12◀ HIGHLAND DISC GOLF

ing course footprint, Betlock said. Longer-term, disc golf could expand to park areas both north and south of the current location at Edgumbe Road and Montreal Avenue. This includes a wooded area just south of Circus Juventas' big top at 1270 Montreal Ave. Part of that area serves as a fat tire bike course in the winter. Being able to golf in the park's woods provides the opportunity to create more challenging shots with the trees in play, Betlock said. The course would continue to have a maximum of 18 holes.

Another long-term idea is to add a pro shop and charge a fee to disc golfers age 18 and older. A season pass could be priced as low as $50 per year, with a lower rate for Saint Paul residents. Daily rates could also be offered.

Leiviska's work at Kaposia included setting up the disc golf course's pro shop. That shop brings in about $5,000 per year, and Leiviska splits the revenue with the city of South Saint Paul.

A pro shop could bring more oversight to the course, Leiviska said. One longtime complaint in the neighborhood centers on the behavior of park users and the sale of illegal substances in a nearby parking lot. Having a staffed pro shop in the park could discourage that kind of activity, Leiviska said.

Some committee members asked if the shuttered Highland bathhouse, which served the old Highland Park swimming pool, could be used as the pro shop. Community members have sought funding for renovating that building for several years. However, Leiviska questioned whether the pro shop proposal would attract the funds to cover the cost of renovation.
