Highland hard hit by vandals

by Nancy Keating

When a stern-faced Mayor George Latimer recently called a press conference to announce a crackdown on vandalism, he openly said what many St. Paul residents have learned on their own this year.

Vandals really are very democratic types.

Reports of window-shooting, spray-painting and other kinds of willful property destruction have increased markedly in every neighborhood of the city, and have affected people of every income, religion, color and age.

The Highland, Groveland and Macalester areas, however, have been hit slightly more often by vandals than the rest of the city, according to the mayor and city officials.

Like other kinds of crime here in the Northland, the incidence of vandalism increases sharply as temperatures rise. This year's "season" began with the March thaw. It has city officials worried—and gearing up for action.

On Friday, April 13, the mayor told TV cameras that he had no intention of "dismissing (vandalism) as springtime pranks." Rather, he said, it should be "viewed as an act of anger," adding that he "hopes to make an example" of vandals who are caught.

Hard numbers are sketchy, but Alice Murphy of the city's complaint office estimates that 40 to 50 calls reporting vandalism were made last month, and 30 to 40 more reached the office in the first part of this month.

Murphy said that most calls are made by "community organizers, or by people who say, 'I'm calling for my block.'" Individuals tend not to call in, she said, until they compare notes with their neighbors and realize they're not alone.

Victims may also be hesitant to complain out of fear, she said. However, Murphy and Latimer stressed that neither the St. Paul Police Department nor the complaint office, which shares its information with the police, will ever release complainants' names.

Patterns often emerge within categories of crime, according to Murphy, and vandalism is no exception: "Last year it was window-breaking," she said drily. "This year it seems to be spray paint and swastikas."

The hooked cross appeared last November on the exterior of Mt. Zion Temple, 1300 Summit Ave.; on Sunday, April 8 on the brick facade of Planned Parenthood of Minnesota, 1965 Ford Pkwy.; and occasionally on railroad bridges and private homes.

Residents who live near Cretin, Cleveland, Snelling and West Seventh have also reported such other vandals' standbys as broken fences, smashed car windows and scrawled obscenities.

Early this month, homeowners on Saunders and Rome Avenues called city councilman Len Levine to seek help in heightening police awareness of a rash of vandalism along the alley common to both streets.

Cold, gusting winds did little to deter residents from leading Levine and Police Team B-4 Sergeant Lester Benson in a motorcade that made periodic stops along the alley, inspecting the following damages (there may be more):

—1910 Saunders: Spray-painted graffiti.

—1922 Saunders: Repeated splatterings with eggs.

—1930 Saunders: Theft from garage; shot-out car windows.

—1942 Saunders: Spray-painted graffiti.

Candidates announced, election set for District 16/Summit Hill Assn.

Ten full two-year terms and three unexpired one-year terms will be filled at the annual meeting of the District 16/Summit Hill Association on Wednesday, May 2. The meeting will convene at Linwood School.

At the organization's April 19 board meeting, search committee chairman Bill Madden presented the slate of 18 candidates who had been previously screened by the committee. The top ten vote-getters will be elected to two-year terms; the next three will serve out the one-year terms.

Of the 18 candidates nominated to date, six are incumbents. They are: Robert Casselman, 794 Lincoln Ave.; Bill Clapp, 677 Fairmount Ave.; Kent Larson, 867 Fairmount Ave.; Ted Lentz, 692 Summit Ave.; Arnold Steffes, 791 Lincoln Ave.; and Linda Zelm, 998 Goodrich Ave.

The other candidates named by the search committee are Katie Anderson, 831 Fairmount Ave.; Judy Bigelow, 530 Grand Hill; Bob Barbeau, 923 Lincoln Ave.; Don Eldred, 952 Lincoln Ave.; Harvey Jaeger, 28 Benhill Road; Kathy Lewis, 657 Fairmount Ave.;

Elberta Matters, 912 Lincoln Ave.; Carol McLeod, 692 Fairmount Ave.; Thomas Miller, 1150 Osceola Ave.; Bill O'Connell, 1082 Lincoln Ave.;

Brian Robb, 1076 Lincoln Ave.; and Jack Schluckebier, 1117 Osceola Ave.

However, this isn't necessarily the complete slate of candidates, according to Talley Rhame, community organizer for District 16/Summit Hill Association. "Candidates can still be placed on the official ballot if they phone me by April 30," she said. "Nominations from the floor and write-in candidates will also be allowed."

Those seeking further details on the upcoming election can reach Rhame at 222-1222.

District 14 Plan gets council hearing at Nativity May 9th

The St. Paul City Council will hold a public hearing on the District 14 Plan at 7:00 p.m. Wednesday, May 9 at Nativity School, 1900 Stanford Ave. All district residents are encouraged to attend.

(Ed. note: District 14 is bounded on the north by Summit, on the east by the Shortline, on the south by Randolph, and on the west by the river.)

The District 14 Plan has received the nod from three neighborhood groups—the Randolph Heights Neighborhood Association, the Highland-Groveland-Macalester Community Association and, more recently, the Southwest Area District Council.

The St. Paul Planning Commission recommended in February that the council adopt the document as part of the city's Comprehensive Plan. The commission added its own comments to the plan, including its own preference for converting Jefferson Ave. to a local street between Mississippi River Blvd. and Fairview Ave. only, rather than as far east as Edgcombe Rd.

—1945 Rome: Shot-out garage and car windows.
—1969 Rome: Damage to car.

Since that meeting, Team B-4 has "really hit the area hard and that problem has died down quite nicely," Benson said. According to Team B-4 commander Lt. John Sturner, police hope they can help residents organize a block watch.

"Vandalism has gone crazy in the past couple of months," Sturner said. Both policemen agreed that catching vandals is tough because they're seldom seen at work, and it's often tougher to hand out punishments because most vandals are juveniles.

Asked to describe a typical vandal, Benson hesitated, then said only that most are boys between the ages of 12 and 16. "They come from all kinds of homes," he said.

Since state law gives parents responsibility for their children up to age 18, most are given warnings and sent home. (It would be nearly impossible to shame young vandals into stopping their activities, since police keep names of juvenile offenders confidential in all but the most unusual cases.)

In categorizing vandalism as an adult crime, state statutes give $300 as the magic number that divides a misdemeanor (maximum penalty $500 and/or 90 days in jail) from a felony (maximum $5,000 fine and/or five years behind bars).

According to the mayor's office, all reported damage estimates this spring have been for $100 or more. The most recent incident at Planned Parenthood will cost about $1,200 to undo since paint removal from brick requires sandblasting of the entire wall.

In some cases reported this spring in the daily press, vandals have known their victims. But a few recent incidents that involved parked cars along the same street illustrate the likelihood that most property destruction is random. So then, why does it happen?

"'Why' questions are really hard to answer," responded Robert Haines, supervisor of the juvenile division at Ramsey County Community Corrections. "Sometimes, I think group thought takes over, and it kind of relieves them at least temporarily from thinking as individuals. Some don't seem to understand how serious it is."

"Some may be very angry at someone in authority—maybe their parents—and may not even know they're angry," he added.

City officials say the only way to prevent vandalism is to bring the matter to public attention—for the mayor to call it a problem, for police to patrol more, for the complaint office to invite calls, and for residents to look out for and report incidents.

But at least one policeman admitted he is discouraged.

Last summer area police arrested a juvenile vandal who was brought to court, found guilty and sent home. The officer, who visited the boy's family afterward, said, "The way that father acted, it was like I did it."

Concerned residents on Rome and Saunders Avenues recently invited city officials to inspect damage done along their common alley, which has been a frequent target for vandals this spring. From the left: Dave Gravelle, city councilman Len Levine, Laurence O'Connor, Sgt. Lester Benson of Police Team B-4, and Mike Martin, Levine's aide.

Arab oil producers topic of JCC forum

"Behind the Oil Curtain," an Israeli Forum on the governments, people and businesses of Arab countries, is planned for 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, May 8 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave. The forum is free and open to the public.

Eunice and Howard Gelb will show more than 100 slides taken on a six-week tour of Kuwait, Bahrain, North Yemen, Sudan, Egypt and Iraq, offer a commentary and answer questions. Call JCC Shaliach Yefet Ozery at 698-0751 for details.

CSC tests Lozanov Method in new spring French class

The College of St. Catherine will offer an experimental French class this spring using the Lozanov Method. The course, "Oral French Communication for Beginners," will be conducted mornings and evenings Monday through Friday, May 21 through June 22. Students may select the session that best fits their schedules.

Named after the Bulgarian psychotherapist who developed it, the Lozanov Method creates a relaxed environment in which role playing, music and oral communication in realistic situations are stressed. Little emphasis is placed on rote memorization and homework, yet students are reported to assimilate more than 1500 new vocabulary words and basic structures in five weeks.

Non-credit fee for the course is $100 and the application deadline is May 16. Registration materials may be obtained by calling CSC's Office of Continuing Education at 690-6542.

Update: It takes a lotta plannin' to make the Powers lot a ramp

by Nancy Keating

Highland area merchants who have been hearing for two years that a parking ramp will someday be built at the northeast corner of the Powers department store property probably will have to wait still another year before groundbreaking.

On the surface, everyone involved apparently favors construction of a ramp at the corner of Cleveland Ave. and Ford Parkway, which would ease the parking problems at this generally prosperous commercial crossroads. But city planners and attorneys for the largest property owners at the intersection have been bogged down in red tape.

Jim Dueholm, a lawyer retained by Powers, and Scott Davies, attorney for several major commercial landowners here, are both in the process of angling for their clients' best interests and will tell the Villager only two things: They both feel an agreement is closer all the time, and they'd rather not carry on their negotiations in the newspapers.

The ramp, as envisioned, would be built using funds from a 20-year city revenue bond issue at a cost of $800,000 to $1 million (according to an estimate as of last winter), on land leased to the city by Powers. The city council pledged to foot one-fourth of the bill up to $250,000, with the rest of the bond repaid to the city with money assessed against the businesses deemed to benefit from the added parking the ramp would provide. The city would operate and maintain it, also via assessments.

The assessment formula would take into account the amount of additional off-street parking required for each business and its distance away from the ramp. (Powers' assessment probably would be small because it has substantial other off-street parking space, according to parking planner Gerry Mangle.)

For a time, the St. Paul Department of Planning and Economic Development operated on the premise that all parties were ready to proceed with construction. Although no lease had been drafted nor cleared by the city attorney's office, it seemed a verbal agreement had been reached.

Parking point-man Gerry Mangle began accepting design bids from architects with an eye to completing a ramp by mid-August, before the traditionally heavy fall shopping season. Planning staff examined the five design plans submitted and settled on one to recommend to the city council.

But in December, the city received a letter from Powers that raised at least three technical questions. No copy of the letter was made available, but Mangle outlined the store's concerns as follows:

•Can the city guarantee that the parking ramp will be free to shoppers?

•If construction were halted halfway through, the ramp closed, or businesses defaulted, who would be responsible for repaying the bonds?

•Could the assessments against each business be guaranteed not to rise? (City sources said the assessment formula must be recalculated each year to account for changes in businesses, space occupied and off-street parking provided.)

Shortly after the lawyers began to tackle these questions, Mangle pulled parking department staff off the project, observing that it would be a waste of taxpayers' money to continue planning without knowing whether or not a ramp at the Powers site was assured.

From time to time over the last three months, the trio had separately voiced optimism that construction of the ramp would begin this spring, but Mangle noted that his department advertised for design bids on the premise that the structure would be built quickly. Now, with longer lead time, he feels the time factor itself would dictate a rebidding process for the design.

Still, despite all the legal and bureaucratic difficulties, the city, Powers and the other businesses seem dedicated to ironing things out. After an April 6 meeting attended by Davies, Dueholm, Mangle, city councilman David Hozza, city staff attorney Walt Bowser and city valuation engineer J. William Donovan, all expressed confidence that agreement on building the elusive ramp was just around the corner.

The finer points of the assessment formula would be calculated by Donovan's division, under the St. Paul Department of Finance and Management. According to Donovan, all commercial property within 1300 feet of the ramp site would be assessed, in varying degrees.

In any case, several bureaucratic procedures, dictated by city ordinance for publicly financed projects, must be tied down before ground can be broken on Powers' east lot.

Dueholm and Davies must reach agreement. Donovan's department must figure out the financing details. Businesses involved must opt in favor and a public hearing must be scheduled before the city council, which must pass a go-ahead resolution.

A lease must be written, approved and signed. The bond issue must be floated. Another bid for design and one for actual construction must be advertised for, taken, and approved by the city council.

Then the interested parties can invite local dignitaries to a groundbreaking ceremony.

Bobby Cotie appointed new pro at Highland golf course

On any of these spectacular spring mornings—the kind that local linksmen have longed for since last fall when they cleaned their clubs for the last time—Bobby Cotie can be found puttering around the Highland 18-hole golf course and its Pro Shop.

Cotie, a native of New Orleans, was recently named the shop's new manager and pro of the Highland course. He comes to his new job from Hamel, Minnesota, where he taught golf for the last five years. He was also the instructor at the indoor range of Kokesh Golf Supply in Hopkins during the off-season.

According to Cotie, morning and evening golf lessons for individuals and groups will begin Tuesday, May 15 at the Highland course. A special interest in junior golf has also prompted the 31-year-old pro to arrange a series of free golf clinics for young golfers age 12-17 this summer.

For further details about lessons, call Cotie at the Highland Pro Shop (699-5825).

Breck sets symposium on China

A two-day seminar on rapidly changing China will be held this Thursday and Friday, April 26-27 at Breck School, 4200 W. River Road in Minneapolis. Sponsored by Breck in cooperation with the Minnesota China Council and the Midwest China Studies Resource Center, the symposium is free and open to the public, though those interested in attending Friday's sessions must register in advance.

Doak Barnett, Robert Oxnam and Ezra Vogel, three experts on China, will discuss "China's New Direction: The Role for the United States and Japan" at 8:00 p.m. Thursday in the school chapel.

The trio will also conduct a series of six short seminars from 9:00 a.m. to noon on Friday. These seminars are designed expressly for those with a scholarly or commercial interest in China. For a Friday reservation, call Breck at 721-7501.

A 'STERN' WARNING

Dear editor:

I was one of the unfortunates caught in the Twins opening day parking lot fiasco, waiting 2½ hours to get out—and I left early! It was one of the most exasperating experiences of the year, far outstripping my contempt for this past winter.

The source for my contempt was a feeling that someone felt contempt for me. Whether it was Bloomington in general, Twins employees who didn't show up for work, incompetence in the Twins' hierarchy, or Calvin Griffith himself is immaterial. Somewhere someone had to hold the public in contempt.

I suspect this attitude springs from greed for the almighty dollar—the "bottom line" as Mr. Griffith seemed so proud of that same evening on Ed Cane's Talking Sports Show. It seems there's a feeling on Mr. Griffith's part that the fans will come to see major league ball no matter how lousy the service is. Cut all possible corners—hire just enough ticket takers to get by (even if it means several windows will be closed as the lines grow ever longer), have only one turnstile open to let ticket holders through (as happened at Gates J and K 45 minutes after the game started), have concessions woefully undermanned, hire just enough traffic directors (enough to allow my car to move 75 feet in one hour while the lone cop on the east end of the lot scurried from one exit to another, letting a few cars out here and a few there).

Tempers flared, bottles were broken, and many people—understandably depressed—ditched their vehicles to catch a bus, hitchhike or head for a bar.

Give the people a winner and they'll come out. Boy will they come out! Give them hours and hours of waiting in lines and other such shoddy displays and they'll give you the shaft right back in the form of low attendance.

'ONLY IF THE SHOE FITS'

To the editor:

When I first read the letter "On Landlords and Pro-Lifers" in your March 28th issue of the Villager, I simply put it in the category of adult (?) graffiti. In your following issue, I read a couple of letters in response to "On Landlords and Pro-Lifers." That's when I retracted my original observation.

Perhaps rather than blindly throwing stones back and forth, "Anonymous" could send along a list of the landlords in question who are members of pro-life organizations. This could give them the chance to change or defend their decision. For example, was it an apartment in a group of those designated for senior citizens? (Pro-lifers hold senior citizens sacred, too.) If any of these landlords have no honestly qualified excuse, they should be taken to task.

As a pro-lifer for some time, I am willing to attest that I haven't met that sort of hypocrisy among other pro-lifers I know, and I feel the accusation is completely unfounded. Only if the shoe fits am I willing to wear it.

Little League sets registration times, player evaluations

The Highland Little League will hold registration from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Saturday, April 28 and from noon to 3:00 p.m. Sunday, April 29 at the little league field, Montreal and Cleveland Ave.

Little leaguers can also register from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. Thursday April 26 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

Player evaluations for team selection will take place from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Saturday, May 5 at the little league field. The league will let individual players know when it will be their time to be evaluated.

Any players who failed to turn in their uniforms at the end of last season should return the uniforms at the time of registration.

Lamaze class set

A seven-session course on Lamaze prepared childbirth will be offered from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, May 9 through June 20 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave. Call Eileen at 698-9694 to register.

SOUTHWEST AREA DISTRICT Council Capsule

The St. Paul City Council will hold a public hearing on the District 14 Plan at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 9 at Nativity School, 1900 Stanford Ave. Residents of District 14 should make an all-out effort to attend.

Items in the plan include increasing park, playground and open spaces in the area as opportunities become available; increasing off-street parking; relieving property taxes which increase as a result of home improvements; implementing a "basket-weave" stop sign program along local streets; and reducing the speed limit on residential streets.

One suggested change in the plan comes from the St. Paul Planning commission, which also held a public hearing on the plan and opposes localizing Jefferson Ave. from Edgcombe Road to the Mississippi River. The commission advocates localization only from Fairview Ave. west.

At its April 18 meeting, the St. Paul School Board acted against the wishes of the majority of the parents of children now attending Mattocks School by voting to send the students to Groveland and Horace Mann rather than to Highland Elementary. The Southwest Area District Council had requested that the school board take no action on the matter until we had had a presentation by the school administration at a district meeting, but this request was ignored.

If the students from Mattocks are sent to Horace Mann and Groveland, it will still leave Highland Elementary with a lower student population. The school board voted 7-0 in March to keep Highland open.

Residents of the community should take the opportunity to call Dr. George Young at the school administration offices (298-5900) and question this decision.

This week is Clean Capital City Week, and a free dump will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Saturday, April 28 on Victoria St., one block north of Jefferson. Items brought to the dump should be bagged, boxed or tied. No garbage, concrete or chemicals will be accepted.

If we can be of any help to you, call the council office at 698-7973. The Southwest Area District Council will meet next at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 14 in St. Joseph's Hall at the College of St. Catherine.

Misch-Masch

by Maurice Mischke

Mortimer Adler, the distinguished philosopher and writer claims that "failure is probably the most fatiguing experience a person ever has." Success, on the other hand, he defines as an exhilarating experience. Start-up fatigue, he suggests, should be met head-on with willpower. Then there's performance fatigue, which Dr. Adler defines as a seeming inability to get the job done right, no matter how one tries. "The mounting experience of failure carries with it an increasing burden of mental fatigue. In such a situation, I work as hard as I can—then let the unconscious take over," he writes in a recent issue of the Reader's Digest. In other words, sleep on it. Well, that's what I've done and now here it is—another unconscious Misch-Masch column. Let's hope you're not already too fatigued to continue reading.

This is supposed to be "Clean-up Your Act Week" in St. Paul, as designated by Mayor George Latimer. In case you were wondering, he's not referring to any goings-on in City Hall—merely building up to "Keep America Beautiful Day", April 28. Somehow "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up" week doesn't seem to have the punch it once did, as I think back on prodigious week-long promotions during Jaycee days. All I've seen so far on the subject is what I picked up in a little 3 x 8" ad in the Sunday paper, sponsored by some 21 local paint and wall-covering stores. But we don't have to look far to see how badly Spring clean-up is needed, now that we know Spring is here. But beyond our own yard, I've noted some horrendous examples in the Highland shopping area—like the Powers east lot for one. Most sickening sight, however, is the infamous "Hoves" hole on Pinehurst Avenue—the site of the missing three houses. Beat-up snow fences trap a heap of debris... and who's there to care, until the city gets tough? I suppose we ought to give the owners a few more days—but there's still the problem of a long-range solution to this festering environmental eyesore. It's not a pretty sight at all from the north side of Pinehurst, I can tell you.

Minneapolis has a program, too, called "Clean Sweep." During the week of May 14, the city's housing inspectors check every back yard in the city for violations of the rubbish code, while inspectors from the fire department check the grounds of commercial property. Warning tags are issued, and two weeks later, fines. Looks like a tougher tack than taken here in St. Paul. Or am I wrong?

Perhaps I should mention that the St. Paul Charter Commission is holding public hearings on the "alley filing" system requiring council candidates to run for a particular seat, Thursday, April 26, from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m., in the City Council Chamber—third floor in St. Paul's City Hall (use Kellogg Avenue entrance). I'm not sure where I stand on that one, since we just got rid of the partisan ballot. That, in itself, may spur a little more competition—something that's been decidedly lacking the last several go-rounds. The prior "herd" system of filing for council has plenty of drawbacks, too. Guess I'd be inclined to give the new non-partisan ballot a test or two before going all the way back to the old system. Head-to-head competition may still be the better way to go. If you have strong feelings of difference, I'd love to hear from you and hear your rationale for feeling as you do.

This also happens to be National Secretaries Week with Wednesday (the 25th) designated as Secretaries Day. Time to give recognition to those in your particular field or business—for they are, after all, an indispensable and integral part of the management administrative team. So pay them some special mind on Wednesday. Boss, you brew the coffee and bring them a cup with your compliments. Or are you already doing that on a daily basis?

Aren't you surprised I could get down to here with this column with nary a single reference to the omnipresent stadium question. Well, nothing has happened to change my mind on the best course to follow: Baseball at the present site in a refurbished-as-needed Met. I suppose soccer, too—since the Kicks seem to favor the outdoors and natural turf. Apparently the Kicks disturb the turf a little to the point of making ground ball fielding a bit more treacherous. But the risks are just as great for the visiting fielders. Only a home game error analysis would tell us whether it's Willie, Bobby, Bombo, Rob or Roy... or the condition of the field. Besides errors are part of the game... perfection isn't required for spectator interest, but a good winning percentage is.

The conversation about an undomed stadium at the Minnesota Industry Square site doesn't make any kind of sense. Seems more like another ruse... build it open, only to be covered later... to the taxpayers' eventual sorrow. More and more, it seems as though a dome will be needed eventually, the way pro football is being scheduled... not so much for the regular season as for the strung-out playoffs. After two late August exhibitions at home, the Vikings play three home games in September, and three in October. That gives us only one in November, on the 18th with Detroit and another versus Buffalo on December 9th. We could luck out with decent weather on both. But then look at the playoff date possibilities, should the Vikings continue their division-winning ways. According to Sid Hartman, foremost shill for the Minneapolis dome and sometime sports-writer, the Super Bowl next year will be January 20th. That means the NFC championship will fall on January 6th... somewhat in advance of our January thaw... when there is one. A year later the final pre-Super Bowl playoff will be on January 11th; in '82, the 10th; and in '83, January 16th with the Super Bowl on January 30th!

But those "certain occasions" still don't justify that wild-haired Minneapolis proposal. Not when a good proposal such as the Memorial Stadium revamp is staring us in the face. Nobody, to my knowledge, has yet come up with any sound reasoning against it. No reason why it ALL can't be done, first class for from 51 to 54 million, or even less. The architect who came in with the 63 million figure didn't "spare the horses," per the University's request. One of the veeps there decided it would be wise to cover their—ah—flanks, and come in high... Not like the zoo and the prison at Stillwater. But who needs 104 VIP boxes with 12 seats each costing $3,200,000? Who needs a stadium club at the University, at $1,500,000. The higher estimate was a quick figure and, by the architect's own admission, at a "Rolls Royce" level. We can get by, thank you, at Lincoln or Mercury levels... which may be all we can af-Ford. (Sorry about that, General Motors).

Now I see where the Vikings don't want to play "second fiddle." Why not... when the prime user can utilize the facilities every day of the year? Why not... when the Vikings can only use it for 10 games a year, up to 12 or 13 in a red-hot winning season? We like the Vikings, but we can do without ransom rates! Perhaps Max Winter could build a bubble for indoor practice (from his petty cash fund) and then—after the season is over—put in tennis courts to recoup part of his investment.

There seems to be some concern on impact to the University neighborhood. It wouldn't be much different than what they've been used to for years, on five or six Saturdays each fall. Two August exhibitions and another eight to ten games on Sunday wouldn't change the picture all that much. Not if the Twins and Kicks continue to utilize Metropolitan Stadium. Shucks, there are about 65,000 people on the U of M campus every school day. Some 127,000 cars pass through the area daily. Would those few extra games in the Fall and Winter make all that much difference? Hardly. And remember, Williams Arena is due for replacement in a few years, at a possible cost of 21 to 24 million dollars. For a net $30,000,000 we can kill a whole lot of birds with one stone. The guy that said Memorial Stadium couldn't be remodeled, that it was "crumbling," must have been an agent for Sid Hartman. At least none of the architects and engineers are buying that... and I'm willing to go along with that until proven otherwise.

I don't know about you, but if this Remodel-the-Met and Dome-Memorial-Stadium combination proves to be the best answer to a problem that's been with us for at least a half-dozen years, there are at least two people for whom I'd like to buy a drink... and I'll still be money ahead because of all the tax money I'll be saving over the years. One is my own State Representative, Ray Faricy, for carrying the ball on the liquor tax repeal—which, in its own obtuse way, put the kibosh on a dome proposal that had gone way too far, too fast... and came all too close to making it. The other is Don Herzog, Minneapolis advertising agency executive, who stepped into the breach with an alternate proposal that had been gathering dust for too long. If I have to eat those words sometime in the future, please pass the mustard.

Parting pilfered punchlines: "What a good thing Adam had—when he said a good thing, he knew nobody had said it before." (Mark Twain) And a little guidepost for our solons in session: "Wisdom consists not so much in knowing what to do in the ultimate as in knowing what to do next." Herbert Hoover said that... and he oughta know. Yours till Mike Lynn says, "Hey, I take it all back; this Memorial Stadium is just what the doctor ordered." Buon giorno.

Parliamentarians' program planned

The Minnesota State Association of Parliamentarians has scheduled its 13th annual convention for 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, April 28 at the Fort Snelling Officers' Club, 1-494 and Post Rd., Minneapolis.

"Expedite—Do It Right" will be the theme of the day and subject of the afternoon seminar. A morning business meeting and lunch round out the program.

Cost to attend, including lunch, is $8.50 at the door. Call Elvira Kiel at 374-1345 for more information.

B'nai B'rith Women to meet over lunch

The St. Paul Rosetta Epstein B'nai B'rith Women will hold a luncheon and installation of new officers at noon Wednesday, May 2 at Southview Country Club, 239 E. Mendota Rd. in West St. Paul.

Sheila Cohen, Twin City council president, will be the installing officer at the luncheon, which will also feature a program entitled "Show Tunes" with Angela Gill and Shelly Singer.

For reservations, call Marion Dorshow at 454-4156.

Mac prof, spouses named to national education program

Four Macalester College professors and their spouses were recently named members of the Danforth Associate Program, a national effort to promote better teaching by college professors.

Named to six-year terms were: assistant psychology professor Lynda P. LaBounty and her husband Charles, of 401 Mt. Curve Blvd.; associate classics professor Jeremiah Reedy and his wife Dolores, of 1807 Goodrich Ave.; chemistry professor A. Truman Schwartz and his wife Beverly, of 68 Otis Ave.; and philosophy professor Henry R. West and his wife Patricia, of 1721 Princeton Ave.

As part of the program, the professors and their spouses will be able to attend three biennial conferences designed to encourage effective teaching, probe educational issues and promote interdisciplinary and interinstitutional activities among the nation's college and university faculties. The professors will also be able to apply to a special college project fund for support of team projects involving students and faculty.

Highland Elementary to round up 'kinder'

Highland Park Elementary School will hold its kindergarten round-up for next year's class from 1:30 to 2:45 p.m. Thursday, April 26 at the school, 1700 Saunders Ave.

Children who will be five years old before September 2, and their parents are invited. For additional information, call the school at 698-3865.

Blare of bagpipes bruits coming of Mac's 7th Scottish Country Fair

Bagpipe bands, highland dancers, traditional Scottish foods and sporting events, arts and crafts and a special children's theatre production will all play a part in the seventh annual Scottish Country Fair, to be held on Saturday, May 5 on the campus of Macalester College.

One of the Twin Cities' most colorful outdoor festivals, the Country Fair is held each year to celebrate Macalester's Scottish heritage. It is typical of the many highland gatherings of the clans held in the warm spring and summer months in Scotland, and as such, provides a natural ethnic attraction for Midwesterners of Scottish descent, including a sizable Twin Cities delegation. It's also great family entertainment, with activities of all sorts scheduled simultaneously through the day-long festival.

A dozen bagpipe bands from Minnesota, its surrounding states and Canada are scheduled to compete all day long, in concert. At 1:30 p.m., all 12 bands—including more than 100 pipers and half as many drummers—will assemble in the Macalester stadium to present the traditional Scottish spectacle known as the "Massed Bands."

More than 150 highland dancers are also expected to compete throughout the day, performing such age-old steps as the Highland Fling, the Sword Dance and Seann Truibhas. Unlike in Scotland where highland dancing is still dominated by males, the dancers who will compete at Macalester are mostly female. They will be judged by meticulous standards established and maintained by a network of Scottish dance organizations.

Throwing the 56-Pound Weight, demonstrated here by 260-pound William McClean, is just one of the "Games of Brawn" to be held throughout the day during Macalester College's annual Scottish County Fair. The bar over which Mr. McClean is trying to heave the weight is set at nine feet.

The ancient Scottish "Games of Brawn" will also be held throughout the day. Early Scottish kings used these games as a means of selecting the ablest runners and warriors. At Macalester, however, the emphasis is on fun as the athletes compete in such events as the "Tossing of the Caber," or "Ye Casting of the Bar."

A caber looks very much like a telephone pole, only shorter. It is heaved upwards by very powerful men who try to flip it over once so that its heavy end lands in a perfect 12 o'clock position.

Other events include the "Putting the Stone," "Throwing the 56-Pound Weight," and the "Throwing of the Hammer." These games, all pretty much self-descriptive, evolved for the simple reason that they require no special equipment, don't cost anything, and are easily accessible if not easily won. They are still popular sports in many regions of Scotland.

The fair will also serve as a showcase for nearly 200 persons exhibiting their arts and crafts across the campus. In one corner of the athletic field, a blacksmith will be plying his trade, while in another, students from the Theatre Department of the College of St. Catherine will be presenting You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown!

Authentic Scottish foods, such as shortbread and scones, will be available for all those who happen by. Enjoy!

Carniviviality

A carnival will deck the halls of Randolph Heights School, 348 So. Hamline Ave., from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. on Friday, May 4. Hot dogs, ice cream and pop will be served.

Tom Edelstein

As Jambor Realtors' sales counselor of the month in March, Tom has once again proven that youth must be served — if that youth is well-trained, professionally competent and eager to be of maximum service.

Of course, Tom is more experienced than he looks, with a background of some five years as a real estate specialist in Highland. And he has the added advantage of knowing the terrain exceedingly well...since he's lived in the Highland area all of his life.

In 1978, Tom shared top honors as Jambor Sales Counselor of the Year. With his strong running start in '79, perhaps he now feels too fit to be tied!

They're selling Snelby Snelling-Selby businesses to host annual Spring Jubilee

The Snelling-Selby Business Association will play host for the third annual Spring Jubilee on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 4-6.

The 1979 edition of the festival will feature an even longer list of products and services for summertime family fun or home improvement projects than the two Jubilees that have gone before it.

Supplied and displayed by thirty-five area businesses and community organizations, the exhibits will be centered under the big top of a 40 ft. x 80 ft. circus tent erected in the parking lot of Liberty State Bank, 176 No. Snelling Ave. The displays will fan out in all directions from that point.

This year's Jubilee will also include a "Kiddie Parade" at 2:00 p.m. Sunday, May 6, and an arts and crafts fair, which will be held throughout the three days.

All area children age 10 or younger are invited to register as parade participants at Boehm's Schwinn Cycle Center, 1592 Selby Ave., or at Liberty Bank. Deadline for all entries is April 30.

The arts and crafts fair will draw together more than 60 exhibitors, according to Hal Resnikoff, owner of Tops Furniture and chairman of the event. Art fair hours will run from noon to 6:00 p.m. on Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday, and noon to 5:00 p.m. on Sunday.

Free entertainment will be provided by Yale Libman and Sons, the Jim Tolck Orchestra and the "Whole Shebangs."

Twelve grand prizes will be given away during the Jubilee, including a color television from Panelcraft and a late model used car from Selleck's Motors.

Free hot dogs, pop, popcorn and Firehouse beans will be served in the circus tent, completing this abbreviated list of a few of the attractions planned as part of this annual extravaganza.

The "yoke's" on you, not Jeremy Gauster of 1715 Saunders Ave., who seems to enjoy the sensation of having an egg (filled with confetti) cracked over his head by Amy Benno, 2019 Fairmount Ave., during a recent pre-Easter party at the College of St. Catherine's Montessori School. The school will hold an open house from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 25, when teachers will show slides and videotapes of a more typical day in the lives of Montessori youngsters.

Registration opens for extended day program at Hill-Longfellow

Registration is now in progress for next fall's extended day option at J.J. Hill and Longfellow, paired schools where children in primary grades (K-3) attend J.J. Hill, 998 Selby Ave., and those in grades 4-6 attend Longfellow, 318 Moore St.

Offered last fall as part of the Apollo Cluster Desegregation Plan, the extended day option provides a ride to school for students who live more than a mile away. Children are picked up about an hour and a half before school (7:30 a.m.) and dropped off at home about an hour and a half after school (5:00 p.m.)

Kindergartners in the program attend the afternoon session, spending the morning hours at J.J. Hill for planned art and craft activities, special programs, storytime and supervised free play.

The breakfast and hot lunch programs are available to all participating children.

Non-minority students from Apollo Cluster schools other than Hill-Longfellow (Randolph Heights, Groveland Park, St. Anthony Park, Open School, and private and parochial schools in the Apollo Cluster) are given first preference for the program.

Parents who are interested in the extended day option for next fall, may call J.J. Hill School (645-0866) or Longfellow School (645-3937).

HILLCREST

Ducks.
Ducks?
Yeah, you know, the quackin' creatures wit' da webbed feet and da wings and da bill for a snoot? They arrived at Hillcrest's impermanent pond two weeks ago with a message: "Spring is coming."

So now it's here, the sun's shining and drying up the field and soon we'll hear the patter of red ball jets pounding the dirt of the base paths.

And speaking of base paths, stop by Hillcrest now to register for softball or T-ball.

We've almost worked out all the kinks in our summer program. Call 698-1435 if you have any questions.

GROVELAND

Registration for Groveland's summer programs (kickball, T-ball, baseball, softball, Junior Olympics, Day Camping and Recreation for Small People) will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, April 25 and 26.

For more information, or if you are interested in coaching any summer activities (and we do need coaches), call 698-5747.

Spring craft classes for kids ages 6-11 are held every Tuesday and Thursday from 3:15 until 4:30 p.m. All we ask is that you bring 25 cents with you each time you come. For those who missed it, the Easter Egg Hunt we held a couple weeks back was a shell of a good time. The rainy weather on the outside didn't stop 150 kids from coming inside to search the halls of Groveland School for what the bunny had hidden.

DOWN AT THE Playground

HOMECROFT

Down here at Homecroft, we're thinkin' summer. And when we start thinkin' summer, 'tain't long before all of us start knockin' our noggins for a summer recreation program. And we got ourselves a dandy.

We'll be taking sign-ups beginning the week of April 30 for the following teams: T-ball (for third graders and under), softball (in Cub, Pee Wee Girls, Midget Girls, Midget Boys, Senior High Girls and Senior High Boys divisions), and baseball (Cub, Pee Wee and Midget Boys).

All we ask if that you come on down and sign up and that you then find it in yourselves to shell out $3.50 to cover all the green we kicked in to get you T-shirts.

Now, if there's anything else you need to know, call Swanee or Mike. The number's 698-4249.

DESNOYER

Tennis classes for adults, both beginners and intermediates, start tonight, April 25 from 6:00 to 7:30. Cost is $10.00 for five 90-minute lessons in groups no bigger than eight students.

Children should register now for tennis classes which begin the week of June 11. Three one-hour lessons cost $1.50. Registration is also being taken now for baseball and softball.

Boys and Girls in 3rd through 9th grades who are interested in track should get in shape now. During the month of May, we will be practicing for our Desnoyer track team. Sorry, but if you were on your school's varsity, B-squad or junior varsity track teams, you're not eligible for the playground team.

Craft lovers! The playground holds a craft class every Friday from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m.

Thanks go to American Legion Hamline Post No. 418 for its generous donation; to Jackie and Stacy McManus, Kim Wybierala, Kristy Munson and Teri Antonczak for their help in running the show; and to all who participated in our Easter Egg Hunt. We had a really good turn-out despite the early showers.

STA alumni reunite for weekend of auld lang syne May 4-5

The St. Thomas Academy Alumni Reunion Weekend will be held Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5 on the campus in Mendota Heights.

Opening the weekend is a Mass at 12:15 p.m. Friday. Six priest-alumnae will celebrate the Mass and Rev. Leo Howley, '29, pastor of Holy Spirit Parish, will give the homily.

Other Friday reunion activities include a luncheon meeting, a military review, presentation of the Hames Memorial Alumni Award, a coffee hour with the faculty, a special reception for members of the 50th and 45th anniversary classes, a meeting of the 50 Year Club, and stag parties for the classes of '49, '44, '49, '54, '59, '64 and '74.

A dinner dance Saturday night will cap the weekend's activities.

Valparaiso Guild to hold spring luncheon

The St. Valparaiso Chapter of the Valparaiso University Guild will hold its annual "Welcome Spring" luncheon and fashion show beginning at 12:30 p.m. this Saturday, April 28 at Jehovah Lutheran Church, Thomas and Snelling Ave. (Ed. note: The luncheon time had been incorrectly stated as 10:30 a.m. in our last issue. Our apologies.)

The fashion show will feature styles from Montgomery Ward, music and door prizes. Tickets are $3.00.

Int'l potluck repast planned at Pilgrim

Area residents are invited to an International Potluck Supper at 6:00 p.m. Friday, April 27 at Pilgrim Lutheran Church, 1935 St. Clair Ave.

Adding the "international" to the potluck repast are three refugee families from Uganda, Vietnam and Laos, who will share some of their favorite dishes with those attending. Pilgrim Lutheran helped resettle these families during the past seven years.

For reservations, call the church at 699-6886.

JWVA nat'l prez meets with locals

All members of the Jewish War Veterans Auxiliary of the Department of Minnesota are invited to a luncheon honoring Sylvia Herman, JWVA national president, at noon Wednesday, May 2 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

Department President Esther Cohen will preside over the luncheon. For reservations, call your auxiliary president by April 28.

An open meeting and reception will also be held at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, May 2 in the adult lounge at the JCC. All post and auxiliary members and guests are invited.

To bear or not to bear is topic at Family Tree

Family Tree will again offer its five-session "Baby—Maybe" discussion series from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Mondays, May 7 through June 11 at the clinic, 1599 Selby Ave. Fee is $25 for couples, $12.50 for individuals.

The group will discuss reasons why people decide to have or not to have children, such as personal motivation and societal influences. There also will be chances to share general ideas about parenthood.

For more information or to register, call Sandy at the Family Tree (645-0478).

Strippers expands, celebrates

The Strippers, a furniture restoring business located at 1698 Selby Ave., has timed its grand opening celebration to coincide with the last two days of the Snelling-Selby area Spring Jubilee with an open house from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Saturday, May 5 and from noon to 4:00 p.m. Sunday, May 6.

As part of the celebration, owners Michael and Pat Ries have also planned a two-day Kiddie Carnival with a bucket ride and moonwalk. Refreshments at cheaper than usual prices will be provided by such businesses as Maury's Ice Cream Emporium.

The Spring Jubilee's Kiddie Parade will step out from Strippers' new parking lot at 2:00 p.m. Sunday. For adults, there will be door prizes and tours through the business' newly expanded showroom and work areas. The Strippers, which has been in business since 1974, now occupies the entire building since Machiaada Rocker and Skip's Sewing Repair Company moved out.

Fine arts going on block at Mt. Zion

The Mt. Zion Temple Sisterhood will hold its second annual fine art auction at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, April 28 and at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, April 29 in Margolis Hall of the temple, 1300 Summit Ave. Items for sale can be viewed an hour before each show, and refreshments will be served.

The auction will include a collection of original oils, graphics, etchings, watercolors, enamels and sculpture by such artists as Chagall, Liberman, Boulanger, Calder, Lebadang, Dali, Heffner, Neiman, Rockwell, Moti, Meisel and others. Donation is $1.50.

Montessori sets sale, open house

Children's House Montessori will hold its fourth annual garage sale from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28 at 2175 Lincoln Ave. In addition to sale items for adults, children and the home, the event will include a raffle of items donated by area businesses.

The nonprofit, parent-run preschool will hold its open house from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday, May 6 at the school 341 Hamline Ave. S. Parents and children are invited to meet the staff, see pictures and teaching materials and share refreshments.

EFFECTIVE PRAYER

is having your needs met, and more.

It brings you closer to God, makes you care more about your neighbors, uplifts you and regenerates your thinking.

And this is why it brings healing.

People tell about their answered prayers in Christian Science testimony meetings. We'd love to have you come.

Will operate as home-selling team

Highly dedicated local couple joins Rothschild, REALTORS®

Marilyn and Jule Schatzberg, 1485 Edgcombe, known in business as a successful husband and wife team for the past 20 years, are now associated as a team with Rothschild, REALTORS®. They can now give you the united effort of two, experienced sales people in the selling or buying of a home.

Jule, who has a background in public speaking taught training for his sales organization. In 1966 he was named Small Business Man of the Year for the State of Minnesota and was runner-up nationally.

The Schatzbergs have been community-service oriented since their earliest days. Marilyn has been on the administration of many local civic and religious organizations such as St. Paul Young Judea Youth Organization and the Calmenson Group of the St. Paul Chapter of Hadassah. Jule is a member of the board of the St. Paul United Jewish Fund and the St. Paul Jewish Vocational Service.

Jule is Vice-President and Marilyn is Secretary of the Highland Chateau Nursing Home, and both are members of numerous charity fund raising groups and professional organizations.

The Schatzbergs' interest in helping people through the years is a pattern which fits the profession of real estate in assisting people to make the right investment. Please call this devoted couple with any problem in real estate you may have.

Marilyn Schatzberg planned, designed and decorated their home on Edgcombe.

Jule Schatzberg is "Mr. Fixit" when it comes to houses and their physical problems.

Both choose Rothschilds "because we remembered their reputation from years ago as one of high caliber and high quality."

Opera day, evening set at College Club

"From Comedy to Confrontation," a preview lecture on the 1979 Metropolitan Opera season, and a recital by the Twin Cities Opera Guild Quartet will be presented on the morning of Friday, May 4 and the evening of Tuesday, May 8 at the St. Paul College Club, 990 Summit Ave.

Mary Ann Feldman, opera commentator and critic, will deliver the talks. Fee is $10 for each lecture only, or $15 for the lecture, meal and recital. The registrations are acceptable. Call Continuing Education for Women at 373-9743 or Mr. Raymond Wachtler at 698-5386 for more information.

Spring Thing set at Derham Hall

Derham Hall High School's annual Spring Thing festival is scheduled to start at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 5 at the school, 540 S. Warwick St. Admission is $2.00 and all proceeds will be added to the school's operating budget.

Activities will feature a celebrity sing-along with local personalities, a dance for all ages with Teen King and the Princes, family games and a dinner of bratwurst, beans, beer or pop. Special opportunities will be offered to throw sponges at athletes from Cretin High School and St. Thomas Academy.

Drawings will be held for prizes ranging from a week for two at plush Sanibel Condominium (with airfare) to a two-person Timberline test. Tickets ($1.00 each or $5.00 per book of six) can be purchased from Derham Hall students or by calling the school at 698-0871.

Pressure tests

Blood pressure testing for senior adults will be conducted from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. Thursday, April 26 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave. The service is offered free of charge to all senior adults in the community, under the auspices of the American Red Cross. Call the Center at 698-0751 for more information.

Surefooting expands—again

"Where the action wear is at" is now also where Love of Plants used to be. And Surefooting, purveyors of men's and women's athletic and casual clothing, will host a grand opening celebration beginning this Thursday, April 26 to mark the expansion.

Owned by Jack and Sue Renwick, Surefooting opened in August of 1976 at 2103 Ford Parkway with about 1400 square feet of retail space. In May of 1977, the store doubled in size when it also occupied the space directly east of it, the former site of the Alcove gift shop.

The basement of the building was recently vacated by the Love of Plants shop, enabling the Renwicks to remodel the space and use it for the store's offices, receiving and marking areas, and a section for some of Surefooting's frequent promotions and clearance items. The expansion has also allowed for more space upstairs to be devoted to an increased stock of women's apparel.

Tupperware tradin'

A Tupperware party is planned for 7:00 p.m. Thursday, April 26 at the Merriam Park Community Center, 2000 St. Anthony Ave. The event, sponsored by the Color Guards of Merriam Park, is open to the public. Call 645-0349 for more information.

Examining a mezzanote at the doorway of a room during recent dedication ceremonies for the Family Pavilion wing at Shalom Home, are Mrs. Arnold Rubenstein, president of the home; resident Harry Frishberg; and Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas of the Temple of Aaron. All doorways in the new five-story addition were graced with mezzanote, a traditional symbol of a Jewish dwelling, each of which contains a prayer.

Applebaums offers next best thing to April in Paris

A program to promote awareness of French foods, and the corollary art of preparing them, has been instituted by Applebaums, in cooperation with emissaries of the French government.

To feature the French connection and the fact that the supermarkets already import some 42 Gallic items, Applebaums is kicking off its "April in Paris" emphasis with a cooking demonstration in its Ford Parkway store from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. this Thursday, April 26.

Presenting French cuisine in all its culinary glory will be Daniel Hubert, chef at the Chez Colette restaurant in the L'Hotel de France. Attendees at the demonstration will receive an 11" x 14" card containing nine delectable recipes in use at his restaurant... a gracious, but infrequent concession.

For those among us who find a French menu a bit mysterious in linguistic terms, here is the anglicized version of the recipes you can receive in the days to come at any Applebaums supermarket: Sautéed chicken and cucumbers, salmon in lobster sauce, French onion soup, fillet with mustard sauce, poached eggs on parsleyed tomatoes and toast points, frozen soufflé, banana served flaming with wine, vinaigrette dressing and garlic butter for snails.

A representative from the French consulate will be on hand to visit some of the Applebaums stores and view the demonstration in the Ford Parkway store. But with recipes in hand and some first hand advice from Chef Hubert, the customers can make "April in Paris" last until May and well beyond.

Paper drive set

The junior class of St. Paul Academy will run a paper drive from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 5-6 at the school, 1812 Randolph Ave. Bring bundled papers to the Wheeler Ave. lot. If your pickup truck is in the shop, call 698-9078 during these times only, and volunteers will haul your papers away.

Hardware biz hectic, says Cliff as he sets 'post-grand opening'

So all right, Cliff's Hardware Hank has been open too long for a Grand Opening celebration. So what's wrong with owner Cliff Gustafson's having a Post-Grand Opening—especially since up to now the seven-person staff at 408 S. Snelling Ave. has been kept too busy to get around to it?

Obviously, nothing. The store has been busy since Cliff senior (now retired) and his son opened it in 1957. So busy, in fact, that the Garden Annex, built in 1970, and even the basement finally proved insufficient to hold everything customers wanted in the way of hardware.

Last year, Gustafson broke ground on yet another addition. Now completed, the new selling space brings to 3,500 square feet the total size of the store. While they were at it, builders were told to expand the Hardware Hank parking lot and refront the structure.

The Post-Grand Opening, on till this Saturday, will feature free gifts and drawings for prizes. Visitors are also invited to pick over the new bargain department and Cliff's collection of genu-wine antique hand tools.

Recycled paper to send kids to camp

The youth group of Calvary Lutheran Church will be collecting old newspapers and telephone books from Friday through Sunday, May 4-6 at the church parking lot, 341 S. Hamline Ave.

Papers should be delivered in bundles. If you're unable to bring them, call 698-4664 for a pickup. All proceeds will go towards "camperships" at Camp Onamia.

Messiah's women set annual luncheon

The women of Messiah Episcopal Church will hold their annual salad luncheon, silent auction and card party starting with an 11:30 a.m. social hour on Wednesday, May 16 in the Seeger Room of the church, 1631 Ford Parkway.

Cost is $3.50 including babysitting. Call Mrs. Davis at 699-7097 or the church office at 698-2590 for tickets, and Mrs. Kramer at 699-7977 to donate auction items.

Midway Lions serve benefit flapjack feast

The Midway Lions Club will serve a pancake breakfast from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Sunday, April 29 in the cafeteria of St. Mark's School, Prior and Dayton Ave. The menu will include three sausages and all the pancakes you can account for at the rate of $1.75 for adults, $1.00 for children age 5-12, free for children under 5.

Proceeds will help buy paramedic equipment for Snelling Ave. Station 14 of the St. Paul Fire Department.

Blood pressure info presented at JCC

Irene Tuckner, a public health nurse, will lead a health education program for senior adults called "Keep Your Blood Pressure in Check" at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, May 3 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

The program is open to all senior adults in the community. For more details call the center at 698-0751.

Senate File

by Sen. Ron Sieloff
District 63

As promised in the last issue of the Highland Villager, here are the results of the second half of the questionnaire distributed throughout District 63 by Representative John Drew and me between January and March, 1979. Of the 27,444 district residents who voted in last November's election, approximately 1700 (or between six and seven percent) responded to our query.

	YES	NO	NO OPINION
11. Should the number of representatives and senators in the state legislature be reduced?	1176 72%	261 16%	195 12%
12. Should the state impose mandatory life sentences on all three-time offenders of serious felonies involving violent crimes?	1330 81%	165 10%	156 9%
13. Should the State of Minnesota require minimum standards of reading and writing competency for all high school graduates?	1499 90%	109 7%	51 3%
14. Would you favor a moratorium on the closing of St. Paul elementary schools pending the results of the 1980 census?	757 46%	577 36%	295 18%
15. Do you favor the restoration of the Senior Citizens Property Tax Freeze?	1355 82%	145 9%	154 9%
16. Should the state legislature allocate additional funds for the expansion and development of new facilities at the Como Park Zoo?	647 39%	799 49%	198 12%

Mark, who lives at 1251 Edgumbe Road, will provide just one of the countless diversions at the April 29 event, which runs from 1:00 to 7:00 p.m. in the Parish Center at Albert and Randolph Ave. The festival will also include a car and cash raffle, a country store, a variety of games of skill and chance, and a sing-along. Step right up!

Greased gods gather for annual battle of the bods

"Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the Twin Citiest of them all?"

Well, if biceps, triceps and other such discrete bundles of contractile fibers have anything to say about it, that'll be determined on Sunday, May 6 when local builders of the body beautiful descend on the auditorium of Highland Park Senior High School for the annual AAU "Mr. Twin Cities" physique competition.

Held for the first time this year in conjunction with the AAU's "Mr. Northwest" competition, the event begins at 10:30 a.m. with the prejudging of the middle-weight and heavy-weight contenders for the Twin Cities title. The Mr. Northwest preliminaries get underway at 3:00 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to the Twin Cities finalists beginning at 7:00 p.m. Immediately following an arm wrestling exhibition, Mr. Northwest finalists will be named, including the "most muscular" and "best poser."

Open to the public, the competition will cost all body oglers $2.00 per preliminary session, $4.00 for the finals. Those interested in competing will pay $11.00 for the privilege, and should contact Brian Bangs at the Green Mill, 57 S. Hamline, by April 27 to register.

Rummagers note

St. John's Episcopal Church will hold a rummage sale from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Saturday, May 5 at the church, located on the corner of Portland and Kent St.

Legislative Report

by Rep. John Drew
District 63B

THE DPM: AN ANALYSIS

A great deal of effort has gone into the planning process for the St. Paul Downtown People Mover. Within the space limits of this column, I would like to go over with you the final report as presented to me. This does not mean I support the DPM, but I do feel the effort put into this project by all the people concerned merits some consideration.

The DPM, as you know, has been described as a horizontal elevator designed to connect major downtown activity centers such as United Hospitals, the Civic Center, Seventh Place Shopping Mall, the Lowertown area, the Arts and Science Center area and the State Capitol. The system would also intersect with the skyway system, fringe parking areas and the bus system.

Many of the letters I have received express concern that buses will be rerouted because of the People Mover. That is not necessarily true. Those buses which travel through the downtown area on routes which connect different parts of town (such as the Randolph-Payne) will not be changed. Those routes which terminate in the downtown area, such as those from Minneapolis and the suburban areas, will drop their passengers at a People Mover station on the edge of downtown. That should help to eliminate some of the rush hour congestion in the downtown area.

Estimated cost of the system is $90 million. The federal government will pay $72 million, and the City and the Metropolitan Transit Commission $9 million each. Saint Paul's portion will be paid with $5.6 million of Capital Improvements bonds and $3.4 million from non-cash contributions such as street right-of-ways and other public improvements.

My analysis of the DPM is set forth in the following "pros and concerns":

PROS

- The DPM will stimulate $400 million of hotel, housing, retail and office development.
- It will create 10,000 permanent, full-time jobs.
- Development resulting from the DPM will expand the local tax base such that the owner of a $50,000 home will have taxes reduced by $136.
- The state will receive more than $9 million in sales tax and income tax generated by the People Mover.
- It will help expand and improve downtown shopping areas, attract new visitors and gain attention for the state.
- The downtown business community has evaluated the DPM's financial plan, and has voted to support the operation of the system up to a maximum of $800,000 annually.

CONCERNS

- Will the DPM attract as many riders as the research says, and will it operate at costs within current projections?
- The city and the MTC will have to pay $18 million to build the system and the cost to the owner of a $50,000 home to retire the bonds will be $14 per year.
- The DPM will have a significant visual impact on the downtown area.
- This is new technology which has never before been tested in a downtown area.
- Will the DPM system selected operate adequately in winter?
- The funds for building the major fringe parking ramps have not yet been secured.

These are the elements of the DPM issue as I see them. I'd like to hear your concerns and comments. Please call me at 296-8860 or write me at Room 382 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

asks Michael B. Smith, who is back in St. Paul after some seven years in southern Minnesota. Michael graduated from Mankato State with a major in Business Administration (Management), and has since been employed in Mankato and Rochester.

Southview Chevrolet Company in Inver Grove Heights is now home base for this energetic young man and son of Calvin and Dorothy Smith, well known to many folks in Highland and in Mendota through business affiliations.

"I wanted to be with the best—Chevrolet—and the biggest—Southview," explains Michael. "I enjoy selling new and used cars and trucks. I'm a Chevrolet enthusiast and I really like personal selling."

"I invite you to visit with me personally. A phone call from old friends is always welcome, and a tip-off on a sales prospect would also be appreciated. I'm in a position to make it worthwhile to do business with me."

Give Michael a call at 451-2211.

Minnesota Opera eyes Mill City stage, but marriage to Twin Cities still intact

by Roger Fuller

Efforts now being made by the Minnesota Opera Company to build a performing arts center in Minneapolis will not affect the status of its present headquarters in St. Paul. "We'll still be here," said Charles Fullmer, general manager of the company.

Fullmer explained that though plans are now being laid to construct a new 1200-seat theatre in the St. Anthony Main area of the Mill City, the building at 850 Grand Avenue will continue to be used by the opera as a general office and rehearsal hall.

Fullmer said the owner of the Minneapolis properties offered to give them to the opera provided it's able to refurbish the structures and turn them into a theatre. The parcel includes the Crown Iron Works Company and two adjacent buildings on Main St. beneath the Third Ave. bridge.

The opera company is presently awaiting a report from an architect who will determine if the buildings are large enough to house an auditorium, dressing rooms, storerooms and auxiliary space. If the project is deemed feasible, the company will seek federal funds to help defray part of the cost.

The performing arts center would serve other arts organizations in addition to the Minnesota Opera. "When the Cedar Theatre in Minneapolis changed over to movies a few years back, it left a lot of us—dance companies and the like—without a performing center we could call our own," Fullmer said. "It's still hard for us to find facilities."

"As much as I like the Guthrie, the only time we can get in there is between March 1 when their season ends, and May 1 when they start rehearsing for their next season. It's also sometimes hard for us to book O'Shaughnessy Hall at St. Catherine's." In recent years, the Minnesota Opera has staged two productions each at the Guthrie and O'Shaughnessy.

If the proposed performing arts center becomes a reality, the Minnesota Opera Company will be returning to the city in which it was born. Established in 1962 as the Center Opera, the company was originally a performing arm of the Walker Art Center.

"Since the entire theme of the Walker is contemporary art, we produced a lot of experimental works not usually seen by Twin Cities audiences," Fullmer said.

After performing in a number of temporary locations, the company settled in for several seasons at the Cedar Theatre in the Cedar-Riverside area of Minneapolis. This arrangement was terminated when the Cedar Theatre switched to celluloid and the opera company found it was outgrowing its rehearsal hall, also located in Cedar-Riverside.

"We had to find a new home," said Peter Myers, assistant to the general manager. "I was driving down Grand Avenue one day and spotted this old Ford garage with a 'going out of business' sign on it. We'd been looking for a warehouse or garage because we needed a place big enough to build our sets in, and a door big enough to get them in and out. I felt this building would be just right." The move was finally made in late 1976.

The present composition of the Minnesota Opera is the result of a union of sorts between the Center Opera and the former St. Paul Opera, which disbanded in the mid-1970s after performing for several decades.

"The St. Paul Opera had a huge debt and simply couldn't continue," Fullmer said. "They made arrangements to go into voluntary liquidation and retire their indebtedness. After that was accomplished, we expanded our board of directors, adding several members from theirs."

The majority of the productions put on by the Minnesota Opera Company today are still contemporary pieces, some of which have been directly commissioned by the company. As such, the company serves as a counterbalance to the New York's Metropolitan Opera which presents established favorites for the most part during its annual May tour in the Twin Cities.

In addition to its regular performance schedule at the Guthrie and O'Shaughnessy, the Minnesota Opera hits the road every year for a tour of the Midwest.

"Last year we took Viva La Mama on a tour of eight cities in the five-state area," Fullmer said. "In each city we also spent a half week prior to the performance offering an extensive outreach program, including a series of workshops and the like."

The Minnesota Opera has managed to integrate its relationships with both Minneapolis and St. Paul much more so than most institutions which use "Minnesota" in their names. The company started out in Minneapolis, absorbed a St. Paul company when it went out of business, moved its headquarters to St. Paul, presents performances in both cities, and now plans to build a performance hall in Minneapolis.

It promises to be an even grander Grand Old Day than the five that have gone before it when local businesses, community groups and an anticipated crowd of 60,000 take to the streets for the sixth annual Grand Avenue extravaganza on Sunday, June 3.

Palace Theatre to present 'The Act' at the Edyth Bush

A special performance of The Act Itself, a new play by Jim Stowell, will be presented at 9:00 p.m. Saturday, May 12 at the Edyth Bush Theatre, 690 Cleveland Ave. S.

The play's story line concerns a small band of people who are trying to sell a product that everyone wants but nobody will buy. The Act is billed as the hilarious, sometimes sad, and mostly true story of the life of a theater group and how it survives in an apathetic world.

Regular performances are also scheduled for 8:00 p.m. Fridays through Sundays during May at the Zombie Club, 324 Fifth Ave. S., Minneapolis. Seating is limited to 50, so call the Palace Theatre at 375-0343 during the afternoon hours for reservations. All seats are $3.00.

Woodwind quintet performs at Mac

Harmonia Mundi, a double woodwind quintet under the direction of Macalester music instructor J. Michele Edwards, will present a concert at 8:00 p.m. Friday, April 27 in the Concert Hall of the Janet Wallace Fine Arts Center at Macalester College.

The concert will feature a concerto for bassoon and wind ensemble by Andriesen; Florent Schmitt's Lied et Scherzo, a sonata for two flutes by Telemann; Mozart's Serenade No. 12, and a witty dance suite by Jean Francaix.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Concordia sets free pops, jazz concerts

Concordia College's Jazz Ensemble will present a concert at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, April 26 in the Buetow Music Center Auditorium on the campus.

The Concert Band of Concordia College follows this act a few days later with a pops concert at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, April 29 on the Student Union lawn near the intersection of Marshall and Hamline Ave.

Both events are free and open to the public.

choir will perform works by Pablo Casals, Leonard Bernstein, Claudio Monteverdi, Charles Ives, Benjamin Britten and local composer Paul Fetler. Admission is $2.00 to the general public and $1.00 to students.

Yaffa Yarkoni to perform for Israeli independence celebration

Yaffa Yarkoni, renowned Israeli singing star and perhaps the world's most recorded female singer, will be the main attraction for a community-wide Israel Independence Celebration, planned for 8:30 p.m. Saturday, May 5 at the Jewish Community Center, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

Yarkoni, whose name has become a household word in Israel, has cut 65 albums in Hebrew, Dutch, English, French, Greek, Spanish, Portuguese and Yiddish, plus 10 children's albums and 400 single recordings. She also performs character sketches in song and dance.

Admission is $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students and senior adults. A reception with an American and an Israeli disco will follow the performance.

The celebration is sponsored jointly by the United Jewish Fund and Council, the Jewish Community Center and all other St. Paul Jewish service organizations and synagogues.

The cast, made up of students from Cretin, Derham Hall, Highland Park, Brady and St. Agnes high schools, includes Jim Cunningham, Wendy Kroll, Paul Knox, Molly Gilbert, Paul Vosejka, Sheila Murphy, Dan Mollner, Kassy Kenny, Dominic Lagos, Mary Kiwus, Dan Turner, John Countryman, Bill Gerlach and Paul Heaney.

The play is directed by Roger Julkowski, with help from Roger Wolf and Steve Kolbo. Lori Vosejka is music director, Kitsie Olson is choreographer and Marcia Young handles orchestra preparation.

Tickets are $2.00 in advance or $2.50 at the door.

World Travel Series to screen 'Romance of Romania' Sunday

National Geographic film artist Jonathon Hagar will personally narrate his award-winning film, Romance of Romania, as the twelfth and final presentation in this year's World Travel Adventure Series.

The show begins at 3:00 p.m. this Sunday, April 29 in the auditorium of Highland Park Senior High School, 1015 So. Snelling Ave. Admission is $3.00 for adults, free to children under 12 accompanied by an adult.

Rooted in the breathtaking scenery of the country and in the hearts of its people, the romance of Romania expresses itself in frescoed churches, colorful peasant dress and quaint folk customs. The film also offers an unusually penetrating look at life behind the iron curtain as experienced by a Bucharest family.

CSC sets auditions for 'Mother Goose'

Area residents in junior high school through college are invited to audition for the children's play Here Comes Mother Goose, which will be staged Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, July 3 through August 2 (except July 4 and 5) at the College of St. Catherine.

Auditions will be held from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Friday, May 11, and from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. Saturday, May 12 in Frey Theatre at St. Catherine's. Those interested in a singing role should come prepared to sing a song of their choice.

MDT brings troupe members' original dances to Edyth Bush

Two evenings of new works choreographed by members of the Minnesota Dance Theatre performing company and faculty are slated for 8:00 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, April 28-29 at the Edyth Bush Theatre, 690 Cleveland Ave. S.

Dances by faculty members Becky Heist, Beth Obermeyer and David Voss and troupe members Marcia Quigley, Andrew Rist and Danny Clark will be performed.

Heist's works include Sherzando, a solo, and Liaison. Obermeyer will perform two movements of her Tap Concerto. Voss has choreographed three dances: Implicit Exchanges, Little Betrayals and A Conjecture.

Quigley's work, set to a Paul Williams song, is called Wolf Eyes. Clark's two dances, Bustin' Loose and I Want Your Love, are set to tunes by Chuck Brown and the Soul Searchers. The dance by Rist, as yet untitled, features an original score by Carol Barnett.

Admission is $2.00 and reservations can be made by calling the MDT ticket office at 335-7808.

Cellist Rose to solo with SPCO

Master cellist Leonard Rose will appear with the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra in a Capital Series concert at 8:00 p.m. Saturday, May 5 in O'Shaughnessy Auditorium at the College of St. Catherine. The performance, under the baton of SPCO principal conductor William McGlaughlin, will be preceded at 7:00 p.m. by a "Coffee and Commentary" led by principal cellist Peter Howard.

The program will include Saint-Saens' Concerto in A minor for Violoncello and Orchestra, Op. 33 with Rose as soloist, Sibelius' Pelleas and Melisande, Op. 46, Carl Ruggles' Portals and Alberto Ginastera's Variaciones Concertantes for Chamber Orchestra.

Rose, who began his music career at age 13, was assistant solo cellist with the NBC Symphony by age 20 and solo cellist with the Cleveland Orchestra a year later. A former soloist with the New York Philharmonic, he has also served on the faculty of the Juilliard School of Music.

Concert ticket prices range from $8.50 to $4.50, with $1.50 discount for students and senior citizens with ID. Student Rush tickets at $3.00 each will be sold at 7:45 p.m. the night of the performance. Call the SPCO ticket office at 291-1144 for further information.

THE RIVALS by Richard Brinsley Sheridan
Ensign Beverly is really Captain Absolute, though his intended Lydia Languish doesn't know. Nor does her aunt who is the key to her inheritance, or his father who is planning the Captain's marriage to the very same Miss Languish! All are fools for love, in the tradition of romantic comedy!

CAPTAIN JINKS OF THE HORSE MARINES by Clyde Fitch
A new musical adaptation of the turn-of-the-century comedy, in which Madame Trentoni, a beautiful Italian opera singer, has just arrived in New York for her American debut. Captain Jinks and his cohorts from the Horse Marines place their bets as to which of them can win her heart.

With a Guthrie Season Ticket you experience a season of seven fine plays, but pay for only five. You receive ticket purchase priority to this year's presentation of Charles Dickens' holiday classic, A Christmas Carol, which sold out last year two months before it opened. And our liberal ticket exchange policy makes a season ticket very flexible.

Adam, Schmidt perform two concerts at World Theatre

Margie Adam and Claudia Schmidt will present two concerts on Friday evening, April 27 at the World Theatre, 494 Wabasha St.

The concerts, which begin at 7:30 and 10:00 p.m., are presented by Per-simmon Productions, a locally based non-profit organization which seeks to promote women in the performing arts. Both concerts will be signed for the deaf.

A gifted singer, songwriter and pianist, Adam creates a unique synthesis of jazz, pop, classical and soft rock sounds. Schmidt, who sings and plays the 12-string guitar, mountain dulcimer and pianolin, interprets a variety of musical styles, including traditional British ballads, blues laments, standards and her own compositions.

Tickets are $5.00 in advance, $6.00 at the door, and may be obtained at all Wax Museums, the Mississippi Market, Hoffman Guitars, May Day Bookstore and the World Theatre.

Russian festival, cabaret pops highlight Orchestra Hall's summer

The Chuck Mangione Quartet and Orchestra will appear in concert Tuesday, May 1, kicking off the 1979 Summer Season at Orchestra Hall. The musical series will also include five Minnesota Orchestra Rug Concerts, 35 Cabaret Pops events and a three-week Russian Music Festival by the Minnesota Orchestra.

Some of the highlights in the eight weeks of Cabaret Pops are: the Minnesota Orchestra's Tribute to Irving Berlin, May 23-25; pianist Peter Nero and his trio with the Minnesota Orchestra, June 6-9; Dave Brubeck, June 24; Chet Atkins, July 1; and pianist Roger Williams, July 4-7.

Cast of dozens to take JCC stage for 'Babes in Toyland'

Babes in Toyland, a Children's Theatre presentation of the Jewish Community Center of St. Paul, will cast 52 fifth and sixth grade students in the musical story of two orphaned children in a mean old uncle's custody, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 25, 8:00 p.m. Saturday, April 28, and 1:30 and 4:00 p.m. Sunday, April 29 at the JCC, 1375 St. Paul Ave.

Cost is $2.00 and $1.50 for reserved seating. Special $1.00 tickets for preschool and kindergarten children are also available for youngsters to sit in front on small chairs. Call the JCC at 698-0751 for tickets.

The Rug Concerts include: Bach Marathon, June 4-5; Turn of the Century Rug, June 26; Concerto Rug, July 3; Happy Birthday Otto-rino, July 10; a Jazz Rug with pianist Marian McPartland and trio, July 11.

The Russian Music Festival, which will run from July 19 through August 4, will feature the first appearances of Soviet guest conductor Dimitri Kitai-enko, the 1978 Tchaikovsky Competition winners, and Russian dancers Valery and Galina Panov.

For more information on any summer events, call the Orchestra Hall box office at 371-5656.

'Finian's Rainbow' finds Folwell stage

Finian's Rainbow, Har-burg and Lane's musical about the meeting between old South and old sod, will be presented by the Morris Park Singers at 8:00 p.m. April 28, 29 and May 4 and 5 at Folwell Junior High School, 3611 20th Ave. S. in Minneapolis.

The cast includes Hugh Parks as Finian; Kati Belle Cook as his daughter Sharon; Scott Petro in the role of Woody; Gary Mills as Og the Leprechaun; and Lindy Moen as Senator Rawkins.

Don Thue directs the music and Marilyn Miller is stage director and choreographer. A 20-piece orchestra made up of community musicians provides the music.

Guthrie Theatre plans annual Beaux Arts Festival May 5

The Guthrie Theater, mounting its own entry in the springtime fundraising sweepstakes, will hold its 1979 Beaux Arts Festival from 8:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Saturday, May 5 at L'Hotel de France.

The dinner-dance extravaganza will begin with a silent auction of hand-made props from Guthrie productions, theater banners, handpainted facades, round-trip airfare to London for two and other exotic.

The evening's entertainment will include a roving portrait caricature artist, a palm-reader, a glass-blower at work and a "bumper room" where visitors can play skittles and darts.

Dancing to the music of the Barbary Coast Dance Band will begin at 9:30 p.m. in the hotel's grand ballroom, and a buffet supper with wine will be served at 10:00 p.m. Tables of 10 or mixed tables will be available, and a cash bar will be open all evening.

Tickets are $35 per person, of which $20 is a tax-deductible gift to the Guthrie Theatre Foundation. To make reservations, mail checks to the Guthrie, Beaux Arts Festival, Vineland Place, Minneapolis 55403 by April 30.

Cricket's 'Cooper' to create life of successful skyjacker

The D.B. Cooper Project, John Orlock's musical review based on the only successful skyjacking in history, will be presented April 25-29 and May 2-5 at the Cricket Theatre, University and 13th Ave. N.E. in Minneapolis.

It was November 24, 1971 when D.B. Cooper hijacked a Northwest Orient Boeing 727 and, presumably, parachuted safely into anonymity with $200,000 somewhere over the Cascade Mountain Range in Washington.

Three weeks later a letter appeared in the New York Times signed by Cooper in which he stated that his life had been one of hate and turmoil, and that by the hijacking he hoped to gain a little peace of mind in the last 14 months he had to live.

The D.B. Cooper Project combines music and flashbacks to explore the possible life of Cooper and the circumstances which led to the skyjacking.

Performances are at 8:00 p.m. Wednesdays through Fridays, at 5:15 and 9:15 p.m. on Saturdays, and at 7:00 p.m. Sunday.

Tickets are $6.00 and $7.50 and may be reserved by calling the Cricket Theatre box office at 379-1411. Student, senior citizen and group discounts are available.

Concordia prof to give organ recital

Dr. John Eggert will perform a free organ recital at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, May 6 in the Buetow Memorial Music Center Auditorium on the campus of Concordia College-St. Paul.

Eggert, who serves as organist and assistant professor of music at the college, has studied organ at Concordia College (Seward, Nebraska), Northwestern University and the University of Iowa.

His recital, which will feature works by Couperin, Franck, Peeters, Bach, Roberts and Samuel Barber, will be performed on the 43-rank mechanical action organ built in 1974 by the Schlicker Company. Professor Richard Norris and the Brass Ensemble of Concordia College will also perform.

Maria Ewing and Jerome Hines in a scene from Poulenc's Dialogues of the Carmelites. The musical drama will be presented by the Metropolitan Opera for the first time at Northrop Auditorium on Saturday, May 19.

Young people's opera staged at Landmark Center April 28

A new chamber opera for the young, The Silver Fox, will be presented at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, April 28 in Courtroom 317 of the Landmark Center, 75 W. 5th St.

Written by composer Libby Larsen and playwright John Olive, The Silver Fox is set in a remote Louisiana bayou in the 19th century. The central character is Titine, a young girl who can transform herself into a magical fox.

The story tells of the effect this has on Titine and the people around her, and how she learns to deal with her power.

The cast has been chosen from professional singers in the University of Minnesota Opera Theater, whose director, Vern Sutton, also directs the opera.

Tickets for The Silver Fox are $3.00 for adults, $1.00 for children under 12, and may be purchased through the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra ticket office (291-1144).

Metropolitan Opera Week opens May 14 at Northrop

Counter sales for the 35th annual appearance of the Metropolitan Opera at Northrop Auditorium opened last Monday at 105 Northrop Auditorium on the University of Minnesota campus. Phone orders may now be placed by calling 373-2345. Remaining seats are also offered at the ticket office of Dayton's downtown Minneapolis store.

Four of the seven opera performances scheduled for the 1979 Opera Week (May 14-19) are already sold out—Don Pasquale, Tosca, Tannhauser, and The Bartered Bride—and only $7.00 seats remain for the new production of Verdi's Don Carlo.

Seats in various price categories are still available for two of the operas: Verdi's Otello, with leading singers Sherrill Milnes, Jon Vickers, and Gilda Cruz-Romo; and Poulenc's widely acclaimed musical drama, Dialogues of the Carmelites, presented here for the first time. Sung in English, the Met's performance of Dialogues features an all-star cast in Poulenc's adaptation of a play by Georges Bernanos. Set in France during the revolution, the opera follows the fate of a group of Carmelite nuns confronted with either abandoning their order or dying for it.

The complete schedule of the 1979 opera festival, its conductors and leading singers follows:

Monday May 14, 8:00 p.m.—Donizetti's Don Pasquale, with Beverly Sills, Fernando Corena, Nicolai Gedda and Hakan Hagegard; Nicola Rescigno conducts.

Tuesday, May 15, 8:00 p.m.—Verdi's Otello, with Gilda Cruz-Romo, Jon Vickers and Sherrill Milnes; James Levine conducts.

Wednesday, May 16, 8:00 p.m.—Puccini's Tosca, with Magda Olivero, Luciano Pavarotti and Cornell MacNeil; James Conlon conducts.

Thursday, May 17, 8:00 p.m.—Wagner's Tannhauser, with Leonie Ryanek, Mignon Dunn and Jess Thomas; James Levine conducts.

Friday, May 18, 7:15 p.m.—Verdi's Don Carlo, with Gilda Cruz-Romo, Vasile Moldoveanu and Sherrill Milnes; James Levine conducts. Because of the restored first act, the curtain time was moved up.

Saturday, May 19, 1:30 p.m.—Smetana's The Bartered Bride, with Teresa Stratas, Nicolai Gedda and Jon Vickers; James Levine conducts.

Saturday, May 19, 8:00 p.m.—Poulenc's Dialogues of the Carmelites, with Maria Ewing, Regine Crespin, Mignon Dunn and Jerome Hines; Richard Woi-tach conducts.

I bought a Guthrie Season Ticket for THRILLS!

ENDGAME by Samuel Beckett
The outside world ceases to exist for four characters concerned with survival. Their lives appear meaningless, and everyday events become exaggerated and often comic. Somehow life loses its meaning in the face of death.

MONSIEUR DE MOLIÈRE by Mikhail Bulgakov
An air of intrigue surrounds the playwright Molière and his troupe in the court of King Louis XIV. Molière is in danger of losing the King's favor because of protest against TARTUFFE, his parody on religious con-men. He does his best to placate the King, but secretly his protegee is captured and forced to betray him.

With a Guthrie Season Ticket you experience a season of seven fine plays, but pay for only five. You receive ticket purchase priority to this year's presentation of Charles Dickens' holiday classic, A Christmas Carol, which sold out last year two months before it opened. And our liberal ticket exchange policy makes a season ticket very flexible.

ORDER TODAY!
To order season tickets or to receive a free color brochure with complete information and order form, call, write or stop by any Dayton's ticket office—(612) 375-2987, or the Guthrie box office, Vineland Place, Mpls. MN 55403. Call (612) 377-2224.

Lakeshore Players mount musical 'Bells Are Ringing'

Bells Are Ringing, the Broadway musical by Betty Comden, Adolf Green and Jule Styne, is currently running weekends through May 20 at Lakeshore Players, Sixth and Stewart Ave. in White Bear Lake.

Directed by Rose A. Diestler, the musical revolves around the busy office of Susanswerphone, a private answering service whose clients include a likeable but lazy playwright still working on his first production, a dentist who writes songs on his air hose, an opera singer with laryngitis, and an anxious producer with a big name and big bucks.

Ella, Susanswerphone's star operator, gets her lines tangled around the playwright in her zeal to help him. The bumbling Inspector Barnes is hot on her trail, convinced that the answering service is just a front for a child kidnapping ring.

Meanwhile, Ella's supervisor is taken by the real crook, a dashing conman who takes racetrack bets by posing as a clearing house for classical record orders.

Performances are at 8:00 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, at 7:00 p.m. Sundays, with a 2:00 p.m. matinee offered on Sunday, May 13.

Tickets are $4.00, $2.50 for students and seniors. Group rates are available. For reservations, call 429-5674 weekdays from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m.

Chamber chorale performs April 28

The Festival Chamber Chorale of St. Paul, which is based at the College of St. Catherine, will give a concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 28 in the Great Hall of Westminster Presbyterian Church, 83 S. 12th St., Minneapolis.

The program will include sacred works by opera composers from Monteverdi to Puccini plus excerpts from Lehar's The Merry Widow and Gilbert and Sullivan's The Gondoliers. Admission is $2.50.

Henry's Pizza to host Hungarians

The humble stage of Henry's Plaza Pizza, Etc., 2469 W. Seventh St., will shine its ever-lovin' lime-light on Strictly From Hungary this Saturday, April 28 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. when Ed Ells and other assorted Hungarians perform on piano, violins and cellos.

Oneida to offer a credit course in ballet basics

An introductory ballet class will be offered from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m. Monday evenings from April 30 through June 18 at St. James School, View and Randolph Ave. The course, offered through the Oneida Inner-City Education Program, can be taken for credit through Inver Hills Community College.

Taught by an instructor from the Caravan Dance Collective, the course will introduce participants to basic ballet barre and centre techniques, while helping to develop total body conditioning, mental and physical discipline, coordination and control.

The retiring Laura Wingfield (Mary Margaret Hanson) goes for a spin around her living room with a gentleman caller (Joseph Brutsman) in Tennessee Williams' memory play, The Glass Menagerie. The production will run through May 9 in the Park Square Theater at the corner of Sixth and Sibley St. Call director Paul Mathey at 291-7005 for reservations.

Charlie Brown (Gregg Sawyer) and Lucy (Julie Sublet) tackle a school assignment together in a scene from You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown. The play will be presented by the College of St. Catherine-College of St. Thomas Communication Theatre Department from May 2-6 at CSC.

CSC/CST theatre stages a good play, 'Charlie Brown'

The College of St. Catherine-College of St. Thomas Communication-Theatre Department will stage the musical You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown, Wednesday through Sunday, May 2-6 in Frey Theatre at the College of St. Catherine.

The play follows Charlie Brown through a typical day, during which life hands our beleaguered hero everything from unrequited love for the Little Red-Haired Girl to an unsuccessful battle with a kite. All's well that ends well when Lucy, in a burst of unusual goodwill, tells Charlie Brown that he is, after all, a good man.

Snoopy, Linus, Schroeder, Woodstock and the rest of the "Peanuts" gang are also featured in the play, which is directed by JoAnn Holonbek, a teacher at St. Catherine's.

Performances are at 10:00 a.m. May 2, 3 and 4; at 8:00 p.m. May 4; and at 1:00 p.m. May 5 and 6. Admission is $1.00.

For more information and reservations, call 690-6795 from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays.

University students stage 'Chalk Circle'

Bertolt Brecht's wartime drama, The Caucasian Chalk Circle, will be staged by University of Minnesota undergraduate and graduate students at 8:00 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and at 3:00 p.m. Sundays now through May 6 in Rarig Center, 330 21st Ave. S. in Minneapolis.

Set in the summer of 1945 in a war-ravaged Russian village, the play is a parable concerning the heroine Grusha's rescue of a child.

Tickets at $4.00, $3.00 for students and senior citizens, are on sale at Rarig Center, Dayton's and Donaldson's.

Inside the House

by Rep. Ray Faricy
District 63A

I'd like to give you an update on how some of the bills that I've been authoring have progressed this session.

The stadium bill dealing with the repeal of the liquor tax has been signed by the Governor and stadium alternatives are now being examined. The one foremost in the minds of many persons appears to be Memorial Stadium, a facility that could be used year 'round. I'm waiting to see the figures on the feasibility of this alternative before taking any position on it.

Another bill that I sponsored was one dealing with financial aid to school districts for programs for gifted children. I'm happy to report that that bill met with approval by the Education Committee and has been incorporated in the Omnibus School Aid bill.

Another education bill that I have sponsored is one providing that grant-in-aid and scholarship programs be made available to all post-secondary undergraduate students attending Minnesota schools. At present, only those students in their first and second years are eligible for this assistance. I think it's important that a student who may be nearing the conclusion of his or her undergraduate program should have the same opportunity to receive help to finish that program.

On a less successful note, my bill dealing with the establishment of a holiday on May 11, to be known as Statehood Day, was defeated. I understand that efforts are still being made to do something to enhance the appreciation of our own state, particularly in our schools.

The income tax relief bill that I am carrying on behalf of the Governor has passed out of the Tax Committee division dealing with the subject and will probably be incorporated in an Omnibus Tax Relief package.

I'm still working on the hospice concept for the terminally ill. I'll probably be amending some other bill to include insurance coverage for this type of assistance. I firmly believe that home care should be covered by insurance, and in the long run, will be a cost-effective measure, as well as a more humane approach to the terminally ill.

I'm disappointed that the Republican members of the House voted against the tax relief bill on the floor of the House last week. It surely was a bill that would have benefited all of the people in District 63. I'm afraid that something less will probably be the end product.

It was argued that we should include all tax relief measures in a single bill. However, I prefer to have these issues on taxes voted on individually. I mentioned above that certain concepts I've supported are becoming part of an omnibus bill or two. Maybe that's one of the realities that one has to face to get a measure passed, but when you have a clear issue such as a property tax bill, I don't see how it makes any sense to say we should include it with something else, when what is before us is going to benefit our people.

Hosts sought for two from Tangier

Jeff Olson, 1855 Hunter Lane in Mendota Heights, is currently looking for one or two area families interested in serving as summer hosts for two former students of his from Tangier, Morocco.

Both students are 16 years old, speak English, and play soccer very well. They'll be arriving on June 10 for two months of summer classes and athletic competition.

Jeff will be responsible for the bulk of their time while in the Twin Cities, but without the facilities to accommodate them while they're here, he needs a hand. Those who'd like to give it to him are asked to call Jeff at 452-1855.

Area homeowners offered advice at NHS Home Improvement Fair

A Home Improvement Fair, sponsored by the Merriam Park Neighborhood Housing Services, will be held from 10:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, April 28 at Longfellow Grade School, 318 Moore St.

Tradesmen, contractors, city building inspectors and bankers will offer professional advice on how to make home improvements and how to finance them.

Free and open to the public, the fair will feature exhibits, lecture-demonstrations, movies and slide shows, all selected to provide information, ideas and advice to the homeowner and home buyer.

Among the participants in the fair are representatives from the Minnesota Energy Agency, Northern States Power, the Ramsey County Extension Service, St. Paul Housing Code Department, Liberty State Bank and Mid-American Solar Energy Complex Center.

Other exhibitors will be woodworkers, paint and wallpaper experts, siding and insulation contractors, a landscape architect and master gardeners from the University of Minnesota.

Ten films and slide shows will be shown on a continuous basis, highlighting energy conservation techniques, simple household repairs, fire prevention and home financing. Other films will cover landscaping, tree pruning and how to convert attics to living spaces.

The schedule for lecture-demonstrations follows:

10:30—How to Install a Window and Door

11:30—How to Insulate a Window: Glazing, Caulking and Weatherstripping.

12:30—Solar Heating for the Home.

1:45—Slide show discussion of housing problems, garbage, rodents and exterior and interior code violations, by a supervisor of Housing Code Enforcement for St. Paul.

3:00—Energy Conservation for the Home.

4:00—Security Techniques for Homeowners with the St. Paul Police Department.

For more information, call the Neighborhood Housing Services Office at 645-9164.

Library schedules macrame program

Craft-minded adults who have never tied knots for decorative purposes are invited to a session on macrame plant hangers at 7:00 p.m. Thursday, May 10 at the Merriam Park Branch Library, 1831 Marshall Ave.

Participants must register in advance by calling the library at 645-3483. Fee is 75 cents per person.

The library has also scheduled a Maytime Puppet Show for 4:00 p.m. Wednesday, May 9.

Wrinkles of academic re-entry ironed out for adults at CSC

Thinking of going back to school? To make that re-entry into the academic atmosphere a bit smoother, the College of St. Catherine is offering women a summer Re-Entry Adult Program.

Included in the program are two free "Back to College" workshops dealing with questions of financial aid, admissions, academic programs, costs and educational options.

The workshops are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 15 and 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, May 17.

There is also a series of seven study skills sessions especially designed for re-entry students. The sessions will meet from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, June 5 through 26.

Classes offered in the summer Adult Re-Entry program include: the credit course "Career Development for Women," which meets Tuesday and Thursday mornings, May 29 through June 29; "Basic Math Review," which meets Monday and Thursday evenings, June 4 through 28; and "Efficient Reading," which meets Wednesday mornings, May 30 through June 27.

An enrichment program for children ages 3-6 will also be offered Monday through Friday mornings.

Registration materials for any of the courses are now available through the Office of Continuing Education at CSC. For more information or to register for the Back to College workshops, call 690-6542.

CSC devotes weekend to art of the multifaceted J. Jerome Hill

"A Poet Lives," a two-day symposium on the films, music and painting of J. Jerome Hill, will take place at the College of St. Catherine on Saturday and Sunday, April 28 and 29.

The event marks the first time anywhere that a collection of Hill's works has been amassed to display the wide range of talents of the grandson of railroad magnate and "Empire builder" James Jerome Hill.

Peter Lupori, chairman of the CSC art department, characterizes Hill as "truly a Renaissance man. He was a painter, a composer, film maker, poet, architect, philosopher, philanthropist, and supporter of struggling young artists—altogether a very civilized man."

Hill (1905-1972) was born in St. Paul and raised in a Summit Ave. mansion replete with works by such contemporary artists as Delacroix, Corot, Rousseau and the Barbizon School. His father Louis was also a fine amateur painter.

After his 1927 graduation from Yale University with a degree in music, Hill studied painting at the British Academy in Rome. He later moved on to the Academie Scandinave in Paris where he worked under several artists until 1932.

Today, Hill's works are housed in the collections of the Minnesota Museum of Art and the Minneapolis Institute of Arts, as well as in private collections. His canvases were exhibited in the Salon des Tuileries and the Salon d'Automne in Paris several times between 1929 and 1937, and in several one-man shows in New York and Rome after the second world war.

Hill also achieved proficiency in film, winning an Academy Award in 1958 for his feature-length documentary Albert Schweitzer and a 1950 Oscar nomination for the biographical film Grandma Moses. He made 10 other movies, including Sand Castle, Death in the Forenoon, and Open the Door and See the People, handpainting frames in several of them.

In Film Portrait, an autobiographical film, Hill painted the animated sequences frame by frame and wrote and scored the music for the sound track. A critic called it "the charming swan song of an Experimentalist." (All of Hill's films are housed at CSC.)

He also composed several musical works for chamber orchestra, flute, harpsichord, piano and voice, including the music for several songs that use as lyrics the poems of Countess Ophelia de Rouge.

More than two dozen of Hill's paintings will be on display from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. both days in the art galleries of CSC's fine arts building.

Visitors are also invited to take in Hill's films and his seldom-performed baroque style music on both days in the Jeanne d'Arc Auditorium. All events are free and open to the public.

Team B-4 POLICE REPORT

by Lt. John Sturmer

The St. Paul Police Department's Crime Analysis Unit recently completed the 1978 year-end summary of crime and police calls for service by Team area. After careful review of these figures, I have a guarded sense of satisfaction for the year for B-4's area. Since we have not yet been in the Team Policing mode for two full years, a year-to-year comparison is not yet possible. However, enough comparative data exists to give a good picture of where we stand.

In 1970, B-4 had approximately one-fourth of St. Paul's population, or 82,000 people. Using that as a guide, we had 17.8% of the citywide total of "Part One Offenses" (homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assaults, burglary, theft, and auto theft) in 1978. Perhaps most importantly, we were very low in the violent crimes. For example, we had 15.5% of the rapes, 12.7% of the aggravated assaults, and 12.2% of the robberies. This is indeed a good record and a tribute to the hard work of the officers of this Team and to the concern of you, the citizens in B-4.

Putting the figures aside for a moment, we had an extremely productive and successful year policing our parks, open spaces, and the river corridor. These perennial trouble spots were the target for a massive effort on our part last year and, judging from the feedback I got from you, it was a total success. As I've stated before, this is what Team Policing is all about, solving the problems in a neighborhood by being part of that neighborhood.

I mentioned before my "guarded satisfaction." My caution is prompted by a report I recently received covering the first three months of 1979. Serious crime is up 9% over last year in B-4, as well as city-wide. Not only is serious crime up, but the senseless crime of vandalism is being committed in staggering numbers. Of great concern is the incidence of smashing or shooting out the windows of parked cars. I ask your help in being watchful for youths committing these acts, and to call us if you see something.

My last area of concern is the problem of garage burglaries. Last year 40% of our residential burglaries were of garages—four times the citywide average. Why? Basically carelessness. The following little anecdote sums it up. A local attorney who is a friend of mine was giving me some good-natured ribbing about the fact his lawnmower was taken from his garage in the summer and his snowblower in the winter. I asked him how they got in the garage and he said, "Why, through the door. It's never locked."

Schedule of events for 'A Poet Lives'

Saturday, April 28

- 1:00 p.m. Film: Sand Castle
- 2:40 p.m. Music for harpsichord, flute, voice and piano

Sunday, April 29

- 1:00 p.m. Film: Albert Schweitzer
- 2:45 p.m. Music for flute, harpsichord, recorders, piano and voice
- 3:20 p.m. Short films, including: Schweitzer and Bach and Grandma Moses
- 7:30 p.m. Concerto for harpsichord and orchestra
Six songs on texts by Ophelia de Rouge
Film: Film Portrait

The events listed above are open to the public free of charge. All will take place in Jeanne d'Arc Auditorium at the College of St. Catherine.

Heine gets 'nays,' Mays gets 'yeas' from District 16/Summit Hill Assn.

by Roger Fuller

A "yea" on the possible future of Linwood School and a "nay" on an additional bar on Grand Avenue were registered at the monthly board meeting of the District 16/Summit Hill Association on April 19.

The council turned thumbs down on a request by William Heine, Jr., to transfer his liquor license to 777 Grand, a building which until recently housed the Li'l General Store. Heine and his father, William Heine, Sr., were recently involved in an episode in which St. Paul city councilman Vic Tedesco's conversations were taped as part of a police investigation of alleged liquor license abuses.

Tentative approval was given to the Benjamin E. Mays Learning Center's request to move from its present location at Jefferson School, 90 So. Western, to Linwood Elementary School, which will be closed after the current school year. "We have been existing for the last two years," said Mays principal Charmaine Robinson. "Now we want to grow."

The board took two votes on the Mays matter. After an 8-6 tally in favor of the concept, two members who voted "no" said they were not opposed to the move, but wanted more time to study the issue. The board then voted to pose the question to the general membership at the District 16 annual meeting on May 2 at Linwood School.

"Right now, we feel the school board would just as soon we stay where we are," said a member of the Mays delegation who appeared before the council.

Garage sale and boutique planned

The Parents' Organization of the St. Paul Preschool Speech and Language Program will hold a garage sale and boutique from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, May 3 and 4, and from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 5 in the auditorium of Horace Mann school, 2001 Eleanor Ave.

The public school program is currently helping 120 preschool children from across St. Paul who have speech and language problems.

According to her, if the Mays Learning Center, which offers an experimental, back-to-basics program, were taken out of the Jefferson School building, Jefferson might close because its small enrollment wouldn't justify continued use of the building.

However, Robinson explained that both the Mays Center and the Jefferson School administrations were against combining the two programs into one. It's urgent that a decision is reached soon, Robinson said, because the St. Paul School Board is expected to decide on Mays' future at its May 1 or May 15 meeting. Mays presently serves grades K-4 and will expand to K-5 next year.

The council voted unanimously against the Heine petition to transfer his liquor license. "The avenue already has enough establishments which serve liquor or wine and beer," said one council member.

Talley Rhame, Summit Hill community organizer, said the executive committee of District 16 will meet to decide what strategy to pursue on the issue. "City Hall has promised me that the Heine hearing will be held on May 23 unless I'm notified otherwise," she said. "The Grand Avenue Business Association has already gone on record against the move. Between now and May 23 we hope area residents keep calling Alice Murphy (head of the City Information and Complaint Office), telling her we don't want that bar in our neighborhood."

JCC adults slate spring dance bash

The Adult Department of the Jewish Community Center has scheduled a Spring Frolic Disco Bash from 8:00 p.m. to midnight on Saturday, May 12 at the JCC, 1375 St. Paul Ave. Amy and George Sitkoff will provide the music and entertainment.

The evening, for which tickets are $2.00 per person, will include refreshments, a cash bar and ethnic or line dances, the Hora and other fancy footwork. Call the JCC at 698-0751 for reservations.

Spring Cleaning Is Important

Your car's surface can be clean with a regular car wash. But if you're concerned about actually improving your car's finish, we recommend our professional 3-step treatment. We:

1. remove oxidation and grime from your car's surface with a pre-wax cleaner
2. hand apply a high quality polish
3. buff on a hard finish sealer which protects your car from wind, weather, soot, salt and air pollutants.

IHM students to go door-knocking

As part of a weekend blitz scheduled for late April or early May, students from Immaculate Heart of Mary School, 1550 Summit Ave., will be distributing brochures door-to-door in the Groveland, Macalester and Randolph Heights neighborhoods.

The brochures, which describe the academic, athletic and special educational programs available to youngsters at Immaculate Heart, were prepared by a public relations sub-committee of the general School Committee. Those seeking any further information about the school and the programs it offers are invited to call the principal's office at 699-7722.

Clinic open house set for celebration

The Family Tree Community Clinic, anxious to show off its remodeling job and celebrate its seventh year of operation, will hold an open house from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. Thursday, May 3 at the clinic, 1599 Selby Ave.

Free blood pressure checks and healthful refreshments will be provided. All area residents are invited to attend.

Concert and coffee

A presentation of Felix Mendelssohn's Elijah is planned for 7:30 p.m. Sunday, April 29 at Minnehaha United Methodist Church, 3701 E. 50th St., Minneapolis. Guest soloists are featured and a coffee hour will follow.

Volunteers Kettner and Co. cure Holy Spirit kids' reading problems

by Sister Mary Virginia Micka, CSJ

In the scramble of early morning book bags, rubber boots and quick hugs, Dottie Kettner stands out first of all by virtue of her red sweater. It flashes like a buoy in the blue current as, with children milling around her, she moves about getting ready for the day.

She's in her office — a little stretch of corridor outside the third grade classroom where a small desk, a low shelf of books, and a wall full of drawings mark the center of the third grade independent reading program at Holy Spirit School, 1406 Randolph Ave.

Dottie, herself, is the mother of three children, the youngest of whom now moves on past her mother and up the stairs to the sixth grade.

Dottie came to Holy Spirit four years ago as a volunteer to work "anywhere." "I wanted to do something, but I couldn't even type," she said.

She did some filing in the principal's office for a while; then one day, in response to a cry for help from Sister Mary Bernadette, the principal sent her down to the third grade to help with children who had reading problems.

"I wasn't sure quite what to do," Dottie said, "but I figured I could at least listen." She agreed to give it a try.

That was the beginning of what is today a highly successful independent reading aide program serving grades 3-5 at the school and involving some 15 volunteer mothers, all of whom Dottie has "trained" to help as she does. "I don't train them to teach, but to help teachers,"

Working on reading comprehension, Dottie Kettner delineates the details of a picture for one of her third grade charges.

she insists. "That's why my office is outside the classroom. We're in a delicate position: we don't want to take over. We're not even teachers' aides. We just help. Anyone can do it."

Following the suggestions of the Scholastic Books Independent Reading Program, the volunteer mothers help each child choose and read, then log their growth in vocabulary, reading speed and comprehension of books suited to their individual reading levels. A one-to-one conference and some special projects follow.

"They write to museums, build miniature scenes of the story, draw these pictures, someone made a Braille alphabet out of dot-candy — they do all these things," said Dottie as her arm made a broad sweep of her little acre.

The aim, of course, is to discover and remedy children's reading problems as early as possible and to let them move ahead as soon as they are ready. The books available for independent reading on the third grade shelves, for instance, represent reading levels from second through fifth grade.

"We try to make reading fun," she said. "But for some of these children it just isn't — sometimes because their lives aren't much fun. Even in these little hearts I've found deep hurt and loneliness, and that shows in their reading as much as poor eyes or hearing do. They need so much encouragement. They have to know you believe in them and that you really want them to do it. I hand out lots of little rewards."

Whatever she does, it is working well. A salesman from Scholastic Books who happened by the school one morning when Dottie and one of her charges were sounding out a couple of jawbreaking words, was so impressed by her use of the program that he asked this untrained volunteer who couldn't even type to conduct a couple of workshops in the hope of attracting other volunteer reading groups in the Twin Cities to the Scholastic program.

The children must like it, too. At least they're reading. This year, from September to January, the third grade alone went through 375 books — an average of 15 books per child.

"Their little faces light up when I come to the door to call one of them out," Dottie said. "We get to know each other pretty well. Yesterday, Peter was sitting here giving me a very vague summary of his book. 'Come on now, Pete,' I said, 'you're trying to snow me.' 'Yeah,' he said, 'but it isn't working, is it?'"

And the principal at Holy Spirit, Sister Gerrie Lane, and the fourth and fifth grade teachers who follow this independent reading program — what do they have to say about Dottie and her crew of volunteer reading aide mothers?

"We'd go under without them!" is their unanimous acclamation.

Sign-ups start for summer program at Merriam Park

Registration for all summer recreational programs at Merriam Park Community Center will begin the evening of Monday, May 7 at the center, 2000 St. Anthony Ave., and continue until the classes begin or are filled to capacity.

Some 50 programs are scheduled for summer, including T-ball, filmmaking, dance, Twin City tours, baseball, softball, Cultural Cooking, silk screening, Superkids (for preschoolers and kindergartners), Kid-die Corps (for first and second-graders), adult volleyball and adult co-ed intramural softball.

A summer brochure with full course listings was mailed to area homes earlier this month. If you were missed and would like more information, call the center at 645-0349.

JYA plans a few spring things to do

Two special events have been planned by the Jewish Young Adults (singles age 18-32) in the next few weeks. A champagne brunch will be served in the adult lounge of the St. Paul Jewish Community Center from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, April 29. Free racquetball lessons from Rich Danov, JCC assistant physical education director, will also be conducted during that time.

Cost is $2.00 per person and reservations should be made by calling the JCC at 698-0751.

A Health Club Nite is on tap beginning at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 12 at the St. Paul JCC. Swimming, racquetball, volleyball and refreshments are also part of the evening. Cost is $2.00 and reservations should be made with the Center.

Masonic rummage

A rummage sale sponsored by the Masonic Women will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Saturday, April 28 at the Macalester Masonic Lodge, James Ave. and Edgcombe Road. Clothing, jewelry, plants, books and bric-a-brac will be the fare of the fair.
