

Railroad hopper cars were knocked off the tracks in the Union Pacific Railroad yards in Council Bluffs. — Photo by Steve Glowacki.

Daily Nonpareil carrier Jeff Plambeck, 11, and his brother, Scott, 8, 1319 N. 20th St., flank Michael Livermore, 10, 1401 N. 20th St., as a cleanup crew works to clear N. 22nd St. three days after the storm. The neighboring city of Omaha sent front-end loaders, trucks and crews from its Sewer Maintenance Department the day after the storm. Omaha officials said they were simply paying Council Bluffs back for assisting with cleanup after the 1975 tornado that hit Omaha. — Photo by Joe Arterburn.

An uprooted tree blocked the entrance to the Dodge Park Municipal Golf course following a storm which ravaged Council Bluffs July 15. At least three tornadoes struck the city causing $43 million damage. The golf course was closed for two weeks following the storm costing the city an estimated $3,000 in lost fees per day. — Photo by Tammy Coleman.