

WARREN COUNTY PRESS RELEASE

The Warren County Board of Commissioners, the cities of Warrenton and Norwood, and the town of Camak held a special called meeting Monday evening, March 30, 2020. This meeting was conducted for all the jurisdictions to read, discuss and approve a resolution setting further standards and rules to continue moving the community in a positive direction during COVID-19. You may view this resolution at www.warrencountyga.com.

Our public safety agencies in Warren County (Warren County Office of Emergency Services, Warren County Sheriff's Office, Warren County 911 and the City of Warrenton Police Department) are working together in dealing with COVID-19 prevention and response measures and have been for some time. They continue to serve and protect our community with the unwavering support of your county and city governments, officials, departments, organizations, and agencies. We also appreciate the close partnership we have with the Georgia Department of Public Health and the benefit of their expertise.

- This is not a time to be alarmed
 - This is not a time to panic-buy
 - This is not a time to spread fear or false information
 - This is not a time for assumptions
- It is a time to continue to be smart and calm
 - It is a time to look out for each other, and continue assisting those in need in our community
 - It is a time to follow and adhere to prevention guidelines and recommendations by the CDC, DPH and the Resolution that has been approved by all local government jurisdictions
 - Wash your hands regularly
 - Cover your cough
 - Stay home if you're sick
 - Practice Social Distancing
 - Contact your local health care provider or DPH if you are experiencing flu-like symptoms or illness.

Please encourage others to continue to follow the CDC and DPH recommendations and guidelines for preventing the spread of COVID-19.

Warren County lets pull together and take care of our families, friends, neighbors and our community.
