YANKEE HOMECOMING 2021

Yankee Homecoming — a Newburyport tradition since 1958 — is back!

As a matter of fact, it's "Reimagined" — this year's theme for a summer celebration that will grace the city's downtown and waterfront from July 30 through Aug. 8.

While the annual event may be reimagined, Yankee Homecoming will also feature the same, familiar festivities, food and fun that have made it popular with residents and visitors for more than six decades.

After a year off due to the pandemic, many of the traditional events have returned while others remain on hold for now following the uncertainty of the times.

Olde Fashioned Sunday is back the first weekend of Yankee Homecoming along with other beloved favorites. Art on the Bartlet Mall also returns this weekend as 60 artists present their works at the corner of High and Pond streets.

There is also the Virtual High School Battle of the Bands and the Brewfest Fundraiser, to name a few, along with the tasty foods and tantalizing finds offered during the Yankee Homecoming Marketplace stretching two blocks through the downtown.

The marketplace and live entertainment downtown and on the waterfront will continue all week, including the popular Waterfront Concert Series. And that's just the beginning.

The 10-day festival will also feature the Waterfront Morning Workout Series to kick off each day in addition to heritage tours, the Market Square Day Craft Show, a Coast Guard station open house and If This House Could Talk — a self-guided walking tour that allows one to learn the fascinating stories behind many of Newburyport's historic homes.

In the true spirit of competition, the Cornhole

Tournament kicks off its first year while the Door Decorating Contest begins its second. Some of Newburyport's finest waitstaff will face off in the Waiter/Waitress Race down Liberty Street in a test of skill and speed.

Then, there's the Support Local Contest — an effort to boost the city's restaurants with brighter days on the horizon.

Along with that spirit of competition is the spirit of giving, including the annual Veterans Luncheon.

The Generations of Giving event, sponsored by Atria Senior Living, will recognize teen and senior volunteers who give their time and talent to help others.

Yankee Homecoming wraps up the following weekend with a fireworks display and parade along High Street.

EVENT SCHEDULE

The schedule of events for Yankee Homecoming is often updated and some changes may be made after publication of this listing. For the latest calendar, check www.yankeehomecoming.com.

YANKEE HOMECOMING MARKETPLACE

Sunday, Aug. 1, to Sunday, Aug. 8
Market Square

An open-air, bazaar-like marketplace beginning at 10 a.m. each day and covering two square blocks and offering a wide variety of food and finds. Two stages of continuous entertainment, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Have your fortune told, get a temporary tattoo, or marvel at the artistry, jewelry and diverse wares of the many vendors.

DOWNTOWN ENTERTAINMENT

All week. Check yankeehomecoming.com for an updated list of performances.

VIRTUAL HIGH SCHOOL BATTLE OF THE BANDS

Local high school bands have submitted videos of their performances and the winners chosen to play during Yankee Homecoming and to receive prizes of $100. The first-prize band will perform Monday, Aug. 2, as opening act at the Waterfront Concert. The winners in the Acoustic/Colo and Most Viewed Video categories will perform during the parade Sunday, Aug. 8. Check NEWBURYPORTYH-BATTLE on Instagram. For more details, go to www.yankeehomecoming.com.

Contestants carry trays of glasses of water at the start of the Waiter/Waitress Race in 2019.

DOOR DECORATING CONTEST

Combining the Yankee Homecoming theme “Reimagined” with their creativity and originality, residents decorate the door to their home and send a photo of it to doordecorating@yankeehomecoming.com or post it on social media with #yhdoorcontest2021. Photos must be submitted by Saturday, Aug. 7, and the first-, second- and third-place winners will be announced Sunday, Aug. 8. Winners receive cash prizes and gift cards to local restaurants. For more information, go to www.yankeehomecoming.com or email doordecorating@yankeehomecoming.com.

SUPPORT LOCAL CONTEST

Restaurant and retail store support have been combined into a single contest. During Yankee Homecoming week, purchase $20 or more at any restaurant or retail store in Newburyport and submit a copy of the receipt to supportlocal@yankeehomecoming.com to be entered into a drawing. At week’s end, three random winners will receive a $100 gift card of their choice to any Newburyport business. The winners will receive an email by Aug. 10. For more details, go to www.yankeehomecoming.com.

This year we are combining our restaurant and retail store support into one contest. During the week of Yankee Homecoming make a purchase ($20 or more) at any restaurant or retail store located in Newburyport and submit a copy of your receipt to be entered into our drawing.

DRIVE-IN MOVIE

In this second year of the drive-in movie series, organizers seek to show a different movie each night of Yankee Homecoming. Registration will be required in advance. For more information, including movie selection, go to yankeehomecoming.com.

Heritage tours and events

Events are all free unless otherwise indicated.

SATURDAY, JULY 31

10 a.m. — Chasing Port History. Pick up scavenger hunt packets at the Custom House Maritime Museum, the library's Archival Center or at 51 Prospect St. and then walk or bike through the beautiful neighborhoods (approximately 1.5 hours). Learn about local history, visit the Museum of Old Newbury, Custom House Maritime Museum, the Library Archival Center, Bartlet Mall, Joppa Park, and discover house histories through select If This House Could Talk posters. Return the filled-out scavenger hunt form by Aug. 7 at 4 p.m. to participate in a random drawing of prizes that include local history books.

10 a.m. to 6 p.m. — Can You Find Us — Oak Hill Cemetery, Brown and State streets. More than 30 gravesites will be labeled — ministers, benefactors, sea captains such as Francis B. Todd, who was buried in a rum barrel, artists, and the burial site of Anna Jaques, benefactor of the local hospital. Enjoy a stroll through Oak Hill Cemetery while learning about local residents from the past.

11 a.m. to 12 p.m. — "Newburyport's Clipper Heritage Trail," Volume I (published 2020) and Volume II (2022), Newburyport Public Library Program Room. Join Ghlee Woodworth for a visual tour of more than 80 images of old Newburyport. She is the creator and author of "Newburyport's Clipper Heritage Trail," a series of self-guided history tours accessed via a book, a website and smartphones: www.clipperheritagetrail.com. "The Clipper Heritage Trail" is an American Association of State and Local History Merit Award winner. Seats fill up fast.

1 to 3 p.m. — Newburyport Powder House Park and Learning Center, 57 Low St. (across from Nock/Molin schools). Visit the restored Powder House built in 1822 on Godfrey's Hill. View the exterior and interior restoration and original cobblestone wagon path. Members of the Acton Minutemen will talk about the importance of the early militias in all the towns of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and to demonstrate the use and firing of the flintlock musket, and various marching maneuvers from the Revolutionary War. The Powder House is an American Association of State and Local History Merit Award winner.

If This House Could Talk neighborhood stroll. City residents will display posters with stories about their homes. Stroll Newburyport neighborhoods and look for house stories prominently displayed. Online map: <http://map.walknewburyport.com> or see <http://www.walknewburyport.com> for details.

SUNDAY, AUG. 1

9 to 10:30 a.m. — Feathered Friends and Long Forgotten Friends, Oak Hill Cemetery, main gates, Brown and State streets. Join Sue McGrath of Newburyport Birders and local historian Ghlee

Woodworth for an outing at Oak Hill Cemetery. Many different species are attracted to the diverse habitat of Oak Hill and while learning to identify birds, see the graves of Newburyport benefactors, sea captains, early American photographers and abolitionists.

10 a.m. to 12 p.m. — Superior Courthouse open house, Bartlet Mall. Visit the 1805 courthouse, designed by Charles Bullfinch, and learn about its history and beautiful interior and exterior architecture, including the courtroom where President John Quincy Adams and Daniel Webster tried cases. Presented by Essex County Clerk of Courts Tom Driscoll and the Greater Newburyport Bar Association.

12 to 1 p.m. — Old South Church Tour, 29 Federal St., www.oldsouthnbpt.org; 978 465-9666. Meet at the Federal Street front doors. Step right in and experience the way the church used to be in the 1700s. Learn about Paul Revere's bell, see spittoons in the sanctuary, descend into the crypt and discover a forgotten Founding Father buried under the pulpit.

2 to 3:30 p.m. — Clipper Heritage Trail's Along the Water's Edge Waterfront Harbor Tour, boardwalk near Black Cow restaurant. Tickets go fast. Make reservations at www.harbertours.com. Join historian Ghlee Woodworth and marine ecologist and captain Paul Aziz aboard the Yankee Clipper and enjoy a 90-minute cruise along the Merrimack River. Step back in time and hear about shipyards, Caldwell's Rum, and a castle while cruising upriver to Amesbury. On the return leg, the Yankee Clipper travels along the shores of Joppa, the home of clambers, fishermen and hunters.

MONDAY, AUG. 2

9 to 10:30 a.m. — Feathered Friends and Long Forgotten Friends, Oak Hill Cemetery, main gates, Brown and State streets. Join Sue McGrath of Newburyport Birders and local historian Ghlee Woodworth for an outing at Oak Hill Cemetery. Many different species are attracted to the diverse habitat of Oak Hill and while learning to identify birds, see the graves of Newburyport benefactors, sea captains, early American photographers and abolitionists.

6 to 7 p.m. — Author-journalist Dyke Hendrickson will talk about the history and health of the Merrimack River in Newburyport Public Library's Program Room. It is the birthplace of the Coast Guard, the home of the first major hydro-powered mills in America, the source of a new science of clean drinking water, and the site of one of the first successful labor actions in the U.S. More than 500,000 people still get their drinking water from the Merrimack. But sometimes it is getting dirtier, not cleaner. Hendrickson will address the past and future of this resource. He is the author of a new book, "Merrimack: The Resilient River, An Illustrated Profile of the Most Historic River in New England."

TUESDAY, AUG. 3

11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. — Clipper Heritage Trail's Along the Water's Edge Waterfront Harbor Tour, boardwalk near Black Cow restaurant. Tickets go fast. Make reservations at www.harbortours.com. Join historian Ghlee Woodworth and marine ecologist and captain Paul Aziz aboard the Yankee Clipper and enjoy a 90-minute cruise along the Merrimack River. Step back in time and hear about shipyards, Caldwell's Rum, and a castle while cruising upriver to Amesbury. On the return leg, the Yankee Clipper travels along the shores of Joppa, the home of clammers, fishermen and hunters.

TUESDAY, AUG. 3, TO SATURDAY, AUG. 7

10 a.m. to 4 p.m. — The Custom House Maritime Museum: Our House is Your Home for Maritime History, 25 Water St. The museum's exhibits have a fresh, new look with new objects for education and enjoyment. Docents will be on hand See the Fresnel Lens adorning the entrance before it returns to its original home at Pomham Rocks Lighthouse in Riverside, Rhode Island, on Sept. 1. Pick up Chasing Port History scavenger hunt packets to learn more about Newburyport history. For more information, visit www.thechmm.org or call 978-462-8681.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 4

6 to 7 p.m. — A Newburyport Travelogue,

Newburyport Public Library's Program Room. Newburyport has a rich and storied history that connects it to places spanning the globe. Yankee Homecoming's history

In 1958, the first year of Newburyport's weeklong summer celebration, Yankee Homecoming, most of the city's factories and mills had closed, as well as downtown businesses, due to the economic climate.

Storefronts were left empty, and the federal initiative of "urban renewal" loomed large and threatened to demolish the bones of many communities.

In the meantime, New England artist Jack Frost had launched a crusade to revive appreciation for the heritage and beauty of New England by bringing back natives and visitors to the region's towns and cities.

His idea was to hold homecoming celebrations that would "share with others the many historical landmarks still standing."

"It seemed that children and adults should be invited to see where history was made," Frost wrote in the volume he published to promote this goal, "Yankee Homecoming 1958. The National Pilgrimage Back East Where It All Began."

By chance, Frost and Joe Mathers, then manager of the Newburyport radio station WNBW, met on Cape Cod and Frost shared his idea with him.

Frost later met with George Cashman, who along with Joe Mathers was inspired by Frost's vision to approach Newburyport's business community members and city officials with the concept of a first Yankee Homecoming.

Newburyport, the last community to join, was accompanied by 29 other New England communities that held their own celebrations.

George Cashman became the first Yankee Homecoming chairman.

Understanding the national significance of the beginnings of the U.S. Coast Guard in Newburyport, George Cashman chose Aug. 4, the birthday of the Coast Guard to be the basis of celebration. Every year since 1958, Yankee Homecoming has recognized the Coast Guard for its contributions to our community.

Over the years, Yankee Homecoming has grown to highlight more and more creative initiatives that have been welcomed by the event organizers, residents and visitors.

Today, these include longtime annual events that showcase road races, the much-anticipated Olde Fashioned Sunday, Waterfront Concerts on the Merrimack River, Family Day at Maudslay State Park, Market Square entertainment, and craft and artisan fairs.

The eight-day event wraps up with a spectacular fireworks display and grand parade past the historic houses of High Street. Events celebrating Newburyport's history have grown to include explorations of the city's Civil War history, church tours reflecting its connections to New England's religious history, and guided walks of the old burying grounds as well as many tours of historic homes and buildings.

That first year, Newburyport was joined by dozens of communities throughout New England in providing a "Yankee Homecoming Celebration."

Today, Newburyport is the only community that continues the tradition, in itself a demonstration of the phenomenal volunteer effort both on the part of individuals and businesses that goes into organizing the event.
