2 Million Catholic H. S. Deficit

A projected $2 million deficit for the Catholic high schools of the archdiocese of St. Paul-Minneapolis is expected to accumulate by the end of the current academic year, according to Brother Theodore Drahnman, F.S.C., Supervisor of Secondary Schools.

The financial crisis is precipitated by the gap between the $570 cash outlay for each student and the $325 average tuition being charged in the archdiocesan high schools.

The amount of total cash deficit varies from school to school. "Two schools expect a deficit of close to $195,000 each," says Brother Theodore, "while one small parish school feels it will need $10,000 to remain solvent."

Schools are tapping their friends and communities for aid. In some schools the Parents' Associations are planning fund-raising activities.

Our Lady of Peace High

Sisterhood Luncheon

A musical program, presented by Miss Gail Sultan, will highlight the Paid-Up Membership Luncheon of the Adath Israel Sisterhood. The luncheon will take place at the synagouge on Sunday afternoon, December 21st at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. David Zylberberg will preside, assisted by Mmes. J. Biber, M. Gordon, I. Simes and V. Sultan.

School, St. Paul, is soliciting voluntary contributions averaging $111 per student from parents.

Parents able to make such donations will aid in reducing the projected $129,500 deficit at the school.

It is conceivable that a mid-year tuition hike may be necessary in some schools.

According to Brother Theodore, local business and industrial concerns will be approached in a concerted fund-raising campaign on a total archdiocesan level.

Decisions concerning the future of the Catholic high schools will be made by January 1970. These decisions will depend largely on the results of the professional management study commissioned by the Archdiocesan Board of Education.

Extensive discussions are also being held with the principals and the major religious orders which staff the high schools.

Final decisions will be made by the Archdiocesan Board of Education.

Using comparative standards with other secondary schools, including local public schools, the Catholic high schools of the Twin Cities can be said to offer a quality education to the 12,870 students they serve.

The pupil-teacher ratio is 18.5 students for each professional staff member.

The $570 cash outlay for every student, according to Brother Theodore, is valid because of the contributive services of the religious faculty.

If the monetary value of these services were to be included ($2,730,000 this academic year), there would be an additional $214 per student. This would make an outlay of $784 per pupil as the actual value of the education received by each student in the Catholic high schools.

The greatest part of the cost incurred by the schools is for lay faculty salaries. The total expended by the 21 schools this year is estimated at $3,126,000, which averages to $8,333 per salary per teacher.

U.. Artists Course Concert

A University Artists Course Special Concert will present Leontyne Price in her first Northrop Auditorium recital as a solo artist on Thursday, Jan. 8, 1970 at 8 p.m.

Since Miss Price made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera in February of 1961 she has reigned as one of its supreme sopranos called upon to grace its stage when the new opera house was opened in 1966, to open there seasons and premiere the works of such composers as Stravinsky, Samuel Barber, Harrison and La Montaine.

After her first appearance at La Scala the Italian press has continued to refer to her as "Prima Donna Assoluta."

In commenting on her singing of the Verdi "Requiem" Vincent Sheean wrote in 1964, "This passion of the soul is not for churches, it is for life itself . . . for the despair and redemption of the creatures below the stars. To this kind of music Leontyne Price is ideally suited by nature, temperament and art."

The program for her Northrop appearance strikes a careful balance, allowing her to present arias from operas that brought her fame and fortune, yet providing ample opportunity to display her abilities as an interpreter of a wide variety of individual compositions for the voice.

Handel, Mozart, Cilea and Puccini are the composers providing arias for the program.

She will also sing five songs by Robert Schumann and five of Sergi Rachmanninoff's songs in Russian.

Her last set will consist of three spirituals arranged by Margaret Bonds.

One number is yet unannounced, Miss Price having decided that audiences were not sufficiently interested in a cycle of five songs by Samuel Barber for her to continue them in her program.

This provides a good example of the great soprano's determination—evident throughout her career—to please the people who come to hear her sing.

MISS SANDRA ANN Haerr of St. Paul was recently presented her stewardess wings with Northwest Orient Airlines after completing five weeks of specialized training at the airline's training center.

Children's Hospital Completes Buildings

Children's Hospital in St. Paul will be all tied together in the next few weeks.

Construction crews working on the five-story addition to the Hospital at 311 Pleasant Avenue began breaking through the walls of the Hospital this week to tie in 9,500 square feet of new floor space that will expand services in the outpatient clinic, the laboratories and X-Ray department and the intensive care unit for newborn and premature infants.

Young patients assigned to rooms on the construction side of the building are giving "bed-side" supervision to the construction work going on outside as they watch through the large picture windows of their hospital rooms.

Beginning with the ground floor Clinic area this week and reaching the Fourth floor by December 22, workers will complete the breakthrough on one floor at a time in order to prevent any interference with patients' hospital care.

As each floor of the new section is ready to be tied in to the Hospital, patients will be moved to other areas of the Hospital which have been converted into temporary patient rooms and wards.

Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra to Present World Premiere of New Composition

On December 20 the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra will present the world premiere of a new composition, Three Movements for Chamber Orchestra, by Russell Harris, chairman of the Department of Music at Hamline University. The Saturday evening concert is the second performance of the Chamber Orchestra's "Explorations 70" Series, 8:30 P.M. in the Janet Wallace Fine Arts Center of Macalester College.

Three Movements for Chamber Orchestra, commissioned by the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra, was composed in July, 1969, at the Congregation of the Arts, Dartmouth College. It is one of many new works which the Chamber Orchestra has commissioned as part of an expansive artistic policy. The Harris piece is just one of three world premieres which the Orchestra will present in "Explorations 70."

Other works on the program for December 20 are: Concerto in A Minor for Flute, Violin and Harpsichord, by J. S. Bach; Sinfonia Concertante in D Major for Contrabass and Viola, by Dittersdorf; and Symphony No. 29 in A Major by Mozart.

Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra Initiates New Concert Series January 4

Beginning January 4, 1970, the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra, in association with the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, presents "Music at the Museum," a new series of five Sunday afternoon concerts at 5:00 in the Institute Auditorium. Dates for the series are January 4, February 1, February 22, April 5 and 19.

"This cooperative effort between the Institute and the Chamber Orchestra will provide the Twin Cities public with a rare opportunity to experience a blending of music and visual art in a single afternoon," said Stephen Sell, general manager of the Orchestra. "This series is just part of a program with the Institute which calls for cooperation in presenting several types of services, including the Ensemble concerts in the galleries which the Chamber Orchestra has been providing."

The concerts will feature several members of the Chamber Orchestra in solo performances. On February 1, Jean Cornell, bassoonist, will perform Mozart's "Concerto in B-Flat for Bassoon and Orchestra. Maestro Leopold Sipe will be soloist in his own new transcription of Beethoven's "Sonata No. 9 in A Major, Opus 47" in the February 22 concert; assistant conductor Ralph Winkler will conduct the orchestra for that occasion. Other Chamber Orchestra soloists include Bruce Freifeld, violin, and James Aleander, oboe, in Fasch's "Concerto in G Minor for Violin and Oboe" in the May 19 concert. Marguerite Hedges, soprano, will be guest soloist in Beethoven's "Egmont Suite" on April 5.

Nordlund Named St. Paul Manager State Employment Service

George J. Vavoulis, Commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Employment Security, today announced the appointment of John Nordlund, 58, as manager of all Minnesota State Employment Service offices in St. Paul.

Nordlund has been manager of the St. Paul Employment Service office at 390 N. Robert St. since December, 1967. In his newly created post, he will be responsible for the overall supervision of that office and other State Employment Service offices as well.

St. Paul offices under his jurisdiction will include the Human Resources Development office and the Apprenticeship Information Center at 390 N. Robert St., branch offices at 421 S. Robert St., 637 Selby Ave., the Har Mar Shopping Center at 2100 N. Snelling Ave., and outreach offices at a number of community centers.

Vavoulis said Nordlund will coordinate State Employment Service activities in the St. Paul area to provide more efficient management and better service to the public. Similar reorganization of administrative responsibility in Minneapolis and Duluth has improved manpower services and programs available to the unemployed, underemployed and disadvantaged, Vavoulis said.

Mentally Retarded Gift Roundup

Mrs. Stuart Snyder, 818 Goodrich Avenue, has once again assumed chairmanship of the annual Christmas for the Mentally Retarded campaign to gather gifts for retarded men, women and children living in institutions, local residential facilities, and homes who might otherwise be forgotten during the Christmas season.

SPARC is cooperating with the Minneapolis ARC and all the chapters of the Future Farmers of Minnesota to cover the entire 877 counties of Minnesota with the campaign.

The greatest need is for clothing and gifts for men and women. Articles of clothing, belts, shampoo, shaving toiletries, cosmetics, ear muffs, key chains, wallets and purses, inexpensive wrist watches, playing cards, table games, gloves and mittens, ball point pens, stationery, and other everyday use items would be especially welcomed.

For children SPARC needs dolls, spinning tops, mini-bogens, building blocks, stuffed animals, paint by number sets, mosaic tile sets, models of any kind, sewing kits, games, mittens, and scarves.

The Red Owl stores, the Northwestern National Bank of St. Paul, and the First Grand Avenue Bank of St. Paul have once again agreed to act as collection centers for the gifts. Each establishment has placed a large barrel with a Christmas for the Mentally Retarded Collection Center sign attached where gifts may be deposited. SPARC volunteers will pick up the gifts several times a week and get them to the Snyder residence for distribution.

Gifts should be new or unused and should not be gift wrapped. Volunteers will select gifts to fit the needs of the individual recipients and then gift wrap them.

Donations of money are also welcomed and will be used to purchase playground equipment, TV sets, radios, phonographs and other badly needed large items as well as to purchase special needed items that have not come in the barrel collection. Checks made out to "Christmas for the Mentally Retarded" can be sent to Post Office Box 1969, Minneapolis or St. Paul, or to WCCO Radio, in care of either city.

WCCO radio personalities are acting as the "voice" of the Christmas for the Mentally Retarded campaign which will run through December 19.

Mrs. Snyder has appealed for donations of gifts or money to be made at the earliest possible time in order to allow time for them to get to the recipients in time for Christmas.

Published Amounts Taken From Pudge's $14,000 In Error

In the recent holdup of Pudge's Supper Club, 2155 Ford Parkway, the amount of money reported by the St. Paul Pioneer Press on Monday, Dec. 15th was in error according to Dennis Hymanson, owner.

"They only got $6,700," said Hymanson, "whoever told them $20,000 was excited at the time."

The robbery which occurred at approximately 6 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 14th was done by three men in their 30's. They escaped in a jeep with a plow on it. Co-owner Pudge Hymanson, was pistol-whipped and tied with a nylon stocking after he opened the safe and released the contents to the holdup men who held him at gunpoint.

Hymanson also reported that none of the three men were customers or had ever been in his establishment before. The normal Sunday afternoon crowd at Pudge's consists of musicians and concert jazz enthusiasts.

Pinta Party For Area Children At Library

The Ford Parkway Branch Library, 1974 Ford Parkway, is going international this year to celebrate the holidays. On Monday December 22 at 3 the library is having a pinata party and program for children. There will be stories from the holiday traditions of the Christian and Jewish faiths, games from other countries, and general merriment. The highlight of the program will be the breaking of the pinata by the children to receive the candies inside. The pinata is of authentic Mexican design and was made by one of the Ford staff members. Children of all ages are invited to come to the program.

Also on December 22 from 1 to 8:30, the staff of the library is having an open house at the library offering refreshments and a chance to become better acquainted with both old and new customers. The public is most cordially invited. For further information on either event, call 698-8689.

EDITORIALS

The sixties were significant because John Fitzgerald Kennedy said they would be! I remember going out to the old Wold Chamberlain Field in the 60 election to see Bobby Kennedy make a speech and address a press conference. It was October, there was a minor crisis in Berlin and the stock market was floundering. Bobby, then only 36, was met by Orville Freeman, and escorted into the small room by Kenneth O'Donnell, Larry O'Brien and a raft of Irish Mafia from the East who—as I recall—tossed some very expensive winter coats in a chair, rolled up their sleeves and told the local press corps that JFK had to win in 1960 or the country wouldn't move an inch. The ruddy brother of the stylish chosen President of the Kennedy Clan, was explicit and demanding in his tone of speech when he said, "Certainly, we're going to Fargo—there are votes in Fargo, and my brother thinks he can get most of the votes in that town." The country responded to the Kennedy call to battle in the 1960 election, and before anybody else counted their chickens by the decade, the Kennedy brothers talked about the 60's, about America, and about greatness.

It is with a large nostalgia that I recall that frostbitten October night. Since we are now passing out of the 60's, and, since much of what was great about the 60's belonged to the Kennedy brothers, I am listening for the harbinger of the 70's. Who is the man, the men; where are the words, the style, the distinction; what are the problems, and who will die to redeem them?

In the past few weeks, I have visited some of America's leading cities, and I have talked to men in the media about the image of leadership in our country. Will there be leaders ever again? Is it safe to be original anymore? Can a man of courage and integrity stay in office or in the national spotlight long enough to be heard?

There is a resounding no. A pathetically resounding no!

In the complex society, the interwoven duplicities of our moral, economic and social fiber, there is no longer room for style, for wit, for greatness. When nothing is great, everything is common, and when that happens, there is nothing at all.

Distressing as this may sound—there is evidence of it everywhere. The 1970's bid ominously. Leaders have taken on dullard proportions. The angle—be it political or economic—is evident in nearly all that is being advanced in the public sector of our lives. In a decade staffed and directed by men bent on stacking up dollars for their grandchildren, the simple fact is that these children will likely choke to death before they reach 35.

The soft generations that prospered on two world wars, have left little behind except for pollution. Pollution of the air, of the water, of the ear drum, of the landscape and of the mind!

Who deserves anything but chaos when all they ask is for commonness? Cut your hair, be an engineer, marry a doctor's daughter, buy a new house, have a few cars, meet us at the club for dinner! Is that what we ask of the brainiest generation yet born on this continent?

I have no stake in the matter—neither the younger, nor the older generation. I only care because it is obvious that we are getting exactly what we deserve in America today. I want to hear voices—the voices of the 70's. I want people to demand what they deserve as human beings. Clean air, clean water, clear land, and clean politics. We have instead, Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew. These two men more than anything signal the depths to which we have fallen. A President which no American feels is his President, and a Vice President which no thinking man can identify with. It is very easy to forget they exist at all. Thinking back on the 60's as we leave them this month, let's at least agree, there was a chance for greatness. In retrospect it was stopped by bullets wherever it showed its greatest potential. Today, there are no voices. Today, all we are excited about is football games. Small wonder, since they release our frustrations and produce a clear verdict on the scoreboard. Is that all there is?

A Look At 1970

By Bill Rigney

Manager, Minnesota Twins

Our Minnesota Twins are a club which can win again in 1970.

I feel quite confident in making that statement because this is a club which appears to have reached a peak of experience, both as a team and individually. With the possible exception of the catchers, each of the players on the Twins would seem to be just reaching maturity as far as productivity is concerned.

We had good run production last year, and I feel this was due to the fact that several of our players enjoyed their best major league seasons to date. When you check our roster, however, you see by their ages and by their experience in terms of years in the major leagues that this is the time when these players should be having their best years. And, in fact, there's

Snow White

The Violet Gould Mather Operetta School for Children will present "Snow White" at the Women's City Club, 305 St. Peter St., 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., January 10th.

Mrs. Ralph J. Mather heads the school and accompanies the children on the piano. The mothers make all the costumes. Mrs. Faye Williams and Mrs. Ellen Paar Oliver are stage managers, and Max Metzger is in charge of staging the shows. Tickets will be sold at the door.

no reason why these players shouldn't be able to put several good seasons back-to-back. It certainly isn't out of line to expect the majority of them to be able to have more than one good year at a time. It required all 25 players to win the American League West Division championship last year, and each of these players knows just exactly what it takes to win.

A lot of people told me when I took this job that it was a difficult assignment . . . a club that had just won its division. I welcome a challenge of this sort, however. I have confidence in my ability to lead a team, but even more importantly, I have the utmost confidence in the abilities of these men who'll be performing for me.

Right now, I'd have to say that left field is more "open" than any other position on the club, although I must admit that our catching is a question mark because of the youth of each of the receivers on our roster. George Mitterwald, however, is going to be my catcher, and I just have the feeling that this is going to be the year that this young fellow comes into his own as a take-charge guy.

I'm a little concerned about our pitching, but I think we helped ourselves a great deal in this respect in our December trade with Cleveland. Luis Tiant gives us the additional strong starting pitcher we've been needing, and Stan Williams should provide vital assistance to Ron Perranoski in the bullpen.

All in all, though, I'm raring to go in 1970. I couldn't be happier than I am with the way things shape up. We've got a bunch of players who think, act and play like winners. And make no mistake about it, that's just what we're going to set out to do . . . right from the first day of spring training at Orlando.

CHRISTMAS DAY

So much has been written deploring the so-called "commercialism" of Christmas, that I feel impelled to remind us gently of how much this brief experience of generous gift-giving and lavish living does for us all. For the most part we obey the rules accountants set up for us—curbing our natural desires to be open-handed and loving. Most of the time we forget the loving. Let us be grateful for the opportunity once a year to open the floodgates and purge ourselves of all our stingy, self-centered disciplines. Let us not forget the miracle which is observed on this CHRISTMAS DAY and along with the teaching that our Saviour laid down for us to follow day by day let us not forget to love too much—Love One Another. Our love to all is an outpouring unmeasured—nor do we want to miss the joy that this season provides for us.

NEW YEARS EVE—

Try our special "night 'on' The 'Town' Service. What could be more exhilarating than the feeling of luxury one gets from being all dressed up and feeling like a well-polished jewel. When you come in, and of course we'll expect you to have your hair done for this event, be sure to tell us all about your gown so that we can give you the absolutely perfect hairdo to go with it. You will probably need an extra hairpiece to give you the finishing touch. Bring yours along to be restyled and cleaned if necessary. And if you have not invested in that necessary luxury yet, we suggest that you pick one out here at once.

Seasonal Employment Dips: Remains Low

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted nonfarm wage and salary employment for October at 1,312,200 was down 7,900 seasonally from the record-setting total tallied in September, but was still substantially above the 1.3 million jobs pace set for the first time in June, Employment Security Commissioner George J. Vavoulis said today.

Most of the decrease took place canning plants, Vavoulis said.

Vavoulis also reported unemployment down to 33,600 for an actual unemployment rate of 2.0 per cent, compared with 37,900 jobless in September when the rate was 2.2 per cent, and 33,200 in October, 1968, when the rate was 2.0 per cent.

Seasonally adjusted, the October unemployment rate was 3.0 per cent for Minnesota and 3.9 per cent for the nation. September rates were 3.2 per cent for the state and 4.0 nationally.

Average weekly earnings for manufacturing production workers moved up to $140.61, based on average work week of 41.4 hours, compared to $138.65 for a 41.5-hour work week in September. In September, 1968, average earnings were $131.02 per week for a 41.3-hour work week or an average of $3.18 per hour.

The decrease of 11,000 workers in the Manufacturing sector was partially offset by a modest 3,100 gain in Nonmanufacturing employment, Vavoulis said.

Employment in the production of Nondurable Goods was down 9,000, with approximately 7,700 of the drop occurring in the Canning industry.

The downturn of 2,100 workers in Durable Goods employment, largely the result of relatively small drops in most industry groupings, was less pronounced.

Compared to September, 1968, Nonmanufacturing employment advanced 34,500, a gain of 3.6 per cent. Trade contributed 12,400 jobs to the upswing, with 10,700 of the new jobs in the retail segment as eating and drinking places and department and mail order houses reported significant numbers of added workers.

Most of the 9,300 increase in Government employment occurred in educational and administrative units of local governments, and medical, business and personal services were the main contributors to the 6,900 advance in Service industry employment.

Manufacturing jobs increased over 1968 in both the Durable and Nondurable segments, Vavoulis said.

In the Durable Goods sector, Nonelectrical Machinery showed the greatest increase. In the Nondurable classification, the largest numbers of added workers were in the Printing industry and the manufacture of paper and rubber products.

active member of countless other communal and welfare organizations will be shown at the St. Paul Jewish Community Center from January 7 through January 28. A reception honoring Mr. Grais will be held from 7 until 9 p.m. on opening night of the show.

Mr. Grais, who does much of his doodling while attending a heavy schedule of meetings, has received national as well as local recognition for his art efforts. Many of his doodles are on display in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Building in Washington; several more were featured in full color on the cover of the National Conference on Social Welfare Magazine; and many others have been requested for private collections.

Some of the doodles to be shown at the Center will be for sale. Proceeds will go to the Center.

"An Introduction to the World of Theatre", a workshop for boys and girls in grades seven through twelve, will be held at the St. Paul Jewish Community Center from 7 until 9 p.m. on Friday, December 22.

The program will be conducted by Bill Smith who recently joined the Center staff as director of a junior high musical production to be given in the spring. Smith, a 1969 graduate of Macalester College, will discuss and show participants many phases of theatre both on stage and backstage.

Auditions for the upcoming musical will be held at the Center at 7 p.m., Monday, January 5. Needed will be actors, singers, dancers, and stage crews.

First of Its Kind Diorama on View in Science Museum

A life-size diorama showing the "Dawn Horse" Eohippus, which roamed the western plains 50 million years ago, is now open to the public for viewing, in the St. Paul Science Museum.

It is the first diorama ever produced showing actual life-sized body restorations of the "Dawn Horse."

Featured in the exhibit are five adult horses and one colt, scaled to the exact size of the early Eohippus which were only 18" high (about two hands) and 20" long. Extensive research was made by Bruce Erickson, Curator of Paleontology at the Science Museum, to derive the body structure for these reconstructions, using fossil material from the Science Museum and other museums in his study. The background of the exhibit case is a Wyoming landscape near a forest stream during the Eocene epoch, 50 million years ago.

"The exhibit forms an integral part of the Paleontology Hall," states Erickson, "showing the modernization of mammals and their subsequent evolution."

'U' Law Senior Named Supreme Court Clerk

Allan A. Ryan, a University of Minnesota Law School senior, has been appointed as a clerk in the office of U.S. Supreme Court Justice Warren Burger for one year beginning July 1, 1970.

"We consider this a singular honor for Mr. Ryan and for the Law School," said William B. Lockhart, dean of the Law School. "He is one of a select few from the University who have received this honor. It indicates that he has an outstanding academic record and an effective and scholarly personality."

Each year approximately 20 law school seniors from throughout the United States are selected to serve as clerks in the Supreme Court. Six of these are chosen to serve the chief justice.

Ryan, 24, was notified Thursday of his appointment. A 1966 graduate of Dartmouth College, he taught American government in a New Orleans, La. high school for one year before enrolling in the Law School, where he is president of the Minnesota Law Review this year. He is a reserve officer in the Marine Corps and will serve three years of active duty after completing his term with the Supreme Court.

Labor Movement Starts Working For 19-Year-Old Vote

Labor union efforts to win voting rights for 19-year-olds will be stepped up starting in January when speakers favoring the change start making appearances at local union meetings.

The Minnesota AFL-CIO Federation of Labor endorsed the proposal to extend voting rights to 19-year-olds at the recent State Convention in September, 1969.

Before that, the Minnesota AFL-CIO successfully induced the 1969 Legislature to provide for a state-wide vote of the people on extending the vote to 19-year-olds.

David Roe, President of the Minnesota AFL-CIO, said that the Federation has mailed letters to all Central Body and local union officers, explaining the need for extending the vote to 19-year-olds.

The letter encourages all labor organizations to make time available at an early date to hear the representative from the Minnesota Coalition to Lower the Voting Age (MCLVA).

Representatives from the MCLVA will include young union members, since the MCLVA is making special efforts to attract apprentices and other young members for their efforts.

The MCLVA has planned a $50,000 campaign to win extension of the vote to 19-year-old. They list the following amounts and sources of financing: $10,000 from high school and college students, $15,000 from organizations, including the Democratic and Republican Parties, AFL-CIO, College Republicans, and Young Democrats, $20,000 from individual contributions, $3,000 from fund raising events, and $2,000 from the sales of buttons and bumper stickers.

The MCLVA plans a complete campaign, using buttons and bumper stickers, and radio, television and newspaper advertising to bring their story to Minnesota voters.

Speakers from the Minnesota Coalition to Lower the Voting Age are available by calling Wayne Gilbert at (612) 338-6295 or 333-0666, or Jon Schroeder (612) 698-2163.

Sholom Ball

Final preparations are under way for the annual Sholom Ball, "World of Sholom", sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Sholom Residence.

The ball will be held at the Hilton Hotel, January 3rd, and will include a continuous sit-down dinner from 7:30 to 10 p.m. There will be cocktails and dancing.

Proceeds of the affair will be used to furnish special care and services to the patients, home operation, and employment of a full time occupational therapist aide.

The residence is a 40 bed home for the chronically ill at 1620 Randolph. Mrs. Arnold Rubenstein is president of the auxiliary.

They Want The Navy Base Back

You never know, really, what to expect. First, they opt for less noise at the airport, then cry about losing the Naval Air Base. In our opinion, the naval air station's demise at Wold will only affect those who made money in the last few poker games, or those who go for the NCO club booze prices.

As far as national security is concerned, the decision has been made by folks in the pentagon who are supposed to know what they're doing.

We received quite a bit of mail registering complaints about the loss of the base. Sorry, we couldn't disagree more.

FOIL is the challenging new game of words and wits. Player is pitted against player—and time—as each forms words with letter cards, then scrambles them to "foil" his opponents. Bookshelf case contains letter cards, word holders, timer, tray and instructions.

FEUDAL combines military strategy with chess-like moves in an exciting medieval war game. Two to six can play, each commanding an army. Each army is secretly deployed, making every game different and challenging. Bookshelf case contains playing board, divider screen, castles, royalty, armies and instructions.

FACTS IN FIVE, the stimulating game of knowledge, pits up to 5 players against each other—and time. Brisk competition reveals players' abilities for quick recall of facts. Bookshelf case contains class cards, letter tiles, playcards, scorecards, timer and instructions.
