16◀ S.P.A. GOALIE VOGENTHALER

cated risk-taking. He is usually correct in those risks. In fact, he has developed an uncanny ability for stopping the one-on-one penalty kicks and shootout attempts. "It's about reading the opponent," he explained. "You have to study the position of his legs and hips."

Vogenthaler's plans for soccer after high school may take a back seat to his academic aspirations. Both of his parents are doctors. His father is an infectious disease physician and his mother is a pulmonologist.

Vogenthaler has more than a casual interest in following in his parents' footsteps. Studying to become a doctor of medicine would involve a lot of time, he said, and playing Division I college soccer might not be a priority.

"I'd like to, if the opportunity arose," he said, "but I really haven't thought about it."

Vogenthaler likes the Spartans' chances in 2026. He thinks they should be back in the hunt for a state tournament berth.

"There are expectations for us this year," he said. "There has been a great buildup, and we have to play up to those expectations. But we have good talent, and we have to keep our confidence going into the playoffs. I want everybody to be able to trust me when I'm out there."

Vogenthaler credits his teammates for any success the Spartans have this season. Among his support on the defensive end of the field are senior defensive midfielder Erik Bjorgvinsson, junior midfielder Max George and senior defender Kiki Sullivan.

SPA had seven wins through the first 10 games of the 2026 season, and it is playing a tough schedule. "I think we should be able to (win state)," Vogenthaler said, "but we have to take it one game at a time. We still have a lot of work to do."
