RARE VOLUME DISCOVERED IN COLLECTIONS FOR GOODWILL INDUSTRIES BOOK FAIR

The collection of books in preparation for the St. Paul Goodwill Industries Spring-Book Fair at Apache Plaza March 27, 28 and 29 has turned up a rare find.

Mrs. E. E. Reisdorf, St. Paul, President of the Auxiliary To St. Paul Goodwill Industries, spotted the old, leather-bound book when it was brought in by an employee, and recognized it as something of unusual value.

Though the book was written in Latin, she concluded that the volume was one of a series of commentaries on the Bible. Mrs. Reisdorf discovered that there were three other volumes: but only one had a title-page, dated 1669 in Roman numerals.

Wondering if it was really that old and, if it was, if it was of any value to a collector, Mrs. Reisdorf wrote to the American Bible Society and Foyles of London, a rare book agency.

An attempt was made to translate the Latin title-page to English. Two words that were decidedly not Latin bore investigation, for it was believed that these two words might be the key to the mystery.

The two words—Matthaei Poli—were discovered to be the name of the author of the books, Matthew Pole (or Poole, as he is more commonly known), a rebellious Presbyterian minister of the 17th century. The volumes discovered at St. Paul Goodwill Industries were an incomplete set of Poole's life work, "Synopsis of the Critical Labours of Biblical Commentators." The books are valued highly because only 4,000 first edition sets of the five-volume work were published in 1669. According to The New Schaff-Herzog Religious Encyclopedia, the "Synopsis," which took ten years to write, "... will maintain its value forever... Few names will stand as high as Poole's in the Biblical scholarship of Great Britain."

The mystery of the leather-bound volumes was solved—or was it? Like all mysteries, it leaves an even greater mystery in its wake: How did St. Paul Goodwill Industries get these books in the first place?

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS—50 YEARS

"Arise women voters of East and West, of North and South, in this your first union together: strong of faith, fearless of spirit. . ." called Carrie Chapman Catt in her address to the 50th anniversary of the National American Suffrage association on March 24, 1919.

Another fifty years later, March 24, 1969, the League of Women Voters of Minnesota joins with Leagues across the nation in celebrating the beginning of women's right to vote, and celebrating the organizing of the League of Women Voters. March 24 was chosen as the kickoff day in Minnesota because it was fifty years ago on this day that the Minnesota Legislature granted women in this state the vote for presidential electors. The goal of the colorful yellow jonquil suffragettes was reached.

Governor Harold LeVander will be proclaiming the week of March 24 as 1969 League of Women Voters week in Minnesota. Resolutions commemorating the 50th anniversary are planned in both houses of the legislature.

Celebrating its golden anniversary, the League is planning a full day of special events March 24. Legislators and constitutional officers are invited to have coffee with the League from 9:30 to 11 a.m. in the capitol rotunda. Each legislator will receive a gold flower for his lapel. Leaguers and friends from all over Minnesota will be greeting their elected officials at this event.

Former ambassador Eugenie Anderson will join Governor LeVander, Economist Walter Heller and James Hetland, director of the Metropolitan Council, to highlight the luncheon program at the St. Paul Athletic Club. They are four of the national 50th Anniversary Sponsors committee of the League. The luncheon will be from 12 to 2 p.m. in the fifth floor lounge of the Athletic Club, preceded by a social hour in the Emerald Room at 11:30 a.m.

The Governor's Residence, 1006 Summit Ave., is the site of a reception given by Mrs. LeVander to honor the 50th anniversary of the League of Women Voters and of granting women the vote for presidential electors in Minnesota. Five invitations have been sent to each local League in the state by Mrs. LeVander's staff. Space limitations allow only 350 to attend. Representatives of the outstate Leagues will be received from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Twin City area guests will come from 3:30 to 4:30. Those attending will be representatives of the 5,800 members of the League of Women Voters in Minnesota.

The focus of the celebration March 24 will be to say thank you to friends of the League for past support, and to ask for continued interest and support.

Resort, Summer Camp Workers Sought

The Minnesota State Employment Service has opened its annual campaign to recruit approximately 1,500 people to staff the state's resorts and summer camps for the upcoming season.

George J. Vavoulis, Commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Employment Security, said approximately 500 requests already have been received for counselors, housekeepers and maintenance personnel.

Young people 19 years of age or older with two years of college and camping or other recreational experience are being sought as camp counselors, Vavoulis said. Also in demand are people with Red Cross Life Saving certificates or Water Safety Instruction certificates.

There will be openings for nurses, dieticians, and office workers as well as for cooks and kitchen help, groundskeepers and maintenance men, waitresses and cabin girls, dock boys and lifeguards, boatmen and guides and laundry workers, Vavoulis said.

In addition to camp counselors, instructors are needed for such things as swimming, riding, sailing, nature craft, arts and crafts, canoeing, music, athletics, gun handling and other camp-related skills and activities.

Persons interested in summer work should apply early because most of the jobs will be filled during the next few months.

Applications are being taken at the State Employment Service, 369 Cedar St., St. Paul.

Hair Magic

IT'S AN INSTANT AGE

With instant everything else, it should not surprise anyone to have arrived at instant hair fashions. We do it with hair-ad-ons, prestyled with your special needs in mind. Most smart women find a whole hair wardrobe is an excellent investment. We're familiar with wigs and hair ad-ons. We like it and we sell it, and it's fun to design all around it. However, past experience has brought us in contact with women who are unhappy with their present wardrobe of wig accessories. In many instances they need restyling, reshaping, and even recoloring. They have been tossed aside into a nearby closet as an undesirable. Bring your wig accessories in to us now while the season is yet early. You will proudly walk out of our salon with your own ad-on changed to the latest in fashion, style, and color.

A SINGLE MISTAKE IS SELDOM FATAL

If you've messed up your hair, by doing it yourself or by allowing an untrained person to do it, please don't be embarrassed about coming to us to have it fixed up. We promise not to behave self-righteously and look down our noses or be otherwise unpleasant. It's your hair, and manufacturers do make it sound so easy in their ads that we don't blame you for trying their suggestions. Our patrons know that when they're ready to come back to us we'll kill the fatted calf and treat them like prodigal daughters. If you're an old patron who hasn't been in lately we hope it's not that kind of thing that's keeping you away. Stop in and say "hello" once-in-awhile. We miss you.

WE HAVE A BEAUTIFUL MODERN SALON AND BUDGET PRICES

We believe in keeping everything about our salon updated, but we'd be the last to suggest that our sophisticated equipment can take the place of the artistry and seasoned judgment of our staff.

PERMANENTS AND MANICURES

Easter is almost here. With each permanent wave you may still receive a free manicure. Make it on Tuesday or Wednesday if at all possible.

HEARD UNDER THE DRYER

Ron Bacigalupo's COLUMN

HUMOR POLITICS OPINIONS

(In the absence of Ron Bacigalupo's column in this issue of the Villager, the following letters to the editor regarding the MAC proposal for a second airport are included.)

Dear Sir:

I said it before and I will say it again, the Legislature ought to put a stop to the chicanery being carried on by the Metropolitan Airports Commission. Public hearings to date have been a farce, testimony against the Ham Lake Site is being disregarded and the only testimony that the MAC wants to listen to is that of their hired consultants.

MAC! What about the testimony of the airlines, the air traffic controllers, the conservation department, air pollution experts, meteorologists, ecologists and last but not least the affected citizens.

Public testimony is of no avail, be it from an emotionally involved citizen crying out against injustice, or be it from professional bystanders, experts in their field, who condemn the MAC proposal.

If the opposition to MAC had the funds available to make studies, certainly they too could hire experts to condemn the airport proposal as MAC has done to praise its proposal. "Hired" expert testimony should not carry the weight that the professionals carry who are experts in their field and who have opposed this monstrosity.

The public stands back in amazement and in awe at what little they have to say in their government. This arrogant display of injustice is vivid proof of the usurpation of power by the few and is the reason we see our law and order crumbling from within throughout our country.

The Legislature has a mandate to act now!

Sincerely,

Cecil R. Bolin, 863 Albemarle St.

Dear Sir:

We have another example of superb reasoning power by the Metropolitan Airports Commission. Mayor Byrne uses the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization statement that south of the twin cities would be the worst site for an airport. The MAC's argument that north of the twin cities is the place for an airport, but Mayor Byrne apparently will close his eyes to PATCO's testimony, or statement, that the Ham Lake site is a nightmare. PATCO's objections to the south is based on conflict of air space, air routes east and west across Minnesota, holding patterns for O'Hare, etc. Route structure and holding patterns can easily be changed by comparison to other factors.

The MAC commissioners should not listen only to arguments that they want to listen to, but should also listen to pertinent arguments that adversely affects their position. This abuse of public testimony is another example of why the MAC should have its pins knocked from under them.

Sincerely,

Cecil R. Bolin, 863 Albemarle St.

Dear Sir:

The performance to date by the staff of the Metropolitan Airports Commission and by the commissioners themselves presents dramatic evidence that there is something to be desired in the present system of things in the metropolitan area among those who are supposed to be planning for the future.

The MAC started out seeking an airport site based on antiquated criteria and then proceeded to lay out runways that crisscrossed each other at ninety degree angles. The airport site of 15,000 acres leaves vast patches of unused land between crisscrossed each other at ninety degree angles. The airport site of airport concept would be limited to runways in one direction at any given time with resulting noise contours extending from the runways for ten miles.

How much more wisely was the route taken by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization. These people, who are very cognizant of airport landing problems and noise problems around airports, first developed a plan for an airport with a capacity that far exceeds the capacity of the plan that the MAC has proposed for Ham Lake and whose noise contours are greatly reduced by reason of the fact that their plan does not limit runway usage in one direction only.

PATCO having once achieved a design sorely needed in this day and age, proceeded to find a site suitable for such an airport. Thus, the Air Traffic Controllers demonstrate to the MAC a procedure that should be followed in establishing an airport. If the MAC were to do the job right, they should quit putting the cart before the horse and establish an airport for aviation.

The MAC could prove their greatness by admitting to their mistake, or to their smallness by blindly living with their mistake.

Respectfully,

J. N. Bohnen

CENTENNIAL SHOWBOAT TO TRAVEL DOWNSTREAM

The University of Minnesota's Centennial Showboat will travel down the Mississippi River again this summer, after docking only in the Twin Cities last season.

Dockings are scheduled at Stillwater, Red Wing and Winona in addition to Minneapolis and St. Paul.

The 1969 Showboat season opens May 24 and ends Aug. 30. Plays to be presented this season are Aristophanes' "The Birds" and Sheridan's "The School for Scandal."

Dates and times of performances in the five river towns will be announced at a later date. Mail orders for tickets will be accepted only after May 1. Over-the-counter sales at the University Theatre's Scott hall ticket office and at Dayton's begin May 15.

This is the Showboat's 12th season on the Mississippi. In 1958 the sternwheeler General John Newton was purchased from the U.S. government and remodeled to include a 210-seat theatre with a Victorian decor.

Youngsters stand to gain most from heart-helping diets. The earlier in life that correct dietary habits are formed, the better the chance of reducing the risk of heart disease, says Minnesota Heart Association.
