

Forecast for Friday, February 6, 2026

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: A storm is expected to spread gusty winds and snow from the Great Lakes to Virginia and New Jersey today. Snow is anticipated to lead to slippery travel across the region. In addition, Arctic air will begin to move in at night. It will be largely dry with temperatures above the historical average from the Plains to the West Coast.

©2026 AccuWeather, Inc.

AccuWeather.com | Associated Press

Weather Maps