Mrs. Arlene Peterson, receptionist at the La Crosse County Chamber of Commerce, puts her stamp of approval on this four and one-half foot likeness of Chief Hiawatha. The statue is a model for a proposed 25-foot creation which interested persons hope to place in Riverside Park. But first various civic and official bodies must approve. Then the cost of making the tourist-attraction idea, estimated at $2,500, must be raised. Anthony D. Zimmerhakl, a public school art instructor, made the smaller model and would shape the larger, permanent one.—Tribune Photo.
