Fall's biggest party

The Emmys celebrate television's best

By Francis Babin
TV Media

Fall is nearly here, and that means it's time for cozy sweaters, pumpkin spice everything and the new prime-time television season. After a summer of repeats, it's finally time for our returning favorites and a new crop of aspiring series.

With both new and old shows vying for our attention, we set aside an evening to look back at the past year and celebrate television's outstanding achievements. See the stars, relive the best moments and have a good time with the 70th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards, airing Monday, Sept. 17, on NBC.

This marks the first time in four years that the peacock network will broadcast the event, and it looks to showcase its bright, young talent with "Saturday Night Live" Weekend Update anchors Michael Che and Colin Jost as MCs for the ceremony. Following Stephen Colbert's ("The Late Show with Stephen Colbert") tremendous performance from last year will be no easy feat, but despite the pressure, the pair is ready to tear down the Microsoft Theater in downtown Los Angeles.

In an interview with Vanity Fair, Che and Jost discussed how the Emmys will be a nice change of pace from the constant political topics they cover on Weekend Update.

"The exciting part is to do things about television and that particular awards ceremony and make it, in general, less political than normal," Jost said. "There's a lot to celebrate in television right now. It's a very strong time."

Jost is spot on — we're currently in a new golden age of television. When the nominations were announced by Ryan Eggold ("The Blacklist") and Samira Wiley ("Orange Is the New Black") back in July, this was made very clear. The usual complaints followed the announcements, but they quickly dissipated. Instead of focusing on the snubs, people turned their attention to the many surprises and first-time nominations. For instance, this year marks the first time in its nine-year run that the ABC hit "Modern Family" wasn't nominated for Outstanding Comedy Series — a nod the single-camera comedy has consistently secured since 2009.

History was made when Sandra Oh became the first Asian actress nominated for Best Actress in a Drama for her excellent performance in "Killing Eve," while Jessica Biel ("The Sinner"), Matt Smith ("The Crown") and Nikolaj Coster-Waldau ("Game of Thrones") all received nominations for the first time.

"Game of Thrones" leads the pack with an impressive 22 nominations, followed closely by its HBO counterpart "Westworld" with 21. The legendary "Saturday Night Live" also raked in 21 nods. Not far behind is Hulu heavyweight "The Handmaid's Tale" and FX's "The Assassination of Gianni Versace: American Crime Story" with 20 and 18 nominations, respectively, with the latter looking to take home the Outstanding Limited Series award.

Without the perennial "Modern Family" and last year's winner, "Veep," in the running, the Outstanding Comedy Series award is up for grabs. With the exception of FX's "Atlanta" and ABC's "Black-ish," broadcast networks and basic cable were virtually shut out in favor of premium and streaming series. Newcomer "Barry" is up against HBO stablemates "Silicon Valley" and "Curb Your Enthusiasm," while Amazon's "The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel" and Netflix's "GLOW" and "Unbreakable Kimmy Schmidt" round out the nominees.

It's not all bad news for broadcast, however, with NBC garnering a respectable 78 nominations. Streaming services are well represented at this year's ceremony, with Netflix reaping the most noms of any streamer with a whopping 112. Hulu, with 27, and Amazon, with 22, though far behind, nevertheless saw an increase from last year and have nominations in the most important categories.

On the drama side, FX's "The Americans" finally received some love from the academy for its sixth and final season. The '80s-set Cold War series faces off against a couple of Netflix period pieces in "The Crown" and "Stranger Things." The trio, along with fellow nominees "Game of Thrones," "This Is Us" and "Westworld," will try to prevent "The Handmaid's Tale" from repeating as Outstanding Drama Series.

The Outstanding Lead Actor in a Comedy Series is dominated with returning nominees in Anthony Anderson ("Black-ish"), TV veteran Ted Danson ("The Good Place"), Larry David ("Curb Your Enthusiasm"), Donald Glover ("Atlanta") and William H. Macy ("Shameless"). Bill Hader ("Barry") is the lone rookie in the field of comedic giants.

Who will emerge victorious as Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series is anyone's guess. The heated race is once again up in the air between Claire Foy ("The Crown"), Tatiana Maslany ("Orphan Black"), Sandra Oh ("Killing Eve"), Keri Russell ("The Americans"), Evan Rachel Wood ("Westworld") and last year's winner, Elisabeth Moss ("The Handmaid's Tale").

Will Sterling K. Brown win back-to-back gold statues for NBC powerhouse "This Is Us"? Will Allison Janney ("Mom") make 2018 a year to remember by adding an Emmy Award for Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series next to her Academy Award for her memorable performance in "I, Tonya" (2017)? Have a laugh with Che and Jost and see how it all plays out with the 70th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards, airing Monday, Sept. 17, on NBC.

Jurassic World: Fallen Kingdom

When Isla Nublar, the remote island site of two former theme parks that featured live dinosaurs, is threatened by an impending volcanic eruption, former park operations manager Claire Dearing (Howard) teams up with her former lover, animal trainer Owen Grady (Pratt), to save some of the remaining dinosaurs, including the last surviving velociraptor that was trained by Grady. Once on the doomed island, though, the pair discover a far-reaching plot to save the dinosaurs for reasons far more nefarious than conservation by people who are willing to kill to keep their actions a secret from the outside world. As always, life finds a way.

Director: J.A. Bayona. Stars: Chris Pratt, Bryce Dallas Howard, Rafe Spall, Justice Smith, Daniella Pineda, James Cromwell, Toby Jones, Jeff Goldblum, BD Wong. 2018. 128 min. Action.

Damsel

After Penelope (Wasikowska), the love of his life, is kidnapped and held captive, pioneer Samuel Alabaster (Pattinson) heads west with dreams of rescuing and marrying her. Accompanying him on his quest across the wild frontier are a miniature horse named Butterscotch, which he intends to present to Penelope as a gift, and an old preacher (Forster), whom Samuel has brought along so that he and the damsel in distress can be married without any delay. It doesn't take long before the simple journey devolves into anything but.

Directors: David Zellner, Nathan Zellner. Stars: Robert Pattinson, Mia Wasikowska, David Zellner, Nathan Zellner, Robert Forster. 2018. 113 min. Comedy.

Siberia

American diamond dealer Lucas Hill (Reeves) runs into trouble when his partner fails to show up with the rare collection of blue diamonds that he's trying to sell to a wealthy Russian in St. Petersburg. With only a few days to track down both his partner and the diamonds before the buyer calls off the deal, Hill heads to a remote Siberian town, where a steamy love affair with a beautiful woman distracts him from his goal. As sex, diamonds and the criminal underworld collide, Hill finds himself unable to extricate himself from the tangled web.

Director: Matthew Ross. Stars: Keanu Reeves, Boris Gulyarin, Ashley St. George, Elliot Lazar, Veronica Ferres, Pashda D. Lychnikoff. 2018. 104 min. Crime.

Andrew Zimmern rewards mobile eateries in new series

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Love it or hate it, we live in a culture of tipping. In restaurants especially, leaving some extra moolah at the end of a meal is the norm, and even less-traditional eateries usually have a tip jar or the like.

"Bizarre Foods" host Andrew Zimmern's new show takes tipping to the next level for restaurants, where every penny earned can help make ends meet: food trucks. "Big Food Truck Tip" premieres with back-to-back episodes on Wednesday, Sept. 19, on Food Network, with Zimmern swinging by two far-flung cities where he checks out some of their hottest mobile eateries — and leaves some whopping tips for his favorites.

Each episode takes the host to a new food truck hot spot, where the host meets with three food truck operators. He doesn't just try their food — he also gets to know them, learning the stories behind their dishes and getting a feel for what makes them tick.

Running a food truck is no walk in the park, and in each city, Zimmern chooses one of the three businesses he visits to receive a supersized tip — one worth a whopping $10,000. That's enough to transform any small business, and the host is clearly overjoyed that he gets to be the bearer of such an incredible windfall.

"Our modern-day food world is blessed to have the extreme ambition, fun attitude, and glorious culinary output of today's truckers," he said in a statement. "Micro businesses on wheels, serving up love by the sandwichful, makes looking at this community and telling these stories a real privilege."

The premiere sees the host visiting Birmingham, Alabama, where he encounters a food truck serving up classic Southern comfort foods to everyone — even the needy who don't have the means to pay. In the night's second episode, Zimmern heads to Memphis, Tennessee, where the foodie scene has blown up in recent years. There, he hits up a food truck rally for a fill-up before finding a place serving tacos with a Tennessee twist.

That's three food trucks visited in each city, but only one gets an incredible $10,000 tip. They're all deserving, though, and they're all featured in "Big Food Truck Tip," premiering Wednesday, Sept. 19, on Food Network.

Q&A hollywood

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: We still miss our weekly favorite TV show, "Grimm." Will they ever do a followup or a reunion show?

A: Short answer: No. Long answer: Still no, but you can pretend.

For example, you can pretend that the stage play "Guilty Until Proven Innocent," if it ever happens, is a "Grimm" reunion. The play recently went through what's called an industry reading — a sort of dry run for plays, where actors read the script before an audience in the hopes of working out some kinks and maybe drumming up interest from backers.

Among the performers were former "Grimm" stars Reggie Lee (Sgt. Wu), Bree Turner (Rosalee) and Danny Bruno (Bud), and the reading was directed by Terrence O'Hara, who helmed several "Grimm" episodes.

If you really want to give your imagination a workout, you can pretend that actors David Giuntoli and Elizabeth Tulloch are actually living out some kind of performance-art spinoff of "Grimm." The two played lead couple Nick and Juliette on the show, but they also got married in real life and share a home in the Hollywood Hills. Imagination aside, the fact that they're married can only increase the likelihood that they'll want to work together again.

Q: What did Bill Pullman do before "Spaceballs"? How did he get such a big role with so little before it?

A: Basically, Bill Pullman got the "Spaceballs" (1987) role because producer/writer/director Mel Brooks couldn't get either of the other guys he wanted. That might seem harsh, until you know that the other guys he wanted were Tom Cruise and Tom Hanks.

Speaking at a Q&A session after a 2011 screening of the movie, Pullman said that Brooks told him he was only picked after Cruise and Hanks, both huge stars at the time, refused. "He imagined he was going to get a big box office draw at the time and I think he was hurt that they didn't take him up on it, you know?"

His account of the story gets even sadder from there. "But then it configured differently, attracting two of the big comics at that time: John Candy and Rick Moranis. Once that was secured, then he said, 'Heck, I'll get somebody nobody knows!' And I got a chance to do it."

That's overstating it a little, though. He wasn't a complete unknown, having appeared in a supporting role in the hit comedy "Ruthless People" the year before.

And, of course, he wouldn't remain unknown for long — his star rose pretty quickly after starring as the dashing rogue Lone Star in the now-classic space spoof.

However, according to Pullman, that wasn't necessarily thanks to "Spaceballs." He lamented the fact that it was panned by the critics and generally failed to make a splash at the time. "It was disappointing, and there were fans, but they weren't as vocal as they became later on."
