

Forecast for Thursday, September 17, 2026

Lines separate high temperature zones for the day.

NATIONAL SUMMARY: Heavy thunderstorms will occur across the Rocky Mountains and Southwest tomorrow. There may be flash flooding, debris flows and gusty winds. Thunderstorms will also extend from Missouri to New England. It will be mostly dry in the Plains and Southeast as heat builds. Cooler air will linger across the rest of the nation.

©2026 AccuWeather, Inc.