11th Highland Art Fair hits the Village with expanded entertainment schedule

Many of the Midwest's leading artists and craftpersons will be among the nearly 300 exhibitors who will display and sell their creations during the 11th annual Highland Village Art Fair.

Scheduled to run from Friday through Sunday, September 22-24, the annual admission-free event will center around the corner of Ford Parkway and Cleveland Avenue, and fan out for blocks in all four directions. Art fair hours will run from morning to nightfall on all three days.

Besides the many professional and semi-professional artists who over the years have helped make the Highland Village Art Fair St. Paul's largest outdoor art show and sale, numerous amateur artists, working in much different media, will also play a part in this year's festivities.

Among them will be the Chimera Youth Theatre Company from the Edyth Bush Theatre, which will present a free performance of its popular touring production, The Wise People of Gotham. An original show for children of all ages, the play will be presented at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, September 22 on a portable stage, secured for the occasion courtesy of the St. Paul Department of Parks and Recreation and set up on what used to be the Hove's parking lot.

Dozens of students from Highland Park Senior and Junior High Schools will also lend their various talents to the cause. The Highland Park Theatre of the Deaf, under the direction of Chris Thiers, and the Highland Park Senior High School Band, under the direction of Stan Bulka, will perform in a specially designated area in front of Mid America State Bank of Highland Park at the corner of Fork Parkway and Kenneth St.

In addition, disco dancing lessons and a disco contest, conducted by Highland Senior High grad Tim Shaughnessy, will be held on the site. For performance dates and times, please refer to the Mid America Bank ad in the Go & Do section of this issue.

Proceeds from the 11th annual Highland Village Art Fair, which is sponsored by the Highland Business Association, will benefit a number of academic departments at Highland Junior and Senior. Though the date is late, artists and craftpersons still interested in obtaining exhibition space may call Charleen Bacigalupo, Highland Art Fair coordinator, at 222-5887.

The brilliant canvases of painter Florence Hill and the masterly craftsmanship of silversmith Dennis Bussard will be on display during the 11th annual Highland Village Art Fair, September 22-24. Theirs and the works of nearly 300 other artists can be viewed from morn til night, all three days.

Inner City Education offers college courses for adults

Twenty-seven college level courses representing a wide variety of academic interests will be offered beginning this week at numerous neighborhood locations in St. Paul.

Sponsored by the Inner City Education program, a cooperative effort on the part of Inver Hills Community College and the Oneida Education Center, the courses are designed for adults who wish to return to school on a part-time basis for purposes of job advancement, a career change or personal development. College credit is offered through Inver Hills.

The classes, most of which will meet in the evening, will generally emphasize practical information applicable to job and other day-to-day situations. Registration is currently being accepted for courses in business, career development, dance, English, human services, math, physical education, psychology and Spanish. Also available are topical studies including Introduction to Energy and The History of St. Paul.

Among the many area schools and organizations which have offered to host the class sessions are Homecroft School, the St. Paul Jewish Community Center, the Adult Community Education Center, Oneida Education Center, St. Clair playground and the Minnesota Opera Company.

Course fees are reasonable ($12 per credit) and tuition assistance is available. A college counselor is also available at Oneida to assist anyone seeking academic guidance or career planning help.

For detailed information about the courses and registration procedures, call Kathy Moore or Terry Crowley at 227-7803.

Area Girl Scouts need more leaders

From camping to charting paths of satellites, baking pies to learning about the workings of city, state and federal governments...they're just part of the ever-expanding schedule of activities being planned by area Girl Scout organizations.

But to offer these programs, more Girl Scout leaders—males, females and couples—are currently needed in the Highland area. Training will be provided by volunteers already involved in Girl Scouts.

If you'd like to learn more about the Girl Scouts and how you can become a part of it, call Chris Davis at 227-8836.

I-R primary winners speak at dinner meeting

The Independent Republican Seniors of the 4th Congressional District will hold a dinner meeting at 6:00 p.m. Tuesday, September 19 at Viking Village, 501 No. Snelling Ave. All I-R primary winners have been invited to the meeting and to address those in attendance.

The entire community is invited to attend the dinner meeting and hear the I-R candidates who will vie for public office in the November 7 general election. No reservations are required.

Merriam Center seeks volunteers for meal program

The Merriam Park Community Center, 2000 St. Anthony Ave., is seeking volunteers to help the center in its home delivered meal program for senior citizens.

Volunteers are needed from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays to help pack already prepared meals for delivery to homebound seniors in the area. Anyone interested in helping is asked to call Marcy Phillips or Ann McDonald at 645-0349.

Sandy Atlas elected new president of the Highland Business Association

Sandy Atlas of Highland Optical was elected and installed as the new president of the Highland Business Association during a recent breakfast meeting at Lee's Kitchen.

Selected to serve with him were Pauline Austin, Frank Murphy's, as vice president for memberships; Carl Peterson, First Federal Savings, vice president for programs; and Mary Jane Dickman, Village Secretarial Service, as the new secretary-treasurer. Mike Murray, last year's HBA president will automatically serve on the board in the past-president's role.

Eight new directors were proposed by the nominating committee and accepted in a vote of the membership. They include Father John Mitchell, Church of St. Leo; Marvin Mann, Highland Theatre; John O'Halloran, O'Halloran and Murphy Funeral Home; Ken Batchner, First Liquor Store; Bob Miller, R. Miller's; Mark Moeller, Moeller Jeweler; Stuart Nolan, Stuart Corporation; and Connie Ross, Village Books.

Holdover directors are: Jim Heet, Powers; John Hickey, Applebaums; Bernie Ross, Field-Schlick; Stan Starkman, Highland Drug Center; Doug Anderson, Twin City Federal; Carol Constant, Century 21-Carol Constant Realtors; and John Miler, Lee's Highland Kitchen.

This year's board includes five women, perhaps a new high for the distaff side, according to Maurice Mischke, who chaired the nominating committee.

First event of the new membership year is the upcoming Highland Village Benefit Art Fair, scheduled for September 22-24.

Breck student finds 'liberated' China well on its way to full industrialization

by Lizann Schloff

Ed. note: Twenty-five students from Breck and Minneapolis Central high schools spent 12 days in the People's Republic of China this past summer under the sponsorship of the U.S.-China People's Friendship Association. To get just as much out of the trip as they would, the 25 put just as much into it as they could in the brief time they had after being selected from among a much larger group of local hopefuls. Part of that preparation included two months of weekly meetings and crash courses in Chinese language, history, culture and current events.

Two Highland area students, both from Breck, were among those chosen to make the trip: Beth Kaplan (14), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kaplan of 1280 Hillcrest Ave.; and Lizann Schloff (16), daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ivan Schloff of 2247 Edgumbe Road.

It took little prodding for Lizann to commit her still vivid memories to paper, and believing our readers would find fascinating a local high school girl's thoughts on China and the one-fourth of the world's population probably least understood, we've printed here a slightly condensed version of her written account.

Our first stop after leaving Los Angeles was Hong Kong, where we spent a day before boarding a train for the passage into Canton, China. Canton and Hong Kong, though only 90 miles apart, seem like two different worlds. Unlike the crowded streets of British Hong Kong, very few cars are seen on Canton's wide, tree-lined avenues where the main mode of transportation is the bicycle. In Canton, revolutionary posters are hung in place of billboards and neon signs and neatly cultivated rice fields begin right at the city's edge, leaving little physical separation between Canton and its surrounding countryside.

During the 12-day trip, we also traveled to the cities of Nanchang and Shanghai, visiting schools, factories, hospitals and a commune. We spent time in private homes, attended cultural and sporting events and even witnessed an operation performed under acupuncture anesthesia.

We were fortunate enough to spend two days in Lushan, a mountain village which had recently been opened to foreign visitors. Since the majority of China's 850 million people live in the countryside, our visit to Lushan enabled us to see how most Chinese

I was impressed on learning that there are no "old folks homes" in China. Every able-bodied man and woman works, regardless of age. The older people live with their children and grandchildren where they are treated with great respect. As Americans grow older, we often develop depression and mental illness due to feelings of worthlessness and incapacities. Chinese senior citizens, on the other hand, are allowed to maintain a sense of importance and dignity.

Many social and educational improvements have been made since Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Communist Party took control of mainland China in 1949. Today over 90 percent of China's population is literate, compared to less than ten percent prior to the "liberation." China has apparently eliminated the social problems of drug addiction, prostitution, inflation and unemployment. However, though the Chinese claim to be making advances in industrial and agricultural production, most of the fields we saw were plowed by hand or with water buffalo; we saw very few tractors.

The 25 Twin City students got a ringside seat to view a throat operation performed under acupuncture anesthesia.

The Chinese hope to be totally industrialized by 1985 and the people admit that they have a long way to go before achieving this goal. When we asked some Chinese students about their personal goals, all replied they they would like to do anything to help their country and build socialism. With that attitude, China's hopes for industrialization by 1985 is certainly not an impossible dream!

It frightens me though, this extreme dedication to the country, for it almost seems like the government runs the people's lives. After questioning the people through our interpreters, I was told that all citizens have a say in the government. They assured me that there is room for social criticism during the frequent street committee meetings. However, there was no way I could tell how far they could actually go in their criticism of the system.

My main objective in going to China was to learn as much as possible about the Chinese way of life through first-hand experiences. Having achieved that objective, I'm now spending time learning more about this fascinating and important country, with the hope that some day I will be able to return.

Boschwitz joins area candidates at Dist. 63B I-R picnic Sept. 17

Rudy Boschwitz, GOP candidate for United States Senator, will be the guest of honor at the District 63-B Independent-Republicans' second annual picnic on Sunday, September 17 at the Highland Park pavilion, Montreal near Hamline Ave.

Boschwitz will be welcomed by John Drew, 63-B House candidate, and introduced by State Senator Ron Sieloff, who will serve as emcee for the event.

Additional I-R hopefuls who will be on hand to meet and greet area residents are: John Berg, candidate for Congress from the 4th District; Gerald Brekke, who is challenging the incumbent secretary of state; William Randall, who is seeking re-election as Ramsey County Attorney;

Connie Waterous, who is challenging the incumbent county board commissioner from the 5th District; Jack Schluker, candidate for House District 63-A; and Cathy Healy, who is running for the State House of Representatives from District 62-A. Also expected to attend is Bob Johnson, whose status as a gubernatorial candidate was up in the air at this writing.

The Highland Park picnic grounds will open at 11:00 a.m. The usual picnic fare will be available for sale beginning at noon, or those planning to attend may bring their own lunches.

There will be no admission charged for the picnic, and all area residents—whether I-R's, DFL'ers or Independents—are invited to attend.

CSC offers evening classes for women seeking self-improvement

The College of St. Catherine is offering several non-credit evening courses this fall for women who wish to know themselves better or would like to improve themselves mentally or physically.

The six to eight-week courses, which will meet one evening a week beginning September 25, include: Knowing Myself, a look into communication patterns, roles and values; Creative Choices, for women changing careers or seeking fulfillment in their present work; Assertiveness Training, which will also focus on communication skills; and Well Today—Here Tomorrow, a look at the basic elements of health.

Starting September 26, the college will offer a Basic Math Review in which students start with their present skills and work to develop a program aimed at their individual needs. The math course will be offered both mornings and evenings.

Enrollment is limited in all courses. For more information, call the Continuing Education office at 690-6542.

Record year gets underway at the College of St. Thomas

First semester classes at the College of St. Thomas began Wednesday, September 6 with more than the usual fall flurry of activity, as an undergraduate student population that is expected to break the college's previous total enrollment record busied itself by juggling schedules, locating classrooms, and renewing acquaintances after a summer's absence.

Still another college record that will fall by the wayside this fall is in its resident student population. Female undergraduates, who began filing into St. Thomas' new 144-bed student residence on the corner of Cleveland and Selby on Labor Day, have put the total number of CST boarders over the 850 mark, tops in the college's history, according to Ron Harding, CST housing director.

The new residence, as yet unnamed, will be formally dedicated on October 7 during the college's annual Parents' Day activities. Construction began on the new dorm last spring and was completed three weeks ago.

Board of Education sets policy for school-sponsored field trips

The St. Paul Board of Education recently approved a new field trip policy for the city's public schools. The move comes several months after a handicapped 11-year-old St. Paul boy was found drowned after straying from a group of students visiting Crosby Park on a field trip.

Willie Seals, who was disabled and partially blind, disappeared May 16 while on a science learning center field trip with 45 other students and four adults. His body was found later in the Mississippi River near Lilydale Marine, about a mile below the park.

The school district had guidelines for field trips, but the board had never established an official policy. The new policy clearly specifies the number of teachers required for a set number of students on a trip.

The new policy calls for a minimum ratio of one adult to 10 students at the elementary level, one adult to 14 students at the junior high level, one adult to 17 students at the senior high level, and no less than one adult to 10 students with special needs.

In addition, parents or guardians of students with special needs will now have the opportunity to accompany their children on field trips.

Activities planned near water will require additional supervision, and those activities that involve students being on or in the water require the presence of a certified water safety instructor.

Teachers planning field trips are required to distribute an authorization slip to the parents of participants. The slip must have information concerning the what, when, where and why of the trip, and information on any potential hazards. Parents have the right to approve or deny their child's participation on the trip, and are also asked to note any special health problems or handicaps.

No student will be allowed to take a field trip without written authorization from a parent. The slip must be returned to the school at least two days in advance of the trip and students who fail to return the authorization notice will remain in school.

Those in charge of the field trip are also required to establish a buddy system among the students.

With only surrounding cosmetic work still to be completed, St. Thomas' new student residence opened to 144 female students on Labor Day.

Small fry French classes offered

The Alliance Francaise of the Twin Cities will offer a first year French program for children ages 5-6 and first and second year French programs for children ages 7-9 and 10-12 this fall. Classes will meet on Saturday mornings on the campus of the College of St. Catherine.

Jambor
sold mine!

Hesitation can be costly...

Once you put real estate on the market, you have to make up your mind to move when the right offer comes. Your asking price should come pretty close to your selling price if you have priced your property realistically. The right offer may be your first offer, and if you turn it down, you may never get another as good.

However, the offer should be a written one—the only kind that has any real significance, and on which you can depend.

Just remember that a legitimate offer should be accompanied by a good-sized check, depending on the selling price. Never accept a verbal promise and take your property off the market. The next day, a good sale may be lost if you are tied up in this type of questionable transaction. You'll never have to worry about this situation arising if the sale of your property is in the hands of Jambor Realtors.

MISCH- MASCH

by Maurice F. Mischke

Much like the Oakland Raiders on the football field Sunday, we'll try to fumble forward at the last minute with another column—who knows, we also may be lucky enough to come out ahead!

Since it's close to zero hour for Tuesday's primary, and since this issue will already be on the door knob of some of your homes well before the polls close, political conjecture is out of order this time around. Besides, what would I know about election results at this point... except for the seemingly obvious one-sided races. The mood of the Minnesota voter is yet to be meaningfully measured.

However, I feel sure about one thing. If Rip Van Winkle had awakened sometime in the last few days after his proverbial 20-year sleep, he probably wouldn't know what year it was. But if he had an ounce of political sagacity in his system, he'd certainly know whether the year was odd or even. If ALL the politicians were talking about lower tax rates, spending cutbacks and the like, he'd know it was an "even" year. If at least SOME of our candidates—congressmen, legislators and other public officials—were talking budgetary increases, adjustments for inflation, suggested new programs, human needs, grant proposals, more aid to education and the like, he'd know darn well it was an "odd" year. Or hadn't you noticed?

With the heat we've been having, it's hard to believe that many of our high school grid squads are already headed for their week of game play. St. Thomas Academy again looks tough among our area footballers, with Cretin, Central and Highland seemingly in more of a win-some, lose-some category. And the boys with the pads aren't the only ones who were asked to report early for practice this year. Girls volley ball squads were practicing, I'm told, well before the first school bell rang. Yup, the girls are catching on fast on what it takes to become proficient in sports—practice, practice, practice.

Hope the weather stays nice for our upcoming local fairs, not this coming weekend, but on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th. This will be the eleventh consecutive year for the Highland Village Benefit Art Fair, sponsored for your ogling and buying pleasure once again by the Highland Business Association. Add to that "listening" pleasure, too, because this Art Fair will bring you more free entertainment than heretofore.

Highland Park Senior High will once again bring its band, under the direction of Stan Bulka; there will be performances by the Theatre of the Deaf; and Disco pro Tim Shaughnessy, Highland alumnus, will be on hand to demonstrate and lead participation in this dancing art. This all occurs, as in other years, in the area fronting on Mid America State Bank, on Ford Parkway near Kenneth.

But there's more. This year there'll be a portable stage on the one-time Hove's parking lot featuring presentations by the Chimera Youth Theatre and possible other performing art shows, not known to us by press time. So, you see, there'll be plenty to hear and see... besides all the art in all four direction from the Ford Parkway & Cleveland intersection.

Speaking of the weather as we did a bit earlier, brings to mind an interesting, if perhaps not totally realistic thought. Should it rain incessantly during those days, would it be at all possible to use our two temporarily unoccupied "domed" exhibition halls? I'm speaking, of course, about the still empty Red Owl and Hove's store locations.

In the meantime, I join you in hoping that some efforts will be made to spruce up parts of the Highland commercial area before Art Fair time is upon us. As late as this past Sunday, there were weeds (or should they be called shrubs by now) on the Hove's site that ranged up to and well beyond my average height. A lot of other business places could stand a little manicure or beautifying effort, too. As I walked by, I found the area south of Cecil's and north of the Highland Animal Hospital to be in a "Fine" mess. And maybe some of those building fronts with "for rent" signs on them could be made to look less seedy and more inviting... even for potential tenants. How about a real fall clean-up in the next week or so, fellows and girls. Of course, we'll have to do some more of it, after the Art Fair is history... but that's litter-ally the price of crowds and concentrated activity. Who would want it otherwise?

And while the Highland Village Art Fair tries to draw them in from the whole metro area and even outside the state, the Nativity "County" Fair isn't restricting attendance to any one county, either. If you love the fair atmosphere (and who doesn't) don't stray too far from home that weekend. Nativity's Fair also takes place September 22-23-24, starting with a disco dance for the young, and those who think young on Friday night. Those who admit to genuine adulthood get their kind of dancing music on Saturday night.

Congratulations to Doug Kelm on his appointment to a federal post with the Department of Transportation out of Chicago. I understand he's to become a federal representative for highway programs, urban mass transit, rail and aviation programs for a six-state region encompassing Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. You just know Doug will dig in to master any project in which he gets himself involved. We hope that he and Dottie will enjoy their new environs. To be sure, the MTC and the legislature will lose a little flair, with Kelm no longer in their hair. And that's not to downgrade the newly appointed chairman, Doug's replacement—another area resident, Len Levine. He's been boning up on the bus biz for quite a while himself!

Big government note—Did you know that 17 out of every 100 workers in the country (one out of six) are now employed by government, federal, state or local. As late as 1950, the figure was 11 out of every 100. Spurred apparently by federal grants for almost anything, most of the recent growth has occurred on the state and local levels. Federal employment, as such, stayed pretty even for the year (1977). If one-third of our gross national product goes into expenditures by government (and I guess that's conservative), it would seem our public sector is able to spend money twice as fast as the private realm, or at least spend twice as much per employer. Someone else will have to interpret the relative significance of the comparison. I just make them for your personal edification or whatever.

Sudden thought—How much would the air-conditioning bill have been, if the Viking-Denver game Monday night had been played in an air-cooled dome?

Second thought—How much time would anyone spend on the proposed "people-mover" project if it were ever relegated to a local-money-only project?

We haven't been around to report it, since their monthly meetings happen to fall on our bi-monthly Monday press nights, but the Southwest Area District Council is apparently pretty well organized now for an active year. We suggest you join up and get involved—if you live in the area concerned, and intend to make it your home or business locale for sometime to come. You'll be helping yourself as well as your neighborhood.

Actually, it's too hot to continue rambling this way much longer. But since I'm sitting at home in front of a fan, I'm reminded of Winston Churchill's definition of a FANATIC—that's someone who can't change his mind and won't change the subject.

I don't know if that applies here or not. But there's another reason for cutting this epistle a bit short—I'm told that the air-conditioner is still out at Galley Type, our type-setting suppliers. And you know how sensitive our latter-day computerized type machines are to heat and humidity. The machine is almost human—it insists on a cooling off period every little while.

So just a couple of parting shots will have to suffice... pilfered as usual. This one's from John Erskine: "Most people have some religion—at least they know what church they're staying away from."

Let's end it all, then, with this little birth control note from Clarence Day: If your parents didn't have any children, there's a good chance that you won't have any."

Had enough?????

Kurt Furedi brings rare shoe craft to Highland area

Kurt Furedi, long-time owner of the Village Shoe Service at 2015 Ford Parkway, along with another shop in the Northtown shopping center, recently announced the availability of custom-molded shoes, made to order by him, on location.

Furedi, who represents the fourth generation in a line of German shoemakers, spent several months in New York and Scranton, Pennsylvania, studying and working with craftsmen and podiatrists to learn more about building these shoes, which are tailored to fit around the shape of the foot.

At the present time, the art of making shoes of this type from scratch is available in this country only in New York, Boston and Los Angeles.

The process begins with a plaster cast of the foot.

Kid leather, calf or horsehide is used to form the uppers. Orthopedic arch supports are then formed to fit, before the rugged sole-heel area is added.

Furedi is also offering special "depth inlays" for joggers with aching legs or arch problems.

Area residents honored as America's top young women

Three area residents have been honored by the Outstanding Young Women of America Awards Program for their community involvement and professional accomplishments.

Recognized by the national organization for their achievements are Ann Ludcke, 2108 Randolph Ave; Nancy Reeves, 1725 Summit Ave; and Pat Halloran, 1091 Goodrich Ave.

Ludcke, a publicist for the 3M Company, is vice president for programs of the Twin Cities chapter of Women in Communications, has worked as a volunteer for the American Cancer Society and was the chairperson for the 1976 Minnesota Women's Meeting.

Reeves is the director of the Metropolitan Council's Housing Division and a member of the state board of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials. She has also served on the Minnesota State Advisory Council of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Halloran, news director at Hamline University, serves as the college's special publicity chairperson and helps coordinate the annual Twin Cities College Fair for high school students. She is also involved with the local chapter of Women in Communications, serving as its vice president for communications.

The three will be included, among 12,000 other professional women from throughout the U.S., in the 1978 edition of Outstanding Young Women in America, and are eligible for the top state honor and one of 10 national awards.

Johnson joins Twin City Barge

Allen D. Johnson, 1621 Pinehurst Ave., has been named director of corporate insurance for Twin City Barge and Towing Co. of St. Paul.

A 22-year veteran in the insurance industry, Johnson is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and has been associated with Fireman's Fund Insurance Company in Milwaukee and Minneapolis and with Johnson & Higgins in Minneapolis. Most recently, he served as vice president for Michael A. O'Brien & Associates in St. Paul.

Actors Theatre presents preview for Woman's Club

"Actors Theater Presents" will be the opening program of the fall season for the St. Paul Women's Club, to be held at 10:45 a.m. Wednesday, September 27 at the A.A.U.W. clubhouse, 990 Summit Ave.

Under the direction of Michael Andrew Miner, artistic director, selected pieces from the one-year-old company's repertoire will be presented by members of Actors Theater of St. Paul and their friends.

A luncheon will follow the show which will introduce the second season of the professional acting troupe. Actors Theatre stages its performances in Foley Theater on the campus of the College of St. Thomas.

Archdiocese gathers for two-day conference on spiritual growth

A gathering for all people of the Archdiocese of Saint Paul and Minneapolis will begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, September 23-24 at the Minneapolis Auditorium, 1403 Stevens Ave.

Designed to promote spiritual and personal growth among people sharing a common faith, the two-day conference will feature several speakers from across the country, a wide choice of workshops and a 4:00 p.m. Sunday liturgy celebrated by Archbishop John R. Roach.

Featured speakers include: Reverend Vincent Dwyer, director of the Center for Human Development; Bishop Carroll T. Dozier of Memphis, Tennessee; Sister Jose Hobday, planning director of the Papago Indian Tribe in Albuquerque, New Mexico; Reverend John Gallen, S.J., director of the Notre Dame Center for Pastoral Liturgy; and Reverend Thomas Gedeon, S.J., executive director of Retreats International.

Workshops, chaired by priests, religious and lay persons with a variety of backgrounds, will cover such topics as: "What do social concerns have to do with spirituality?" "Contemplation and Celebration: Do They Mix?," and "Chemical Dependency: A Challenge to Growth Within the Family."

Registration fee for the two-day gathering is $12.00 before September 15; $15.00 after that date. Single day registration is $7.00 before September 15, $8.00 after.

Derham Hall set to begin first net season this fall

Thanks to the efforts of Michelle Simonet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Simonet, 782 Syndicate St., Derham Hall High School can add a girls' tennis team to its athletic roster this fall.

Michelle, who spent the summer organizing a viable squad of netters, will be the team's first captain. Mamie Heimbach, an English teacher at Derham, and her father, Kenneth Heimbach, will coach the team which opens its season September 13 against Visitation.

But perhaps the biggest boost for Derham's tennis hopes was the gift of Cretin's class of '28: Tennis courts for practices and home matches. Not a bad start for a rookie season.

Varsity netters are: Michelle Simonet, Teresa Dorle, Diane Neira, Phil Morrissey, Anne Bilski, Mary Beth Reiling, Peggy Gartland, Mara Molenaar, Mary Farley, Irene Turner and Maura Morrissey.

Junior varsity members include: Anne Molitor, Shannon Culligan, Karen Lynch, Chris Bamberg, Ann Simonet, Mary Mazzitello and Sue Bonfe.

Eight-year-old Sharonah Jacobus, as young Helen Keller, "talks" with Bell, her canine co-star, in Macalester College's community production of The Miracle Worker. The play will be presented at 8:00 p.m. this Thursday, September 14 and Fridays and Saturdays, September 15-16 and 22-23 in the college's Janet Wallace Fine Arts Theatre.

Sharonah shines as young Helen Keller in Mac's production of 'Miracle Worker'

All eyes will be on eight-year-old Sharonah Jacobus' eyes when Macalester College opens its community production of The Miracle Worker at 8:00 p.m. this Thursday, September 14 in the college's Janet Wallace Fine Arts Theatre.

Sharonah, the daughter of Dan and Denise Jacobus of 1794 Sargent Ave., has the starring role in William Gibson's dramatization of the childhood education of the blind and deaf Helen Keller.

Sharonah's won't be the only local talent on stage, however. In fact, all 19 of the play's characters are portrayed by area students, children and community theatre actors, most of whom live in the Macalester neighborhood.

But the audience's attention will undoubtedly focus on the third grader from Webster Magnet Elementary School who was chosen to tackle the demanding role of the young, undisciplined Keller.

Portraying a deaf and blind girl is definitely not an easy acting assignment. The fact that the young Keller was sullen and unruly makes it even more difficult. To help Sharonah get the "feel" of her character, director Douglas Hatfield, dramatic arts professor at Macalester, had the young actress go through her scenes in the first few rehearsals blindfolded. And Jean Cullen, 1564 Selby Ave., who plays Keller's tutor, Annie Sullivan, was commissioned as an off-stage tutor to teach Sharonah sign language.

It was probably Sharonah's previous experience with creative dance and gymnastics at the Jewish Community Center that helped her land the part. That, and a little help from a friend.

After a neighbor had read an audition announcement in the July 26 issue of the Villager, she asked the outgoing eight-year-old if she would like to accompany her to the tryout. Sharonah said yes, and so did the director, who selected her from among 25 other young aspirants. The neighbor didn't get a part, but then, that's show biz.

If the auditions were a breeze for the long-tressed Sharonah, the play itself whips her like a hurricane. Keller's educational breakthrough was characterized by stormy fits of stubbornness and arrogance. Physical restraint and corporal discipline dominate virtually all of Sharonah's scenes.

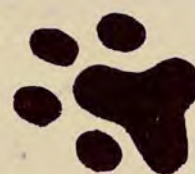

As Keller, she must flail away at her well-intentioned tutor, tumble over props and brace herself for retaliatory slaps—all while pretending she doesn't see the target of her own blows, the chair in her path or the back of the hand coming her way.

According to her mother, Sharonah handles the emotional and physical requirements of the role with surprising ease.

"I don't really understand how she was able to take the long rehearsals, night after night," Mrs. Jacobus said. "Especially considering the physical and emotional demands placed on her. But, somehow, she did. Like most little girls, she took it all in stride. She would come home after all that pretending, turn on the stereo, and unwind by dancing."

Sharonah will get plenty of practice dancing in the next couple of weeks. The Miracle Worker will continue its run at Macalester College at 8:00 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, September 15-16 and 22-23. For tickets and reservations, call 647-6359.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MORALITY?

To the editor:

I'd wager that even the "Pro-Choice" pro-abortionists would be sorrowful if they watched boyfriends and parents drive up to the Planned Parenthood clinic in Highland Park and wait while the young girl with them goes in for an abortion.

Whatever happened to morality and self-control as opposed to abortion and birth control? As one wise father recently observed, "The pill has created a generation of prostitutes." Easily obtained abortions haven't helped either.

State agencies seek applicants for three posts

Applications are now being accepted for part-time positions with three state agencies.

The Minnesota Board of Psychology has one vacancy for a licensed psychologist at the masters level. The purpose of the board is to qualify psychologists and to investigate complaints against its licensees. The position requires approximately one day per month.

The Occupational Safety and Health Advisory Council has one opening for a person knowledgeable in safety and safety regulations. The council convenes one morning each month.

One member is sought for the Veterans Advisory Committee which examines the operation of the Department of Veterans affairs and issues and problems relating to veterans. Two meetings are held each month.

For an application for any of the positions, call 296-3266. The deadline for applying is September 22.

Silent Prayer art exhibit set at Temple of Aaron

The Silent Prayer, an exhibition of 19 serigraphs by contemporary Swedish artist Peter Frudenthal, will be on view from Selihot evening, September 23, through October 25 at the Temple of Aaron, 616 S. Mississippi River Blvd.

Frudenthal's silk screen prints illustrate the 19 benedictions of the amidah, or silent prayer, an integral part of every traditional Jewish religious service.

The Stockholm artist has presented many one-man shows including ones in Germany and Japan and most recently at the Jewish Museum in New York City.

The exhibit will be on display during regular synagogue hours and is open to the public free of charge.

Study skill course slated at SPA/SS

An evening class for adults and mature high school students who wish to improve their skills in reading, spelling, handwriting and related study skills will be held this fall at St. Paul Academy/Summit School, 1712 Randolph Ave.

The class will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursday evenings beginning September 28. Cost is $80.

To register or to obtain further information, call instructors Arlene Sondag (455-9361) or Caroline Roetzel (690-1382).

LWV forum to focus on problems facing libraries

The St. Paul League of Women Voters will sponsor a forum on the financing of public libraries at 7:00 p.m. Wednesday, September 27 at the St. Paul Public Schools' administrative building, 360 Colborne St. The forum will focus on the financial problems of libraries in relation to the services they provide.

Speakers will include William Asp, director of the State Office of Public Libraries and Inter-Library Cooperation; Joel Rosenfeld, director of the Metropolitan Library Service Agency; Kathleen Stachowiak, director of Extension Services for the St. Paul Public Library; and Thomas Kelley, director of St. Paul's Community Services.

JCC happenings

FALL REGISTRATION

Registration for the JCC's fall programs begins Sunday, September 17, and continues through Sunday, September 24. Registration hours are 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on September 17; 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on September 18-21; and 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on September 22 and 24. Registration must be made in person at the Center, except for adult activities. For a complete schedule of what's happening at the JCC in the next few months, call the Center at 698-0751.

NET CHAMPS

Jeff Ringer captured the men's Class A division honors in the recent JCC tennis tournament, while Tom Sherman took first in the men's Class B section. Barb Brabec topped the field of women entrants. Second place finishers in the three divisions were: Dr. Len Levitan, A; Murry Appelbaum, B; and Carol Hutchinson, women's.

NEW SHALIACH

Yefet Ozery, 29, is the new JCC Shaliach. An economist and assistant to the minister in the Ministry of Communication in Israel, Ozery has a B.A. from Hebrew University. He has been a manager of a moshav, is in charge of the cultural activities of a regional council and has worked with American and Canadian youth groups. Ozery's wife, Kathy, a former American from Maryland, made Aliyah in 1975 and is assistant to the director of the admissions office for overseas students at Hebrew University.

Ozery is available to talk about Israel and Judaism with community groups and other interested people. If you have any questions, call him at the Center at 698-0751.

BLUE BOXES DEPOT

A Jewish National Fund Blue Boxes Depot will be run by St. Paul Hadassah from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Sunday, September 17 at the JCC. If you have JNF blue boxes around your home, bring them to the Center that day to be emptied. If you don't have one in your home, why not stop by, pick one up and get into the "drop the coins in the blue box" habit!

MODERN DANCE BALLET

Adults, both members and non-members, can take Modern Dance Ballet classes at the JCC beginning this week. Classes are held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. or 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. for beginners, and from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. or 9:00 to 10:00 p.m. for advanced beginners. Ann Witenstein is the instructor. Call the Center at 698-0751 for details about fees.

THE HOME TEAM SCORES AGAIN!

Taking Top Producer honors in Matchmaker's five-state region is a prodigious accomplishment in itself, but its significance is even more remarkable when you consider Diane's career in real estate began just four short, but very busy months ago.

Diane credits her Matchmaker—Home Team training and Matchmaker's comprehensive sales services, like our Home Warranty, our Assured Sales Plan and our National Referral System. They undoubtedly helped, but Diane's colleagues feel her dedication and personal style made the difference.

Of course, you can be the best judge of that. Call Diane for help with your real estate needs and go with a pro!

Making early-bird reservations from the Ramsey County Medical Society Auxiliary's fall luncheon and style show are, from left to right, Nancy Johnson, Sally Moore, Missy Wilson and, standing, Dodee Carley, all area auxiliary members. The annual event will be held on Wednesday, September 27 at the St. Paul Radisson Hotel. Proceeds from the benefit will go to Women's Advocates, 584 Grand Ave., a crisis center for abused women and their children. For reservations, call Beth Messenger at 774-9170.

Mendota Heights house tour aids Dakota's Children

The Mendota Heights Jaycee Women will sponsor a house tour from noon to 5:00 p.m. on Sunday, September 24. The tour will feature eight homes in the Mendota Heights area ranging from contemporary to traditional architectural styles.

Proceeds from the tour will go to Dakota's Children, Inc., a home for multiply handicapped and retarded children.

Tickets are $3.50 and may be purchased in advance at Dakota's Children, 400 W. Marie Ave. in West St. Paul, or by calling Mrs. H. Miller at 454-7562. Descriptions and address of homes to be toured will be included with the ticket.

Series on spiritual growth set at CST

The Center for Religious Education at the College of St. Thomas will sponsor a series of discussions on furthering spiritual growth from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. on Wednesdays, September 27, October 3, 10, 17, 24 and November 15.

Loretta Girzaitis, Adult Education Director for the Archdiocese's Catholic Education Center, will lead the course which she describes as "a reflection and response to a second journey in life for those over 35—an opportunity to sort out and make sense of personal spiritual histories."

The cost is $25.00. For more information or to register, call 647-5715.

Football players raise cans, not Cain, at area households

Residents! Be on the lookout for an approaching horde of can wielding juveniles expected to be moving through the Highland area on Saturday, September 16.

But don't be alarmed—its only Highland Groveland Recreation Association's annual Football Can Collection.

On that day, HGRA football players will be walking door to door asking for donations for their sports programs with a can marked "H.G.R.A. Thanks You." Before making a donation, H.G.R.A. asked that you make certain the person actually represents the organization.

For more information on the can collection, call Mike Windey at 699-4633 from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. or from 6:00 to 9:30 p.m.

Everyone's invited to watch the opening kickoff of the season Sunday afternoon, September 17 at the Highland Park High School football field.

Money makers planned at Mann

Horace Mann School will hold a paper drive from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, October 7 at the school, 2001 Eleanor Ave. Only newspapers and telephone books can be accepted.

To raise further funds, the school, in cooperation with Village Books, 2053 Ford Parkway, will sponsor a book sale the weekend of September 29-30. Part of the price of all items purchased at Village Books on those days will be given to Horace Mann if the buyer but breathes the name of the school.

What preliminary admission figures indicate may well be a record breaking freshman class brings up the rear of a 2000-strong Katie convoy during annual convocation ceremonies held September 6 to kick off the new school year at the College of St. Catherine. Five hundred-thirty frosh make the class of '82 CSC's largest ever.

The 11th annual Highland Village Benefit Art Fair

YOU'RE INVITED

September 22-23-24

The sidewalks of Highland Village become the galleries for Saint Paul's biggest and best outdoor art show and sale on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 22, 23 and 24.

Showcasing the paintings, pottery, photography, fibers, sculpture and ceramics of almost 300 Midwestern artists, the 11th annual edition of the Highland Village Art Fair will again fan out in all four directions from the corner of Ford Parkway and Cleveland Avenue. Exhibition hours will run from morn til night throughout the three-day fair.

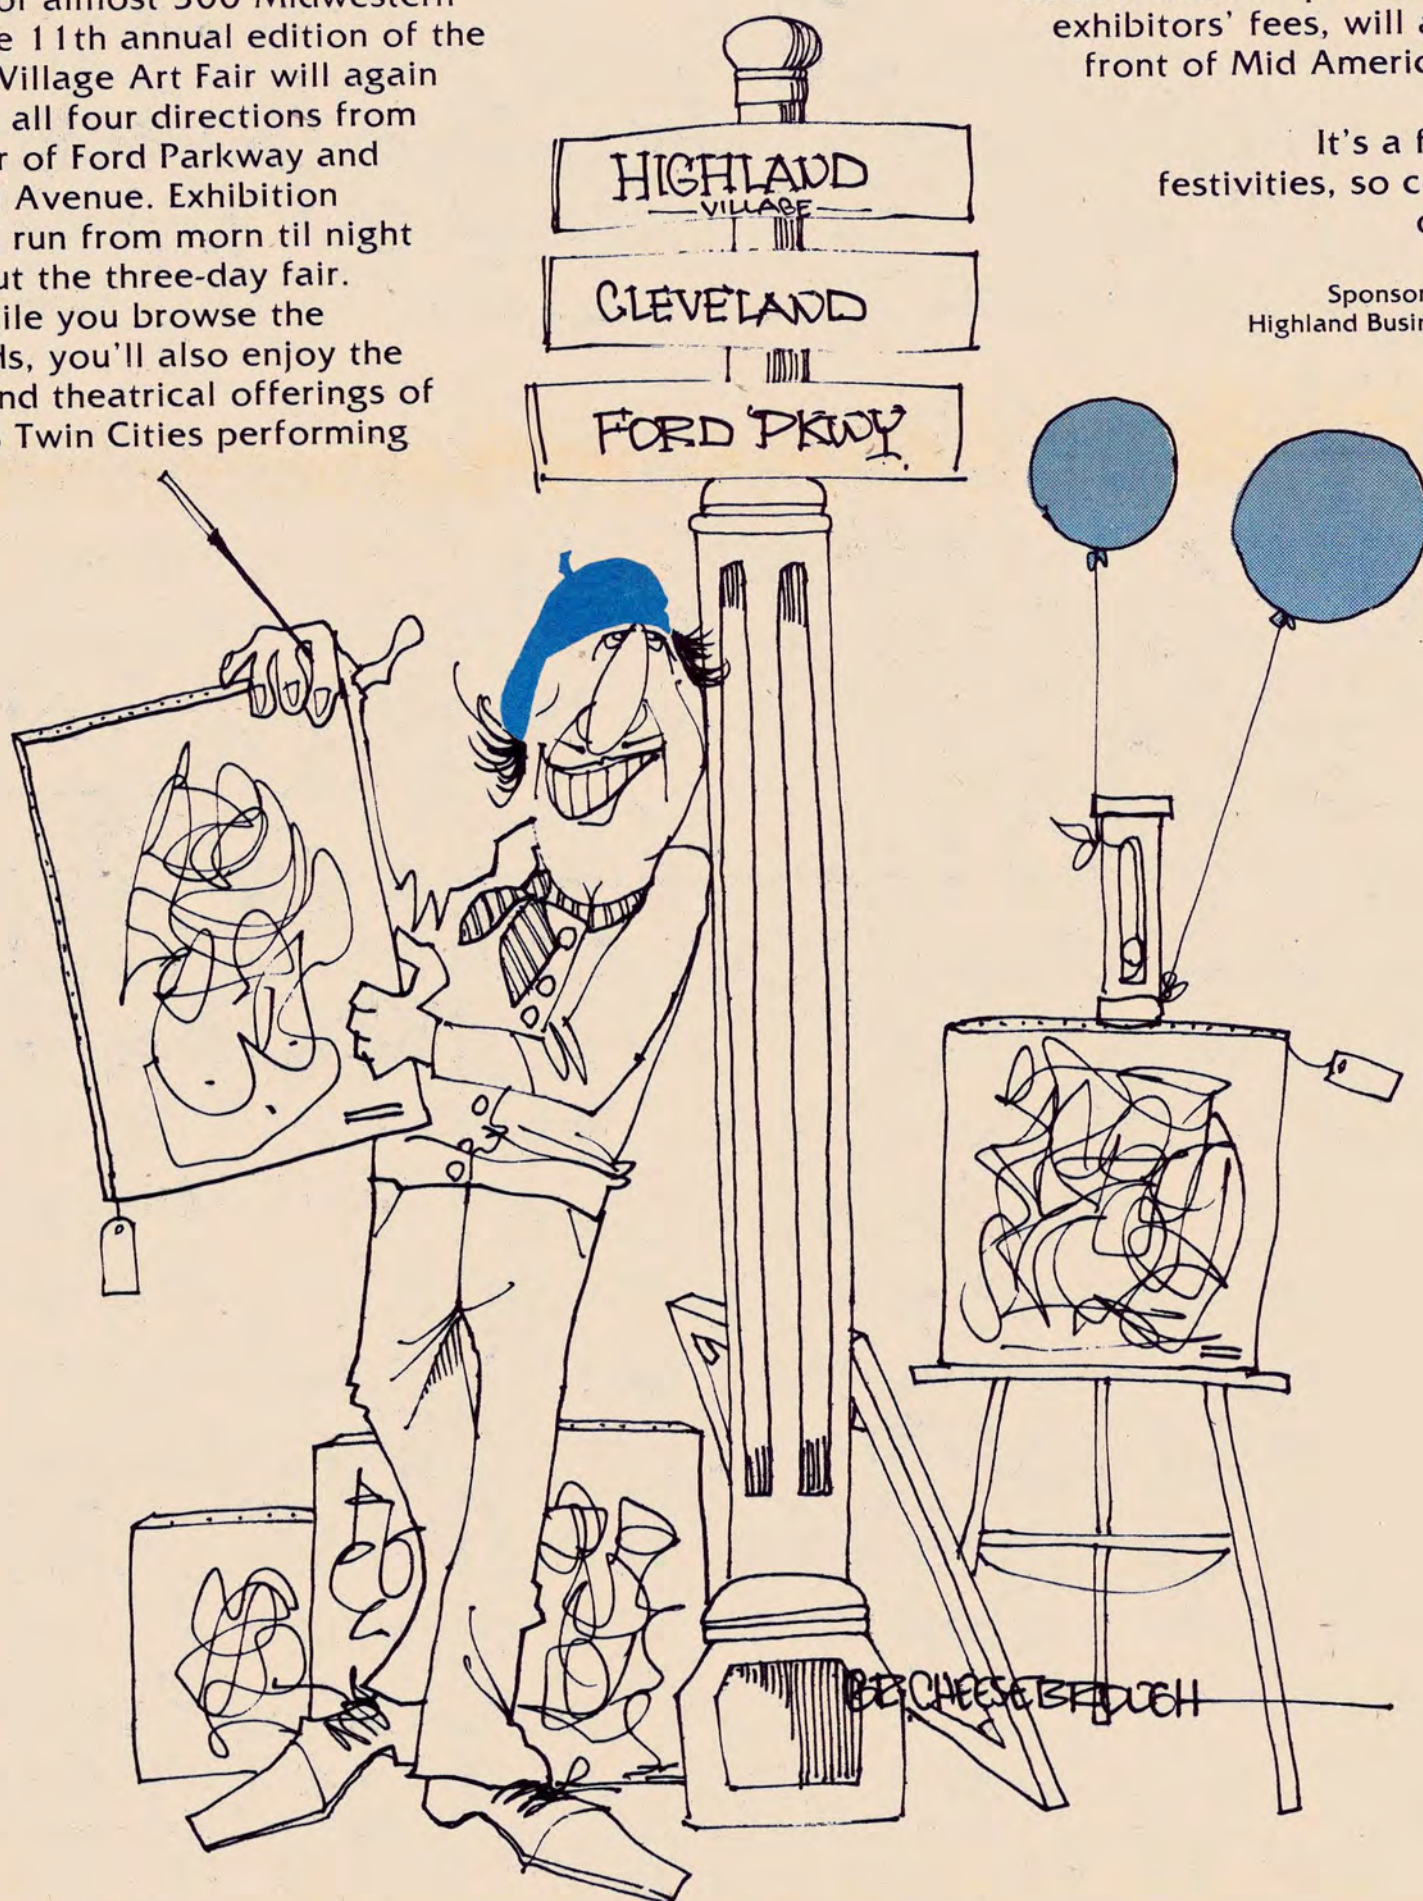

And while you browse the boulevards, you'll also enjoy the musical and theatrical offerings of numerous Twin Cities performing arts groups, including the Chimera Youth Theatre Company, which will present its original touring production of "The Wise People of Gotham" on stage in the parking lot of the former Hove's site.

Students from Highland Park Junior and Senior High Schools, who will benefit from all proceeds derived from exhibitors' fees, will also entertain in front of Mid America State Bank of Highland Park.

It's a full three days of festivities, so come early, come often, and enjoy!

Old Testament course begins at CST Sept. 19

Sister Regina Ecker will lead a course this fall entitled "Introduction to the Old Testament" at the Center for Religious Education on the campus of the College of St. Thomas. The class will meet on six Tuesdays beginning September 19. One section, with babysitting available, will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; another will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The course will consider the meaning of revelation and inspiration, the historical settings in which Scripture was written, the major divisions and different kinds of literature found in the Old Testament, and common problems in understanding the Bible.

Cost for the course is $18.00. To register call 647-5715.

Found collecting dust in the College of St. Thomas archives, this photo shows the Toms' 1948 football team in full-house formation as they went through their drills in the school's armory to escape the December drifts outside. This fall marks the 30th anniversary of the '48 gridders who, with a stubborn defense and three future pros, comprised the only football team in CST history to play in a post-season bowl game. The '48 eleven capped a 7-1 regular season record and an MIAC championship by rallying to tie Missouri Valley 13-13 in the Cigar Bowl on New Year's Day in Tampa, Fla. Destined to play in the NFL were lineman Don Simonsen (Rams), second from right; and halfbacks Jim "Popcorn" Brandt (Steelers), left, and Jack Salschieder (Giants), right. Many members of the '48 team will relive the glory that was theirs when the Toms host Gustavus on Homecoming Saturday, September 23.

Kids' storytime set

The Merriam Park Branch Library will be offering a six-week storytime session for children ages 4 and 5 at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesdays beginning October 4. The program includes stories, games, films, crafts and puppet shows. To register call 645-3483.

Registration opens September 13 for HAA's 1978 hockey season

The Highland Area Hockey Association will hold early registration for the 1978-79 season from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. this Wednesday and Thursday, September 13-14 at Groveland playground, St. Clair and Prior Ave.

Now in its sixth year of operation since taking over the hockey program from the Highland-Groveland Recreation Association, HAA provides the only hockey program in the area sanctioned by the Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association.

HAA draws its participants from the area bounded by I-94 on the north, Lexington Parkway on the east, and the Mississippi River on the south and west. The program is divided into three leagues: Cubs (ages 6-8), Squirts (ages 9-10), PeeWees (ages 11-12) and Bantams (ages 13-14).

The purpose of the early registration is to obtain the funds necessary to make a deposit on indoor ice time for the coming winter. The registration fee for Squirts, Pee Wees and Bantams is $20 for the first player, $15 for the second, and $10 for each additional player in any one family. Cub registration is $10.

HAA officers will be available at the time of registration to answer any questions about this year's program.

Jewish liturgist to kick off new lecture series at St. Catherine's Rabbi Jules Harlow, a noted expert on Jewish liturgy, will be the first speaker in a series of free public lectures at the College of St. Catherine this year. His talks, scheduled for September 21, are sponsored by the family and friends of Koni and Arthur Goodman.

Rabbi Harlow will speak at 2:00 p.m. on "Prayer: Do we say what we mean? Do we mean what we say?" An evening talk, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., is entitled "Worship and Word of God: Two Traditions." Both will be held in the CSC alumnae center.

Rabbi Harlow, who recently completed a new edition of the Prayer Book for several Jewish holy days, is the editor of "Conservative Judaism" magazine and has published numerous translations of modern Hebrew writers. He has written and narrated a TV and film program called "The Life Cycle of the Jew," and presently serves as director of publications for the Rabbinical Assembly in New York.

"The Koni and Arthur Goodman lecture series at St. Catherine's is built on a tradition of over 10 years of sharing and concern for each other's religious tradition," according to a CSC theology department spokesperson.

"By bringing experts in inter-religious dialogue to St. Catherine's, we hope to strengthen the atmosphere of respect for the validity of the Jewish and the Christian traditions. We hope to show that ecumenism can strengthen and clarify religious belief."

The lecture series is a cooperative effort on the part of the Goodman family and friends, Rabbi Bernard Raskas and the Temple of Aaron congregation, Rabbi Arnold Goodman and the Adath Jeshurun congregation, and the theology department of the College of St. Catherine.

So you need "a hot" home seller

Meet a Blazer, Betty Krueger

Betty Krueger has been a million-dollar-a-year salesperson for the last three years. That's hot!

One of her close friends sees her as someone who gets the job done "because of patience and creativity."

Creativity can come into play matching people to houses and houses to people and also in financing when "many doors seem closed."

"Continuum of training" is an important ingredient to successful home selling.

Betty is a member of the Graduate Realtor Institute (representing 90 hours of advanced training.) But she feels this is not enough.

To keep "hot," Betty takes courses from Burnet such as "Creative Financing" and "Achieving Your Potential" (which is open to the public).

If you're selling your home, meet the Blazer, and get the job done by a pro, Betty Krueger.

FRESH

FLAVOR
ALL ITS OWN

Flavor, freshness and the part of the bird you like best are yours this week when you choose Jennie-O Minnesota grown, carefully pampered Grade 'A' turkey parts. Nothing does a kitchen... or the cook justice like the aroma of turkey roasting in the oven, deep-basted in its own broth, slowly simmering to its flavorful peak. M-m-mm, fresh truly is best!

Barton Keyboard plays a new tune: recycling old pianos

In recent years Americans have witnessed the upsurge of a process foreign to their throw-away lifestyle: recycling. These disposable diehards have seen glass bottles, aluminum cans, rubber tires, and newspapers all recycled. Now Mike Barton, who recently opened Barton Keyboard at 3931 E. Lake St., wants to recycle old pianos.

Pianos? You bet your baby grand, pianos. By repairing, reconditioning and rebuilding old pianos, Mike believes he can produce a higher quality piano than most new ones on the market today.

"I don't want to downgrade new pianos," said Mike, "because there are some wonderful ones made — if you don't mind paying $3,500. But I feel pianos made 50 to 100 years ago were constructed better. The older pianos were taller, which meant longer strings. They were made better because labor and materials were cheaper, so more could be put into them.

"An example of this is in the wood used for the piano sounding board. Modern piano makers use sitka spruce, whereas older pianos had sounding boards made of white spruce, which is much more resonant."

Barton says that rebuilding can add 50 years to a used grand piano. Reconditioning will add at least 20 years to a used upright.

"And an older piano restored and refinished adds to the character of a home," Barton said.

The pianos in the Barton Keyboard showroom, ones built as early as 1868, certainly do have an aura of tradition about them.

The 29-year-old Barton has been playing the piano for 19 years and graduated as a music theory major from Chicago Musical College of Roosevelt University. He got his start in the used piano business five years ago at a tuning and rebuilding company in Chicago. A member of the Piano Technicians Guild, Barton also tunes pianos people already own. Piano tuning, Barton says, is a good investment for a piano's future. "Not tuning a piano can actually result in the depreciation of the instrument, instead of the normal appreciation," he adds.

Barton Keyboard will hold an open house from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Friday and Saturday, September 15 and 16. Mike invites everyone in the area to stop in for some coffee and donuts and try their luck in a prize drawing. Questions about pianos of all types will be welcome.

Health care seminars set at St. Catherine's

A series of three seminars, sponsored by Medical Personnel Pool, will be offered this fall to area nurses and other health care professionals. The first seminar, entitled "Understanding Yourself as a Leader," is scheduled from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, September 26 in the lower level of the chapel at the College of St. Catherine. The speaker will be Ms. Jerlyn Fosdick.

Registration for the entire series, which carries three contact hours for RN re-licensure, may be made by calling Medical Personnel Pool at 636-3490.

Smith retires as director of Childhood Center

Shirley Smith, 1426 Portland Ave., will retire this Friday as director of the St. Paul's United Church of Christ's Childhood Center, 900 Summit Ave.

The church will hold an open house and farewell tribute for her from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. this Thursday, September 14 at the center.

Smith has been director of the church-sponsored day care center since 1972 and is past president of Minnesota Association for Education of Young Children. Prior to her association with the Childhood Center, she was director of the Talmud Torah nursery school for 32 years.

'Better halves' offer personal insight into husbands' campaigns

The Temple of Aaron Sisterhood will present the "better halves" of three U.S. senatorial candidates at its opening luncheon at noon on Monday, September 18 at the temple, 616 S. Mississippi River Blvd.

Mary Anderson, Ellen Boschwitz and Penny Durenburger will be on hand to offer personal insights into their husbands' political campaigns and give their views of the role of a senator's wife.

The cost of the luncheon is $2.25, and baby-sitting will be available. For reservations, which are limited, call 698-8874.

'Smoldering Conflict' of power line issue aired over KSJN

A searching look at the deep commitment of the opposing sides in the Minnesota power line controversy is the focus of a new documentary by area Peabody award-winning producer Greg Barron. "Power on the Line: The Smoldering Conflict" will be broadcast on Minnesota Public Radio (KSJN 91.1FM) at 7:00 p.m. this Thursday, September 14.

Rather than re-emphasize the issues involved, Barron has attempted to convey the emotional texture of the dispute. Barron spent days in Pope and Stearns counties researching the project, speaking with key individuals in this lengthy and emotional dispute. Among them were company officials, heads of security, workmen, farmers and protesters. From these accounts, and a broad collection of sounds gathered, Barron produced this special report.

Talking out of school

by Bill Rosenbloom & Carl Nelson

This week's Talking Out of School Traveling Trophy, the "Out of Sight-Out of Mind Award," goes to Mr. Ken Berg, Deputy Superintendent of Schools, for his recent remarks concerning the school district's $4,000,000 surplus which had accumulated at the end of the last school year.

In effect, the administration had misled the public concerning its financial condition, citing lack of finances as a reason to turn down a multitude of programs and personnel requests last year. Now Berg has insulted our intelligence by claiming that "None of the balances we've generated have been at the expense of people being laid off."

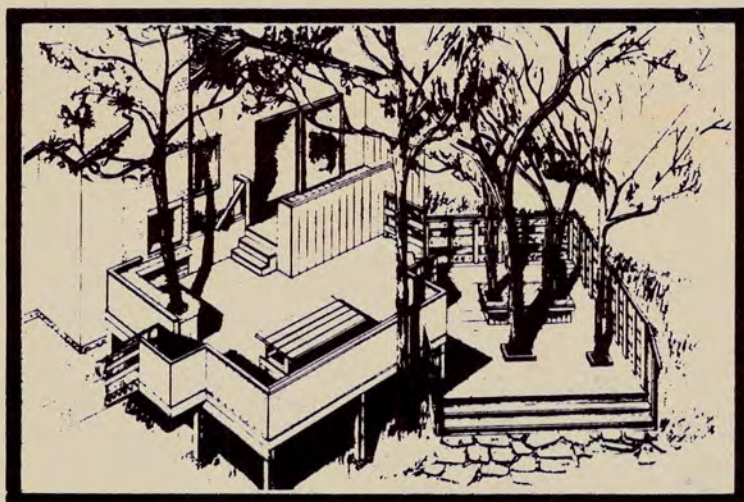

Now, we will be the first to admit that we are not experts in school district accounting and budgeting practices. However, we find Berg's statement a little hard to believe.

In fact, one of our readers, an ex-teacher aide, (she's an "ex" because there was no money to pay her) wanted to know if Berg was really serious about his statement. After all, she had lost her job — or didn't they remember?

So we did some checking. We found that the school district's budget for teacher aides during the 1976-1977 school year was $594,000, in the 1977-1978 school year was $294,000, and is $325,000 for 1978-1979. Unless there is some financial magic operating here that we're unaware of, it's hard to imagine how anyone can cut the teacher aide budget by 50 percent and not lay people off.

As we have said, we are not experts in this area. But after seeing this one example of cost cutting, we wonder about the accuracy of the district's memory regarding the cutting of personnel to "balance the budget."

And so, Mr. Berg, to you and other members of the school administration who may need a memory aid, we present you with your award — an autographed 8 x 10 glossy group photo of all those ex-school district employees forgotten by the administration.

Hart Johnson

Hart Johnson battles uphill to fourth place in national tourney

For the third consecutive year, Hart Johnson, son of Carol and Marvin Johnson of 1961 Morgan Ave., captured a trophy at the United States Racquetball Association's Junior National Championships, held recently in Philadelphia.

Entering the tournament unseeded, Hart finished fourth in the nation in the boys 15 and under division, losing 21-8, 10-21 and 11-7 to fourth-seeded Mark Comeaux of Lafayette, Louisiana.

Hart, a ninth grader at Highland Park Junior High School, was the youngest qualifier in his division.

Following the national tourney, Hart entered two events in the Court Club Pro-Am Classic in Madison, Wisconsin. He placed second in the top amateur division Men's Open and took home first-place honors in the boys 17 and under bracket.

STEAM METHOD
HAS EXTRACTION,
BUT NO AGITATION.

The Rug Doctor VIBRA VAC SYSTEM Combines the Best of Both

- Hot water and cleaning solution jets into the carpet.
- Vibra Brush (like electric tooth brush) agitates carpet back and forth 3,400 times each minute. This type of brush does not distort pile.
- Powerful suction extracts hot water and loosened soil back up to waste tank.
- Eliminates the need for pre-shampooing of carpet, which is so common now with carpet cleaners using the steam method.
- Leaves the carpet drier than shampoo rinse methods.

GROVELAND

If you've heard the rumors, don't believe a word of them: Groveland still stands on St. Clair and Prior Ave. So we missed the last issue, is that any reason for swallowing that senseless gup that's been floating around town?

Either way, late registration for soccer can be made any time this week. Boys and girls will compete together in the following age divisions: 5th grade and under, grades 6-7, 8-9 and 10-12. The entry fee is $5.00 per person or a one-year family membership in the Groveland Booster Club.

Don't forget to take advantage of the craft classes offered every Monday from 3:15 to 4:45 p.m. Just bring 15 cents for materials.

HILLCREST

Hillcrest Recreation Center would like to welcome Shannon Lynch to our staff. Shannon hails from St. Clair Playground where she worked this past summer. Welcome Shannon.

We'd also like to welcome more kickers to Hillcrest's soccer program. There's plenty of leg room for all kids in kindergarten through third grade.

Flag football for third grade and under will be played on Wednesday afternoons starting September 13, and adult craft classes will get underway Monday, September 18, just up the hill at the Highland Branch Library.

One more reminder: If you'd like information on any or all the programs at Hillcrest, don't hesitate to stop in or call Mike, Shannon or Marvy Harbie at 698-1435.

Minnesota's political past exposed in election year series at Capitol

"Minnesota: Political Maverick," a four-lecture series covering the major forces in the state's political past, will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays beginning September 19 in Room 15 of the State Capitol.

In the first lecture, "Statehood for Minnesota: Controversy and Compromise," Historical Society director Russell Fridley will explain how political issues in the 1850s split the Minnesota constitutional convention into Democratic and Republican factions, how each claimed to be the official body, and how each issued their "official" Minnesota Constitution.

On September 26, Val Bjornson, Minnesota State Treasurer from 1951-55 and 1957-75, will present "Republican Ups and Downs," surveying the powerful ethnic groups and Civil War veterans who had a major political impact during the state's first 50 years.

The third lecture, on October 3, will explore political protest movements that thrived in Minnesota prior to World War I. In an address entitled "The Politics of Protest," Rhoda Gilman, supervisor of research at the Historical Society, will examine groups such as Grangers, Greenbackers, Populists and Progressives.

Hyman Berman, professor of history at the University of Minnesota, discusses "Minnesota's Third Party Experiment" in the final program on October 17. Berman will describe the emergence of the Farmer-Labor Party at the height of the Great Depression, and its merger with the Democrats to create Minnesota's DFL Party.

Following Berman's remarks, Elmer A. Benson, Governor of Minnesota from 1937-38, Arthur Nafatalin, mayor of Minneapolis from 1961 to 1969, and Dr. James Youngdale, a political activist in the late 40s and early 50s, will offer their personal recollections of the DFL merger.

For more information or a calendar of events, call the Educational Services Division at 296-2881.

Bike-in slated on Edgumbe Road

The third of three Highland area bike-ins, sponsored by the St. Paul Division of Parks and Recreation, is scheduled for Sunday, September 24.

The route, which will follow Edgumbe road from Jefferson around to Fairview Ave., will be closed to motorized traffic wherever possible from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. Where not possible, signs will be posted warning drivers to beware of the bicyclists. Riders may, of course, join in anywhere along the route.

New College offers non-credit classes to handicapped adults

New College, the undergraduate evening division of the College of St. Thomas, will offer non-credit, recreation-oriented courses for handicapped persons age 15 and older beginning Friday, September 22.

Courses will be held from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. each Friday for six weeks in St. Thomas' Christ Child building on Cleveland and Summit Ave. All instructors in the program are highly trained in their areas and have experience in working with the handicapped.

Depending on the needs expressed by the students, new subject areas will be added to the initial offerings, which currently include: "Off to Camp," "A World of Music," "Let's Dance," "Art in Action," "Cooking for Fun," and "Wrestling."

For further information, call New College at 647-5322.

The Highland Villager

Bruno collection now on view at Museum of Art

An exhibition of 86 works by contemporary artists Enrico Donati, Elias Friedensohn and Robert Andrew Parker is now on display in the Community Gallery of the Minnesota Museum of Art, 30 E. 10th St.

The exhibition is comprised of the most recent gifts to the museum's Permanent Collection by New York collector Phillip A. Bruno, a major contributor to the museum for the past two decades.

The gallery's hours are: 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Mondays through Wednesdays; 9:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays; and 11:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Sundays.

Animation class set for kids at library

A film animation class for children in grades 3-6 will be held from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. October 2-6 at the Highland Park Branch Library, 1974 Ford Pkwy. As part of the class, children will make an actual film, developing their own story and making characters and backdrops.

Macalester galleries display works of 4 graphic designers

An exhibition of the works of four Twin Cities graphic designers will be on view at the Macalester College Galleries in the Janet Wallace Fine Arts Center from September 14 through October 15.

The free exhibition, entitled, "Graphic Design — Johnson, Johnston, Madsen, Seitz," will open with a special public showing this Thursday from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. The designers will be on hand to talk about their work and their design processes.

The graphic designers who will display their works include James E. Johnson, designer at the Walker Art Center, Peter Seitz of InterDesign, Inc., Eric Madsen of Thumbnails Inc., and Dale Johnston of Design Center, Inc.

Banners, posters, book-covers, signs, trademarks, logos and other graphic designs will be featured in the exhibition. The designers have worked on design projects ranging from the graphic program for the new Minnesota Zoological Garden to the "visual campaign" for the Images of the Mississippi River show at the Walker Art Center.

The artists will discuss their works at a special seminar in the galleries at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 27. Following

Mixed Blood runs over three stages in hasty 'Tuesday'

Mixed Blood Theatre's production of Jewel Walker's comedy, Tuesday, will open at 8:00 p.m. September 27 and 28 at Coffman Memorial Union on the U of M campus.

Using accelerated clockwork, the company races through 24 hours of city life in 80 minutes. Music builds a framework for high energy hilarity as residents of Anystreet parade in, out and around the neighborhood with a synchronized spark that highlights everyday living.

After its preview, Tuesday will move to the Walker Art Center for an 8:00 p.m. performance Friday and Saturday, September 29 and 30 before moving to the West Bank Firehouse, 1501 So. Fourth St., for a three weekend run in October.

Tickets are available at the door or through Dayton's ticket offices. For more information, call Mixed Blood at 338-6131.

Four foreign flicks featured at Walker

Films from Sweden, Italy, Germany and Cuba will be shown in September as part of the Walker Art Center's "Area Premieres and Revivals" series. All films begin at 8:00 p.m. and are presented in their countries' native tongues with English subtitles. The film schedule is as follows:

Summer Paradise (1977), a look at contemporary family life in Sweden and its survival in an age of social change; Padre Padrone (1977), the autobiography of a Sardinian peasant boy who survives his father's brutality to become a soldier, scholar and professor of linguistics; Winifred Wagner (1975), an autobiographical recollection of Germany from 1914 to 1974; and The Last Supper, a re-creation of a Holy Week in the late 18th century when a Cuban count and 12 slaves from his sugarcane plantation stage a "last supper."

Admission to each film is $2.00; $1.00 for students and senior citizens.

J. Pierrepont Finch (Jack Richter) valiantly tries to explain the clinging Hedy (Jeannette Abrell-Poole) to a disbelieving Rosemary (Nancy Ringham) in Chimera Theatre's production of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

'How to Succeed in Business' opens Chimera's fall season

How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, a musical satire on the world of business, opens Chimera Theatre's 1978-79 Season on Friday, September 15 for a six-week run through Sunday, October 22.

Winner of both a Pulitzer Prize and a Tony Award, How to Succeed follows window washer J. Pierrepont Finch's rise to become a top corporate executive by using a "How To" guide.

Starting out in the mailroom, Finch tenaciously overcomes such obstacles as a lusty secretary and the boss' incompetent nephew, and steadily rises in the company by fabricating a "correct" background and staging impressive work sessions. His climb to the top is interspersed with hilarious tongue-in-cheek musical numbers that satirize the world of business.

Chimera's production stars Jack Richter as the single-minded Finch. John Dickerson plays his boss, J.B. Biggley, and Nancy Ringham provides romantic interest as Rosemary. The cast also includes Jeannette Abrell-Poole as the voluptuous Hedy, Margo Berg as the pragmatic Smitty, Mike Tracy as Bud Frump and Anna Marie Piccolo as Miss Jones.

How to Succeed will be performed Thursdays through Saturdays at 8:00 p.m. and Sundays at 7:00 p.m. Sunday matinees are scheduled for 2:00 p.m. on October 1, 8, 15 and 22.

The Chimera Theatre Company performs in the Crawford Livingston Theatre of the St. Paul Arts and Science Center, 30 E. 10th St.

Film at Kate's

If the high cost of entertainment has been plaguing your pocketbook, this fall's anti-inflation flicks at the College of St. Catherine may be just what the dollar ordered.

The 13 U.S. and foreign made films listed below are just one half of the annual "Film at Kate's" series. Admission to each is just a buck a head. All films will be shown on Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. in Jeanne d'Arc Auditorium at the corner of Kenneth and Randolph Ave., except Gone With the Wind, which will be screened in O'Shaughnessy Auditorium.

Art institute sponsors annual antiques forum September 15-16

The third annual Antiques Forum sponsored by the Decorative Arts Council of the Minneapolis Institute of Arts will be held this Friday and Saturday, September 15 and 16 at the museum, 2400 3rd Ave. S., Mpls. Furniture, drinking vessels and floral arrangements will be featured in the forum, entitled "Living with Antiques."

Wendell Garrett, editor and publisher of Antiques magazine, will speak on "The Golden Age of English and American Furniture: 1725-1825" at 6:00 Friday, September 15. Garrett, a noted author and lecturer, will compare and contrast American and European antiques. A candlelight dinner will follow the lecture.

Arlene Palmer, associate curator in charge of ceramics and glass at the Henry Francis du Pont Winterthur Museum, will speak on "Early Americans in Their Cups: A Survey of Glass Drinking Vessels" at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, September 16. Her lecture will focus on American drinking habits and the forms of bottles and glass imported and manufactured in the colonies.

St. Paul florist Craig Olson will demonstrate types of floral arrangements suitable for use with historical settings and antiques at 11:30 a.m. Saturday, September 16. Forum participants will view the arrangements created by Olson for the English, American and French period rooms in the museum.

The registration fees are: $30 for all three lectures, dinner and morning coffee; $7.00 for the Friday evening lecture only; and $8.00 for Saturday lectures and coffee only. For further information and reservations, call 870-3103.

Emporium jazzes up September with weekend concerts

The Emporium of Jazz, located at 400 D Street in Mendota, will be swinging into fall with some sweet southerly sounds this month.

On Friday and Saturday, September 15-16, Dick Wellstood, piano; Marty Grosz, guitar; and Frank Williams, trumpet, will sit in with the Emporium's own Hall Brothers Band for two evenings of tight New Orleans jazz. The concerts will run from 8:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. both nights. Admission is $4.00.

IHM to swing to the sounds of the Polka Padre

Immaculate Heart of Mary Church will sponsor a dance featuring the Polka Padre, Father Kapoun, at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, October 14 in the school gym, 1550 Summit Ave.

A mass will follow the dance at 7:30 p.m. in the IHM church, and a raffle will be held at 11:00 p.m. for a trip to Las Vegas, a micro wave oven, and $100 and $50 cash prizes.

Tickets are $3.50 in advance; $4.50 at the door and $2.50 for senior citizens.

Merman presents medley of memories at Orchestra Hall

Ethel Merman will perform with the Minnesota Orchestra under the baton of guest conductor Eric Knight at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, September 16 and at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, September 17 to open the 1978-79 Weekender Series at Orchestra Hall.

Although she has never had a music lesson, Ms. Merman's clarion voice and distinctive style has immortalized many of the songs of America's popular composers, including Cole Porter, Irving Berlin and George Gershwin.

Merman's program with the Orchestra will feature an opening segment of "Lady With A Song" and "Nothing Can Stop Me Now," followed by a medley of Broadway songs in-

Various stages in theatrical history presented in 'U' Theatre's season

The University of Minnesota Theatre opens its 48th season on Friday, October 27 with William Shakespeare's Love's Labor's Lost, directed by Jean Congdon, at the Rarig Center on the U of M campus. The play will run through November 12.

Other weighty works to be performed this fall include: Peter Shaffer's The White Liars/Black Comedy, directed by Buck Ross, November 17 to December 3; and Maxim Gorky's The Lower Depths, directed by Kenneth L. Graham, November 3 to November 19.

Four plays from several periods of theater history are scheduled for the winter and spring. These are:

The Roar of the Greasepaint—The Smell of the Crowd by Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse; Hotel Paradiso by Georges Feydeau and Maurice Desvallieres; Bertolt Brecht's Caucasian Chalk Circle; and Plautus' Amphitryon.

Tickets can be purchased at the Rarig Center or at all Dayton's and Donaldson's ticket offices.

Three of Ireland's finest to perform at St. Mark's Sept. 22

A concert of traditional Irish music will be presented at 8:00 p.m. Friday, September 22 in the St. Mark's auditorium, Dayton and Moore St. An Irish "ceili," or dance, will follow at 9:30 p.m.

The concert, sponsored by the St. Paul Chapter of Comhaltas Ceoltoiri Eireann, an organization which promotes traditional Irish music and dance, will feature three of Ireland's finest young musicians: James Kelly, fiddle; Paddy O'Brien, accordion; and Daithi Sproule, guitar and vocals.

Admission for the concert and dance is $2.50.

Milo ensemble to play fine jazz

The Milo Fine Free Jazz Ensemble, featuring guitarist Steve Gnitka, will perform a concert at 8:00 p.m. Friday, September 22 in the Walker Art Center Auditorium.

The Fine ensemble has recorded two albums to date, "Hah!" and "The Constant Extension of Inescapable Tradition." A live double LP of a Minneapolis concert featuring reed man, Joe McPhee will be released later this month.

Admission to the concert is $3.00; $2.00 for students and senior citizens.

Dear Maury:

In the advertising agency field, as you well know, it behooves us to be very judicious in spending our clients' media dollars. In that regard, I've never had too much faith in "small circulation" newspapers, although I've always felt somewhat different about the Highland Villager.

That extra respect has come about in several ways... results on ads we've placed with you--- whenever they were measurable; media analysis since your cost per thousand is still relatively very low; and through personal experience, from years of living and working in the area you serve. I'm well aware of the fact that the Villager is thoroughly read and appreciated within your distribution area, and is obviously enjoying rapid growth in the process.

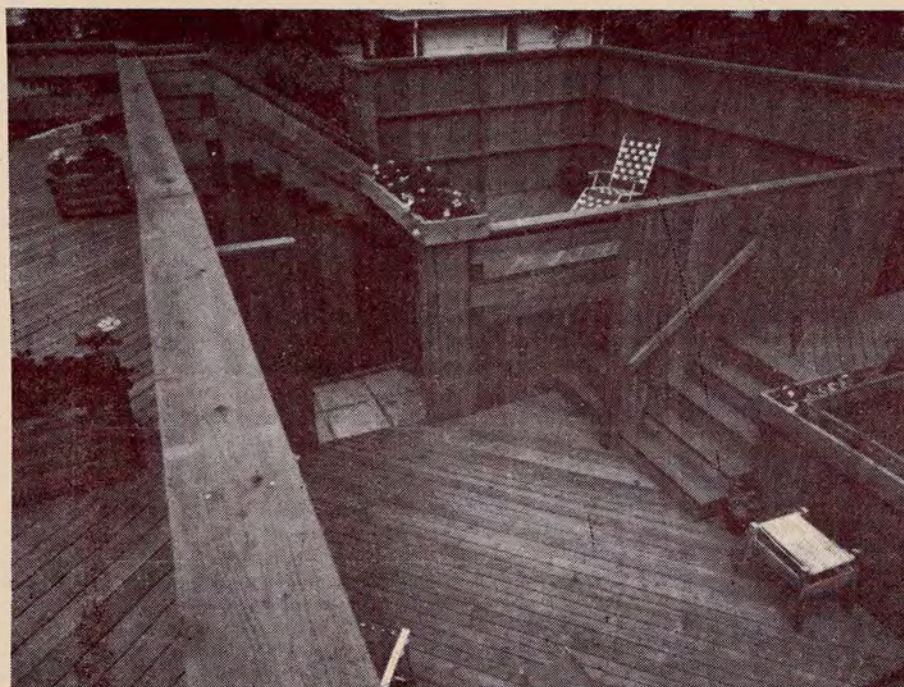

So when I was ready to introduce a new dimension in our service... Custom Decks by Notch--- I knew the Highland Villager, with total coverage and home delivery in a desirable residential area, should be a good medium for us. But I was hardly prepared for what actually did happen!

I placed ads in both Twin City Sunday newspapers. Results were good and between them, rather comparable in relation to our advertising investment. You'll recall that I also placed a 3 column by 6-inch ad in the Villager. Well, I'm happy to report to you that the ad in your publication, at half the size and at less than one-fifth the cost produced well over three times as many qualified leads for our uniquely designed deck creations. Actually, that made the Villager ad about 18 times more effective in relation to ad dollars invested!

Of course, since your 35,000 circulation covers only a portion of our potential market, we'll still be using the metropolitan Sunday papers right along with your publication. But I thought you'd like to be made aware of the fact that the Villager will be right on top in our reckoning, whenever the area you serve is involved in our marketing needs, or those of our advertising clients.

Sincerely,
Bert Notch

What you see in these photos are the new custom-built "outdoor rooms" recently designed and constructed as a welcome addition to the home of Bob and Nancy Martin at 1811 Highland Parkway. The two-story, multi-level deck totals some 1300 square feet of floor space and involves more lumber and more corresponding man-hours than an average home. Washed concrete flooring forms the base for two patio areas.

State decries highway robbery, sets amnesty to retrieve signs

In a move to get highway signs off of people's walls and back on the roads where they serve perhaps a less aesthetic, but more vital purpose, Governor Rudy Perpich has declared September 15-30 as "Highway Sign Immunity Weeks," when persons may turn in their ill-gotten signs without penalty.

During the 16-day amnesty period, persons may return road signs with no questions asked and avoid prosecution under a new law which makes possession of the signs illegal and punishable by a fine of up to $100.

According to Ed Novak, commissioner of Public Safety, the law applies to anyone who has any sort of highway sign or marker, whether the person stole it, found it or received it from someone else.

Besides the possession penalty, sign theft or vandalism also carries a maximum fine of $500 or a jail sentence of up to 90 days, or both.

According to Novak, defaced or missing signs present a serious danger for drivers.

"Traffic control signs are vital for safe driving because they give motorists necessary information about the road and road conditions," Novak said. "When signs are stolen, what some term 'harmless pranks' often result in serious injury or death."

Novak cited the example of two fatalities in a recent accident that occurred in Rice County at an intersection where a stop sign had been stolen the previous day.

Persons with illegally-harbored signs may turn them in at all county, city and Minnesota Department of Transportation maintenance shops. The nearest shop is located at Fort Snelling, Highways 55 and Crosstown in Minneapolis.

Chicano roots

The Science Museum of Minnesota will present Minnesotanos Mexicanos, an hour-long film depicting the history of Mexican-Americans in Minnesota, at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, September 17. The "Community Appreciation Day" screening will be presented in the third floor auditorium of the new museum, 505 Wabasha St. in downtown St. Paul.

Guy Schoenecker, left, and Thomas E. Holloran were recently named to the College of St. Thomas Board of Trustees. Schoenecker, a 1949 graduate of St. Thomas, is President of Animal Fair, Inc., and of Business Incentives. He is a member of the Catholic Digest Advisory Board and the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. Holloran, President and Chairman of the Board of Inter-Regional Financial Group, Inc., is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and the U of M Law School. Mayor of the City of Shorewood from 1971-74, Holloran serves as Chairman of the Urban Coalition of Minneapolis, and is a member of the Board of Trustees of the College of St. Scholastica.

Jewish Young Adults post schedule for coming weeks

Several events are in store for Jewish Young Adults (singles 18-32 years old) in the next few weeks. Heading the list is the first social of the year, "Do You Wanna Dance," slated for 8:30 p.m. Saturday, September 16 at the JCC.

On Monday, September 18 at 7:30 p.m., a planning meeting will be held to help come up with some creative ideas for the October calendar.

A brunch, sponsored by the Twin Cities Young Adults, is on tap at the Lincoln Del on Highway 12 from 10:00 a.m. to noon on Sunday, September 24. Volleyball is scheduled for 7:30 that Sunday night.

"Game Night" is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. Saturday, September 30. JYA members are invited to bring their own games and enjoy wine, cheese and popcorn by the fireplace at the JCC. A $1.00 donation is requested.

On Sunday, October 8, a co-ed touch football game is scheduled at 11:00 a.m., followed by the Vikings-Seattle game at 1:00 p.m. on the color TV in the Adult Lounge of the JCC. A cold-cut lunch is also part of the fare. Donation is $1.50. Call 698-0751 to let JYA know that you're coming.

For more information on any of the above activities call Ken Weintraub at 698-0751.

Victims paid under Minnesota law for loss caused by crime

If you are the innocent victim of a crime, a legal dependent of a deceased crime victim or the person responsible for the victim's finances, you could qualify for reparations under a Minnesota law designed to help pay for medical expenses, lost wages and funeral costs in case of death.

The Minnesota Crime Victims Reparations Board awarded more than $56,000 during July and August to 47 innocent victims of assault, arson and shootings. However, no reparations are made for property damage or loss.

Reparations are paid from state general revenue funds. The first $100 of the claim and expenses covered by insurance are deducted from the reparations. The maximum amount a crime victim may receive is $25,000.

To qualify, the crime must be reported to local law enforcement agencies within five days and then to the Crime Victims Reparations Board within a year.

To request information on filing forms, crime victims may call the Reparations Board at 296-7080.

'Understanding Loss and Grief' seminars scheduled at Wilder

Two seminars and support groups for men and women experiencing grief following the death of someone close will be held in September and October at the Wilder Building, 355 Washington St.

In each series of seven meetings participants will hear a presentation on loss and grief and will be helped to express and understand their feelings and receive support from others who themselves are grieving.

The morning series will be held from 9:30 to 11:00 a.m. beginning Monday, September 25. The evening series will be held from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. beginning Tuesday, October 3.

The program is sponsored by Catholic Charities of St. Paul, and is open to all persons of any age or religious affiliation free of charge. Call 222-3001 for further information or to register.

Flag-bearing members of the 120-strong Blue Knights Drum and Bugle Corps demonstrate one of the precision drills they performed in the 1978 International Drum Corps Championships held recently in Denver. Cosponsored by the Knights of Columbus-Council 397 and the 4th District VFW, the young metro area corps finished 31st out of 45 corps in the tough Class A division.

Altar and Rosary Society to meet

The Nativity Altar and Rosary Society will hold its first meeting of the year at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, September 28 in the audiovisual room of Nativity School. Rose Schaffhausen will present the film Our Little Brothers and Sisters and tell inspirational tales of Father Wasson's little Mexican orphans.

Council seeks nominations for outstanding handicapped citizen

Nominations are now being accepted for candidates for the 1978 Awards and Recognition Program of the Minnesota State Council for the Handicapped. The program honors the achievements of outstanding disabled persons and recognizes the efforts of those individuals, organizations and firms that have contributed to the independence and well-being of disabled Minnesotans.

Awards will be presented in seven main categories: Handicapped Person of the Year, Employer of the Year, Meritorious Service Award, Accomplishments of Handicapped Children and Youth, Physician of the Year Award, Public Personnel Award, and Labor's Participation in Employment of the Handicapped.

Booklets containing the nomination forms and further details are available from the state council office. All nominations must be submitted by October 1 to the Minnesota State Council for the Handicapped, Awards and Recognition Program, 208 Metro Square Building, 7th and Robert St., St. Paul, MN 55101.

Hiawatha 'Y' offers programs for closer parent-child relationships

Parents with children age 6-11 are invited to drop by the Hiawatha YMCA now through September 15 to learn about its Y-Parent-Child programs. The programs include Y-Guides and Y-Trail Blazers for fathers and sons age 6-8 and 9-11, Y-Princesses for fathers and daughters age 6-8, Y-Ventures for dads and daughters age 9-11, and Time Together for moms, sons and daughters age 6-11.

The outgrowth of a program for fathers and sons that was launched in St. Louis 51 years ago, the Y-Child-Parent programs sprang from a conversation Y Director Harold Keltner had with Joe Friday, an Ojibway Indian who felt white fathers as a whole were not close enough to their sons. "White men build cities," Friday said. "Red men build sons." Today, over one million parents and children are enrolled in 32,154 Y-Parent-Child groups across the U.S.

Y-Parent-Child clubs—or "tribes" as they are called—are small: six to nine parents and their sons and daughters. They meet regularly in members' homes on a rotating basis. Although YMCA staff members serve as program resources, the participants plan most of the programs themselves. Typical activities include crafts, hikes, camping trips and service projects.

Interested parents who are unable to visit the Hiawatha Branch this week are invited to learn more about the program at an open house and ice cream social at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, September 19 and Wednesday, September 20 at the Hiawatha YMCA, 4100 28th Ave. So. For any further information, call the Y at 729-7397.

Conference on the handicapped opens Sept. 29 at Civic Center

Two thousand Minnesotans are expected to attend the 1978 Governor's Conference on Handicapped Children and Adults to be held Friday and Saturday, September 29-30 at the St. Paul Civic Center.

The Friday session will open at 1:00 p.m. with a keynote address by David Dawson of the Office for Civil Rights in Washington, D.C.

Following Dawson's speech, workshops will be conducted on education, housing, communications, recreation, civil rights, rehabilitation, health and insurance, employment, transportation, consumer participation, income maintenance and community alternatives. These workshops, for which pre-registration is required, will also meet on Saturday.

The Saturday workshops will be followed at 11:00 a.m. by a special general session presented by people with disabilities entitled, "Where We Are and Where We Are Going." The presentation will include the Academy Award winning documentary film, Gravity Is My Enemy.

The Saturday session will conclude with the Governor's luncheon, keynoted by Governor Rudy Perpich and Senator Muriel Humphrey. Entertainment will be provided by blind singer Tom Sullivan and by Rabbi Lynn Gottlieb, the nation's first woman rabbi and founder of a theater for the deaf in New York City. The conference will also include a film festival and more than 50 exhibits.

Registration will be held from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Friday, September 29, and beginning at 8:00 a.m. on Saturday, September 30.

For more information or to pre-register, call the State Council for the Handicapped at 296-6785.

Paper drive set

The Calvary Lutheran Church youth group is sponsoring a paper drive Friday through Sunday, September 15-17 in the parking lot behind the church at 341 S. Hamline Ave. If you are unable to bring your papers or phone books, call 698-6138 for a pick-up. Proceeds will go toward a trip to Camp Onamia.
