

Madison-to-La Crosse transmission line route

The Badger Coulee high-voltage transmission line will be built along a 180-mile route from north of La Crosse to the Madison area, state regulators decided, in a preliminary ruling Thursday. They say it is needed to strengthen power supplies in western Wisconsin and to tie into wind power in the northern plains.

