BEST SEAFOOD Bob Lobster

49 Plum Island Turnpike, Newbury 978-465-7100

Bob Hartigan is a commercial lobsterman who has been hauling his pots off of the coast of Plum Island for over thirty years. For most of his earlier days, he sold his catch out of the basement of his home. Although there was no sign to mark his location and no hours were posted on the door, islanders knew where and when to find "Bob Lobster." In 2001, Bob expanded and moved the 'cellar' to its present location.

Today, Bob Lobster not only markets Bob's fresh catch but he's also serving up goldenfried seafood, award-winning lobster rolls, homemade crab cakes and chowders, ice cream, and more. There's even a modest but reasonably priced selection of fresh fish along with Bob's own take-and-bake seafood and lobster pies (some available gluten-free).

BEST BEACH Salisbury Beach Salisbury

Salisbury Beach is one of the few places between Boston and Maine that provides public access to an expansive, sandy beach. A large portion of this state owned beach is bordered on its west side by private property that contains summer homes and rental properties. Only at the southern end of the beach — at Salisbury Beach State Reservation — does the state property wind along a large area of the coast. Here the state land boundary is largely defined by water: Black Rock Creek to the west, the Merrimack River to the south, and the Atlantic Ocean to the east. Some of the amenities the park provides include a campground, a few large parking lots for day-use beach visitors, and boat launching facilities.
