

Forecast for Sunday, July 26, 2026

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: Thunderstorms, some severe, will rumble in the Great Lakes tomorrow. Any severe storm will be capable of producing damaging winds and hail. Elsewhere, afternoon thunderstorms will dot the Southeast and Southwest. The rest of the nation can expect dry weather. As dangerous heat builds in the Plains, it will be cooler in the Pacific Northwest.

©2026 AccuWeather, Inc.