HEAD'S A POPPIN' is the theme of a style show at St. Therese Guild this week. The heads shown are hand painted wig forms with faces and will be used for centerpieces. Amy Kenefick, 1992 Norfolk and her mommy, Mrs. Emmett Kenefick are decoration's co-chairmen. (We think Amy's lost in that stack, but if you look closely, she's the one with the white dress on.) Fashions will be from Feldman's.

God bless you.

Sincerely yours,

What's in your future?

Life. You have it now, and you always will. Because God is your Life.

Christ Jesus proved this. He proved the continuity of life. He said, "This is life eternal that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

You can learn the meaning of this promise and how it can help you today by reading this week's Bible Lesson in our study room.

Hair Magic

THE BIG HAPPENING IN WIGS

STELLA'S BEAUTY SALON has long been the headquarters of 100% human hair Wigs, Wiglets, Falls and other hairpieces since they first became available. Now, at STELLA'S BEAUTY SALON, you may also buy synthetic wigs and hair pieces at low prices.

Today a woman is buying a synthetic wig and other hairpieces for insurance, for the time she is away from her hairdresser and at low prices averaging from $25.00 to $30.00. Many women have four and five of these hair pieces. Some have the curly hair natural look. Others prefer the more straight look. All look natural and comfortable. All come in many shades including salt and pepper and frosted.

Synthetics are popular now because of the short tapered back which looks just right. The ease of handling is a big factor — pre-styled wash and wear. For those patrons who prefer to have them professionally washed, cleaned, and styled we service all hair pieces at low prices .

Recently while shopping in a Highland Village shop, I spotted a "must-have" item — one of those things you just can't leave in the store. "Why not splurge? Spoil yourself a little," I said. "Get that purse." After all, I rationalized, it's a good purse, even a fancy purse, and now and then it makes a gal feel good to spend $30 on herself. Ah — and won't all the compliments be nice? But, after using it for a few weeks, the thought occurred to me that I rarely carry $30 cash in my purse.

Welcome to the packaging generation. The container is worth more than the ingredients! But wait, how important to me are those things in my package? I decided to reveal what's in my purse, and I'll let you decide whether, in fact, a woman's purse, like a good book, cannot be judged by its cover!

This purse is one of those fancy decorated boxes. It looks something like a pirate's chest, but with a flat top. As I lift the lid, my "treasures" are revealed.

First, there is a gum wrapper and two sticks of gum resting precariously on the edge of my checkbook. Looking closer, we find that I've run out of checks. (Perhaps, that's for the best. It's too easy to fall in love with "must-have" items in Highland!)

Hey! Here's the earring I've been missing for weeks. Stuck inside the inside of the checkbook!

As I pile up the "ingredients" on the table around my purse, I bring out the necessary items that get every woman through the day or evening: a toothpick, two tubes of lipstick, an empty can of hairspray, three felt tip pens (all the same color), an old, wrinkled kleenex, binaca, and two tubes of chapstick.

Off to the side in the small pocket, I keep three credit cards . . . two for gasoline . . . and the other for — what else? — Daytons! If you've been estimating monetary values of the "ingredients" up to now, STOP! What I owe Daytons wipes out the value of everything else and puts me in the hole! Next there's my driver's license . . . two expired press cards . . . two dry cleaning tickets and one shoe repair ticket from last May . . . two free carwash tickets and a 1968 calendar from my insurance company.

Now, taking out a few more items, we find . . . three letters from Donna, nail polish, handlotion. Ah — finally here is the bottom! Scattered about, I find: a wig chin strap, two combs (one metal, one nylon), a bic ballpoint pen, another earring, 17 pennies, a quarter, a full book of matches (I never use them because I never smoke), and — last, but not least, over in one corner I find my keychain for which I am continuously digging.

With all the ingredients of my package laid on the table, let's see what can be tossed.

The old gum wrapper and cleaning and shoe tickets go first. Then — let's see — the 1968 calendar really isn't very useful nor is the empty can of hairspray. And the old kleenex. Well, no, it's crumpled, but maybe I'll need it sometime. I should keep those letters too, or I'll never remember to write her . . . one of the chapsticks can go (it's empty). But really, except for brushing out the lining, there's not much more to toss. After all — aren't all these things utilitarian? I mean, I use everything every once in a while!

But — you be the judge. Now that you know what's in my purse, you decide what's worth keeping. I could sure use the help. My other purses just aren't big enough for all these things!

Recently an "Indoctrination Tea" for the thirty incoming freshmen from St. Paul and its suburbs was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Martin, 726 Lincoln Ave. Sr. Olga, assistant Dean of Students at the Thursday, October 9, 1969 college and Sister Adrienne conducted a question and answer session for the guests at the tea.

City of Augsburg Room To Be Dedicated

Dr. George W. Forrell, director of the School of Religion at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, will be the featured speaker at the Sun., Oct. 12, dedication of the City of Augsburg Room in the College Center of Augsburg College at 3 p.m.

The room, decorated in the old-world tradition with iron gates, wood carvings and German artifacts, is to serve as a banquet and meeting room for both campus and community groups requiring such facilities.

Dr. Forrell will speak on the "Augsburg Confession, Augustana 16" which deals with conscientious objection. The confession, basis of much Lutheran dogma, is the document from which Augsburg College takes its name.

In line with the festive Centennial spirit, the dedication is one of several week-long activities scheduled in celebration of the college's 100th anniversary.

YOU NEED A PHARMACIST ON NON-PRESCRIPTION DRUGS!

In a recent survey, it was shown that over 25% of drugs consumed were over-the-counter drugs. The heaviest consumer-customer group was the under 15 age group. The major problem with over-the-counter drugs is no control over the indiscriminate use or misuse of the drugs. Over-the-counter drugs are dangerous in many ways. A person may be allergic to the contents or he may be taking a prescription drug with the non-prescription drug and the two may be incompatible. It is the pharmacist's professional responsibility to know the ingredient of all non-prescription drugs sold in his store. Moreover, it is the responsibility of the pharmacist to know the drugs his customers are using. As a doctor must know his patient, so must a pharmacist know his customer. We know our customers.

Ron's Hoh Thing Is Modern Design

Ron's Hoh Thing "all started in November, 1966, when" he "converted a television cabinet into a showcase for" his first home bar. It housed a boa constrictor snake. The project was so successful that Ron Pauline last month opened his own home furnishing and design shop on 16th and Grand Avenue.

Since the fall of 1966 Ron has built 26 different home bars, other home furnishings, converted garages into recreation rooms, renovated kitchens, designed and remodeled basements, offices, and other rooms.

Pauline's design philosophy is simply stated: "I lay-out an area so as to camouflage it's original utilitarian identity." Thus, a conventional living room may look more like an exquisite recreation room.

Ron's Hoh Thing houses a wide variety of home furnishings and accessories . . . everything from fur pillows, sheepskin rugs, artwork, plexiglass light fixtures, to modern chairs and tables. Although several items will be import products, much of the work will be done by local talent. But no matter what the nature of the items, two key words describe the store, Ron says: wild and different.

Pauline attended Florida's A & M University where he majored in business administration. Until January, 1968, he was employed by Western Airlines. "I must attribute my present status to guts and determination," he said. In the future Ron plans to manufacture his own designs in furniture, plexi-glas cubes, and pillows. "My dream is to one day manufacture contemporary furniture on a large scale," he said.

Stadium Dwellers Hate Football

Due to the fact that our country finds it necessary to hold our economy and birth rate stable by executing our young men in the lethal game of war, our colleges are over crowded with men trying to live a few years longer. This causes a mass housing shortage. One local college suffering from growing pains is Macalester. To compensate, the Macalester housing master-minds have gone to work searching for the necessary space. They came up with a dorm that revives the old coffee houses and "beatnik" dives of 10 years ago in ideology if not in fact. The new dorm, "4-H club" (Hubert Horatio Humphrey House) as its 23 male residents refer to it, is located between the walls of the Macalester football stadium. Contrary to what you may have heard, rooms on the 50-yard-line are not more expensive.

I sought to find one of the students who is fortunate enough to live in the stadium dorm, but, it was to no avail. So I went hunting for Macalester's information services department. The M.I.S. is located in "Old Main," to which there are no entrances or exits. I eventually found the only entrance to the building and after a half hour of searching, the M.I.S. office. They have a sign posted on their door which reads, "You are trapped. There is no exit from this office."

I asked their all-knowledgable head man about the stadium dorm. Then he asked me, "What dorm?" I spent roughly an hour explaining what I knew about that dorm to him and he immediately sent out a news release. We both joined the others in a mass prayer meeting for someone to help us get out of "Old Main." . . . From what I've heard, the men in the stadium have well styled rooms; each has a balcony with a tremendous view of the popcorn concession. The school, in order to compensate for the outdoor facilities, has installed close-circuit TV which plays video taped highlights of the past 16 seasons of Captain Kangaroo. . . .

Will the Real George Rice Please Rise?

Just a short thought on TV editorialists . . . Since WCCO changed its format in news presentation over to the "Scenes," all the other stations have had to change formats or drop considerably in the ratings. I am not critical of the change, nor am I praising WCCO, but one thing disturbs me. Now that every station has their George Rice, everybody's commentary is slightly cheapened. For years Bob Ryan has been an excellent TV newsman, but now he must change his role to be the mouthpiece of KSTP. And what of the women who's acid tongue speaks out on KMSP. Well, George Rice still is number one and will be as long as he's around. The rest of them can follow from a distance by watching the glow of his shiny head . . .

Dubious Deeds Award

Not to plagerize Rowan and Martin's Laugh In, but I would like to give my own version of the "Flying Fickle Finger of Fate" award. I call mine the "Dubious Deeds" award. It goes to the St. Paul Police Department and to St. Paul's Public Safety Commissioner, for action above and beyond the call of duty. You all will recall the news story about the deceased young boy's father who was taken into custody (allegedly) at his son's funeral. Mr. Carlson's response was what lead me to give them the award. He said that the two officers involved were a little "zealous" in their assignment. Everybody knows that we can't allow a criminal with three overdue parking tickets to walk the streets nor can we allow him to go to his son's funeral without a police escort. . . . This is carrying "law and order" just a little too far. . . .

High School Stadium . . .

We are very much in favor of the proposed stadium at Highland Sr. High School. The school, contrary to popular belief, is not overwhelmed with luxuries. It is, for example, the only St. Paul High School without a warming house on or near its hockey facility. It has no storage area on location for its everyday use field equipment which costs thousands of dollars annually in the depreciation of equipment. It has no lighting facility for outdoor events as many City High Schools have. It has limited spectator facilities and potentially the highest number of spectators. So much for the physical liabilities of the current Highland Park Sr. High School athletic facility. The psychological, social and economic liabilities of the stadiumless school on the Montreal and Snelling corner are even more important.

Currently, games are played at Central or Harding High School facilities, and youngsters must often venture out into the night to the heavily policed stadia where as many as six schools and student bodies converge in one day. This discourages attendance — in fact, many parents will not allow their youngsters to attend. The ensuing fisticuffs and harassment imposed on the 'rich kids from Highland' is legend.

If Highland had its own facility, its student body, parents and family would have a far more wholesome experience with the athletic program. All monies and economies of the facility would aid the all-student phy-ed program. The opposition to the stadium on the grounds that it will lower property values in the contiguous area and cause vandalism problems is either selfish, cynical or both.

Walkouts . . . Dropouts!

The day 200 students walked out of Highland Jr. High was one of the most productive classroom days in the school's history. Most of the walkouts had been suspended from school at least once in the past year. When Tom Byrne asked them to go back to school he didn't know as much about them as school officials who asked them to come back only if they brought their mummies and daddies with them!

Income Tax in City . . .

The old and the young and the poor, chief benefactors of city services, aren't going to have to pay if we get an earnings tax instead of sales tax in St. Paul. All it will do is get us more old, young and poor. DFLers can't sanction a sales tax because it is offensive to labor and other blocs of voters they rely on for machine victory in urban elections. If the city goes to an earnings tax — Highland, Groveland, Macelester and Hill District people will be paying practically the whole job. If that happens, we'd like to see a "one dollar, one vote" measure imposed to even up the dollars and the politics. (Don't hold your breath!)

TORO

Marketed by Minnesota Toro, Inc.

In the winter, when it snows, a man's best friend is his TORO SNOW PUP. This little fella throws snow up to 20 feet, cleans a 50-foot driveway in 10 minutes flat, yet weighs only 22 lbs.

SNOW PUP is no nuisance either. No chute to clog. No storage problem. (Hangs on the garage wall.) So, why not bring home a SNOW PUP and put him to work? He'll help you like a faithful friend.

In order to give you the best possible service, our facilities include a direct line to the floor of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, and two closed circuit television monitors for instant and continuous quotations.

Trading in commodities is truly exciting and offers a tremendous amount of leverage. For example, the most active futures contract today is frozen pork bellies, currently worth around $13,000. The margin requirement on this contract is $700, or 5 or 6%. In all there are seven commodities traded on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (pork bellies, live cattle, shell eggs, live hogs, potatoes, turkeys, and lumber).

If you are not familiar with commodities, or if you can't get any action out of a dead stock, stop in or call.
