Feminist television

AMC's biting satire 'Dietland' tackles big issues

By Kyla Brewer
TV Media

A revolution is brewing — a television revolution, that is. While there's no shortage of lighthearted fare in prime time, socially conscious TV shows have been trending as of late, and AMC's latest hit packs a powerful punch with its feminist slant.

Joy Nash ("Twin Peaks: The Return") stars as Plum Kettle, an overweight magazine writer who gets caught between two rival feminist factions in the 10-episode series "Dietland," airing Monday, July 2, on AMC. Based on the bestselling, critically acclaimed book of the same name by Sarai Walker, the show was brought to television by Marti Noxon ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer").

"Dietland" is equal parts drama and comedy as it critiques the beauty industry and society in general for its obsession with weight and the near-impossible ideals imposed upon women. As Plum prepares for the surgery that will give her the so-called "perfect" body, she's torn between old ideas and new extremes when she's approached by an underground organization determined to challenge the status quo. She also learns of a group of feminists bent on getting revenge against sexual predators.

The role requires an actress capable of being both conflicted and funny, and producers put their faith in Nash from the get-go. When it was announced that the actress had taken the lead in the new series way back in August 2017, creator Noxon spoke highly of their new star.

"Joy is everything I hoped we'd find in our leading woman — beautiful, smart and blazing with talent," Noxon said. "When she auditioned, the whole room was electrified."

Nash is in good company. Producers were equally excited to announce the casting of Julianna Margulies of "ER" and "The Good Wife," who plays Plum's boss at Austen Media, magazine editor Kitty Montgomery. Wickedly ambitious, Kitty is sucked into a terrifying news cycle when a feminist organization begins to target those around her.

"Julianna is diabolically talented and beautiful, which makes her perfect to play our Kitty," Noxon said. "I am genuinely honored to have the opportunity to work with her. She's a special human and a rare actor."

The cast also includes Tamara Tunie ("Law & Order: Special Victims Unit") as Julia Smith, an Austen Media employee who manages the beauty closet where they store all manner of makeup, lotions and fad-worthy products. However, Plum learns Julie has a hidden agenda as an operative for an underground feminist organization that wants to undermine the messages of Austen Media's beauty magazines and those like them.

On the flipside is Robin Weigert ("Deadwood") as Verena Baptist, the fierce leader of a feminist collective who brings women into a place dubbed Calliope House, a place of acceptance. She hopes to deprogram Plum so she can reject beauty industry thinking and accept herself for who she is now, not who she thinks she should be.

Erin Darke ("Good Girls Revolt") plays Leeta Albridge, who shakes up Plum's world when she tries to recruit her for Baptist, claiming that the leader will change her life. Baptist's other followers include former sitcom star Marlowe Buchannan (Alan-na Ubach, "Girlfriends' Guide to Divorce"), who lost her job when she gained a few extra pounds, and Sana (Ami Sheth, "Blindspot"), a disfigured artist who becomes a model of self-acceptance for Plum. Calliope House is also home to Rubi (Jen Ponton, "30 Rock"), a colorful, exuberant and very opinionated woman.

Plum's love interest in the series is NYPD Det. Dominic O'Shea (Adam Rothenberg, "Ripper Street"), who becomes attracted to Plum while investigating a hack at Austen Media. Dominic pals around with fellow cop and former partner, Bobby (Marc Blucas, "Underground").

British actress Rowena King ("Of Kings and Prophets") portrays no-nonsense newscaster Cheryl Crane-Murphy, who struggles to remain calm as she delivers macabre news sparked by the actions of a feminist terrorist group known only as Jennifer. Austen Media titan Stanley Austen (Campbell Scott, "Royal Pains") has been targeted by the anonymous feminist terrorists. Meanwhile, his wife, Abra (Kelly Hu, "The Scorpion King," 2002), has grown resentful of being regarded as merely Stanley's "trophy wife."

Behind the scenes, Noxon serves as executive producer, writer and showrunner. She also directs several episodes, exploring issues such as patriarchy, misogyny and rape culture in addition to critiquing unrealistic beauty standards.

Filmed in New York City, the series tackles important issues and is likely to spark heated conversations among viewers. In fact, AMC is counting on it. The network has paired the series with an aftershow in the vein of "Talking Dead," the companion series to its mega-hit "The Walking Dead." "Unapologetic With Aisha Tyler" airs immediately after each episode of "Dietland" as Tyler ("Whose Line Is It Anyway?") and her guests talk about the show and the issues it explores. While shows such as "Talking Dead" focus primarily on its companion series, "Unapologetic" digs deeper as Tyler leads discussions about broader "female-centric" issues beyond the themes touched on in "Dietland." The talk show features a mix of series stars and producers, celebrity fans, journalists, comedians, writers and others.

All in all, "Dietland" has been causing quite a stir in the television industry as Hollywood continues to move forward with the Me Too movement against sexual harassment and assault. Follow a beaten and distraught Plum as she takes cover in Calliope House, where she tries to come to terms with who she really is in a new episode of "Dietland," airing Monday, July 2, on AMC, and stick around to check out "Unapologetic With Aisha Tyler."

Blockers

Three high school seniors — Julie (Newton), Kayla (Viswanathan) and Sam (Adlon) — make a pact that on the day of their prom, they'll each lose their virginity before the end of the night. Before the prom, their parents, including Julie's mother, Lisa (Mann), Kayla's overprotective father, Mitchell (Cena), and Sam's absent dad, Hunter (Barinholtz), throw them a party, but when the girls leave an open laptop behind, the secret is spilled to their parents. All three parents become determined to stop their daughters from making a huge mistake and set out to block their "first times" by any means necessary, learning a lot about themselves and their own hang-ups and relationships with their daughters along the way.

Director: Kay Cannon. Stars: Leslie Mann, John Cena, Ike Barinholtz, Kathryn Newton, Geraldine Viswanathan, Gideon Adlon. 2018. 102 min. Comedy.

Beirut

A decade after his wife was killed in Beirut, Lebanon, Mason Skiles (Hamm), a former diplomat, is forced to confront his demons when he returns to the city to negotiate the release of a kidnapped CIA agent with whom he was once friends. He is shocked to discover that the leader of the kidnappers is Karim (Chender), whom he had cared for as a child when he lived in the city. Karim demands the release of his brother, whom he claims the Americans have in custody, but with the local American agents denying that they have him, Skiles is forced to chase leads to his whereabouts before time runs out.

Director: Brad Anderson. Stars: Jon Hamm, Rosamund Pike, Dean Norris, Idris Chender, Mark Pellegrino. 2018. 109 min. Drama.

7 Days in Entebbe

In 1976, two terrorists hijack a plane en route from Tel Aviv to Paris and divert it and its passengers to Entebbe airport in Uganda. With the passengers and crew as hostages, the hijackers fortify themselves in the airport and demand a ransom and the release of prisoners, but when efforts at diplomacy with the terrorists fail, the Israeli military launches a high-risk rescue operation. Based on true events.

Director: José Padilha. Stars: Rosamund Pike, Daniel Brühl, Eddie Marsan, Juan Pablo Raba. 2018. 107 min. Crime.

Farm life

Celebrated lifestyle blogger Molly Yeh embraces country living

By Andrew Warren
 TV Media

There are some big differences between country life and city life, that's for sure, and those differences are most obvious to the folks who've lived in both places. Bestselling cookbook author and food blogger Molly Yeh has discovered something that country folk and city folk have in common, though: a love of good food. The acclaimed writer's new show, "Girl Meets Farm," premiered last week on Food Network and has new episodes airing Sundays. A transplant from the big city suburbs to a quiet life on the Minnesota-North Dakota border, Yeh has fallen in love with the quieter, slower-paced lifestyle, and she's invited

TV viewers into her farmhouse to join her as she prepares a range of delicious dishes inspired by her Jewish and Chinese heritage blended with the flavors of the Midwest. In this week's episode, airing Sunday, July 1, the host puts her own fresh spin on a traditional lunch on the farm. With big meals for breakfast and dinner, lunch is light and designed to be eaten in a hurry. She shares her recipe for a quick and easy challah bread, which she serves alongside an equally simple chopped salad with crumbled feta and her own delicious and creamy homemade hummus. In next Sunday's episode, the host treats her friends to brunch the morning after a fun night out in the city. Mini quiches are on the menu, made with bacon and peas, and she prepares a dark chocolate scone loaf with marzipan to satisfy her sweet tooth. It's an eclectic mix of flavors, but that comes from the many culinary influences in Yeh's life. She grew up in Chicago's suburbs with a Jewish mother and Chinese father, spent several years living in New York City and finally settled in the upper Midwest with her husband. Her cookbook, "Molly on the Range," is an award-winning bestseller, while her lifestyle blogging site "my name is yeh" has been recognized and awarded by the New York Times, New York Magazine, Yahoo, Saveur and Food & Wine. She was even on Forbes' "30 Under 30" list in 2017. "Girl Meets Farm" currently airs Sundays on Food Network.

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: Is there going to be a “Golden Girls” reunion/reboot? It seems pretty ripe — at least as ripe as “Roseanne.”

A: You certainly have a point. “The Golden Girls” remains a well-loved sitcom that’s remained in the public consciousness thanks to the younger generation’s embrace of Betty White, and thus seems like a perfect candidate for a return, a la “Roseanne,” which was (in)famously rebooted last year.

However, “The Golden Girls” has a pretty sad reality to get past: White is the only one of the “Girls” who’s still alive.

Bea Arthur (who played Dorothy in the 1985-1992 series) died in 2009, a year after Estelle Getty (Sophia) and a year before Rue McClanahan (Blanche).

White, who was in fact the oldest of the four stars, is the last one standing.

Of course, this doesn’t preclude a reboot with new stars. Here’s my pitch: a reboot of the show with younger actors and White playing the cantankerous Sophia character.

White’s still working, so that part wouldn’t necessarily be a problem. She most recently appeared in an episode of the odd-ball comedy talk show “Fireside Chat With Esther” in January, but was working full time up to 2015 on her last series, “Hot in Cleveland.”

Q: Is Mindy Kaling getting another TV show soon? I miss her.

A: Wishing another series on Mindy Kaling would be more like a curse right now. When would she find the time to do it?

The former star, head writer and producer of “The Mindy Project,” which wrapped last year after six seasons, is pretty busy these days, despite no longer having a starring TV role.

For example, she actually has two TV shows on the go right now, just not (yet) as the star.

She wrote, produced and occasionally guest-starred in “Champions,” a sitcom that debuted earlier this year on NBC. And just last month, Hulu (the web streaming channel that picked up “The Mindy Project” after Fox dropped it) announced it would produce Kaling’s proposed TV version of “Four Weddings and a Funeral,” the big-screen hit romantic comedy from 1994.

There’s been no official word on whether she’ll star in that series or just write or produce it, but it’s already pretty well stuffed with producers — Tim Bevan and Eric Fellner, who co-produced the original film, will produce the series as well.

Kaling also just did that little movie “Ocean’s 8.” And by “little,” of course I mean one of the most anticipated films of this year. She co-starred in the female-led reboot of the “Ocean’s” franchise made famous first by Frank Sinatra and the Rat Pack, and more recently by George Clooney and friends.

Indeed, she’s been devoting a lot of her precious time to films lately. She also appeared in the Disney production of the classic children’s book “A Wrinkle in Time” earlier this year — opposite Oprah Winfrey, no less.
