

Forecast for Wednesday, January 7, 2026

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: A storm will depart the Northeast today. The rest of the eastern two-thirds of the country will be dry as a warmup continues; a few record highs may be challenged. Rain will fall on part of the interior Southwest, including Phoenix and Tucson, Arizona. Rain and snow are in store for the Pacific Northwest, with heavy snow in the Cascades.

©2026 AccuWeather, Inc.

AccuWeather.com | Associated Press

Weather Maps