PLACES TO SEE

Butte Trolley

1000 George St., Butte, MT
(406) 723-3177

■ (800) 735-6814

■ The fastest and most colorful way to learn about Butte is a Trolley Tour. In about two hours, you'll see where the characters, famous folk, miners and scoundrels lived and worked. Plus, you'll hear how they made Butte the lively, urban center it was. Drivers are especially chosen because of their knowledge of Butte history and folklore, which is presented in an entertaining manner.

Sightseeing tour includes a variety of sites including but not limited to our National Landmark Historic District, the Charles W. Clark Chateau, Victorian neighborhoods, the Copper King Mansion, the Dumas Brothel Museum, The World Museum of Mining, and the Mai Wah Museum and old Chinatown. The only stop is at the Berkeley Pit Viewing Stand.

The tours begin and end at the Butte Chamber of Commerce, Visitor Information Center. The hours, Memorial Day to Labor Day, are Monday through Saturday 10 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 3 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Prices: Adults $20, Seniors 65+ $18, Students 12-17 $15, Children 4-11 $8, Age 4 and under are free.

Clark Chateau

321 W. Broadway
(406) 565-5600

■ Christine Martin, curator

■ The Clark Chateau is an historic mansion located in Uptown Butte. Now operated by the Butte-Silver Bow Public Archives, it is dedicated to interpreting Butte's fascinating and diverse history through the exploration of the humanities. Local artists, academics, writers, and performers are invited to utilize the space as a means of discussing the issues facing Butte today, placed in the larger context of the world around us.

The Chateau's summer hours are Thursday through Sunday, noon to 4 p.m.

The Chateau is funded by the Friends of the Butte Archives, a certified 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization.

Copper King Mansion

219 West Granite, Butte, MT 59701

■ (406) 782-7580

The mansion was built for Copper King William A. Clark. Privately owned, now, much of its magnificence remains in the architecture, interior woodwork, light fixtures, furniture, and furnishings. Guided tours available during the summer months from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tours not during summer need appointment & must be scheduled 24 hours in advance. Price: Adults $10, Children $5.

Granite Mountain Mine Memorial

(406) 723-3177

■ (800) 735-6814

Near midnight on June 8, 1917, a fire broke out at the 2,400 foot level of the Granite Mountain Mine. It quickly spread to the neighboring Speculator Mine. Fire, smoke, and gas claimed the lives of 168 miners. Incredibly, 31 survived to tell the tale. The memorial, built in 1996, features letters to families from the fallen miners, a reproduction of the story in the Butte newspaper, and the names of the miners who gave their lives. The floor of the memorial is paved with bricks bearing families' remembrances.

Headframes

Dotting the landscape and skyline of Butte are fourteen tall, black steel structures. Various called "gallows frames," gallows frames, or headframes, these mark the remnants of mines that honeycombed the Butte hill. Cables from a mine's hoist house passed over sheave wheels at the top of the frame, lowering miners to their work, transporting mules, equipment, and supplies down the shafts, and bringing up load after load of ore. Seven of the fourteen headframes have been outlined in red lights, part of a campaign to memorialize all of Butte's historic headframes.

Piccadilly Museum of Transportation Memorabilia and Advertising Art

20 W. Broadway

(406) 723-3034

■ This museum celebrates the golden age of motoring in America. It features a collection of commercial advertising art from nearly 50 countries, a full-sized replica 1920s gas station, oil company and service station memorabilia, a collection of Montana license plates and a collection of motorized and non-motorized vehicles.

The museum is open Memorial Day through Oct. 1, Monday through Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

STODDEN PARK

Stodden Park is home to Ridge Waters pool and water park, Spirit of Columbia Gardens Carousel, Highland View Golf Course, tennis courts, softball fields, horseshoe pits, an all-inclusive playground, pavilions available for reservations, an amphitheater, and Butte's Vietnam and Korea memorials. Park hours are daylight to 10 p.m.

The entrances to Stodden Park are located off Utah Avenue two blocks south of Dewey Boulevard or on Rowe Road. Funds for the Stodden Park improvements came from the Montana-based Dennis and Phyllis Washington Foundation and Montana Resources.

Pool, waterpark

Ridge Waters pool and waterpark offers zero entry, or entry with no ledges or steps designed to be all-inclusive and accessible to people of all abilities. Ridge Waters features a pool, waterslides, a lazy river with inner tubes, a Kid's Cove aquatic jungle gym, as well as a building with showers, locker rooms and other amenities.

Ridge Waters is open through Labor Day noon to 7 p.m. daily. Lap swimming and lessons: 9 to 11:30 a.m. Phone: (406) 497-6585.

Spirit of Columbia Gardens Carousel

The Spirit of Columbia Gardens Carousel is a dream come true after 22 years in the making and countless volunteer hours fundraising, designing, carving, sanding and painting the horses.

The carousel was built to replace the one that burned down in 1973 at the Columbia Gardens, a recreation area established in 1899 by Copper King William A. Clark. Hours: Noon to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. Closed Monday.

Picnic pavilion

The plaza area between Ridge Waters and the carousel features a pavilion with picnic tables, a gazebo, benches, planters, and a section of stained concrete resembling a harp, much like one of the more prominent flower arrangements at the old Columbia Gardens in Butte.

Destination playground

The new 'destination playground' features a giant truck, a 12-foot-high version of Big Butte (or "the Big M") and three 20-foot-tall headframes with fall-proof platforms and slides and other 'all-inclusive' features.

Ice-skating ribbon

An "ice skating ribbon" that people can glide on all winter while slipping into the Spirit of Columbia Gardens Carousel for some warmth, eats, and drinks.

Golf Course, tennis courts

Other improvements to the park include a new pond with fountains on Highland View Golf Course and lighting on the tennis courts to provide longer playing time.

AREA PARKS

For more information go to:
www.co.silverbow.mt.us/192/Parks-Recreation

Clark Park

Clark Park is located off Texas Avenue just a few blocks east of Harrison Avenue.

Clark Park offers numerous recreational opportunities, including historic playground equipment from Butte's lost Columbia Gardens, indoor ice hockey rink (Butte Community Ice Center), picnic areas, sand volleyball pit, basketball court, Splash Pad, five pavilions and restrooms.

Skyline

The park is located off Continental Drive on the east side of Butte.

The 60-acre Skyline Park features a children's fishing pond, off-leash dog area, trails, interpretative signs, all-abilities accessible playground equipment, benches, picnic tables, drinking fountain for humans & dogs, and restrooms.

Copper Mountain

Copper Mountain Park is located off Beef Trail Road under the shadow of Timber Butte.

Constructed in 1999 at the site of a former copper ore smelter, the Copper Mountain Recreation Complex sits below the Timber Butte hill in the central Butte valley. The 30-plus acre site includes playground equipment, disc golf course, baseball and football fields, volleyball courts, picnic areas, walking trails, a golf driving range and 3 Legends Stadium, a first-class American Legion baseball facility.

Mountain Con & Foreman's Park

The walking trails and park can be accessed via parking lots at these locations:

On Wyoming Street, a block north of Woolman Street.

On Little Minah Street — turn right off of Main Street if you're northbound.

On Pacific Street — turn right off of Main Street if you're northbound.

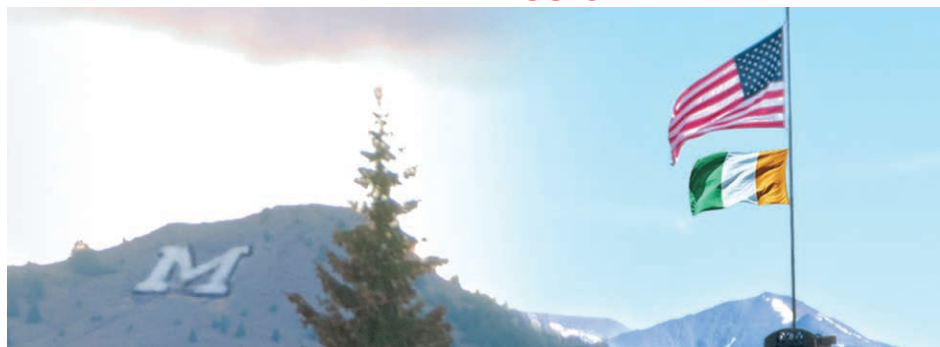

Foreman's Park, built on the remediated ground of the historic Mountain Con Mine Yard, features sweeping views of Butte's Summit Valley, the East Ridge, the Highlands Range, and the surrounding Anaconda-Pintler, Pioneer, and Flint Creek ranges. It also extends by two miles the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific trails that snake through Uptown and the West Side from Montana Tech, connecting via Foreman Park to the Granite Mountain Memorial farther north. The Mountain Con is an easily identifiable landmark — it is the mine headframe that bears the slogan 'Mile High, Mile Deep' at its base, referring to Butte's elevation above sea level and the depth of the Mountain Con mine itself.

Park amenities include a gazebo, restrooms, picnic tables and benches, interpretive signs, barbecue grills and more. Historical features in the project area were preserved and interpreted through signage.

THE TASTES OF BUTTE

No matter what time of year you visit The Mining City, we serve the local favorites year round.

Pasties have been around for hundreds of years however they have special significance for Butte. Cornish miners referred to a pasty in the lunch box as “a letter from ‘ome” Because the meat and potato pies evoked memories of life back across the Atlantic. Pasties are the ultimate comfort food. So if you want to experience the local tastes, you can’t get more “local” than this Butte staple. Other favorites include raviolis, tamales, povitica and of course the pork-chop sandwich. Many Butte eateries offer their own take on the pork-chop sandwich, so try one but remember you haven’t tried them all. The local restaurants that have the famous pork-chop sandwich on their menu have their own recipe and their own take on this delicious treat. Whatever brings you to Butte, we are sure you will feel at home after one of these hometown treats.

OUTDOOR RECREATION

Summer:

Fishing:

Both fly-fishing and bait and spinner fishing opportunities are everywhere around Butte, from the legendary Big Hole River, the Beaverhead and the Clark Fork rivers, mountain lakes and a wide variety of small-water options. A terrific resource for up-to-the-minute information: The StoneFly Fly Shop, www.thestonefly.com

Hiking and Mountain Biking:

■ Thompson Park just nine miles south of Butte offers 25 miles of non-motorized trails for hiking, horseback riding and mountain biking. The historic Milwaukee Road trail serves as the Park's backbone to meandering trails heading off in every direction. This gently sloping 4.5-mile trail extends from the forest boundary south to Pipestone Pass and the Continental Divide National Scenic Trail, passing through two tunnels and over a 600-foot steel trestle along the way. For trail maps, see silverbow.mt.us.

■ The Maude S Canyon trail is located north of the Continental Drive interchange on the east side of Interstate 90. The trail leads to the Burlington Northern railroad. Hikers can hike through the drainage to a scenic vista point. The hike is considered moderate to steep. Motorized vehicles are not permitted to use the trail. The Maude S Canyon trail has seen a series of improvements over the past 20 years to increase access for hikers, mountain bikers and runners.

Rock hounds of all ages will marvel at the rare crystal and rock formations displayed here. This is one of the finest collections in the world, with many pieces pulled from beneath Butte itself. June 15–Sept. 15: Daily 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Winter Hours: Weekdays 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Admission is free but donations are appreciated.

The Berkeley Pit

The Berkeley Pit is a 1,700-foot deep hole in the ground, nearly 3 miles around the outside, and as you stand on the viewing area, the far side is about a mile away. The Pit was created over a 30-year period, beginning with block caving of some of the underground mines after WWII. By the mid-'50s because of the availability of huge trucks and loaders, the ore was mined from the surface. The ore, containing about 1.5% copper, was milled at a concentrator southeast of the Pit. When ARCO closed all the mines in 1982, the underground pumps were shut off and the abandoned Pit has slowly filled with extremely acidic water. Eventually, the water will be cleaned at the water treatment plant, but in the meantime, the Pit gives Butte a lake like none other, as well as giving researchers a unique challenge. Open March–November. Admission: $2.

Explore more than 50 structures, ranging from the 100-foot headframe of the Orphan Girl

Mine, to a faithful recreation of a mining camp, Hell Roarin' Gulch. Half the museum's displays focus on the culture and ethnic history of an 1880's to 1920's mining town, while the other half provides a detailed look at the history of mining technology. The museum is one of the very few to occupy an actual historic mine site, and is uniquely able to portray the story of mining from earliest methods to modern techniques. Venture 65 feet into the 2700 foot Orphan Girl Mine with one of our tour guides, to get a real feeling for what underground mining was all about. General Admission April 1–Oct. 31: 7 days per week 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Pricing: Adults $8.50, Seniors (65+) $7.50, Students (5–17) $5, Under 5 is Free.
