

If you're over 45, or have a family history of colon cancer, it's time to get screened.

Jason Johnson, DO
General Surgery

Colon cancer often has no symptoms — until it's advanced.
That's why screening is so important.

Intermountain Health is committed to helping the Butte community prevent colon cancer through early detection and accessible screening options. Adults 45 and older may be eligible for convenient, at-home screening tests, while colonoscopy remains the gold standard for prevention and detection.

Take control of your health. Talk to your provider about colon cancer screening today. Learn more at intermountainhealth.org.
