

Forecast for Monday, July 27, 2026

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: A building heat dome will spread dry weather and temperatures 5-15 degrees above average from Texas to Minnesota tomorrow. On the periphery of the heat dome, thunderstorms, some severe, will rumble in the Great Lakes and Rockies. There may be damaging winds and hail. It will be dry, yet cooler, as a few showers dot the Pacific Northwest.
