Angels Among Us is supporting a record number of pediatric cancer families amid a global pandemic. 2020 has been a difficult year for all, and for the childhood cancer families living in and being treated in our state, this year has brought additional financial hardship, fear, and many unknowns. Angels Among Us has already supported more than 115 families and given over $400,000 in support by paying rent, mortgage, utilities, car payments, medical bills, and other expenses—all to try and help keep families focused on what matters most: their sick child.

Due to a child's cancer diagnosis, one parent is often either forced to leave their job or loses their job, and during COVID-19 many of our families have experienced additional income loss. Angels Among Us has needed to provide additional emergency support to some families to keep them afloat during this difficult year, a year where Angels Among Us is experiencing a funding gap. Three in-person events were either canceled completely or moved to a virtual platform, resulting in less income, and Angels Among Us needs you this holiday season.

NEVER Surrender

Angels Among Us
Childhood Cancer
Doesn't Stop When a Pandemic Hits

We ask the Omaha community to consider getting involved if you are able. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Angels Among Us will be left short of its budgeted goal, and in order to help keep its financial commitments to childhood cancer families, a $40,000 end-of-year goal has been set. Please consider giving amounts such as $500, which covers a rent/mortgage payment for the month; $300, which is the average car payment; or $100 to help pay utilities. In a year where Angels Among Us is needed most by pediatric cancer families, Angels Among Us needs the Omaha community the most.

Please consider giving generously at myangelsamongus.org, sending a check to Angels Among Us | 3858 Jones Street, Suite A | Omaha, NE 68105, or contacting Angels Among Us for more information at info@myangelsamongus.org. Another way to help cancer families during this holiday season is to check out the item wish list at shareomaha.org.

We believe there are angels among us.

We need you to be one.
