

Forecast for Saturday, December 27, 2025

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: Dry weather is expected for the West Coast today, while a few snow showers occur across the Rockies. A storm will be moving off the East Coast, with a little ice and snow left across the Northeast in the morning. From the Plains to the Southeast, dry and unseasonably warm weather will persist, but there can be patchy dense fog early.

©2025 AccuWeather, Inc.