

Forecast for Saturday, July 4, 2026

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: Thunderstorms and some showers will overspread much of the eastern half of the country during the day today. Storms are most likely to become severe from Colorado to the mid-Atlantic and New England coasts with high winds, flash flooding and hail. Much of the western third of United States will be dry and generally sunny.

©2026 AccuWeather, Inc.