The art of 'Deception'

Magician solves crime in new ABC drama

By Kyla Brewer

TV Media

ike a magician cooking up a potion, concocting a hit television show requires the perfect brew of drama, intrigue and mystery. Adding a dash of excitement, a charismatic star and just a hint of romance can create TV magic, and one promising new series seems to have it all.

Jack Cutmore-Scott ("Cooper Barrett's Guide to Surviving Life") stars as magician Cameron Black, who works for the FBI after his magic career is ruined by scandal, in "Deception," premiering Sunday, March 11, on ABC. While his 15 minutes of fame may be over, Black's skills are uniquely suited to help the government catch elusive criminals as he uses his knowledge of illusion to confound, influence and deceive others.

The premise may seem farfetched, but creator and producer Chris Fedak ("Chuck") explained the logic behind it during a Q&A panel at 2017's New York Comic Con.

"So many of the theories of magic also play into criminality," Fedak said. "If you're going to rob a bank, if you're going to steal things, you are using that same skill set to trick people and deceive people. Cameron brings his own perspective to many of the cases and the crimes that we're going to come across."

Fedak and his cohorts have recruited some top talent to make sure the tricks and illusions in "Deception" ring true. Famed illusionist and crossword expert David Kwong has signed on to co-produce and also serves as a consultant on the series with fellow magician Frances Menotti. Kwong, Menotti and other magic experts have worked extensively with Cutmore-Scott to show him the ropes so he'll look convincing. The magicians also design the complex illusions in the show, which, according to Fedak, are as true to life as possible.

"When we look at each one of our stories, we want to do as much magic that's real that we can," Fedak explained. "The other thing we want to do is [ensure] everything that happens inside the story — our illusions, our deceptions — are all things that can happen in the real world."

Producers have also enlisted the help of an FBI consultant to keep the program as accurate as possible.

While serving as the FBI's first "consulting illusionist," Black works alongside no-nonsense FBI agent Kay Daniels (Ilfenesh Hadera, "Baywatch," 2017), who's initially skeptical of his techniques. The chemistry between these two delivers a healthy dose of humor, thanks to Black's sometimes naive antics and Daniels' straight-laced reactions. In contrast, her colleague, FBI Agent Mike Alvarez (Amaury Nolasco, "Prison Break), is a huge fan of magic and recognizes Black right away. Special Agent Deakins (Laila Robins, "Murder in the First") is eventually won over by the disgraced magician as he proves his worth to the FBI, thanks to a little help from his

Black's "magic" team includes makeup artist/producer Dina Clark (Lenora Crichlow, "Being Human") and Jordan Kwon (Justin Chon, "Twilight," 2008). Gunter Gustafsen (Vinnie Jones, "Escape Plan," 2013) is widely regarded as the world's greatest illusion builder. They may be new to law enforcement, but the ragtag crew and their fearless leader teach the FBI agents some new tricks. All the while, Black hopes to right the wrongs that have been done to him The ensemble cast supports a tried-and-true recipe for prime-time success. "Deception" features a formula that's paid off for broadcast networks in the past several years: a charming male lead (Cutmore-Scott) is paired with a strong-yet-exasperated female lead (Hadera). ABC's "Castle" and CBS's "Elementary" are just two examples of other recent series that have enjoyed ratings success thanks to similar plots. But there's a show to which "Deception" bears even more resemblance — industry insiders have already been comparing ABC's new magic drama to CBS's highly successful drama "The Mentalist" (2008-2015), which chronicled the life of disgraced "psychic" Patrick Jane (Simon Baker, "The Guardian") as he solved crimes for the California Bureau of Investigation (CBI) alongside Agent Teresa Lisbon (Robin Tunney, "Prison Break").

Interestingly, "Deception" shares a behind-the-scenes link with "The Mentalist." Emmynominated composer Blake Neely, who composed music for "The Mentalist," is also the composer for "Deception." Not only that.

ter ("The Flash").

Batman (Affleck) and Wonder Woman (Gadot) join forces once again when the alien tyrant Steppenwolf (Hinds) and his army invade Earth. To join them in the battle to come, they recruit The Flash (Miller), Aguaman (Momoa) and Cyborg (Fisher), three other heroes with awesome abilities, but even united, they find themselves unable to stop Steppenwolf. Without Superman (Cavill), whose death was a mortal blow to humanity's hope, the newly formed Justice League may not be able to save Earth. Director: Zack Snyder. Stars: Ben Affleck, Gal Gadot, Henry Cavill, Ezra Miller, Jason Momoa, Ray Fisher, Amy Adams, Ciarán Hinds. 2017. 120 mins. Action.

The Shape of Water

Elisa (Hawkins) works as a janitor at a secret government lab with one of her only friends, Zelda (Spencer), who also acts as her interpreter, since Elisa is mute and communicates using sign language. When the lab receives a bizarre amphibious humanoid creature, Elisa begins secretly visiting and bonding with it, so when she learns that the scientists plan to euthanize it so that they can study it more thoroughly, she recruits Zelda to help her smuggle it out of the lab. Once she has it safe in her home, Elisa's bond with the creature continues to grow. Director: Guillermo del Toro. Stars: Sally Hawkins, Michael Shannon, Octavia Spencer, Richard Jenkins, Michael Stuhlbarg, Doug Jones. 2017. 123 min. Adventure.

Call Me by Your Name

When Oliver (Hammer), a 24year-old American grad student, comes to Italy to stay with his family during the summer of 1983, Elio (Chalamet) is resentful that he has to vacate his bedroom for the housequest. While he's often busy helping out Elio's archeologist father with his academic paperwork, Oliver does find time to hang out with Elio, and the two young men find themselves falling for each other. It doesn't take long for a passionate romance to erupt between them, despite both knowing that their love can only last until the summer's end and Oliver's return to America.

Director: Luca Guadagnino. Stars: Armie Hammer, Timothée Chalamet, Michael Stuhlbarg, Amira Casar. 2017. 132 min.

Sweet competition

'Spring Baking Championship' returns for a fourth season

pring is in the air, and for those of us up in more northerly climes, it can't come soon enough after a cold, snow-filled winter. Even folks living in the warmer South have something to get excited about, though: Food Network's hit seasonal competition is back for another year. "Spring Baking Championship" returns for a fourth season on Monday, March 12, with a new host, its familiar judges and a whole new batch of bakers looking to hit pay dirt.

'Cheap Eats" host Ali Khan takes over as host this season, bringing his easy-going charisma to a position that's previously been occupied by former NFL player Jesse Palmer and "Junk Food Flip" host Bobby Dean.

Luckily, he shouldn't have too much difficulty learning on the job, with all three judges from "Spring Baking Champion-ship's" previous three seasons back for another decadent competition.

Duff Goldman ("Ace of Cakes"), Nancy Fuller ("Farmhouse Rules") and Lorraine Pascale ("Worst Bakers in America") are all in the kitchen and waiting for the parade of sweet treats that's headed their way. In Monday's premiere, 10 fresh contestants — who happen to be some of the best bakers in the championships have quickly becountry — face off in their first challenges, and this week it's all about the colors of the season.

In the pre-heat challenge, Khan challenges the bakers to celebrate the season by making fruit-forward tie-dve mini cheesecakes, with the winner receiving an advantage in the main-heat challenge. For that test, the theme gets even more intense, with the bakers tasked with making color-gradient naked ombre cakes featuring delightful, fresh herbs.

Each week, the weakest-performing baker is sent home, but with a $50,000 prize on the line. the remaining contestants need to stay focused. This season, they'll be baking with flower essences, making mini pies, creating edible gardens and even preparing for a picnic.

The various seasonal baking come a tradition on Food Network, with holiday and Halloween versions also drawing in big numbers of viewers during their respective seasons. Big bakes are big with audiences, and

"Spring Baking Championship" is no exception. The new season premieres Monday, March 12.

Q: Can you please tell me why America doesn't get Season 6 of "Father Brown"?

A: You actually missed a key word there: America doesn't get Season 6 of "Father Brown" just vet. You're right that the season has already aired in the U.K., which is where it's produced, but PBS is still airing previous seasons over here.

The basic problem is that we on this side of the Atlantic have been late in hopping on the "Father Brown" train (Anglophiles will appreciate the rail joke — Brits love trains), which means we have catching up to do.

Unlike a lot of British shows aired over here — think "Downton Abbey" or "Agatha Christie's Poirot" — "Father Brown" is not co-produced by PBS. The network came to the show late, and so its broadcast schedule is far out of sync with the original broadcaster.

Though it's frustrating for fans like yourself, this is usually not seen as a big problem by the network. PBS is not in competition with anyone else for when it airs the episodes, so it can take its time (the fact that you're asking this question proves that you're pretty dependent on PBS for your "Father Brown" fix).

There's also the usual PBS challenge, which is that it doesn't operate like a normal network with a national schedule — individual affiliates are able to set their own programming. Some of them are really far behind, and some don't even air "Father Brown" at all.

As the crime-solving clergyman himself might say (or maybe he's already said it — I haven't seen season 6, either), "patience is a virtue."

Q: Has a Disney animated movie ever won the Best Picture statue?

A: Despite its long and storied cinematic history, Disney has never won the top Oscar for one of its animated features.

It's not for lack of trying, though, and Disney is the only studio that has even stood a chance. Only three animated movies have ever been nominated for Hollywood's top prize, and all three were Disney.

"Beauty and the Beast" (1991) was the first to break that ground, getting the nomination against giant films such as "JFK" and the eventual winner, "The Silence of the Lambs" (making for a pretty broad field of candidates).

"Beauty" was also the only animated film to garner a nod in the five-nominee era. The Oscars moved to 10 nominees in 2009, which was the year that Disney/ Pixar's "Up" was nominated. The company got another one the very next year for "Toy Story 3" (2010) (the first two installments having been snubbed in the big category).

These films weren't left out of the Oscars entirely, though. "Toy Story 3" and "Up" both won the Best Animated Feature award, and "Beauty and the Beast" won Oscars for its music (this was in the era before there was a category for animated feature).
