Can we talk frugal?

Good jewelry isn't an every day, impulse purchase. It's something to be carefully considered, excitedly anticipated, and for most of us, worked into the family budget—especially the pieces that honor major lifecycle events and are destined to become part of the family portfolio.

Layaway, or The Rewards of Patience

At Studio Jewelers, we have an interest-free layaway program to help you to buy the really special things you want without the added cost of buying on credit. A layaway purchase insures that the one-of-a-kind piece that's tugging on your heartstrings won't get away, and that you can buy it affordably, with monthly payments. And when you make your last payment and take it home, you have the satisfaction of knowing it's yours, free and clear—and you paid not one penny extra for it. It's an old-fashioned idea, we know (in these days of instant gratification and high-interest credit cards) but we prefer to leave the money lending to the banks.

Studio Jewelers is filled with beautiful, creative, hand-crafted pieces, jewelry that delights the eye and does honor to the person who wears it. The independent artists and studios represented here were carefully chosen, both for the quality of their work and the value in it. We're not the biggest or the blingiest—or the most expensive—jewelry store in town, but we do have arguably the best selection of unique, hand made jewelry, in a full range of prices. We also do expert restringing, jewelry repair, and remounting. If you've never been in, please come by and get to know us.
