The exciting effects of fiber-optic lights usher in a new look in a tabletop tree from Thomas Kinkade and The Bradford Exchange. Inspired by the northern lights, the Thomas Kinkade “Holiday Sparkle” Tabletop Tree is adorned with fiber-optics that pulsate with alternating colors for a mesmerizing effect.

Standing 18” tall, this tree is crafted from materials that recreate the look of pine. Sprinkled with glittering snow, it is adorned with more than 20 ornaments that reflect hundreds of fiber optics. At the touch of a button, the lights dance with brilliant colors, while a star shines at the top. More lights shine from within the village that forms the base of the tree, which is circled by a moving train as a medley of 8 carols plays.
