

Forecast for Wednesday, July 22, 2026

Bands separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: Tropical Storm Bertha will bring a risk of flooding downpours, strong winds and storm surge from coastal Alabama to eastern Louisiana tomorrow. Thunderstorms from South Carolina to Delaware and across New England can produce localized damaging wind gusts. Storms will also spread across the Rockies, while the Midwest turns cooler.

©2026 AccuWeather, Inc.