A legacy is the lasting impression people leave. Their character, the impact that they make, the way they treat others, the good things they do, the compassion and passion they show... it starts to unfold in the stories that others tell, and memories shared.

We often do not know what it looks like while we are here. That is not the case with Minnesota State Senator Dave Tomassoni whose legacy is still unfolding, yet, can be seen in his vast accomplishments that he continues to build on each day in his role as a public servant, a position that he has served for nearly three decades.

Tomassoni puts in time, passion, heart as legislator and all his constituents, changes the impact and influence that he has on the lives. For Tomassoni, it is one of the reasons he is building a career in the state legislature and all his constituents, changes the impact that they make, the way they treat others, the good things they do, the compassion and passion they show... it starts to unfold in the stories that others tell, and memories shared.

His enthusiasm for northern Minnesota and the Iron Range runs so deep it is in his heart, his blood, and a part of him. It is hard for him to imagine it not being a part of him as he has lived a threshold helping his friends, neighbors, family, and community for years. He demonstrates determination in his job and does amazing things all while being a good person, approachable, and understanding. As a public servant, he serves the people of the area making ideas become a reality and troubles disappear. His commitment and perseverance shape this region and make it a good place to live, work, and play.

His enthusiasm for northern Minnesota and the Iron Range runs so deep it is in his heart, his blood, and a part of him. It is hard for him to imagine it not being a part of him as he has lived a threshold helping his friends, neighbors, family, and community for years. He demonstrates determination in his job and does amazing things all while being a good person, approachable, and understanding. As a public servant, he serves the people of the area making ideas become a reality and troubles disappear. His commitment and perseverance shape this region and make it a good place to live, work, and play.

There is not one article that could sum up nearly 30 years of accomplishments and the people he has impacted and continues to impact. There are thousands of stories and behind the scenes activity that could be written in the making, yet, can be seen in his vast accomplishments that he continues to build on each day in his role as a public servant, a position that he has served for nearly three decades.

There is not one article that could sum up nearly 30 years of accomplishments and the people he has impacted and continues to impact. There are thousands of stories and behind the scenes activity that could be written in the making, yet, can be seen in his vast accomplishments that he continues to build on each day in his role as a public servant, a position that he has served for nearly three decades.

Preserving the makings of a monument to our nation’s heroes

Area companies assist in saving ‘Shoulder to Shoulder Even the Fallen Stand Tall’ sculpture molds

LEE BLOOMQUIST
MESAIBI TRIBUNE

Gareth Andrews has good reason to be thankful. Andrews, of Zim, is thankful for two area companies and a local veteran who together have helped preserve the mold which formed a monument to area veterans.

And we have something to be thankful for two area companies and a local veteran who together have helped preserve the mold which formed a monument to area veterans.

The Fallen Stand Tall sculpture that stands in honor of veterans at Veterans Memorial Park near downtown Virginia. The mammoth project formed a monument to area veterans.

The Fallen Stand Tall sculpture that stands in honor of veterans at Veterans Memorial Park near downtown Virginia. The mammoth project formed a monument to area veterans.

Artist Lynn Jones displays two examples of egg shell carving in her home in Eveleth.