St. Paul's mandatory trash plan may be headed for the heap

by Nancy Keating

The proposal by a city-appointed citizens' committee to set up a mandatory trash hauling system under the aegis of the St. Paul Public Works Department, recently opened to almost totally negative reviews.

At least locally. The plan bombed at the Southwest Area District Council and District 16/Summit Hill Association meetings last week.

Both community organizations voted, with only token opposition, not to recommend the plan to the St. Paul City Council.

Spokespersons for both groups said that Councilwoman Joanne Showalter and other city officials hadn't convinced them that the trash hauling system, which would assign zones to private garbage collectors, supervise their performance, and bill customers, all through the city's Public Works Department, had any merit over the way things are done right now.

Currently, the 50-some private hauling companies that serve St. Paul charge residential customers at varying rates and collect garbage from whatever customers are theirs, in all parts of the city. Backers of the mandatory plan view this system as chaotic and a waste of energy.

However, Jeanne Hall, vice president of the District 16 council, said that organization felt residents "get good service now and at a good price, and that it wouldn't improve it to have another layer of government getting involved." She added that some feared smaller hauling companies would be forced out of business, unable to compete with the lower bids a large concern could present to the city.

Howard Guthmann, president of the Southwest Area District Council, was more emphatic. "We were singularly unimpressed with the city's whole presentation," he said. "If they want to clean up the city, there are ordinances now on the books that they can start enforcing."

"They should forget about it," he said, observing that the Citizens' League has studied two citywide hauling plans and liked neither.

Referring to a letter he and SWAD Council Chairman Tom Watson sent to a St. Paul daily, Guthmann said that, in the council's opinion, the mandatory trash proposal would produce a "negotiated monopoly," higher rates, and unsatisfactory service. He drew an analogy between the garbage pickup service he felt the city would provide and the street snowplowing job done this past winter. "It's the same department" he said (meaning public works).

Showalter, whose job it was to present the committee's plan to the various district councils, said she felt the attendance at public informational meetings didn't represent area residents. Rather, she said, the most vocal opponents of the mandatory plan came from the "traveling road show" of about 25 private haulers that she said followed her to every neighborhood meeting in St. Paul.

"We didn't bring (the plan) out there to get approval," she said. "We brought it to get input from the neighborhoods." So far, she added, she has learned "mainly that the senior citizens and Mrs. James Cashill (a private hauler) don't like it."

"There's been a complete misunderstanding of the plan, and it didn't get a fair hearing," Showalter said. "It won't take the companies away from their owners. And there's a definite misunderstanding that this thing is mine. I didn't draft it — the committee did." Cashill's son Jim served on the committee, she said.

Unless response from the public changes substantially, she added, "maybe there won't even be an ordinance drafted for the council to vote on." The citizens' trash committee will meet some time next week to contemplate future action.

City gets citizen involvement award

Mayor George Latimer, on behalf of the City of St. Paul, recently received an award recognizing the city's "outstanding efforts to promote volunteerism in city government" through the citizen participation process.

St. Paul was one of 20 U.S. cities to receive the Alliance for Volunteerism Mayors Award during the opening session of the 47th annual Conference of Mayors, held last week in Pittsburgh.

The award commends the City of St. Paul for citizen involvement which exceeds federal regulations for city government and its planning process. It cites the use of federal Block Grant money by the 17 district councils to hire their own staff and establish neighborhood offices.

The award also commends the city for providing funds for a citizen participation coordinator to work with neighborhoods and to train city staff to work effectively with resident volunteers.

"This tells us what we perceived all along," Mayor Latimer said. "Because of St. Paul's strong neighborhoods and neighborhood organizations, we were up and running before the federal government ever set guidelines for citizen involvement, and so were able to respond quickly and comprehensively."

"This award recognizes all the neighborhood activists over the years, the community organizers, district councils and especially Karen Christofferson, St. Paul's citizen participation coordinator," Latimer said.

Linwood's out and Open's in

The two schools of thought on the future of Linwood have become one with the recent decision of the St. Paul School Board to allow the Open School to move into the building at the corner of Oxford and Osceola Ave.

Both the Open School, 97 W. Central Ave., and the Benjamin E. Mays Learning Center, 90 S. Western Ave., had petitioned the school board to permit their occupation of the Linwood site after the elementary school program was abandoned this spring. (Mays and the Open School are alternative educational programs under the jurisdiction of the St. Paul School Board.)

Early this spring, both schools had made known their desires to find a new location — the Open School because its lease with the State of Minnesota which owns the Central Ave. building would run out by 1980; and the Mays Center because the space it currently occupies in the Jefferson School building is limited, and the shared arrangement itself less than satisfactory.

In deciding to turn over the Linwood building to the Open School this fall, the school board also agreed to seek an alternative location for Mays in the coming year.

Author to autograph at Odegard books

Tomie de Paola, noted author and illustrator of children's books, will autograph his books between 1:00 and 3:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 20 at Odegard Books, 867 Grand Ave.

Paola, who wrote Helga's Dowry, Pancakes for Breakfast, Clown of God, I Love You, Mouse and others, won the Caldecott Honor in 1976 for Strega Nona which he also illustrated.

Born in Connecticut, he earned his bachelor's of fine arts from Pratt Institute and a master of fine arts degree from the California College of Arts and Crafts. He has been a book illustrator for 15 years.

Lubavitch seeks donations for sale

The Lubavitch House Women's Auxiliary is seeking donations of clothing, furniture, housewares and miscellaneous items for a giant backyard rummage sale to be held from July 18-20. Donated articles will be accepted after July 4 at Lubavitch House, 15 Montcalm Court (one block east of Edgumbe and Highland Parkway).

Proceeds from the sale will go to support community projects and educational programs sponsored by Lubavitch. For more information, call Chaya Golder at 698-3858.

In search of a new home, local resident walks on the wild side

Concerned parties scored a victory for the environmental balance of Highland Park when an endangered box turtle was recently rescued from the depths of a sewer hole and returned safely to its home in Dewdrop Pond at the College of St. Catherine.

At about 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, June 7, a Jambor Realtors employee happened to glance out the window of the office at 635 S. Cleveland Ave. and spotted the two-foot-long reptile making its way across the wooded south end of St. Kate's property.

Other Jambor employees then crossed the street to get a better look, joining perhaps half a dozen morning pedestrians who had also paused to peer through the cast-iron fence.

The turtle, apparently the shy type, wasn't having anything to do with crowds that day. He scooted for cover, heading straight for a storm sewer in the grass, and plunged eight feet to a bed of twigs, leaves and litter.

Efforts to extricate the creature were unsuccessful, so the alert went out to the CSC maintenance department which deployed three staff members in a Jeep.

After 20 minutes, a combination of a noose around its shell and several long sticks brought the turtle up to the surface, all to the relief of an appreciative audience of about 10 humans.

The turtle was transported back to the pond and unceremoniously tossed in. It then promptly disappeared.

According to CSC biology professor Frank Vukmonich, the turtle is one of perhaps half a dozen such denizens of Dewdrop. Turtles sometimes "migrate" during the warm summer weather in search of a new home, he said. You'd have thought the folks at Jambors would at least have gotten his phone number.

Maps for metro bicyclists offered

Bikeway maps covering the Twin Cities metropolitan area are now available from the Minnesota Department of Transportation. The eight maps are the first of 54 covering the entire state which will be prepared over the next two years.

Through a computer analysis, roadways have been evaluated and rated for biking suitability. The maps also indicate off-road bikeways, roads prohibiting bicycles, and historical, social, cultural and public parkland sites.

The maps are available at 50 cents each, plus postage and sales tax, through Map Sales, Minnesota Department of Transportation, Room B-20, Transportation Building, St. Paul, MN 55155. A self-addressed order form is also available by calling Map Sales at 296-2216.

VANDALS IN THE PARKS

To the editor:

In the ten-week period from March 26 to June 2, there has been approximately $14,650 worth of recorded damage to St. Paul park property. The vandalism includes damaged fixtures, walls, ceilings and doors in various park buildings, torn up athletic fields and golf courses, burned redwood picnic tables, and the killing of the Como Zoo bear.

In the West Park District, a 4-wheel drive vehicle tore up $1,200 worth of new landscaping, sod and tar walkways at Hillcrest Recreation Center, the logs bordering the play area at Edgumbe Recreation Center were removed, and the outside light fixtures at South St. Anthony Recreation Center were broken.

This destruction is not only costly to the city taxpayers, but deprives everyone who uses park facilities of the quality of summer recreation they've come to enjoy in St. Paul.

A key man visits Quie's mansion

by Nancy Keating

It has been suggested in metropolitan daily newspapers that Governor Al Quie is about as accessible to his constituents in his new job as he was when, as Congressman Quie, he lived in Washington, D.C.

Now, while anybody who cares to is free to make charges that the governor prefers to remain aloof from the public while hobnobbing with monied campaign contributors, logic tells us that such behavior is unlikely in Minnesota, a state which has been known for the openness of its governmental processes.

Bearing this in mind, we were surprised to hear the following story from Reliable Source, a local raconteur who recently began peddling tips and rumors to the Villager on a free-lance basis. Where he got his information we don't know, and it may be worth as much as we paid him (nothing)—but Mr. Source does have many friends.

Source's sources report that, at almost high noon last Thursday, a fair-haired thirty-ish stranger pulled up across from the Governor's residence in a 1963 Ford pickup, glanced up and down Summit Ave., and strode across the street. At the main gate, he was confronted by Lt. Leery of the state police force, who appeared in the driveway of the mansion and stood, arms akimbo, wearing a serious look.

"Excuse me, sir, what's your business here?" Leery asked the stranger.

"I got a call from Governor Quie's office," was the response.

"You have an appointment?"

"Sort of."

"Oh?" Leery shifted uncertainly and squinted. "Are you a campaign contributor?"

"Well, I think I did mail in a check," the man said. He seemed intent on gaining entry to the house, and fingered his black briefcase anxiously.

"It wasn't for $1,000 or more, was it?" the policeman asked with interest.

"Are you kidding? Hey, look—"

"Well, if that wasn't it, I just don't know if I can believe you."

"Look, they called me, and they said to come over as soon as I was free. Excuse me, could you—"

"For lunch?"

"Probably not."

"Are you a friend of Mr. Quie's?"

"No, I don't really know him all that well," the man said. "Couldn't I—"

By this time, the state trooper was mildly curious. Not every day did an unfamiliar face greet him at the gate. Still, the stranger looked harmless enough, so Leery decided to keep guessing.

"Hmm," he said, pushing his sunglasses farther up on his nose. "Are you the single grocery clerk from north of St. Cloud?"

"Now, that's very inter-

Misch- Masch

by Maurice Mischke

Gee, but I've been having a hard time getting my Misch-Masch act together this time around. Could it be because I'm still sort of in a reverie and feeling the afterglow of an idyllic Father's Day I was able to enjoy with Jan and our entire eight? Or is it the fact that, come Thursday, I'll be able to enjoy a week's vacation away from it all? Incidentally, we won't be going very far . . . a tank of gas can get us there and back not just once, but twice.

Nevertheless, I'm not at all short of bits and pieces to present to you . . . although I may seem to have trouble establishing any kind of meaningful relationship among them all.

As you know, I'm not the editor of this long-established, home-delivered tabloid—merely its publisher-columnist. In that vein, I kinda enjoyed reading about a comment Mark Twain once made—to the effect that the only people who should use "we" are kings, editors, and people with tape-worms. Please notice I've been using the first person singular rather consistently!

The weather was bad enough in certain parts of "CCO land" Saturday to give us those ominous tones of warning for which our leading radio station has become famous. Earthquakes we don't seem to have around here, not like out west at times. I hear that when such a quake struck out there recently, the town council was in session. As the first shock hit, everyone rushed out of the building. Later the clerk wrote in his minutes: "On motion of the city hall, the council adjourned."

There were some motions, too in the Southwest Area District Council meeting last Monday night. It didn't take the board very long to vote down the city's mandatory trash disposal proposal. It wasn't quite unanimous . . . I could hear two "nays." Me? I find myself definitely with the majority on that one. The so-called energy-saving aspect sounds intriguing in the short-run, but when you add up all the long-run implications . . . not good at all. Much better, methinks, that we continue to go the private enterprise route. Any discussion?

Here are some more notes from that SWAD Council meeting. Did you know, for instance, that Jefferson Avenue will soon become a localized residential street from the River all the way to Edgumbe Boulevard. It was a prime recommendation of the District 14 plan, and was recently approved by City Council action. Stop sign details haven't all been firmed up as yet. Bob Roettger, traffic engineer from the city will be at the SWAD council meeting on Monday, July 9 with some proposals. Be there, if the subject interests you.

Another proposal is in the works, for added safety and traffic control on Pinehurst Avenue. Coming up for consideration is a plan to make Pinehurst one way from Kenneth toward Cleveland, and also one way from Finn toward Cleveland. That could be implemented by late August.

There was also some interesting discussion on the formation of the Mayor's Budget Committee this year. The SWAD Council was well represented last time around with the likes of Howard Guthmann and Tom Watson. But apparently many of the other councils throughout the city have been less successful in getting potential members to volunteer . . . to the point where the Mayor himself is likely to wind up making the appointments. In theory at least, this is a less than ideal approach. The committee, to feel properly unfettered, should really be appointed by the boards of the various district councils. Sure, it involves a lot of time, but it's the kind of citizen input that's needed to make our city government as efficient and effective as possible. If some of these other district councils aren't snapping up the opportunity to be represented, they're missing an important beat. It's already late for such a group to get underway. Guthmann, who was chairman of that group last year, feels that, in ideal terms, sessions of such a committee should start meeting as early as January or February. Given too little time, such a group—however appointed—can really be very little more than a rubber stamp. Yup, we're still a ways off from making citizen participation as effective as it could be . . . but it seems that, in this case at least, it's the citizens themselves who are holding up the works.

Having said all that I should mention a little item I saw in our local daily . . . to the effect that St. Paul was one of 20 cities honored for outstanding participation not long ago, at the 47th Annual Congress of Mayors. Karen Christofferson, who coordinates St. Paul's citizen participation, rates some kudos for that recognition. Maybe distance lends enchantment to our degree of success in that regard, but I'd be the first to admit that citizen participation has been more effective here in its early years than I was ready to believe it would be.

With the closing of Mattocks elementary school, there were high hopes that some kind of playground could be developed in that area, since the neighborhood has a genuine dearth of such facilities. But it seems now that superintendent Young is not about to declare that school as surplus property. Instead, it may become a night school for TVI classes. That could mean a whole lot of traffic and parking problems during evening hours—something for the residents to consider when the issue comes up for discussion, as it surely will. Night classes in the area are a nice advantage, too, of course. It just depends on how the scales should be tipped in relation to the surrounding area.

Should be a big turn-out of shoppers in Highland and our nearby environs the rest of this week thru Sunday . . . to take advantage of the "Super Summer Savings" so many of the stores and shops are going to be featuring. Take advantage of this counter-inflationary event! If you don't mind walking a few feet—just as you would in any of the Dales—there's usually sufficient parking to be found. And the way we hear it, there's hope that more will be available in a year or so. Saw a quote recently on that subject, attributable to an Englishman I've never heard of. "The more parking places you provide," he said, "the more cars will come to fill them. It is like feeding pigeons." Area business people are looking for customers rather than pigeons, but such a result wouldn't irritate them at all . . . it's exactly what they're looking for . . . and what eventually makes such a large investment worthwhile.

Congratulations to the Highland Park high schoolers for their third place finish in the State Baseball Tourney in St. Cloud recently. In defeating Shakopee, 5-3, the Scots finished the year with a not-too shabby 20-2 record overall.

I know that Highland Catholic elementary school was scheduled to play for the CAA inter-city baseball championship Friday night at Parade Stadium in Minneapolis, but I haven't been able to find any reference to the game in either Saturday or Sunday editions of either city. So you'll have to wait three long weeks for the scoop on that one. (Whoops, a late flash! Hi-C lost by a run in the final inning—so I guess they'll have to settle for the St. Paul city championship, no mean accomplishment in itself.)

Headline of the week, in our local daily: "Mann is Guthrie's first woman director". Emily Mann, that is. Some of the best puns are the ones that can hardly be avoided!

This stadium situation, sad to say, is getting crazier all the time. Can't say I feel bad that stadium completion faces at least a six-month delay, the latest word. If only the legislators had delayed the decision, say, another 12 months, I'm sure the conclusion would have had to be different. Efforts are still being made to get the fans at the Twins and Kicks game to put the pressure on those organizations not to sign the leases for the dome thing, instead to stay outdoors at the Met.

Of course, you also read about the possibility of getting the hockey Gophers to utilize the older section of the St. Paul Civic Center if the seating capacity could be upgraded and increased. What'll the next step be? To have the basketball Gophers utilize the big new arena as they prepare to abandon the aging Williams Arena complex? We're getting right to the point I was trying to make before the legislature caved into Minneapolis' dominant interests. In terms of student body convenience, dome utilization, etc., nothing came closer to an over-all solution than the plan to remodel and cover Memorial Stadium.

Somebody has asked me whether Governor Quie should-n't share some of the blame, when he blithely went ahead and signed the dome thing. Sure he can be blamed—and plenty. He was well oriented on the University plan—later as it came to the fore. I suppose he would have been a good candidate for a sequel to "Profiles in Courage" if he had mustered the guts to overturn the legislature's action. He could have slowed the legislature into the right path, by coming out with both barrels smoking, all gung ho for the Memorial Stadium plan. But as I said, it would have taken conviction, leadership and, yeah, a bit of old-fashioned, hell-for-leather guts!

Now you've been reading about Cable TV coming to St. Paul and other parts of the metro area. What do you think that'll do to the eventual pay-out on the dome? Meanwhile the Kicks are begging the U of M to continue playing football in old Memorial Stadium and take them (the Kicks) as a tenant.

By the way, I didn't mean to lay the lion's share of the dome boo-boo at Governor Quie's mansion doorsteps. You got to save plenty of the blame, and hand much of the rest of it to Senator Nick Coleman. He greased the skids . . . and he's the one man in the Senate who could have turned it all around. Don't ask me how he became such a convert so fast to the beeg Minneapolis money bags involved in this issue. Why don't I blame the University people more for hiding their needs 'til it was really too late? Those same money-bags have to be courted at the U for Williams Scholarship money and what-not. They were on the horns of a dilemma . . . and the students lost, the public lost, we all lost a golden opportunity. Or can we still convince Cal Griffith we really want the Twins outdoors at the Met? Can light-

The Highland Villager

The semaphore at Cleveland and Ford Parkway has just turned green — but that's not all that's new, folks. Last week, a lot more green was added along the front of the Highland Shopping Center when city crews dropped in nearly a dozen columnar maples at curbside.

Highland's 4th of July celebration scheduled

The Highland Business Association and the St. Paul Parks and Recreation Department will once again co-sponsor the annual 4th of July celebration at Highland Park. Also assisting with the events will be the St. Paul Police Reserve and the St. Paul Red Cross.

The schedule for the day's activities includes:

- 11:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m. — Registration for door prizes and tournaments:
 - volleyball (co-rec, sign up as teams)
 - horseshoes (pairs)
 - darts (individuals)
- 1:00-5:00 p.m. — Tournaments played
- 2:00-4:00 p.m. — Games and races
- 3:30-5:00 p.m. — Dance (featuring Dick Palumbo's band)
- 5:30 p.m. — Door prize drawings (must be present to win)

There will be open swim sessions at the pool from 1:00 to 2:45 p.m., 3:15 to 5:00 p.m., and from 6:00 to 7:45 p.m. Admission is 50 cents. Both the 9-hole and 18-hole golf courses will also be open.

Area residents are invited to pack a picnic lunch, grab the whole family and join in the fun.

Note: There will be no fireworks at Highland. The fireworks display will be held at the Minnesota State Fairgrounds at 9:45 p.m. Grandstand gates open at 6:00 p.m. and a country western show begins at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. High appointed minister of First-Trinity Methodist Church

The Rev. Ralph Raymond High of St. James, Minnesota, will become the new minister of First-Trinity United Methodist Church, 1948 Marshall Ave., as of July 1. High will replace the Rev. Delmont Gordy, who is retiring from the ministry and moving to California.

High, a native of Iowa, received his divinity degree in 1958 from the Christian Theological Seminary in Indianapolis. He was ordained a deacon in 1956 and an elder in 1958.

High served ministries in Indiana until 1960. In Minnesota, he has been a minister in Osseo (1960-66) and at Minneapolis Simpson (1966-67), and an associate at Mankato Centenary (1967-73) and at St. James-Trimont (1973-present).

Rev. Ralph R. High

His inaugural sermon at the 10:00 a.m. July 1 service at First-Trinity will be "God is Wonderful," based on Psalm 103.

ning strike again and save us from a dome rotten financial fate?

Remember, fans, you may only have two or three seasons more to enjoy GENUINE major-league baseball. So see all the games you can at the Met now—so you can tell your children what baseball was really like when they played the game the way it was meant to be played—in the sun, on the grass, with a wind to reckon with—all those aspects of Mother Nature that make for summer fun!

For a pilfered parting punchline, we offer this from Stovall's Law of Negative Inaction: "The only thing wrong with doing nothing is that you never know when you're finished." And here's a little bonus, to fill in for that three-week gap between Villager issues: "If at first you don't succeed—so much for sky-diving." So much for Misch-Masch, too—now that we've gone off the deep end once again. See you soon on this page... but not for THREE weeks, remember.

What Would This Cost You At Home?

Talking Out of School

by Bill Rosenbloom and Carl Nelson

Budget cuts are generally looked upon with favor by a tax-conscious citizenry that has, in recent years, witnessed unprecedented growth at all levels in our nation's number one growth industry — government.

But there is at least one proposed budget cut about which there should be serious concern — eliminating one principal at Highland Junior and Senior High schools (also at Humboldt Junior and Senior Highs) and reducing the principal's time at Ramsey (also at Monroe, Murray and Wilson) to half-time.

George Young, St. Paul Superintendent of Schools, argues his case for the cuts based on pupil-to-principal ratios. He claims, for example, that since Harding High School has as many students as Highland Senior and Junior High combined, it is equivalent to have the same number of principals at both. His analysis is simplistic — and wrong.

There is a certain amount of work not related to the number of students that is required to administer separate school programs and operations. Highland's junior and senior highs have, in recent years, seen qualitatively improved programs thanks to the hard work of two good principals. One must question how long those improvements will last — especially those that have to do with better student discipline — if Superintendent Young's proposal eventually passes.

There are other options for budget cuts, after all:

*Elementary school learning centers, though racking up costs of more than $500,000 a year, have yet to produce demonstrably valuable results.

*Dental hygienists who, for about $100,000 a year, conscientiously shuffle dental cards and tell our children to floss.

*Inter-scholastic sports, which for about $750,000 a year, serve a few students — and our own narcissism.

If you want to lend your voice to those filling the air at the June 19 school board meeting, dial the Superintendent (222-1234) and tell him what you think of his idea.

AN OPEN LETTER

At the invitation of Groveland Park School teacher Joan Thames, students from Horace Mann, Highland Park and Groveland Park elementary schools recently put their pens to paper and composed the following open letter to this past year's Mattocks School students.

Since their school is now closed, the majority of those Mattocks students will be attending one of the three other neighborhood elementary schools next fall. The students from Highland, Groveland and Horace Mann thought a brief synopsis of the kinds of activities available at their schools might be of some value as Mattocks students decide where they'll go next fall.

Dear Mattocks kids,

We think you guys are pretty lucky—you get to go to one of three super neighborhood schools next year! Here are some things you should know about Highland Park, Horace Mann, and Groveland Park before you and your parents decide where you'll go to school next fall. It's going to be a tough choice!

HIGHLAND PARK

At Highland Park, you never get bored during the school day because there are so many activities to get into. There are poster contests, field days and special programs. We celebrate all major holidays together and we have an excellent library.

If you come to Highland, you'll never get lost, because there are just three main halls. And there are only 21 steps in the whole building, so it's not hard for handicapped or small children to get around. There are doors to leave the building on each level, which keeps everyone safe from fires.

The discipline is good because the teachers and the principal work together to straighten trouble-makers out. You only get yelled at when you deserve it. And every teacher tries to give an equal amount of attention to each child.

Missy Militano, grade 5
Tim Carr, grade 5

HORACE MANN

If you come to Horace Mann, you'll have fun while you get a good education. You might get to run the school store, be in a play, help with a fundraiser, or go on a field trip. Or, you could choose to just sit in a corner and read a book.

The teachers are concerned about you, and want to help you be the best you can. They will encourage you to lead in the right direction. Our principal is really nice and is able to get everyone excited about things.

Most of the kids at Mann make friends easily. As an example of how we can work together, we just raised $8000 for new playground equipment. New students are always welcome at Horace Mann.

Susan Dayton, grade 5
Lori Lindsay, grade 5

GROVELAND PARK

Kids who don't go to Groveland Park miss out on a lot of special things. We have a school store run by fifth graders, an almost-complete new gymnasium, and a media center with a computer terminal. Because of a special language arts program, we're all learning German. We create our own newspaper and yearbook, and we have a book-making center.

Teachers are concerned about us, and they give extra time for special things. Depending on what grade you're in, you might have lunch with your teachers, write to a pen pal in Italy, run in a track meet, or go on an overnight.

We're all happy when summer vacation comes, but we miss the fun things at Groveland Park.

Karla Klocow, grade 5
R.J. Olson, grade 5
Mike Ross, grade 4

Aerobic dancing offers a fitness program made fun

Classes in Aerobic (meaning "with oxygen") Dancing, a fitness program that is part dancing and part exercise, will be offered at five Highland area locations beginning the week of July 9.

Class sessions, which involve choreographed stretching exercises, sit-ups, a warm-up routine, six to eight "aerobic dances" and a choreographed cooling-down dance, will be held twice a week for four weeks. Instructors are Holly Baysinger, Shotsy Johnson and Susan Elliott, all of St. Paul.

The classes will be held on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at Unity Church, 732 Holly Ave., and at St. Peter's Church, located just over the Mendota bridge; on Monday and Wednesday mornings at Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, Snelling and Highland Pkwy.; on Monday and Wednesday evenings at Nativity School, 1900 Standford Ave.; and on Thursdays at 5:30 p.m. and Saturdays at noon at the Caravan Dance Studio, 330 N. Prior Ave.

For further information or a complete schedule of classes in this area, call 292-8585.

Area grads get CSC recognition

Incoming freshmen Kelley Ann Kinney, 1816 Highland Pkwy., and Teresa Anne Murray, 1394 Edgumbe Rd., recently received distinguished scholar awards from the College of St. Catherine for outstanding academic achievements in high school.

Kinney, a graduate of Highland Park Senior High, tentatively plans to major in English at St. Catherine's. Murray, a Derham Hall graduate, will begin her years at CSC pursuing a major in pre-medicine.

CST coaching lineup shifts

Steve Silianoff, defensive line football coach for the College of St. Thomas, has resigned that post effective this coming fall. The man who coached the South St. Paul Packers for two decades plans to retire from coaching, although he will continue to serve as a faculty member of South St. Paul High School.

Silianoff, a University of Minnesota graduate, was captain of Bernie Bierman's

Steve Silianoff

1947 Gophers and played center and defensive line-man.

The announcement of Silianoff's retirement was made by CST head coach DuWayne Deitz, who also made public the hiring of two new assistant coaches, defensive coordinator Tom Idstrom and defensive back coach Jim Perry.

Idstrom, a teacher at Anoka High School, has served as assistant coach at that school for the past ten years. Perry, a teacher in the Fridley School District, was a graduate assistant coach at Arizona State University for one year and last season was head coach of Fridley High School's sophomores. Perry will replace Don Birdsong, a CST graduate who will put his four years of coaching behind him in favor of his business commitments.

Eyes and ears of local citizenry sought for 'Crime Stoppers' effort

Ask any police officer and he'll tell you it would be next to impossible to do the job he's been trained to do without the active cooperation of the neighborhood he's been assigned to serve.

That kind of cooperation becomes even more crucial when a crime is committed but, for lack of sufficient evidence, remains unsolved for an extended period of time. When that happens, what few leads may have turned up diminish, the trail goes cold, and the crime becomes increasingly difficult to solve. Needless to say, the St. Paul and Minneapolis police departments aren't suffering from a shortage of such cases.

Citizen cooperation is the basis for a new crime-fighting effort call Crime Stoppers that began operation in the Twin Cities on June 4. Crime Stoppers is a non-profit citizens' approach to providing a vehicle for other area residents to contribute what information they may have about a major crime, but have yet to come forward with it for one reason or another.

In the past, those reasons have included the fear of reprisals, the lack of knowledge about how and whom to contact, and the fact that many people witness crimes without being aware of it.

Crime Stoppers was designed to circumvent all three obstacles.

To generate public awareness about the program in general and the specific crimes it seeks to solve, Crime Stoppers depends heavily on the assistance of all Twin Cities media. A 90-second dramatization of selected cases is currently being broadcast each week during the Monday evening news programs on channels 4, 5, 9 and 11. A 60-second spot is also being provided to all local radio stations, to be aired at their discretion. In addition, all Twin Cities newspapers are receiving weekly news releases, the contents of which are basically the same as the audio portion used on TV.

The goal, as they say in the advertising biz, is total market saturation. The public awareness campaign was designed so that no one in the metropolitan area should go through a week without seeing, hearing or reading the Crime Stoppers "Crime of the Week" at least once.

To encourage cooperation on the part of the public, a reward of up to $2,500 is paid to those whose information leads to an indictment or arraignment. The amount will vary for different crimes, and will double if the informant is willing to appear in court as a witness. Funds for rewards and operating costs are provided exclusively by voluntary contributions from Twin Cities businesses, organizations and individuals.

Persons calling Crime Stoppers will be assigned a number to insure their anonymity, and all dealings between Crime Stoppers and informants will be done through that number.

The Highland Villager is happy to be able to play a small part in this effort, and will be running Crime Stopper columns periodically throughout the year, especially when the crime directly concerns the St. Paul and Minneapolis neighborhood this newspaper serves.

With that then, this:

THE WALSTAD MURDER

At 11:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 8, 1979, Merle Walstad, a white male in his 50s, left his job at the St. Paul Post Office, 180 E. Kellogg Blvd., walked to the corner of 4th and Wabasha, and caught a bus for home. The bus driver remembers Mr. Walstad getting off the bus at Pascal and Minnehaha Ave. in St. Paul at approximately 12:30 a.m.

Police believe he was then forced at gunpoint into a black-over-blue Cadillac by three black males. Three hours later, Mr. Walstad's body was found lying on the boulevard between 1861 and 1865 Rome Ave. in St. Paul. Death was caused by a bullet wound to the head.

Mr. Walstad's wallet was found about 60 feet east of his body. There was no money in it or on his person.

It appeared that the body had been dragged from the car to the sidewalk area, leading police to believe Mr. Walstad was murdered elsewhere and then dumped out of the car on Rome Ave. A witness stated she heard car engines racing at approximately 3:30 that morning.

Crime Stoppers is offering a reward for any information leading to the arrest or formal charging of the person or persons involved in this crime. If you have any information about the crime—or about any other crime in the metropolitan area—call Crime Stoppers at 379-7050.

UJFC hails Bailey's work for the board

Harriet Bailey, 2086 Timmy St., Mendota Heights, was named the Jewish Community Center's Board Member of the Year at the recent annual meeting of the United Jewish Fund and Council.

Bailey, who has been on the board for a year, serves on the Israeli Department committee, will again be co-chairperson of the reception committee for the JCC's November fundraiser, and has been particularly active as chairperson of the camp committee.

Rancone appointed new Cretin coach

Mark Rancone, 1865 Englewood Ave., has been selected as the new head hockey coach at Cretin High School, replacing Mike Kurtz. A 1971 Cretin graduate, Rancone assisted with the school's junior varsity hockey team in 1976-77. He has also coached at Nativity School for the past six years.

HGRA throws Family Day Party at Highland June 30

The Highland-Groveland Recreation Association (HGRA) will serve as the host for a full day of family fun on Saturday, June 30 at the Highland Park pavilion, just up the hill from the corner of Montreal and Hamline Ave.

All kids involved in HGRA's athletic programs, their families and friends are invited to attend the Family Day Party from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and enjoy games, races, refreshments, awards and drawings. The Highland swimming pool will, of course, be open for all those who'd like to take a dip during the afternoon.

Pack a picnic lunch and enjoy the day, compliments of the HGRA.

We at Immaculate Heart of Mary School, 1550 Summit Ave., wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the following for their generous donations for the printing of a brochure promoting the educational opportunities available at our school:

Zoning panel hears Highland requests

The St. Paul zoning board will hold a public hearing at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, June 21 in city council chambers, third floor of St. Paul City Hall.

On the agenda will be a discussion of a special condition use at Nativity School, 1900 Stanford Ave. to permit a group day care center for 30 children.

The zoning board will also review a special condition use request for racquetball courts on the south side of the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

For more information, call the city zoning office (298-4154) or the Southwest Area District Council (698-7973).

Cardinal Willebrands speaks on progress of ecumenical movement

Admitting that "those who have been meeting regularly for 12 years on the same doctrinal subjects to arrive at a series of divergences and convergences have given proof of a patience and perseverance beyond the ordinary," Cardinal Johannes Willebrands, president of the Vatican Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, nevertheless defended the Church's continuing ecumenical dialogue against those who say the critical discussions have gone on long enough, and others who maintain the task has, in effect, been completed.

During a convocation at the College of St. Thomas on June 13, the Dutch prelate spoke on the advances the ecumenical movement has made. "Never before in the history of the Church have we witnessed a meeting between Christians and between their Churches such as that we have lived through in these last few years," Willebrands said.

The cardinal recalled the words spoken by Pope John Paul II in the Sistine Chapel the day after his election:

Honored for his ecumenical leadership over the past 12 years, Cardinal Johannes Willebrands of the Netherlands receives an honorary doctor of letters degree during a recent convocation at the College of St. Thomas. The doctorate was conferred on the cardinal by Msgr. Terrence Murphy (left foreground), president of the college.

"It is not possible to believe that the deplorable division among Christians should continue... we wish therefore to continue along the road which has already been opened... with the desire that, by common effort, we may at length arrive at perfect communion."

Willebrands, who is the archbishop of Utrecht and was mentioned as a possible successor to both Pope Paul VI and Pope John Paul I, was in St. Paul at the invitation of Msgr. Terrence Murphy, president of the College of St. Thomas. Murphy presented the cardinal with an honorary degree of doctor of letters during the convocation.

Joining Willebrands in an ecumenical prayer service following his address were Dr. David W. Preus, president of the American Lutheran Church; retired Bishop Philip F. McNairy of the Episcopal Diocese of Minnesota; Dr. Warren Quabeck, professor of systematic theology at Lutheran Northwestern Theological Seminary and long-time participant in Catholic-Lutheran dialogues; and Rev. John R. Roach, archbishop of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

'Goose' is another feather in playwright Poletes' cap

An imaginative look at what might have inspired the classic 17th century Mother Goose tales will be presented in a new children's play, Here Comes Mother Goose, which opens at 1:00 p.m. Monday, July 2 in Frey Theater at the College of St. Catherine. The play will continue its run at 1:00 p.m. on July 3 and then each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon.

Prolific playwright George Poletes, who also directs the play, has recruited 18 area children to portray Mother Goose's "helpers." In the play, they run away and have adventures that re-enact the timeless nursery rhymes.

The youthful cast members include: Julie Alexander, Lori Calvin, Pam Churchill, Tracy Cosgrove, Eliza beth Foy, Betsy Frye, Annie Haselhuhn, Mary Hedges, Caryn Lindsay, Jimmy Luger, Ellen and Beth Mingo, Shannon and Sioban Moran, Steve Olson, Mary Ann Rooney, Maaren Spears and Mary Beth Witte.

Other cast members are Breck High School student Denise Moffett as "Glum," North Junior High student Sheri Elston as "Sally," College of St. Thomas senior James Statz as "Ambrose Bluebottle," and recent College of St. Catherine graduate Brigid Fraher as the avian lead, "Mother Goose."

General admission is $1.00, and group rates are available. For a complete schedule and ticket information, call 690-6680.

Fort Snelling offers three free historical programs next week

Three programs will be presented next week at Historic Fort Snelling. Free with admission to the fort, they will be held from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the restored officers quarters.

Films dealing with Minnesota history, The Voyager and Northwest Passage: The Story of Grand Portage, will be shown on Monday, June 25.

Laurie Waters of the Minnesota Lacemakers Society will demonstrate that intricate art on Wednesday, June 27.

"Henry Sibley, the Squire of Mendota" is the title of a lecture which will be given by Rhoda Gilman on Thursday, June 28. Sibley, the state's first governor, was a prominent figure in the pioneer fur trade industry.

Beverly Borotz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Borotz of 1280 Madison St., was recently commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force, the day before she graduated with a B.A. degree in English from the College of St. Catherine. Following her initial training, Borotz will be stationed in Germany where she plans to pursue a master's degree in international relations.

YWCA to teach self-defense class

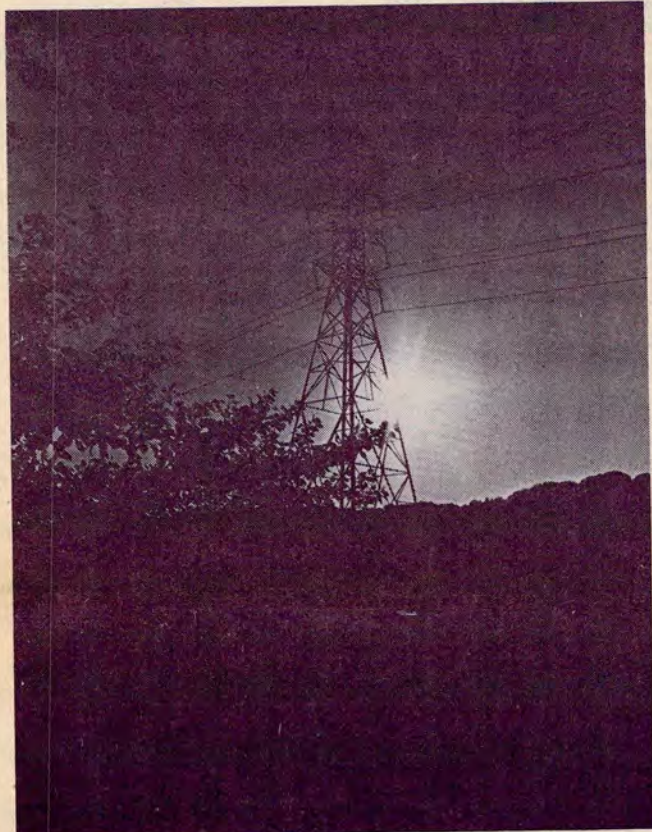

A self-defense course, designed by and for women, will be offered from 6:30 to 8:00 p.m. on Thursdays, June 28 through August 16 at the St. Paul YWCA, 65 E. Kellogg Blvd.

The class, a combination of street fighting, karate, judo and confidence-building, will be taught by Denise Douglas. Call Kathleen at 222-3741 for more information.

When you wear the gold, you better live up to it!

Pat Tschida, top
CENTURY 21 Creative producer for May

After gold-coated Pat Tschida of CENTURY 21 Creative overcame some "surprises" and resulting extra paperwork for sellers Tom and Kathy Gallivan of St. Paul, they wrote this note:

Pat,

...we appreciate all you did. ... We would like your boss to know you are worth your weight in gold. Also, when we hear of anyone needing a good realtor, you can be sure we will guide them into your hands.

Tom & Kathy Gallivan

"Creative is more than a name - it's our way of doing business."

"...WITH LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL?"

Or just liberty?

Liberty without justice is the freedom to act for ourselves alone, irrespective of the destructive consequences to others. Liberty with justice for all is a far greater thing—freedom that respects the dignity and rights of all other human beings regardless of color, creed, sex, fortune, or stage of development.

Today, after a civil war and a long struggle for the recognition of fundamental human rights, we still hear voices urging the arbitrary exclusion of certain classes from the list of those whose very lives are to be accorded legal protection. Setting liberty against justice, they bid us to consider claims of personal freedom alone.

But dare we deceive ourselves into thinking that the legalized extermination of the unborn in the name of freedom is progress, and not descent into barbarism? And dare we forget the awesome truth that each unborn person is loved by the Father who will one day call all nations to judgment?

An Independence Day thought from Citizens for Community Action, whose goal is to preserve neighborhood standards and a moral environment conducive to good family life. The continued presence of Planned Parenthood—and its abortion clinic—in our locality is an affront to the sensitive feelings of the majority of the people in this neighborhood, and runs contrary to the traditional values they hold dear.

Two alumnae get new CSC award

The College of St. Catherine recently presented Mabel Kathryn Powers (class of '25) of Minneapolis and Margaret Mary O'Sullivan O'Connor (class of '19) of St. Thomas, N.D., with the first St. Catherine Awards. Initiated this year by the CSC alumnae association, the award is intended to recognize "commitment to moral and spiritual values and the extension of self in service to others."

Powers, formerly director of student personnel in the college of liberal arts at the University of Minnesota, also served as counselor and professor at the U of M, and as a high school teacher and principal.

O'Connor has participated extensively in community life, serving on library and PTA boards and presiding over church committees, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Catholic Sodality.

PPM workshop planned on sex and disabilities

The human resources department of Planned Parenthood of Minnesota will sponsor a one-day workshop on Sexuality and Disabilities from 8:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 26 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

The workshop, intended for anyone with a personal or professional interest in the topic, will include an examination of attitudes toward disabled persons, information about sexual needs and functioning, community resources, and places to get more information.

Fee is $20, and registration is required before the day of the workshop. Call Planned Parenthood at 698-2401 for more information.

Kids enrolled for 1890's school day

Children curious to learn how their great-grandparents experienced school in the 1890s are invited to sign up for a day in the one-room schoolhouse at the Gibbs Farm Museum, Cleveland and Larpentur Ave.

"Students" will figure sums on slate boards, read from the back-to-basics McGuffey Reader and compete in spell-downs and cipher-downs. The one-day sessions, which in the past have filled up quickly, run from 9:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. July 17 through August 17.

Those eligible are last year's first graders through children who just completed sixth grade. Cost is $4.00 and participants must bring their own lunches and beverages. For reservations, call the museum at 646-8629.

This 1870 lithograph, entitled The Great Race on the Mississippi from New Orleans to St. Louis, 1210 Miles, will be among the 120 Currier and Ives prints exhibited from June 27 through August 26 at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts.

Currier and Ives prints shipped in for show at Institute of Arts

An exhibition of 120 lithographs made by the firm of Currier and Ives between 1835 and 1900 will open on Wednesday, June 27 in the Prints and Drawings Gallery of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, 2400 3rd Ave. S.

Currier and Ives had its beginnings in 1834 as Currier and Stodart, a short-lived company that produced letterheads, sheet music and business forms. When Nathaniel Currier moved to New York in 1835, he started his own business, and in 1857, made his office manager, James Merritt Ives, a partner.

From then through the end of the century, Currier and Ives prints recorded countless historical events, people and places. Many outstanding artists of the time made color impressions for Currier and Ives, including Louis Maurer, Thomas Nast, Eastman Johnson, George Catlin and Fanny Palmer.

The development of practical, mass-produced photographs gradually brought Currier and Ives' lucrative impressions to an end, and the firm ceased operations by the turn of the century.

The prints in the Minneapolis Institute of Arts exhibition are on loan from the Chicago-based Esmark, Inc., and will be on display through August 26.

Teen pregnancy is institute topic

Teenage pregnancy will be the subject of the 13th annual Institute on Services to Unmarried Parents, to be held from Wednesday through Friday, June 20-22 at the Minneapolis Radisson.

Open to the public as well as social and health professionals, the institute is cosponsored by the National Catholic Conference of Catholic Charities Commission on Services to Unmarried Parents and the local Catholic Charities chapter. For more information, call Mary Kay McNamara at 340-7507.

Michael J. Cadle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Galen M. Cadle of 1601 Beechwood Ave., joined the "Long Gray Line" this month with a Bachelor of Science degree from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. Cadle was commissioned as a Regular Army second lieutenant in the Signal Corps upon graduation.

'Prairie Home Companion' show takes up sunny summer residence

"A Prairie Home Companion," broadcast live at 6:00 p.m. Saturdays over KSJN 91.1 FM, can also be seen and heard in person. The show's summer residence is in the Sculpture Garden at the St. Paul Ramsey Arts and Science Center, 30 E. 10th St., unless otherwise noted.

Joining host Garrison Keillor and the Powdermilk Biscuit Band in the coming weeks are the following performers:

June 23 — John Kolstad, Adam Granger, Vern Sutton, Philip Brunelle and the Talk of the Town Barber-shop Quartet (in Northrop Auditorium at the U of M).

June 30 — The Red Clay Ramblers and the Hall Brothers Jazz Band (at Nicollet Island Park in Minneapolis).

July 14 — Rio Nido and Charlie Maguire.

July 21 — Adam Granger and Peter Ostrouschko.

July 28 — The City Pickers, Scott Alarik, Peter Ostrouschko and John Anderson.

Tickets for each show, which starts at 5:30 p.m., are $2.00 for adults, $1.50 for students and senior citizens, and 50 cents for children. Tickets go on sale at 4:30 p.m. the day of the performance. In case of rain, the show will be held across the street from the Sculpture Garden, in the World Theater.

Red Clay Ramblers rouse downtowners in June 29 concert

The Red Clay Ramblers, an ace string band from Chapel Hill, North Carolina, will appear in concert with Garrison Keillor at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 29 at the St. Paul Arts and Science Center Sculpture Garden, 30 E. 10th St.

Originally based in the string band tradition of the '20s and '30s, the Ramblers repertoire has grown to include blues and jazz numbers, Irish tunes, and original material.

Tickets for the performance are $3.50 and are available in advance by writing to KSJN, Red Clays Concert, 400 Sibley St., St. Paul, MN 55101. All proceeds will benefit KSJN's "A Prairie Home Companion" radio show.

Post office sets mail size limits

As of July 15, you'll be paying seven cents extra to send mail in envelopes larger than six and one-eighth inches high or 11½ inches long. The U.S. Postal Service says that after that date, it also won't accept letters that are smaller than 3½ inches high or 5 inches long.

The surcharge will only apply to first-class mail of one ounce or less and third-class mail under two ounces.

The reason? Automated mail sorting. Small cards and letters, such as invitations, can jam the equipment causing breakdowns, delays, and occasionally shredded mail. Larger mail pieces have to be sorted by hand, which costs more.

Similar regulations have already gone into effect in several countries around the world.

Como Zoo offers summer classes

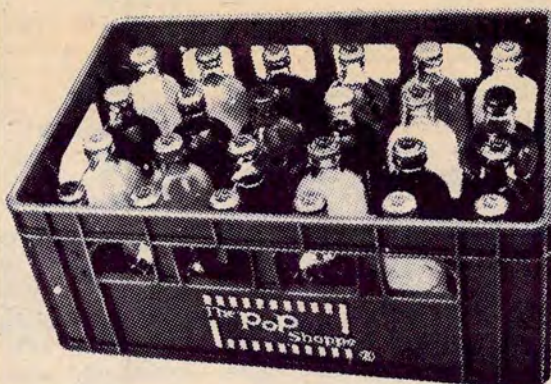

Como Zoo invites students between the ages of 11 and 14 to attend the Como Zoo School this summer.

Seven classes are offered: Zookeeper for a Day, on July 9, 13, 18 or 20; Como Zoo's Cats on July 10; Animals and Photography on July 11; Animals and Art, July 12; Endangered Species on July 16; Snakes on July 17; and Animals of Australia, July 19.

Classes are held from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m., and students may sign up for one or a combination of classes. There is a $1.00 materials fee for each class. For further information, call Como Zoo at 488-4041.

Concordia calls its alumni back for five-day 'Getaway'

Concordia College's Great Getaway IV, the school's fourth annual get together in which alumni and their families converge on the campus for a week of socializing, learning and worship, will be held June 25-29 on the campus at Marshall and Hamline Ave.

A full schedule of activities are available for all age groups to choose from. Highlights include a boat trip on the Jonathan Paddelford, a U of M showboat production of Dandy Dick, a day at Valley Fair, a visit to the Science Museum's Omni Theatre, and a Minnesota Twins baseball game.

Also part of the fare are workshops for young and old, mini-tours to sites of interest in the Twin Cities, musical performances, and keynote addresses by Dr. Eldon Weisheit, author of children's spiritual books; Dr. William A. Miller, director of the Department of Religion and Health at Fairview Hospital; and Lois Brokering of the Bloomington Child Development Association.

Housing, 12 meals, full use of the campus' facilities and a nursery for young children are all included in the registration fee. For more information, call Concordia's alumni office at 641-8225.

Storytaler tales

The Storytalers, a group of professional storytellers and actors, will present a free children's program at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday, June 26 at the Lexington Branch Library, 1080 University Ave. For more information, call 645-7739.

Sent out to verify the rumor that it always rains on Saturdays in the Twin Cities, our photographer managed, if not to prove it, then at least to gather this bit of evidence. This foul weather photo was taken just before lunchtime at I-94 and Cretin Ave.

'The Kitchen Gourmet'

In search of edible exotica and the good life in the Twin Cities

by Nancy Keating

Piper Publishing, the Blue Earth company that brought you The Hungry Gourmet, a guide to Twin Cities dining for under $5.00 has now produced a book aimed at food-lovers at the opposite end of the income scale.

The Kitchen Gourmet (199 pages, $4.95 paper) actually pertains less to good food than to the good life. It may not even be entirely necessary to know much about decent cooking to get some use out of this book.

The Kitchen Gourmet is a buying guide, not a cook-book, an annotated listing of where to track down edible exotica, the stuff to serve it in or on, and all those little extras that will elevate your dining experience from just another blah evening directly into the realm of a tony Smirnoff's ad.

The book lists and describes the metropolitan area's bakeries, beverage stores (not always for booze), butcher shops, candy and nut sellers, farmer's markets, gourmet shops and specialty food stores, making mention of a good range of ethnicities and kinds of food and drink.

For the do-it-yourselfers, the editors list where to take cooking classes. For those non-materialistic souls who only need a portable dance floor or a silver service twice a year, a section on equipment rentals is thoughtfully provided.

But there's more. On the off chance that something's still lacking despite your best efforts to spice up your dinner party by following the recommendations in the main part of the book, the "Eighth Course" section notes where you can lay your hands on yet more pizzazz to lend to your evening's bash.

You could hire a band, a magician or a clown, of course. But how about a limousine with liveried chauffeur? You could even cajole your guests aboard a yacht...

At this point, the reviewer confesses to being a bit out of her element, but is willing to concede that a book that makes accessible the means to a dinner one can only dream of, might someday come in handy.

For the reader who, like her, has grown entirely too used to macaroni and cheese, a 14-page glossary of culinary terms rounds out The Kitchen Gourmet. (Remember "ratatouille?")

It appears that the team of editors who worked on The Hungry Gourmet are warming to their chosen mission of producing metro-area guides to gracious dining. We recommend The Kitchen Gourmet, but we also recommend keeping an eye on that entertainment budget.

MODERN DANCE CLASSES

Summer modern dance classes for adults will be offered four times a week, starting with a six-week session to begin on Tuesday, June 26. The class, to be taught by Ann Witenstein, will meet from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Fees are $12 for members ($18 nonmembers) for one class a week, $22 (or $34) twice weekly, and $3.50 (or $4.50) for a single class. To register, call the JCC at 698-0751.

JULY FOURTH CLOSING

The JCC will be closed all day on Wednesday, July 4. Tennis court hours for Independence Day will be 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

TOUCH FOR HEALTH

Touch for Health, a program that offers a practical approach to natural health using acupuncture and massage, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 26 at the JCC. Instructor Peggy Frank will demonstrate how to improve posture balance and reduce pain and tension by showing that muscle balance is a basic key to health. Fee is $5.00. Call the Center at 698-0751 to sign up.

FACILITIES OPEN AT . . .

JCC physical education facilities open at the following times: 9:00 a.m. Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays; 6:30 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; and 1:00 p.m. Saturdays. Hours apply to tennis courts, gymnasium, exercise room, Health Club, locker rooms and racquetball courts.

TEEN DISCO

Sunday disco lessons for teens will be taught by Amy and George Sitkoff from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Sunday, June 24 and Sunday, July 22. Cost is $1.50 per person for each session. Call the Center for details.

CHILDREN'S TENNIS CAMP

A tennis camp for fifth through eighth graders (members only) will be conducted from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on July 2, 3, 5 and 6 at the Center. The $16 fee includes refreshments and the use of the Center's balls and ball machine. Bring your own racquet and a swim suit for a dip in the pool each day. A seasonal maintenance fee of $5.00 is also required. Call Rich Danov at 698-0751 by June 27 to enroll.

APPLE RIVER TRIP

JCC fifth and sixth grade members will go tubing at the Apple River on Tuesday, June 26. A bus will leave the Center at 10:00 a.m. and return by 5:00 p.m. A $5.00 fee will cover transportation and tire rental. Bring a bag lunch. Call for reservations by Monday, June 25.

Camera buffs are hereby notified that Jorgensen's Clock Shops have announced their sponsorship of three photo contests to coincide with the summer months. Entries should be submitted to the Highland shop at 771 So. Cleveland Ave.

"Life in the Village" is the theme for the first contest which runs through July 14. The others are "Summer Fun" (July 15-August 14) and "Keeping Cool" (August 15-September 14). Entries for each will only be accepted during the dates of that particular contest, and will be judged for originality, composition and appeal.

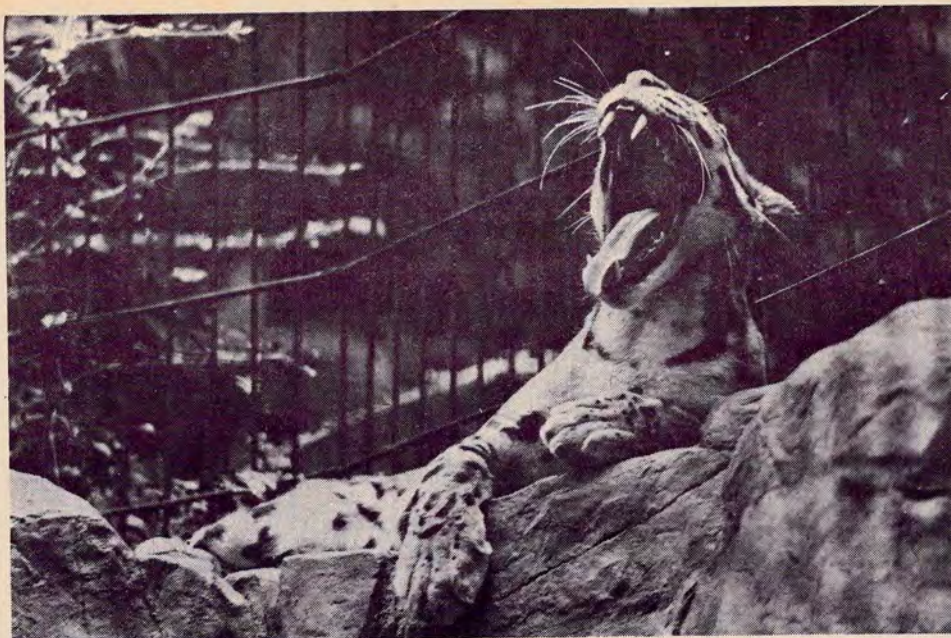

Contestants may enter as many black and white or color photos as they like, with name, address and telephone number printed lightly in ink on the back of each entry. Print sizes are limited to 5x5, 5x7, 8x8 and 8x10 only.

Each contest's winner will receive a $15 gift certificate redeemable at Jorgensen's and, with the first two runners-up, will have the winning prints displayed in the store. Photos will also be reviewed by the editors of the Highland Villager for possible publication.

Highland Library's Superkid program really gets rolling

Mario the Juggler will teach kids age 8 and older how to juggle or improve their technique at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 27 at the Highland Park Branch Library, 1974 Ford Pkwy., as part of its Superkid Summer program. Registration is required; call 698-0823.

Loudini the Magician will amaze and astound his audience with stunts of sleight-of-hand at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, July 11 at the branch.

Continuing Superkid activities include kids' crafts at 1:00 and 2:00 p.m. on Tuesdays, and Read to Me story hours for those age 8 and older at 2:00 p.m. on Mondays. Call the branch for details.

Sandra Mulhern, 1919 Beechwood Ave., has received a $600 academic scholarship from the National Secretaries Association. Mulhern, a 1979 graduate of Derham Hall High School, will put her scholarship to use at the St. Cloud State University College of Business this fall.

St. Paul Rehab fund offers grants and low-interest loans for home improvements

"If you would know the value of money, go and try to borrow some."

—Ben Franklin
Poor Richard's Almanac

The City of St. Paul would no doubt balk at the suggestion that the low interest loans and outright grants it's currently offering to area homeowners is any reflection on the value of today's legal tender.

But the fact is that through the end of 1979, about $6.9 million in home improvement grants and loans at interest rates as low as 1 percent will be available to qualifying homeowners. And according to Gloria Bostrom, loan and grant specialist for St. Paul's Department of Planning and Economic Development (PED), $2 million of that must be awarded by September.

The loans and grants are part of the St. Paul Home Rehab Fund, a citywide effort being made to improve the quality of housing in the city. The money is being made available through the city, its PED, and participating financial institutions.

The home improvements covered by the loans and grants include "just about any safety, health and energy efficiency project," says Bostrom. "Loans can also be used for general improvements such as adding a second bathroom or finishing a recreation room."

To apply for a loan or grant, a homeowner should first call the 24-hour information number (298-5495). "After that, they should stop by our office (1010 University Ave.) to discuss which of the five available financing alternatives best suits their needs," she says.

To qualify for all programs, the applicant must own or be a contract-for-deed purchaser of the property to be improved, and must have a reasonably stable credit rating.

Briefly, the five available financing programs are as follows:

•Minnesota Housing Finance Agency and Citywide Loans — Homeowners can borrow up to $15,000 for home improvements in a single-family dwelling, or even more for up to six units in a multi-family dwelling. Up to 15 years is allowed for repayment, and interest rates vary from 1 to 8 percent depending on adjusted gross income. There are income limits for this program.

"As an example, a family of a working father, mother and one child can make up to $18,000 a year and qualify for this program at 8 percent interest," Bostrom says. Improvements can include health, safety, energy efficiency as well as general improvements.

•Minnesota Housing Finance Agency and Citywide Grants — Up to $5,000 will be given to qualifying homeowners for safety, health and energy efficiency improvements, and $7,500 for handicapped accessibility improvements. Money need not be repaid unless you move, sell or transfer the property within six years. The income levels for the grant program differ from the loan program. "That same family of a working father, mother and one child cannot exceed a $7,000 annual income to qualify for the grant program," Bostrom says. Citywide grants can be used for multi-family dwellings, too.

•Housing and Urban Development 312 — Up to $27,000 per unit can be borrowed for general home improvements in certain neighborhoods. The interest is 3 percent and homeowners have 20 years to repay the loan.

"This is the oldest home improvement program but the newest to get funding this year," Bostrom says. "We have $2 million to distribute between now and September, 1979. Unlike the other programs, this program is restricted to certain areas in the city."

These areas, called Identified Treatment Areas (ITAs), include six newly designated areas which place no income limit on homeowners: West Side, Margaret, Railroad Island, Rice Street/Lewis Park, Arundel-Galtier and Cliff-Pleasant. The loans are available in other parts of the city with income restrictions. In these areas, a family of three cannot exceed a $16,500 annual income. Approximately 80 percent of the city is covered by this program.

"Another major difference in the Housing and Urban Development program is that it requires homeowners to bring their homes up to code," Bostrom says. "With the other programs, we encourage homeowners to meet health and safety codes, but it is up to them to make the final decision to do so."

Calix Society to convene at CST

More than 500 delegates from around the country will gather at the College of St. Thomas Friday through Sunday, June 22-24 for the annual convention of the Calix Society.

Founded in Minneapolis in 1947, Calix is an international organization devoted to strengthening and developing the spiritual life of recovering alcoholics.

Principal speakers at the three-day meeting will be Archbishop John R. Roach; Brother Francis Crotty, associate executive director of the National Clergy Council on Alcoholism; and Richard P. Paddock, director of Guest House in Rochester.

Historical talks at historic fort go on

The historical archaeology and lecture series will continue at Historic Fort Snelling this summer under the aegis of the Minnesota Historical Society. Programs are held in the fort's restored officer quarters and are free with regular admission to the site.

Alan W. Woolworth, chief of the society's archaeology department, will speak on "History and Archaeology" at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 20.

Bruce White, assistant editor of Minnesota History, will present a program on the state's fur trade, called "Who Settled Minnesota, or Is It Settled Yet?" at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, June 21.

Screening set for preschool services

If your preschool child has special needs in speech and communication, social behavior, physical development or learning, he or she is eligible for special services and programs provided free by the St. Paul Public Schools.

Screening is now being conducted for this fall's program. Call Al Saunders at 298-5921 for further details.

ALONE
LONELY.

From the moment you discover your companionship with God, you begin to end the pain of loneliness.

For even in solitude, you have His thoughts to warm you. Pure, creative, loving thoughts, that make solitude as satisfying as pleasant company—and help you know the completeness He gave you.

The Christian Science Sentinel lets you see these things more clearly. Every week, each short article, editorial and testimony of healing brings assurance of God's nearness, and of His love for you.

South Pacific Sweepstakes to raise funds for Chimera

Chimera Theatre's recent opening of Rodgers and Hammerstein's South Pacific also marked the kick-off date for the theatre's first general fund-raising project, "The South Pacific Sweepstakes."

Grand prize in the sweepstakes, which is designed to sustain all of Chimera's programs and special projects, is a ten-day trip for two to the South Sea islands of Tahiti and Moorea, or $2000 in cash.

One hundred other cash prizes, ranging from $10 to $1000, will be awarded during a random drawing on August 3.

Chimera is asking a $2.00 donation with each entry in the sweepstakes. Entry tickets are available at the theatre offices in the St. Paul Arts and Science Center, 30 E. 10th St., in the theatre lobbies during performances of South Pacific, and throughout the community.

For more information, call Chimera Theatre (227-7058) or Penny Claybourne (770-8210).

Summer supper

A summer festival and spaghetti dinner is scheduled from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, June 23 and 24 at the Little Sisters of the Poor, 90 Wilkin St. Cost of the dinner is $3.00. A craft sale, games and refreshments will round out the bill of fare.

CSC faculty have grants, will travel

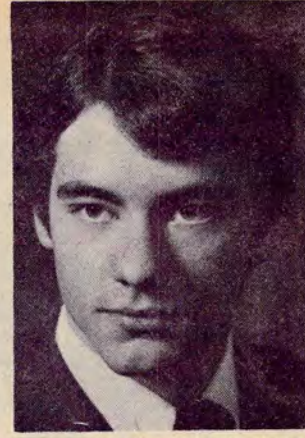

Eight-week grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities are enabling three College of St. Catherine faculty members to carry out advanced studies in their fields of interest this summer.

Dr. George Rochefort, associate professor of classics at CSC, will be studying Greek tragedy at Stanford University in California beginning June 25.

Dr. Albert Biales, professor of music, and Sister Mary Ellen Nagle, music lecturer, are currently attending a seminar at Brandeis University in Waltham, Massachusetts, entitled "Medieval and Renaissance Music: From Notation to Performance."

Teed off

The trouble with most golf beginners is that they stand too close to the ball—after they hit it.

Cretin graduates Thor Halgren (left), 1703 Blair Ave., and Greg Kiwus (right), 1920 Beechwood Ave., were among the 4000 high school seniors across the nation who won Merit Scholarships this year. Halgren and Mike Frederickson (center) of Roseville, received appointments to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. Frederickson also received an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Mime artist offers workshops on how to prevent physical assault

Mime artist Steve Budas will conduct a series of free workshops this month entitled "Know Your Body—What You Can and Cannot Do With It During Actual Physical Assault." The sessions, being held now through June 30 in the St. Anthony Park neighborhood of St. Paul, are open to anyone, though space is limited.

involve other artists as well.

"Know Your Body" workshops will be held from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. on June 30 at the Langford Park Recreation Center, 98 Langford St.; from 4:00 to 5:30 p.m. June 25 and 29 at the St. Anthony Park Library, Como and Carter Ave.; and from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m., on June 21, 25 and 28, also at the St. Anthony Library.

Art collective to mount exhibition

"In Situ," an installation of works by the St. Paul Art Collective, opens this Sunday, June 24 in unrestored areas on the upper floors of the Landmark Center in downtown St. Paul.

The local artists who have created works specifically related to spatial and architectural characteristics of the building, include Linda Brooks, Susan Fiene, Dana Kane, Janet Lofquist, Michael MacTavish, Katherine Mitchell, Joseph Panone, Jim Schiller, Jane Starosciak and Leonard Titzer.

David Kenyon, creator of this ceramic box and an award winner at the 1978 Minnesota Crafts Festival, will return for this year's affair on the St. Catherine's campus.

Film in the Cities shows students' best

Film in the Cities will present the best films produced by high school students in its high school program from 1970 to 1976 at 9:00 p.m. Saturday, June 23 in Minnehaha Park and at 9:00 p.m. Friday, June 29 at the Como Park Pavilion.

The program will include both animation, live action and personal documentaries, many in color and with soundtracks. Both programs are open to the public free of charge and will run about one hour.

Henry's last act

The humble stage of Henry's Plaza Pizza, Inc., 2469 W. 7th St., will play its subtle spotlight on one more act before shutting down for the summer, when Vern Maetzold and ensemble perform on woodwinds, piano and strings from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. Saturday, June 23. The next musical act won't appear until September.

State of the arts on view at 7th Minnesota Craft Festival

Ninety of the most accomplished craftspeople in the state will roll out and show their wares from noon to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, June 23 and 24 during the seventh annual Minnesota Crafts Festival. Free and open to all, the festival will again convene on the wooded grounds of the College of St. Catherine near the corner of Randolph and Cleveland Ave.

The Minnesota Crafts Council, a nonprofit organization of regional artisans that sponsors the festival, named a jury of three nationally known artists to review the fair's entries. The jury's selections of the best work in weaving, ceramics, glass, woodworking and metal will be on display, as will works by the award winners from last year's festival.

Visitors will be able to examine well-crafted, imaginative objects that serve functional or fanciful purposes to a background of live music performed by the Northern Star Ceili Band, a group of musicians who specialize in traditional Irish tunes. The weekend festival also will feature craft demonstrations and outstanding ethnic food.

Joan Mondale will present awards to the best exhibitors during a 2:00 p.m. ceremony on Saturday.

SPCO adds Open House Series to upcoming season

The St. Paul Chamber Orchestra's 1979-80 season, which opens September 12, will not only see the return of the Capital, Baroque and Perspectives series, but will mark the beginning of a new SPCO series—Open House.

The Open House Series will include four concerts, each focusing on music that explores a particular theme: Improvisation, Open House, Contrasts and Variation.

Performed in the garden setting of the Landmark Center's cortile, the informal Open House concerts will combine music, poetry and prose readings along with insights from the conductor. SPCO musicians will also be on hand to visit with the audience.

Capital Series concerts, held in I.A. O'Shaughnessy Auditorium at the College of St. Catherine, will include the following artists: pianists Andre Watts, Keith Jarrett and Russell Sherman; cellist Janos Starker; violinists Oscar Shumsky and Toshiya Eto; vocalists Jan DeGaetani and Thomas Paul; and guest conductors Stanislaw Skrowaczewski, Uri Mayer and Jorge Mester. SPCO Music Director Dennis Russell Davies

Peter, Paul play Peppermint Tent

Two Peppermint Tent children's plays, Peter the Postman and Paul Bunyan Adventures, will be performed in repertory through July 20 in the University of Minnesota's Stoll Thrust Theatre, on the West Bank of the Minneapolis campus.

Peter the Postman, which should interest three to eight-year-olds, is a musical adaptation of a Danish comedy about a public servant who goes out of his way to help others. Paul Bunyan, a series of tales of the lumberman and his blue ox Babe, is for children age seven through 12.

For ticket information, call the University Theatre ticket office at 373-2337.

Royal Danish Ballet presents Bournonville fest at Northrop

Soloists from the Royal Danish Ballet will present a festival of ballets by 19th century Danish choreographer August Bournonville from July 5-7 in Northrop Auditorium on the University of Minnesota campus.

Marking the 100th anniversary of Bournonville's death, the festival will feature guest dancer Peter Schaufuss, a principal with the National Ballet of Canada and the London Festival Ballet, and a full orchestra conducted by Ole Henrik Dahl of the Royal Danish Ballet.

Performances will be at 8:00 p.m. Thursday, July 5; at 8:00 p.m. Friday, July 6; and at 2:00 and 8:00 p.m. Saturday, July 7.

Tickets are $12.00, $11.00, $9.00 and $6.50 and available at Dayton's, Donaldson's and the Northrop

Williams' 'Glass Menagerie' to open June 20 at Guthrie

The Guthrie Theater will present its third production of the 1979 season, Tennessee Williams' The Glass Menagerie, opening Wednesday, June 20 at 8:00 p.m.

The Glass Menagerie reflects the tragic tale of Amanda Wingfield, an aging southern belle who is abandoned by her husband to struggle through the Depression with her disillusioned son Tom, and crippled daughter Laura. Amanda clings to her genteel world of myths and memories as she tries to find a husband for her shy daughter.

Emily Mann makes her mainstage directorial debut with this production. Sharing the spotlight are Barbara Brune as Amanda, Jeffrey Chandler as Tom, Cara Duff-MacCormick as Laura and John Spencer as the Gentleman Caller. Set design is by Ming Cho Lee, with costumes by Jennifer von Mayrhauser, lighting by Duane Schuler, music by Mel Marvin and music di-

Mac's projector to unroll seven in summer film series

A series of seven films, sponsored by the Macalester College Campus Programs office, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays, June 21 through August 2 in Mac's Olin Hall Auditorium. The films are open to the public for a $1.00 admission charge.

The films that will roll are as follows:

June 21 — The Chronicle of Anna Magdalena Bach (1967). A love story described as a monument of structural cinema, featuring brilliant orchestral renditions of a great composer's work.

June 28 — Kelly's Heroes (1970). Clint Eastwood, Carroll O'Connor, Donald Sutherland, Don Rickles and Telly Savalas portray a wacky group of soldiers who discover $15 million of German gold stored in a small French bank during World War II.

July 5 — The Great Texas Dynamite Chase (1976). Two women bank robbers take up where Bonnie and Clyde left off.

July 12 — The Hot Rock (1972). Robert Redford, George Segal, Zero Mostel, Paul Sand and Ron Leibman. An engaging foursome teams up to steal a gigantic diamond for an African diplomat.

July 19 — Pretty Poison (1968). Pyromaniac Anthony Perkins meets his match in Tuesday Weld.

July 26 — Bedazzled (1968). Peter Cook, Dudley Moore and Raquel Welch. A devil-may-care update of the Faustian legend.

August 2 — Invasion of the Body Snatchers (1956). The original version starring Kevin McCarthy and Dana Wynter.

The Villager's Guide to Food, Fun & Entertainment

Bloody Mary (Lisa Callierstrom) attempts to peddle one of her more exotic souvenirs to an American sailor in Chimera Theatre's production of South Pacific. Rodgers and Hammerstein musical runs through July 22.

Harpsichord symposium goes back to Bach for final events at Mac

A concert and film on Johann Sebastian Bach will bring to a close the annual Harpsichord Symposium, continuing this week at Macalester College.

David Fuller, associate professor of music at the State University of New York-Buffalo, will perform on harpsichord at 8:00 p.m. Friday, June 22 in the concert hall of the Janet Wallace Fine Arts Center. There will be a small admission charge.

A film starring Gustav Leonhardt entitled The Chronicle of Anna Magdalena Bach will be shown at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, June 21 in Olin Hall auditorium. Cost is $1.00.

Chimera stages Rodgers and Hammerstein's 'South Pacific'

Rodgers and Hammerstein's Pulitzer Prize-winning musical, South Pacific, is being presented by the Chimera Theatre Company now through July 22 in the St. Paul Arts and Science Center, 30 E. 10th St.

Based on James Michener's novel, which was also awarded a Pulitzer Prize, South Pacific is set on an American-occupied South Seas island during World War II.

The action centers around a French plantation owner's courtship of a small-town navy nurse, a young officer's love for a native girl, and the competition between a wily native woman and a resourceful Seabee for control of the island's souvenir sales.

Directed by Larry Whiteley with help from assistant director Tom Amundsen, South Pacific will be performed at 8:30 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and at 7:30 p.m. Sundays in the Arts and Science Center's Crawford Livingston Theater. Matinee performances are scheduled for 2:00 p.m. Sundays, July 8, 15 and 22.

For more information or reservations, call Chimera's box office at 222-0792. Discounts for groups of 25 or more may be arranged by calling 777-1105 during regular business hours.

Rutherford plays lead in Schubert Club film series

English character actress Margaret Rutherford, familiar to many by face if not by name, will be the subject of the Schubert Club's summer film series, with all movies scheduled for 8:00 p.m. showings on Fridays and Saturdays in the auditorium of the St. Paul Arts and Science Center, 30 E. 10th St. Admission is $1.75.

The movies and their dates are: Murder Most Foul (June 22-23), Murder Ahoy! (June 29-30), Blithe Spirit (July 6-7), Trouble in Store (July 13-14), The Importance of Being Ernest (July 20-21), Aunt Clara (July 27-28), Passport to Pimlico (August 3-4) and Demi-Paradise (August 10-11).

For more information on the film series call the Schubert Club at 292-3267.

Popular jazz guitarist and singer George Benson will make his first appearance with the Minnesota Orchestra in an 8:00 p.m. concert Wednesday, June 20 at the St. Paul Civic Center. For ticket information, call the Orchestra Hall box office at 371-5656.

Local playwright's 'Haruspices' opens at Theatre in the Round

The Haruspices and the Divining Carcass, a new play by Lance Belville of 1236 Lincoln Ave., will receive its world premiere at Theatre in the Round on Monday, June 25, a part of TRP's Studio Series of new plays. The production will run through Thursday, June 28.

Haruspices, winner of the National Playwriting contest at the Theatre of Jacksonville, is something of a mystery play since very little of the story is known to this writer. "I can't tell you the whole thing, you know," the playwright explained.

According to Belville, the action takes place in a contemporary amphitheater, where medical personnel are examining—or maybe being examined by—a visitor from outer space. All identifying tests taken of the creature come out positive.

The unusual title of the play is a reference to a sect of priests in ancient Rome who predicted the future by studying the insides of dead animals. Haruspices gives comical treatment to society's institutions and issues such as racism, imperialism and exploitation.

Belville, a resident playwright at the Playwright's Lab, is the author of a series of three plays produced by the St. Paul History Theatre, of which We Win or Bust was the most recent.

Call the theater at 336-9123 for performance times and reservations.

Minnesota Orchestra tunes to 'Turn of the Century' concert

The Minnesota Orchestra, under the baton of principal guest conductor Leonard Slatkin, will present a "Turn of the Century" rug concert at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, June 26 in Orchestra Hall.

Mezzo-soprano Janice Meyerson will be the featured soloist for the concert. A national finalist in the Metropolitan Opera's 1978 National Audition, she will sing Mahler's Songs of a Wayfarer.

Other works on the program include: Wagner's The Mastersingers of Nuremberg; Debussy's Prelude to the Afternoon of a Faun; Strauss' Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks; Two Gymnopédies by Satie/Debussy; The Unanswered Question by Ives; and Rimsky-Korsakov's Russian Easter Overture, Opus 36.

Janice Meyerson

For tickets, call Dayton's ticket offices or the Orchestra Hall box office at 371-5656.

A professor of interstellar biology (Tom Baumgartner) meets the creature from outer space (Debbie Darby) in Lance Belville's Haruspices and the Divining Carcass, which will open for four performances at Theatre in the Round on Monday, June 25. Call 336-9123 for more information.

Guitar and Lute Society sets free recital at Mac June 24

A duo recital by pianist-harpsichordist Tracy Loftsgaarden and classical guitarist Joseph Poshek will be presented free at 8:00 p.m. Sunday, June 24 in the concert hall of the Janet Wallace Fine Arts Center at Macalester College.

The program, sponsored by the nonprofit Minnesota Guitar and Lute Society, will include works by Beethoven, Chopin, Dowland, Dodgson and Turina.

Loftsgaarden, who attended Lakewood Community College and Macalester College, was a prizewinner in the piano division of the the Lands Piano Competitions, and in 1978 won in the piano division of the Schubert Club competition. She has performed as soloist with the 3M Symphony and at the Landmark Center.

Poshek, who studied under Jeffrey Van at Macalester, has performed previously as a soloist on KTCA-TV, channel 2.

Entertaining freebies, low-cost concerts constitute 'U' summer

The summer entertainment season sponsored by the Northrop Auditorium Department of Concerts and Lectures and the University of Minnesota Summer Session will open with a live presentation of the "Prairie Home Companion" radio show at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, June 23 in Northrop Auditorium.

The season will continue with jazz singer Carmen McRae, who will perform at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, June 26 in Northrop. Blues singer Alberta Hunter will entertain at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, July 17 in Northrop Auditorium.

Other attractions in Northrop Auditorium include Kenneth DeLap and the Ozone Dance Company at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, July 11; and "A Night at the Operetta" with Vern Sutton, Phil Brunelle and friends performing Gilbert and Sullivan works at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, July 31.

'Broadway' night comes to Nicollet

The Eastern Opera Theatre of New York will present "A Night on Broadway" at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, June 20-23 in Orchestra Hall. The concerts will be narrated by WCCO radio personality Dan Hertsgaard.

Music and dancing from Porgy and Bess, Fiddler on the Roof, West Side Story and Man of La Mancha will make up the program. For reservations, call the Orchestra Hall box office at 371-5656 or Dayton's ticket offices.

Tickets for all the above events are $2.00 and available at the Northrop ticket office (373-2345).

Free entertainment will include the film Caesar and Cleopatra starring Claude Rains and Vivien Leigh, which will be shown at 8:00 p.m. Monday, June 25 in Northrop Auditorium; and a brass concert conducted by Phil Brunelle at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday, July 24 on the Northrop Mall.

The Minnesota Orchestra will also present four free concerts, each at 12:15 p.m. Dates are Friday, July 13 and Wednesday, August 8 on the Northrop Mall; and Thursdays, July 12 and August 9 on the West Bank Knoll.

For more information and a complete listing of summer events at Northrop Auditorium, call 373-2345. If it rains, events scheduled outdoors will be moved inside Northrop Auditorium.

Elliot Quartet to electrify Walker

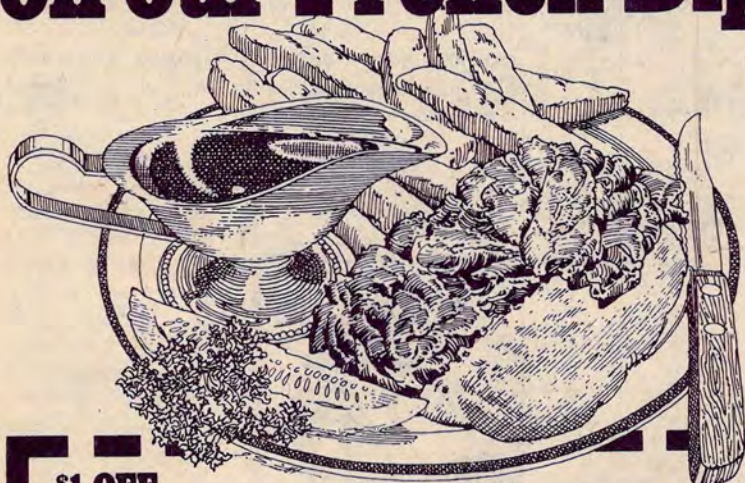

The Mike Elliott Quartet will play two sets of electrified modern jazz at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, June 23 at the Walker Art Center.

Guitarist Mike Elliott, formerly the leader of the local jazz group Natural Life, will be joined by drummer Gordy Knudtson and two other former members of Natural Life, pianist Bobby Peterson and bassist Billy Peterson.

Admission is $3.50; $2.50 for students and senior citizens.

If you're looking for fresh vegetables, the first strawberries of the season or even bedding plants, you can buy them from the growers themselves at the St. Luke's Market, open from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. Fridays this summer at Summit and Lexington Ave.

The market is open to all buyers and sellers who have grown their own produce. For more information, call the Ramsey County Extension Service at 777-8156.

Cops keep watch on empty homes

St. Paul residents going on vacation or leaving their house unoccupied for any length of time may contact the St. Paul Police Department to have their home watched during their absence.

Police officers or Neighborhood Assistance Officers (NAOs) will make periodic checks of the house if they are notified one day prior to your expected departure date.

To receive this service, call the Police Operations Center at 292-3634.

Danebo Home sets Summer festival

The Danebo Home, a Scandinavian retirement home located at 3030 West River Blvd. in Minneapolis, will hold its annual summer festival from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Sunday, June 24.

Festivities will begin with a tour of the home and the serving of coffee and home-baked refreshments in the downstairs lounge. Following the 3:00 p.m. program will be dancing in the parking lot and a Scandinavian lawn supper, served at 4:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Open house planned for new Bayard Ave. Beauty Boutique

The latest face to grace the Highland area beauty business scene (a biz that seems to be booming in these parts if news of new shops is any indication) belongs to Julie Hogan, who recently opened The Beauty Boutique at 1635 Bayard Ave.

Hogan brings eight years of hairstyling experience to her new shop—four years working at her mother's East Side salon, Jan's Beauty Fair, and another four years at Jerry's Hair Fash-

Julie Hogan

DOWN AT THE Playground

Parents! Playgrounds aren't just for kids. Our area recreation centers offer many activities for "grown-ups," too. Watch this column or stop by your local center to find an activity you'd enjoy in the good ol' summertime.

HOMECROFT

Homecroft is looking for adults who would like to play softball on Wednesday evenings. Special rules eliminating walks and strike-outs and requiring men to bat opposite-handed promise to make the games very interesting. New teams are chosen each time and play begins promptly at 6:30 p.m. on field #2.

We're still accepting registration at the rec center for two Community Education classes for youth: an acting class, which meets Wednesdays from 10:30 a.m. to noon; and a drawing class, which is held Fridays from 10:30 a.m. to noon. The registration fee for each class is $1.00.

DESNOYER

Summer classes are now underway. If you missed the boat and would still like to join, come on down to the playground.

Roller skaters! Every Wednesday, the bus leaves here at 12:50 p.m. headed for the rink at Wooddale. A $2.00 fee covers transportation, skate rental, admission fee and a bottle of pop. The bus will return about 4:30 p.m.

Congratulations to Sharon Johnson for winning first place in the yo-yo competition. Good luck, Sharon, in the regionals.

Our girls' softball and boys' cub teams are now in full uniform, and do they look smart. Come on down and cheer them on. Their schedule, along with the complete summer program schedule, is posted on the playground's bulletin board.

HILLCREST

Hey you high-rollers. The bus leaves Hillcrest every Wednesday at 12:40 p.m. Destination: the roller skating rinks at Wooddale. The $2.00 fee is all you'll need for a real good time.

Both Hillcrest and the Highland Branch Library are looking for volunteers who would like to teach backgammon either afternoons or evenings. If you can help, call Hillcrest at 698-1435.

Leathercrafts are taught from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. Wednesdays at the playground. Other craft classes will be held in the Highland Branch Library each Tuesday. Children in third grade and under meet from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. and kids in fourth grade and up meet from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m.

Hillcrest's Recreation for Small People offers fun for 4 and 5-year-olds from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesdays. Kids aged 6 and 7 can have just as much fun on Thursdays from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m.

For more information, call Hillcrest at 698-1435.

Como Zoo open house to show off first step in renovation plans

There's a new cat at Como Zoo and the public is invited to meet it during the fourth annual Como Zoo open house, to be held from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. Thursday, June 21.

What kind of cat? A Caterpillar bulldozer that will soon begin breaking ground for the new cat exhibit, which is the first step in Como Zoo's renovation and improvement program.

Other attractions at the open house include: a "Sparky" seal show at 7:00 p.m., the first public appearance of the new babies born at Como this spring, free admission to the Primate House, an exhibit of the U of M College of Veterinary Medicine's portable lab, and a model of the new cat exhibit.

Open house visitors should note that the main zoo drive will not be open that day and parking will be restricted to the lots outside the main zoo and conservatory area. The walk-through entrance on the south side of the zoo near the Primate House will be the only gate open.

Hospitality House members receive '79 Ireland Award

The Urban Affairs Commission of the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis recently bestowed the 1979 John Ireland Distinguished Service Award on six members of the St. Joseph's House community: Lucy Arimond, Jeanne Gryskiewicz, Charlotte Madigan, CSJ, Rosemary Radatz, Joseph Skelly, and Rita Steihagen, CSJ. The award was presented to the women by Archbishop John Roach.

The St. Joseph House is a house of hospitality open to women and their children caught in crisis situations such as physical abuse, rape, or eviction. Members of the St. Joseph's community are also active in a variety of efforts to combat the effects of sexism and materialism which they say underlie the victimization of women in society.

Charlotte Madigan, a member of the community, said she sees St. Joseph's House as a continuation of the philosophy of Dorothy Day, founder of the Catholic Worker movement: "We comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable."

St. Joseph's House takes in guests with no questions asked, providing free housing and meals in an atmosphere of family-style shared living. The community helps women who often are escaping physical abuse at home to get the legal advice and personal counseling they need.

The house has been supported by more than 500 individual donations and 42 parishes during its 2½ years of service, and has helped approximately 600 people.

Cummings given '79 Brotherhood Award

The National Conference of Christians and Jews recently honored Harold J. Cummings, 862 Fairmount Ave., with the 1979 National Brotherhood Award, given annually to a civic leader for promoting goodwill and understanding among all people.

Chairman emeritus of Minnesota Mutual Life Insurance Company, Cummings was the company's president from 1947 to 1964. Although he officially retired in 1966, the 85-year-old Cummings continues to be active in civic affairs and works every day at his office in the company's St. Paul headquarters.

St. Paul ZOA meets at JCC

Rabbi Joel Gordon, executive director of the St. Paul Talmud Torah, will speak on "The Revival of Hebrew in Modern Israel" during the St. Paul District Zionist Organization of America dinner meeting, on Tuesday, July 3. The dinner will begin at 6:15 p.m. at the St. Paul Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

An update on the Middle East situation will be presented and the slate of nominees for 1979-80 will be voted on during the meeting.

Reservations for the catered dinner may be made by calling 698-3234 or 698-5608.

'Prairie Fire' follows spread of 1916 farmers political movement

All interested area residents are invited to attend a free screening of Prairie Fire, a half-hour documentary on the Non-partisan League, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 27 in Courtroom 317 of the Landmark Center, 75 W. 5th St.

Produced by Cine Manifest and directed by John Hanson and Rob Nilsson, Prairie Fire is narrated by 94-year-old Harry Martinson, a former organizer for the Non-partisan League.

The league was a grassroots political movement that emerged on the Northern Plains in 1916 as a result of the economic hardships experienced by farmers.

The movement had lost most of its power by 1922, but not before organizing thousands of people and electing legislators in 13 states. In Minnesota, the Farmer-Labor Party was an outgrowth of the League.

A discussion led by Karen Starr will follow the screening.

Summer hours

The Highland Park Branch Library will be closed on Saturdays throughout the summer. Weekday hours are from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays, and from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Rev. Richard Vogeley, pastor of Edgumbe Presbyterian Church, has been awarded his Doctor of Ministry degree from the Luther Rice Seminary of Jacksonville, Fla. He began his studies in July 1977.

Volunteers lauded at JCC meeting

The Jewish Community Center's volunteers and committee members will be honored for their year-round help at the JCC's 49th annual meeting, set for 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 27 at the center, 1375 St. Paul Ave. The community is invited to attend.

After an election of new board members, a program including excerpts from the Children's Theatre production of Babes in Toyland, Russian specialties and dancing by the senior adults' body movement class will be presented. A social hour with music by Yale Libman will conclude the evening.

CHECK YOUR BRAKES BEFORE SOMETHING BAD HAPPENS

Usually when something goes wrong on your car the only thing you have to worry about is "Where's the service station?" and "How much?"

But if your brakes go out, you may never know what happened.

So have your brakes checked regularly. Watch for signs that could indicate problems, like a soft pedal or squeaky stops.

And when you have to get new ones be sure and ask for products by Bendix. It's the best known name in brakes.

Students receive research roles

Two Highland area college students recently received research appointments in recognition of their scholarship in chemistry.

Kathryn Jansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Jansen, 1859 Hillcrest Ave., has been accepted at the University of Utah as a graduate student in chemistry with an opportunity to begin research this summer with financial support.

Jansen graduated this spring from the College of St. Catherine with a B.A. degree in chemistry.

College of St. Catherine junior chemistry major Mary Homan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C.J. Homan, 1375 Murray, will be in Puerto Rico for the entire summer on a research appointment as a student trainee through Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Adults to get their kicks in at Hillcrest

An adult soccer course will be offered from 9:00 a.m. to noon on Saturdays, June 30 through August 4 at Hillcrest Playground, Ford Pkwy. and Kenneth St.

The course, which is offered through the Inver Hills/Oneida Inner City Education Program, will concentrate on the fundamentals of soccer, team organization, training and strategy. The course will be taught by Glenn Beggin, head soccer coach at Irondale High School.

The cost is $12.00 and registration must be made before the first class. For more information, call Kathy Moore at the Oneida Education Center (227-7803).

He Came Back . . . and we're glad he did!

Talent like this shouldn't go to waste.

Danny Thomas (the new Rothschild associate - not the Lebanese entertainer) has been in real estate since 1975. He was the manager of Beltline Properties in St. Louis Park where he worked with commercial and residential properties.

In 1977 he decided to try a different area of sales - on-the-road selling of health equipment. But Danny, who now lives at 123 So. Lexington, couldn't keep his eyes off those "For Sale" signs or his heart off the exciting field of real estate. Friends kept asking him for advice on property and Dan cheerfully gave it. He's back in it now with Rothschild, REALTORS. "A friend suggested the company, and I wanted work for a full service organization. Working with 13 other associates 'in a team approach' to selling is another reason I chose Rothschild's," says Dan.

Dan, originally from International Falls, loves the outdoors, fishing, camping, water and snow-skiing and sailing. He's also a licensed roofing contractor and has a good feel for home repairs and maintenance.

Hire Dan to sell your home for you. Call 291-0993. You'll get a happy man - one who is back doing what he loves.

St. Catherine's sets summer Institute in Religious Dimensions

For the fourth consecutive summer, the College of St. Catherine will offer its five-week Institute in Religious Dimensions program. The seminars, workshops and courses will run this year from July 2 through August 3.

Designed for adults and college students interested in ministry, teaching, religion, or personal growth, the program will concentrate on the areas of theology, scripture, spirituality and religious education.

Courses can be taken on a full or part-time basis, daytime or evenings, for undergraduate credit or continuing education units. Call CSC's Office of Continuing Education at 690-6542 for details.

Lexington Branch lists some super summer events for kids

As part of the St. Paul Public Library's Super Kid Summer program, the Lexington Branch at 1080 University Ave. will offer free entertainment, such as puppet shows, story hours and films, every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, now through August 3.

The branch will also offer a reading program to kids this summer. Children who register for the program will receive a reading record in which they can record all the books they read during the summer. Voluntary staff will be on hand at the library to help kids select the books.

Other upcoming events at the Lexington Branch include the following:

The Great Loudini will demonstrate how to make and perform feats of magic during a free workshop at 2:00 p.m. Tuesday, July 3.

A "Superkid Poetry" workshop for children in grades 3 through 6 will be offered on Tuesdays during July. (Third and fourth graders will meet from 10:00 to 11:00 a.m. and fifth and sixth graders from 11:00 a.m. to noon.)

Children in grades 4 through 8 can learn how to make video tapes in a two-session video production workshop which will be held from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Tuesdays, July 10 and 17. Registration is required for this free workshop.

Free children's films will be screened at 2:00 p.m. Wednesdays, July 11 through 25.

For a complete schedule of Superkid Summer events, stop by any branch library. For more information on events at the Lexington Branch Library or to register for those events that require registration, call 645-7739.

Net lessons still open at Edgumbe

There are still a few openings available in the six-session youth and adult tennis classes which will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays, July 10 through 26 at Edgumbe Recreation Center, 320 So Griggs St.

The one-hour sessions begin at 8:30 a.m. for 10 to 12-year-olds; 10:30 a.m. for children ages 7 to 9; 6:00 p.m. for adult beginners; and 8:00 p.m. for adult intermediates. Fees are $9.00 for youths, $10.00 for beginners and $15.00 for intermediates.

There are also openings in a Cartoon Drawing class for ages 9 and up. For more information or to register for any of these classes, call Edgumbe at 690-6903.

Library seeks help

The Saint Paul Public Library's Homebound Service is seeking volunteers to bring library materials on a regular basis to residents in the Highland area. If you can donate two hours of your time every three or four weeks, call Homebound Service at 644-5828.

Authority on Iran to talk at Hamline

A free public lecture on contemporary Iran will be given by Dr. Marvin Zonis, the leading U.S. political scientist on the subject, at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, June 26 in the Learning Center auditorium at Hamline University.

Zonis is the director of the Center for Middle Eastern Studies at the University of Chicago. His talk is part of a four-week institute for college faculty from across the country on the traditions and development of the Middle East.

ACTC project for teachers aims to close writing gap

Despite the increased use of electronic media and computers in the classroom, students are still expected to graduate from high school knowing how to write.

Problem is, though most elementary and high school teachers are trained to conduct classes, precious few know how to teach students how to express themselves effectively with the written word. Even teachers of English are better equipped to discuss literature than the theories and practice of good writing.

Mindful of all this, the Associated Colleges of the Twin Cities (Macalester, St. Catherine's, St. Thomas, Hamline and Augsburg) are now sponsoring the first Twin Cities Area Writing Project to help teachers in elementary and secondary schools improve their ability to teach writing.

Twenty-five metro area teachers are meeting daily at the College of St. Catherine for a month-long period ending July 13, to examine the problems in the teaching of writing, exchange ideas on their own approaches, study research in the field, and bone up on their own writing skills.

According to project coordinator Michael Keenan of Macalester College's English Department, the "graduates" of this summer's program will conduct in-service programs for teachers at their own schools, in hopes of spreading the good word to more educators than the writing project can reach.

Keenan and other ACTC professors raised $15,000 for the project from their colleges, and the same amount from the National Endowment for the Humanities, after hearing good things about the model Bay Area Writing Project (begun in 1974 at Berkeley) and an offshoot of that called the Fargo-Moorhead-Prairie Writing Project (developed in 1976).

It is hoped the Twin Cities project can continue for at least five years.

Notice to Savers!

Higher returns available to you, effective July 1.

Your neighborhood MidAmerica Bank is ready, as always,
to pay you the highest interest rates permitted by law.

Regular passbook savings accounts will pay $5\frac{1}{4}\%$ — deposit or withdraw at any time. Interest is calculated on a daily basis and credited to your account the first day of each quarter.

Consider our new four-year certificates. The rate ceiling will change on the first calendar day of each month in relation to the average four-year yield on Treasury securities as determined by the Treasury Department. A $1,000 minimum deposit is required. These certificates provide an opportunity to earn higher interest — in four years — than ever before.

We will continue to issue Money Market certificates with a $10,000 minimum and six-month maturity, with weekly interest rate based on new six-month U.S. Treasury bills.

Other savings plans, including IRA, are still available as heretofore. We invite you to come in for help in placing your savings to obtain the highest possible return.

*Federal law and regulations provide for an interest penalty on time deposits withdrawn before maturity. On certificates issued or renewed after July 1, the minimum penalty will be three months' loss of interest if the deposit matures in one year or less; six months' loss of interest if it matures in more than one year. Prior regulations are still in effect on time deposits issued before July 1, 1979.
