Conner family returns to the airwaves in 'Roseanne' reboot

By Kyla Brewer
TV Media

Television's earliest moms were impeccably coiffed happy homemakers. In the late 1980s, however, a new TV mom broke the mold and took over prime time. Roseanne Conner (Roseanne Barr, "The Roseanne Show") was no June Cleaver. She wasn't even Wilma Flintstone — and that seemed to be the reason people identified with her. Far from a perfect housewife, Roseanne was a much more realistic representation of the blue-collar mother, wife, sister and friend.

Now, she's returning to prime time to deliver another slice of honest American life as Barr reunites with her TV family in the premiere of the nine-episode reboot of "Roseanne," airing Tuesday, March 27, on ABC. The working class Conner family once again faces economic challenges as they live paycheck to paycheck in the small town of Lanford, Ill.

The original "Roseanne" was a huge hit, thanks to its gritty yet witty portrayal of average America, and it ran for nine successful seasons between 1988 and 1997. In the original series finale, it was revealed that the whole show had been a story written by Roseanne Conner about her life. It was a controversial ending, and one that will be addressed throughout the new run of the series, as Barr had always hoped.

"In the original series, I always wanted to have the 10th year so I could do exactly what I did in these nine [episodes], which was to finish and complete the story of this family," Barr explained at the 2018 Television Critics Association Winter Press Tour.

The entire main cast is back for the reboot. John Goodman ("The Big Lebowski," 1998) co-stars as Roseanne's husband, Dan Conner. Sara Gilbert ("The Talk"), who also serves as an executive producer on the series alongside Barr, plays daughter Darlene, and Alicia Goranson ("Boys Don't Cry," 1999) returns as eldest daughter Becky. Sarah Chalke ("Scrubs"), who portrayed Becky in later seasons of the original series, also appears in the new show as a different character, Andrea. Michael Fishman ("Undrafted," 2016) reprises his role as Roseanne and Dan's son, D.J., and Emmy winner Laurie Metcalf ("Lady Bird," 2017) steps back into the role of Roseanne's sister, Jackie Harris.

Fans of the original series might have been surprised to see Goodman's name on the roster, as his death was revealed at the end of the original series run. Goodman seemed satisfied with how Dan's death is addressed when we spoke at the TCA Press Tour: "I thought it was a clever way to do it, handle it and get it out of the way," the actor said.

In addition to the main cast, other favorites from the show's first run are also slated to return. American Theatre Hall of Famer Estelle Parsons ("Bonnie and Clyde," 1967) stars as Roseanne's mother, Beverly Harris. Comedian Sandra Bernhard ("Brooklyn Nine-Nine") reprises her role as Roseanne's friend, Nancy Bartlett. Natalie West ("Nate and Margaret," 2012) once again appears as Roseanne's friend and Dan's stepmother, Crystal Anderson. "Grey's Anatomy's" James Pickens Jr. stars as Chuck Mitchell, and Adilah Barnes ("Tracy Takes On...") returns as his wife, Anne-Marie. Johnny Galecki ("The Big Bang Theory") returns for one episode to reprise his role as David.

Also of note is Christopher Lloyd's ("Back to the Future," 1985) guest-starring role as Bev's boyfriend, Lou. He won't be the only new face in Lanford. The revival welcomes new cast members Emma Kenney ("Shameless") as Harris Conner, Ames McNamara ("At Home With Amy Sedaris") as Mark, and Jayden Rey ("Unforgettable") as Mary.

Beyond the familiar and new faces, "Roseanne" fans can also look forward to the intricately recreated set. From the plaid sofa to the crocheted afghan, things haven't changed much in the Conner house — even the dated wallpaper was recreated from photos from the original series. Goodman recalled that walking onto the set for the first time felt like coming home, and that's exactly how viewers are sure to feel when the show returns.

The original series was immensely popular in its heyday and has graced many prestigious "best of" lists over the years as a result. The show and its stars won Emmys, Golden Globes, People's Choice Awards and even a Peabody Award for Excellence in Television Broadcasting. Not only that, it reached the No. 1 spot in the Nielsen ratings in its second season, and often ranked in the top 20 throughout its run.

It remains to be seen whether ABC's new version will live up to the original, but millions of TV viewers are eager to find out. If there's one thing fans can be sure of, it's that, much like the original, the new "Roseanne" won't shy away from controversial topics. The show is expected to address topics such as health care, the opioid crisis, gender and illegal immigration. Many TV comedies tend to avoid such hot-button issues, but Barr will tackle them head on in an effort to represent the many different opinions held by Americans, just as she did in the '80s and '90s.

Star Wars: The Last Jedi

The battle continues against the titanic First Order, but when Resistance pilot Poe Dameron (Isaac) disobeys orders during an attack and unnecessarily wastes precious ships and lives, he's demoted by Gen. Meanwhile, Rey (Ridley) has finally found exiled Jedi master Luke Skywalker (Hamill), from whom she wishes to receive training in the Force, but her great power terrifies him and he refuses. Despite being enemies, Rey and Kylo begin communicating across the galaxy using the Force, and each begins to experience visions directing them to become allies and partners.

Their raid brings them to the attention of local detectives Avery (Willis) and Baker (Bush), who've been after the criminal kingpin for a long time, but with the brothers convinced that any help from the cops will be ineffectual at best, they set out with guns blazing to find and rescue Mia before the worst can happen.

Advice from a pro

Ina Garten's lessons are perfect for any home cook

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Cooking at home can be such a joy, but as a home cook, it sometimes doesn't take much to make me feel like I'm in over my head. After all, professional chefs can spend years studying at culinary school apprenticing under accomplished chefs and decades perfecting their craft. How's a home cook supposed to keep up with that?

Well, we at home may never be able to achieve the culinary mastery that the likes of Gordon Ramsay or Tom Colicchio have accomplished in their storied careers, but with Ina Garten's help, we can at least get tons of helpful tips. She knows just how it feels to be a home cook with no culinary training: she herself is self-taught, relying mainly on cookbooks and feedback from family and friends, and in her long-running Food Network series, she shares all of that helpful cooking advice.

"Barefoot Contessa: Cook Like a Pro" currently airs Sundays on Food Network, and in this week's March 25 episode, the helpful host shows how to make some amazing one-dish meals that don't require any sides.

First, she makes a one-pot meal that's quick and easy to throw together but big and hearty enough to feed an entire dinner party: tender lamb shanks and orzo. Then pizza is on the menu as she whips up smoked salmon pizzas while sharing the trick to making foolproof homemade dough for the crust. A roast chicken cobb salad is a lighter but no less tasty option for a one-dish meal, and she finishes off the lesson with mouthwatering baked polenta with mushrooms and blue cheese.

Through every dish, Garten patiently explains each step and the reasoning behind it — there's nothing archaic or mysterious here. Being self-trained herself, she knows exactly what steps and techniques can trip up a home cook but also knows how to tackle them.

Every home cook wants to cook like a pro, and Ina Garten is someone who's been in that exact place. She shares her best advice in "Barefoot Contessa: Cook Like a Pro," Sundays on Food Network.

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: Soap opera characters are always drinking wine that looks genuine, but is it? I can't imagine producers allowing them to do so on set.

A: For the most part it's not genuine, but according to "Young and the Restless" and "Days of Our Lives" star Eileen Davidson, that hasn't always been the case.

Davidson has played "Y&R's" Ashley Abbott, off and on, for 34 years, and in an interview on Bravo's "Watch What Happens Live," she said the '80s were a decade of decadence on soap sets. Stars did cocaine and got frisky with each other in their dressing rooms, and they sneaked real alcohol into the prop glasses that were supposed to hold water or some other booze stand-in.

Note, however, that it really was sneaking. The generally accepted, and followed, rule has always been to use some kind of fake. And not just because they're told to — soap stars are on set for long hours doing numerous takes, often of the same scene. If you had to do a few takes of wine-drinking in the morning and used real wine, you wouldn't make it to the evening.

Prop masters have a range of tricks for faking various drinks, from simple solutions such as cranberry juice for wine or straight fizzy water for gin and tonics, to more complicated ones such as root beer with Mentos mints dropped in and then sprayed with hair spray to stand in for a foamy beer (the hairspray preserves the foam so it lasts for more than one take).

As you can imagine, the stakes are particularly high on a soap like English institution "Coronation Street," which is basically built around a bar — the famous Rover's Return.

John Michie, who played Rover's bartender Karl Munro from 2011 to 2013, said that it's doubly hard to pretend to sell pretend alcohol.

Q: There's an early episode of "Supernatural" that reminds me of an episode of "Futurama," where Bender turns into a car and starts running people over. In "Supernatural," it's a truck. Which one came first?

A: The "Futurama" episode "The Honking" came first, in 2000, six years before "Supernatural's" "Route 666." But they both came decades after what seems like the real source material: Stephen King's short story "Trucks," published in 1973.

It seems that "Trucks" kicked off the killer-automobile meme with its plot about autonomous (and murderous) tractor-trailers targeting humans at a truck stop.

It first appeared in a magazine and was later included in the horror author's 1978 short story collection "Night Shift." However, it really popularized when King adapted it into the cult-favorite 1986 film "Maximum Overdrive."

The killer-truck idea caught on after that and was repeated in various other places, including, as you say, in such disparate shows as the teen-oriented fantasy/sci-fi hit "Supernatural" and the goofy grown-up cartoon "Futurama."
