Peas, Pitbull, The Wailers, Carole King, Maluma and Andrea Bocelli.

Taylor Swift will donate a signed collectible edition "Folklore" guitar, which will be auctioned for the benefit of the Nurses Heroes Foundation.

Aunty Donna an Australian group obsessed with Wisconsin

By ROB THOMAS
Lee Enterprises

They may be based in Melbourne, but it's clear that the members of the Australian sketch comedy troupe Aunty Donna have Wisconsin in their blood.

Doing an interview to promote their new Netflix show, "Aunty Donna's Big Ol' House of Fun," which premiered Wednesday, the trio displays such a rich and deep knowledge of the Badger State that it's almost as if they're glancing at Wikipedia on their phones during the interview.

"We're just sitting here in Melbourne, Australia, pining for the Cave of the Mounds," Broden Kelly said. "We love to go to Wisconsin and see that cave, see those mounds."

"Not only do we want to see the Cave of the Mounds, we're very happy to see other caves and other mounds in Wisconsin," Mark Bonanno said.

"The suits up at Netflix, they said, 'There's too many Cave of the Mounds references in the show!,'" Zach Ruane said. "But we said we're going to keep them because our Wisconsin fans are No. 1."

"And if we let them take out references to Cave of the Mounds, the next thing they'll want is to take out the references to Historic Cedarburg," Kelly said. "And then goes the Wisconsin State Capitol, and the Olbrich Botanical Gardens, and then the National Railroad Museum. And then where are we?"

"We did have to cut those references for time, sorry," Ruane continued. "There was that one sketch where for five minutes we just yelled 'America's Dairyland! America's Dairyland!' But I think that also got cut for time."

"I would love your audience to know that there's a door on the front of our house in the Netflix series," Kelly said. "And that is obviously a reference to Door County."

Interviewing Aunty Donna is a wild ride (as I discovered when they came through Madison in 2018), as the three members of the group, who have been together for almost a decade, embark on extended absurdist riffs together. The greatest compliment one can pay their Netflix show is that it keeps their distinctively bizarre comic spirit intact, with each of the six episodes jam-packed with sight gags, clever wordplay, boffo musical numbers and the occasional talking dishwasher.

Netflix

At a time when we're still in the grips of a global pandemic and a fraught post-election season, it's as if the members of Aunty Donna knew in advance that we'd be craving something silly right now.

The show features cameos by "Weird Al" Yankovic, Paul F. Tompkins and Kirsten Schaal (who poignantly provides the voice of that dishwasher). Ed Helms of "The Office" serves as one of the executive producers, and appears on screen as "Egg Helms," the trio's cruel boss.

In encouraging Netflix subscribers to watch their show, the members of Aunty Donna said there may be a special Easter Egg at the end of the series, although that could not be confirmed as of press time.

"If you watch all six episodes in succession, there's like a little hack that at the end of the sixth episode, a vaccine for COVID comes up," Kelly said. "You have to watch all six. If you watch one or two, it doesn't come up."

"You might find that sounds so ridiculous," Bonanno said. "So why not roll those dice and just see? Because I'm sure you wouldn't be disappointed if you got to the end and there was no cure because that sounds impossible. Maybe there's a chance. So just try!"
