

City's projected long-term maintenance of Overture Center

The city would borrow money to pay for most of Overture Center's major maintenance resulting in growing debt service for 15 years. This graph assumes "negotiable" costs between the city and a nonprofit operation are split in half.

Annual debt service payments (millions)

SOURCE: City of Madison

The Capital Times