

Forecast for Friday, July 31, 2026

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: It will turn much sunnier and drier across much of the East tomorrow, but conditions will remain wet in the Southeast and Florida. Rounds of thunderstorms, some severe, will traverse northern portions of the Plains into the Midwest, bringing heavy rain. A notable heat wave will build across much of the West, but not in the Pacific Northwest.

©2026 AccuWeather, Inc.