CAMP EXPANDS

Camp is not just recreation and fun. It is more than teaching skills, such as archery or swimming. It is about understanding the beauty of discovery that can lead to emotional growth and maturation.

It is the expansion of one’s world, a sharpening of one’s vision that invites the acquisition of lifelong lessons, according to the American Camp Association (ACA).

Camp professionals are not just teachers or counselors; they are coaches and mentors. They influence, advocate, shape, love, and protect. And it is true, both young and old do learn lessons from the camp experience. However, those lessons come after experiences that are real, relevant, and personal. “It is the development of a child as a person that is equally as important as academics,” former owner of Camp Chickagami Ruth Isserman said. Further, “it’s the richness of making their own entertainment” and the most important skills we contribute are listening and observing. “We are building better people for a better world,” she stated.

“Who will care when I’m not there?” It’s every parent’s question when they leave their children in the hands of strangers. Who will take the time to appreciate basic child development, as well as the unique qualities of their personalities? Who will ensure that my children have fun and, at the same time, learn important life lessons? Who will help my children understand how they can work as a team, contributing and succeeding? Who will help my children understand the importance of a community and the responsibilities that lie within? Who will keep my children safe and guard their tender feelings while they are acting invincible? Who will care when I’m not there?

The answer to these questions is the camp professional. They offer children the opportunity to explore, discover, and learn about the best things life has to offer. They are willing to laugh, talk and cry with children, creating an understanding of social bonding. These are the people who are willing to care when I am not there.

ACA offers a variety of tips on how to choose the right summer camp for your child:

When beginning the camp selection process, consider your child’s interests. It’s important to know a child’s personality and identify what camp programs will benefit him or her most. With a variety of programs and activities, summer camp offers fun and meaningful adventures to match a child’s interests and maturity level.

Be certain to include your child in the decision-making process. Together with your child, explore the camp options and examine the materials the camps provide. In addition, many camps have web sites that include photos, maps or virtual tours of the camp facility, sample daily schedules and menus, and information about the directors and key staff. As children become better acquainted with the camp experience and more involved in the decision-making process, they will have less anxiety about going away to camp.

The camp experience is a win-win for everyone. Parents win because their children grow and learn. Children win because they have fun and collect lifelong friends and memories. Society wins because the camp experience helps make healthy, productive adults. Camp professionals win because they have made a positive difference in a child’s life.

Camp is an equal opportunity life-changer. By sending a child to camp, families are truly giving a gift that lasts a lifetime.

The pages in this booklet provide a listing of camps of all types in the area. Happy camping.

neering, Arts, and Mathematics), campers unplug from the fast-paced, digital world and plug into something better: connection, teamwork, discovery, and simple summer joy. Whether attending a session or joining us for a single week, campers experience meaningful moments that last long beyond the summer.

Join us at one of our three locations: Drew University, F.M. Kirby Children's Center, and the Madison Area YMCA Family Center as we build unforgettable summer days that bring campers closer to nature, to each other, and to themselves.

From preschool through grade 9, campers grow by building character and independence through a variety of age-appropriate, unplugged activities led by thoughtful, caring staff. Join us for full or half-day MiniQuest (preschool, ages 3-4) located at the F.M. Kirby Children's Center of the Madison Area YMCA, KidsQuest (entering kindergarten – grade 5), or Leader In Training camps (entering grades 6 – 9), both located at Drew University. SpecialtyQuest (entering kindergarten – grade 5) is located at the Family Center and includes traditional day camp activities and provides opportunities for a deeper dive into focused program areas, including Fine Arts, Gymnastics, School of Performing Arts, Sports, and Y Ninja Gym. During weeks 9 and 10 at TravelQuest (entering Grade 3 – Grade 8), campers will head out on daily trips, exploring new places and experiences in an unplugged, experiential way. Campers depart each day at approximately 9 a.m. Throughout the summer, the Y incorporates its four core values of Honesty, Caring, Respect and Responsibility. Our summer camp experience guarantees to be full of opportunities, adventure and friendships.

Our trained, qualified and caring Y staff run all camps. We offer five two-week camp sessions so that our campers have ample time to engage in projects and activities that are more comprehensive as they bond with each other. Our two-week sessions have built-in reduced rates, including lunch! Not able to come for the full two-week session? No problem! Sign-up for our one-week drop-in program. # KICK OFF THE SCHOOL YEAR

Chu's Academy of Martial Arts in Gillette has been developing courage, concentration, and confidence in Long Hill area students since 1982. Their proven programs are not just for kicking and punching, they are specifically and intentionally designed to develop listening skills, instill discipline and respect, encourage self-control, and promote honesty, humility, and endurance through the traditional martial art of Soo Bahk Do.

The founder of Soo Bahk Do, Hwang Kee, was adamant that the martial artist must also be a scholar, and Chu's Academy fully integrates that philosophy into their curriculum to support and challenge the student in achieving all that is possible both physically and academically.

"We are teaching children to go beyond the ordinary", said co-owner and 4th degree certified master instructor Michelle Cavett. "We are developing and challenging them to be extraordinary in all that they do", she said.

"The Summer is a great time to provide additional skill development for your child", said Lydia Chu, co-owner and 6th degree certified master instructor. Chu, who is a high school math teacher at Watchung Hills Regional High School, added that "children who practice concentration, listening, and self-control at our Academy are prepared, confident, and engaged when the school year starts".

Chu's Academy of Martial Arts offers a 10 week Summer Program targeted to prepare children who are returning to school, or are attending for the first time. Their Little Dragons program is for children 3-5 years old, and the Beginner program is targeted to children 5+. # A WINNING PARTNERSHIP HELPING TO MAKE KIDS' WISHES COME TRUE

For kids with critical illnesses, having a cherished wish fulfilled makes a huge difference in their lives. Children and families facing heartbreaking experiences, including difficult medical diagnoses, hospital stays and more, receive a welcome lift to their spirits and moments of shared joy thanks to the efforts of many volunteers, staff and corporate partners that help Make-A-Wish bring wishes to life.

Celebrating a remarkable milestone this year is Dave & Buster's, which has reached an outstanding $20 million in fundraising for Make-A-Wish since they first became a partner in 2012 - helping to grant over 1,700 wishes to children battling critical illnesses.

In 2012, Dave & Buster's hosted its first national customer donation campaign, pledging to raise $120,000. Their result far surpassed their pledge, raising nearly $500,000 that first year. By 2015, Dave & Buster's had become a Wish Champion partner, reaching $1 million plus raised annually, and the company has continued to raise that amount and more every year.

"Witnessing Dave & Buster's reach the $20 million milestone is an incredible achievement and a true testament to the power of the partnership," said Leslie Motter, President & CEO, Make-A-Wish America. "We couldn't bring joy into the lives of wish kids and their families without the help of great corporate partners like Dave & Buster's. This partnership highlights the incredible power of community to turn wishes into reality for so many children." EndFragment-->

Memorable Moments At Dave & Buster's

Beyond their epic fundraising efforts on behalf of children with critical illnesses, Dave & Buster's has also become an integral part of Make-A-Wish by hosting hundreds - if not thousands - of wish parties.

The company has enjoyed hosting Make-A-Wish events, including fulfilling celebrity meet-and-greet wishes at many of their venues. Popular YouTuber and actor Guava Juice, also known as Roi Fabito, shared his favorite arcade hacks and played games with Wish Kid Jude. And Ryan Kaji, child star of the "Ryan's World" YouTube Channel, helped fulfill several children's wishes to meet him and play together for a day of fun at Dave & Buster's.

For the past 13 years, Dave & Buster's has been a big part of numerous wish experiences such as welcome receptions and special watch parties for major sporting events, plus many all-important wish reveal parties, where Make-A-Wish volunteers get to share the big news with wish kids and their families that their wish is being granted.

Creative Fundraising Efforts

To continue generating enthusiasm and raising awareness for Make-A-Wish, Dave & Buster's has spearheaded a wide variety of creative fundraising approaches over the past 13 years, including:

Dave & Buster's has reached $20 million in fundraising for Make-A-Wish since they first became a partner in 2012.

- Customer donation campaigns
- Charity Benefits Unlimited silent auctions
- Menu items triggering a donation
- Local chapter/regional fundraising
- Employee donations/payroll deductions
- Donation of food and beverage (F&B) and Power cards in support of wish-granting initiatives

New Opportunities To Participate

Adding to this years-long partnership, Dave & Buster's will be launching new fundraising opportunities this year to help raise even more funds for Make-A-Wish in about 150 locations across the United States, plus two locations in Canada.

For example, Dave & Buster's has a new featured item, the Strawberry Shortcake, with $1 from every order donated to Make-A-Wish. You can also test your skills at throwback arcade games where proceeds are donated to Make-A-Wish. These popular "throwback" games like Pac-Man and Donkey Kong accept a cash donation to begin play, with 100% of that donation going to Make-A-Wish.

Learn more about how Dave & Buster's continues to help fulfilling wishes for kids, and how you can participate, at Wish.org/dave-and-busters.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS TO MAKE KIDS SHARPER AT HOME AND SMARTER AT SCHOOL

Success at school is about more than just what takes place in the classroom. How kids spend their time after the bell rings also matters. Here are four New Year's resolutions you can make at home to help kids excel at school:

1. Unlock Their Musical Creativity

Music education has strong links to academic achievement. Fortunately, it's easy to fill your child's world with music. With a compact keyboard, like the CT-S1 from Casio, they can express themselves and hone their skills anywhere and anytime, with no set-up or storage hassles. This particular model has a slim, minimalist design that fits in any space easily, and pairs with a smartphone or tablet so your student can play along with their favorite songs through the keyboard's speaker system. Plus, a superior sound quality will make playing inspirational and fun; it combines AiX Sound Source – an innovative technology that enables electronic instruments to produce the perfect tones – with an integrated acoustic sound system.

2. Get Them Active

Physical activity is good for the brain, improving memory and problem-solving skills. Unfortunately, only 21% of U.S. kids and teens ages 6 to 17 meet the guideline of 60 minutes of physical activity every day, according to the Physical Activity Alliance. Participating in competitive sports is a great way to build leadership and teamwork skills while staying active. If that's not your kid's thing, no worries. Family bike rides, weekend nature hikes, and even yoga and dance classes are all great ways to get them moving – and have them gain the many physical and cognitive benefits of exercise.

In the new year, provide your child with tools that boost creativity and learning.

3. Simplify Tough Subjects With The Right Tools

Math is often the toughest subject in a student's course load. The right tools though can foster better engagement with the material, simplify homework routines, and better prepare your student for class each day. It all starts with a learning companion like the fx-9750GIII graphing calculator from Casio. Unlike many graphing calculators with a complex interface that can make learning math even tougher than it needs to be, this model features a Natural Textbook Display and intuitive icon menu that are incredibly easy to use. In addition to features like graph plotting, probability distribution, vector arithmetic and spreadsheets, the fx-9750GIII is capable of programming in CASIO Basic and MicroPython, so that beyond standard math homework, your student can also use their calculator to sharpen other STEM skills.

4. Prioritize A Regular Schedule

Sticking to a regular schedule can foster higher-quality sleep, improving alertness and mental clarity during class time and throughout the day. Enforce a bedtime that allows your child to get the recommended 9-12 hours of sleep if they are 6-12 years old and 8-10 hours if they are 13-18.

Academic achievement begins at home. In the new year, provide your child with tools that boost creativity and learning and encourage habits that support their health and well-being to help them thrive in all their endeavors, inside and outside the classroom.
