Robeson County slides into bottom slot

County no longer ranked as state's unhealthiest

By ALLEN TURNER
Staff Writer

For the first time in seven years, Columbus County no longer has the dubious distinction of being ranked as the unhealthiest county in North Carolina.

Rankings for 2016, released Wednesday, move Columbus County to 96th in the ranking of North Carolina's 100 counties, marking the first time since the rankings were begun in 2010 that Columbus County has not been designated the unhealthiest county in the state.

Neighboring Robeson County replaced Columbus as the state's unhealthiest in the most recent rankings.

The rankings, a collaboration of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation of Princeton, N. J. and the University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute in Madison, look at health factors in all but 86 counties in the United States.

"I think our increase was a very good jump," Columbus County Health Director Kim Smith said. "Here at the health department we have worked hard at getting different programs up and running

Master jeweler Pebo Collier dies

Pebo Collier, one of the last remaining merchants who, for more than 50 years, helped make downtown Whiteville a regional shopping destination, died at his home early Wednesday.

Collier, 77, returned home after attending Wake Forest University in 1958 to run Colliers Jewelers, the business his father Lloyd founded in 1931.

Bond passes Commissioner incumbents win big in light voting

By ALLEN TURNER
Staff Writer

Less than 30 percent of eligible county voters turned out Tuesday and in early voting to overwhelmingly name two incumbent county commissioners as Democratic candidates for their seats, and to approve the Connect NC bond referendum.

With all precincts reporting, incumbent James Prevatte received 474 votes, or 45.06 percent of the District 2 total. Challengers Tim Blackmon finished with 296 votes (28.14 percent), Chris Smith 171 votes (16.25 percent), Michael (Hunt) Lewis 73 votes (6.94 percent) and Jo Ann Bailey 38 votes (3.61 percent).

In District 2, Prevatte carried six of the 10 precincts in the district: Welches Creek, Western Prong, Whiteville 1, North Whiteville and West Whiteville. He also received a heavy vote in early voting at the board of elections and got the only early vote cast in the race in Tabor City.

In District 3, incumbent Giles E. "Buddy" Byrd won by an even bigger margin over his only opponent, Perry Dixon. Byrd received 1,067 votes (66.36 percent) to Dixon's 541 (33.64 percent).

Celebrate the Arts is March 19 at WCHS

Visual art, dance, music and theatre part of events planned from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

It is one thing to think outside the box but another to reinvent the box.

That's what Clark Whittington, 49, of Winston-Salem did when he began restoring and repurposing vintage cigarette machines in 1997 as a way to make art affordable and accessible.

"Don't go round Artless," is his Facebook page motto, but the positive role art plays in everyday life really is something Whittington said more people need and should experience.

Today, he connects artists' smaller artworks packaged in small boxes with buyers via colorfully restored machines placed in 300 locations across the country, including the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C. and the Cosmopolitan in Las Vegas.

"We are just lucky to be doing this," said Whittington, who spends as long as three to six months carefully restoring and brining new life to old machines. He has as many as 60 such machines in storage.

Whittington's passion for art came naturally. His dad was a musician and his mother a package designer.

He is one of several artists, musicians, choral directors, band directors, dance and theatre instructors who will lead workshops with students from across the county at Celebrate the Arts this weekend at West Columbus High School.

Missionaries connect people to their family’s past

Mike and Nancy Madeo have been teaching locals the basics of genealogy for beginners in a free, hands-on class hosted by the Carolyn T. High Memorial Library. The class is scheduled for each Tuesday in March from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. and may run longer depending on interests of the participants.

“For individuals that are introduced to this phase of genealogy, it’s important for them to learn how to do it on-line and know what resources are there and what records are there,” said Morris Pridgen, director of the library.

Emily Williams

Full-time missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, the Madeos are currently assigned to help members of and leaders of the church in Tabor City. They live in Morgan, Utah and have been in Tabor City for 10 months with their 18-month mission ending at the end of this year. They teach the class at the library as community service work.

“I think it’s good that he took the time, not being from here, to provide the service free of charge. I think it’s working out great,” Pridgen said.

“This opportunity to be here in Columbus County has given us a great understanding of this part of the South and an admiration for the wonderful people of the ‘Bible Belt.’ We love everything about this area including the food, hospitality, and lasting friendships we have made,” Elder Mike Madeo said.

The beginner class on family history uses FamilySearch.org, Ancestry.com and other genealogical websites. Family Search is a genealogy organization operation by the Genealogical Society of Utah, the genealogical arm of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The organization is the largest genealogical organization in the world. Class participants are offered free access to the resources and records found at FamilySearch.org.

Elder Mike Madeo talks Emily Williams through the process of elimination when deciding which online records may be those of a relative.

“It’s much easier than what it used to be with everything that’s on the computer,” participant Emily Williams of Clarkton said.

“Wikipedia says that family history is the number two hobby in the world, behind gardening. It also says the number two reason they come to the Internet is family history,” Madeo said.

“It’s something that people like to have and it’s interesting to know about grandma and grandpa were—it’s really interesting to know about great-grandma and great-grandpa.”

Madeo also makes use of the Freedmen’s Bureau, established in 1865 by Congress to help former black slaves and poor whites in the South in the aftermath of the U.S. Civil War. The records found through this site include local censuses, marriage records, and medical records that provide freed people’s full names and the names of former masters. Federal censuses through 1860 listed slaves statistically only under the master’s last name or household.

“I’m really excited about this Freedmen’s Bureau because of the number of African Americans in this area that could’ve given up on finding information on 1865-1872. The earliest American census for African Americans that had given information with last names and families would be 1870 because the census record previous to that was 1860 and at that time, they didn’t have a last name in most cases – in some they didn’t have first names,” Madeo said.

The Freedmen’s Bureau or The Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands is a website that has records from 1865-1872 in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, New York, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Washington, D.C. that Madeo has access to for class participants.

“That seven years is a link to African American history that hasn’t existed before,” he said.

Mike Madeo is a retired educator of 40 years and Nancy Madeo is a full-time grandmother of 13 grandchildren and mother of 6 children.

“We do miss our family, but our stay here has been one that we will treasure,” Mike Madeo said.

Computer seating is limited for the hands-on class. For registration information contact Kim Moore at (910) 642-3116 or kmoore@columbus.org. Free online genealogy classes are offered through the learning center on FamilySearch.org at familysearch.org/learningcenter/home.html.

Class participant Emily Williams said, “If everyone would do their family history and we could figure out who was connected to who, maybe people wouldn’t be talking about other people like we do because then we’d be talking about our family.”

Southern Farm Days this weekend at Lake Waccamaw

By JEFFERSON WEAVER
Staff Writer

What has been called one of the largest farm heritage shows in North Carolina kicks off at Lake Waccamaw Saturday.

The Eighth Annual Southern Farm Days will be held Saturday and Sunday at the Boys and Girls Home events complex. Admission is $7.50.

“We’re excited, and looking for another big event,” said Donna Elkins, a member of the sponsor group, the Cape Fear Farm Heritage Association.

In addition to the dozens of tractors and antique farm implements, displays and demonstrations, the event will debut the association’s homestead display at the event center.

Plans are in place to eventually recreate a typical rural home, with live animals, a farm house, barns and other features.

The centerpiece of the farm – a working sawmill—is being restored by members of the group.

An often-disregarded but important part of the homestead – the outhouse – will be debuted this weekend as well.

Mike Blackmon built the necessary for the farm.

“We’re looking forward to being able share the homestead throughout the year, not just during Farm Days,” said Luke Elkins.

A new attraction this year at Farm Days will give visitors the chance to learn more about milk

Southland Dairy Farms is bringing its Mobile Dairy Classroom to Farm Days.

The demonstration trailer was scheduled to visit Edgewood Elementary in Whiteville and then the Boys and Girls Home academy before setting up shop at Farm Days.

Demonstrations will be held daily at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m., and 1 p.m. and 3 p.m., Mrs. Elkins said.

“This is a really special addition to the event,” she said.

The association strives to preserve antique farming methods, and help younger generations gain more appreciation for “the way things used to be done.

“So much of our heritage has been lost,” Elkins said. “We’re about preserving history, and helping people appreciate the hard work of their ancestors.”

The swap meet and fundraising auction grow every year, Elkins said, along with the displays of dozens of antique tractors and farm equipment.

The swap meet – where the only rules are that everything must be at least 30 years old, and farm or home related—is expected to be even larger this year than in the past, as vendors from across the region lay out old tools, equipment, housewares, and other antiques for sale.

Dozens of antique vehicles will participate in what has been billed as Columbus County’s loudest parade, as tractors, antique tracked vehicles, farm trucks and other old-style working machines wind their way through the site.

An auction, swap shop, and numerous vendors will be among other attractions at the event.

Living history demonstrations from reenacting groups and practitioners of period trades will be available throughout both days.

Proceeds from the event go to the Boys and Girls Home.

For more information, visit the association’s website at www.southernfarmdays.com, or call (910) 619-6166 or (910) 648-2610.

Nakina Middle School claims victory at Battle of the Books

By GRANT MERRITT
Contributing Writer

Columbus County Schools hosted its annual Battle of the Books middle school competition at East Columbus High School on March 9 where six schools duked it out for the top spot.

Nakina Middle School won first place, Cerro Gordo Elementary School won second place and Chadbourn Middle School won third place.

All students from each of the three winning schools were awarded trophies.

Omar Nunez, an eighth-grader at Nakina Middle, was the only student in the competition to read all 27 books on the book list.

Julie Sellars was the coach for Nakina Middle School; Angela Edwards was the coach for Cerro Gordo Elementary and Shelly Cullipher was the coach for Chadbourn Middle.

Olive Shuping, media specialist at West Columbus High School, was the mistress of ceremonies and coordinator of Battle of the Books alongside Kathy Lewis of the Columbus County Schools Central Office.

Shuping has been coordinator for four years.

“This year’s Battle of the Books competition was very successful,” Shuping said. “The purpose of Battle of the Books is to encourage reading in middle school because that’s where it seems most students lose interest in reading.”

Battle of the Books challenges each team with identifying the title and author of a book from a question asked by the moderator:

This year’s moderator was Karei Swift of the Follett Corporation, a book company.

According to Shuping, Swift has been moderator for four years in Columbus County and is in high demand as a Battle of the Books moderator.

She said she booked him as moderator last August.

Other participating schools were Acme Delco Middle, Evergreen Elementary and Williams Township School.

Nakina Middle School will compete in the regional Battle of the Books competition on April 7, hosted by Sampson County Schools.

Shoppers Stabbed

Ricky Dale Turbeville, 33, of Tabor City, was arrested Tuesday, March 15, for shoplifting more than $600 worth of food and other items from the Food Lion store in the Whiteville Towne Center, according to police.

A report shows Turbeville had $452.59 worth of food, including 25 steaks, plus 16 assorted cleaning products, valued at $194.02, and a case of beer (12 cans) valued at $11.99.

An unknown white female stole three Net 10 Straight Talk cell phones at Walmart Tuesday. The items were valued at $298.72.

Linda Faye Hickman, 29, of Hallsboro, was arrested Tuesday evening, March 15, on a cruelty to animal charge after she stabbed a pit bulldog at a residence along South Martin Luther King Jr. Avenue here, according to police.

The dog, owned by Thurman Jones, 22, “jumped on her” as she left the building at 104 S. MLK Jr. Avenue, and she stabbed the animal, police said. Jones said he was taking the dog for medical attention Wednesday.

Break-in

Daquadrin E. Lawson, 24, of Cherry Grove Road, Cerro Gordo, has been arrested on a charge of breaking into a Chadbourn apartment, according to a warrant obtained by Chadbourn Police Officer Ricky Soles.

Lawson is charged with breaking into Teresa Pridgen’s apartment on March 9. He’s also charged with assaulting Pridgen, and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

Chase

An unidentified male fled on foot and avoided arrest following a short vehicle chase on Ward Street here at 1:30 a.m. on Monday, March 14, local police reported.

Officer Jose Garcia reported the incident. A 2011 Ford Fusion didn’t stop for blue lights and siren until the end of Ward Street’s intersection with Martin Luther King Jr. Avenue.

Found in the vehicle was 1.2 grams of powder cocaine, 32.9 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, police noted.

Cocaine

Eddie Hayes, 59, of Valley Lane, Hallsboro, has been arrested on a charge of possession of 6.2 grams of cocaine with intent to sell on Friday, March 11, according to a warrant obtained by Sheriff’s Drug Detective Justin Worley. Hayes is also charged with keeping a brick home at 219 Hufham Road, Bolton, as a place to keep and sell cocaine.

Pills

Craig Deon Jernigan, 25, of Fruit Ridge Road, Whiteville, has been arrested on a charge of fraud/forgery on a warrant obtained on Feb. 22 by Whiteville Police Officer Sergio Reed.

Jernigan is charged with getting 30 Oxycodone tablets at Walgreen’s Pharmacy here on Feb. 3, 2016 by presenting a prescription belonging to Mrs. Kathy Pait Todd.

Probation

Casey Cornelius Massenburg, 19, of Fayetteville, was placed on probation for two years here last week in Superior Court after he pleaded in break-in and larceny cases from October 2015. A prison term of 24 to 63 months was suspended. He also pleaded to possession of a weapon of mass destruction.

Massenburg’s prior record showed convictions in Cumberland County in February 2016 in two 2014 larceny cases.

Dismissed

A charge of attempted first-degree sex offense against Jerry Bellamy, 20, of Tabor City, was dismissed in Superior Court last week when his confession, recorded on a CD, was suppressed because the interviewing officer didn’t advise Bellamy of his rights until after Bellamy confessed. “There is no other evidence,” the dismissal form showed.

Bellamy was arrested on the charge in May 2014 involving a 6-year-old girl.

Break-ins, thefts

The following were victims of a break-in and/or theft reported on date shown:

- March 16 – Jeremie Sutton, North Franklin Street, Whiteville – break-in, theft of Samsung Galaxy tablet, Xbox controller.
- March 15 – Arter Lee Sullivan III, Haleigh Drive, Cerro Gordo – theft of Samsung Galaxy S3 cell phone.
- March 15 – Mike Brandon Hect, Silver Spoon Road, Whiteville – theft of EBT card.
- March 15 – Latonya Willis, Brookberry Lane, Whiteville – break-in, damage only reported.

Marijuana via the mail

Joseph L. Richburg, 33, dressed to Richburg and of Ridgeland Acres, Tabor City, has been arrested on a charge of possession of six pounds of marijuana with intent to sell the drug after a suspicious package was discovered in the Tabor City Post Office on March 9.

The package was addressed to Richburg and one of several mailed to Richburg in the past few months, according to a news release from the Sheriff’s Office. Richburg distributed marijuana throughout Columbus County, according to drug detectives.

Vehicle rammed twice

Lilly Janelle Stephens, 25, (her vehicle) on four people of F.M. Watts Road, Tabor City, was angry on March 5, and used her 2005 Chevrolet van – with five children in it – to twice ram a 2013 Mazda car “because her ex was in it” in a March 5 incident in front of the Tabor City Police Department, according to a report by Officer Gary Lewis.

Stephens was arrested for assault with a deadly weapon in the car, owned by Bradley Joseph Martin, 25, of Chadbourn, plus child abuse for hitting the car with five children in her vehicle.

Stephens is also charged with assault on Lewis by hitting him on the head as he tried to stop Stephens from assaulting Philana McAllister, 18, of Tabor City, who was in the Mazda vehicle.

Co-defendant arrested in local church break-ins

Edward Leach, 20, living in an apartment along N.C. 211 West, Clarkton, has been arrested on several charges of breaking into Whiteville churches about 75 days ago, and pawning some of the items stolen from some of the locations.

Leach is the co-defendant of Daquan Wandarias King of Whiteville, arrested in January.

Sheriff’s Detective Matt Parker obtained the warrants that charge Leach with breaking into the Spiritual Light-house Church, Golf Course Road, Whiteville, on Dec. 31, 2015, Springhill Missionary Baptist Church along Chadbourn Highway on Jan. 3, 2016, Atkinson Temple Holiness Church along McMillan Road, Whiteville, on Dec. 31, and St. Bethel Missionary Baptist along Old Lumberton Road, Whiteville, on Dec. 29.

Leach is also charged with getting $25 from Pawn South in Whiteville on Dec. 31 for pawning a stolen snare drum.

Funding to help expand aid to those using opioids

Health and Human Services (HHS) Secretary Sylvia M. Burwell announced $94 million in Affordable Care Act funding to 271 health centers in 45 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico to improve and expand the delivery of substance abuse services in health centers, with a specific focus on treatment of opioid use disorders in underserved populations.

“The opioid epidemic is one of the most pressing public health issues in the United States today,” said Secretary Burwell. “Expanding access to medication-assisted treatment and integrating these services in health centers bolsters nationwide efforts to curb opioid misuse and abuse, supports approximately 124,000 new patients accessing substance use treatment for recovery and helps save lives.”

The abuse of and addiction to opioids, such as heroin and prescription pain medication, is a serious and increasing public health problem. Approximately 4.5 million people in the United States were non-medical prescription pain reliever users in 2013, and an estimated 289,000 were current heroin users.

HHS also estimates the number of unintentional overdose deaths from prescription pain medications has nearly quadrupled from 1999 to 2013, and deaths related to heroin increased 39 percent between 2012 and 2013.

Robbery case dropped

There was no prosecuting witness from the Fair Bluff Police Department in the armed robbery case against Damark Latour Walters, 17, of Fair Bluff, and the case was dismissed on March 11 in District Court.

Judge Jason Disbrow wouldn’t allow the state’s motion to continue the case. Walters was arrested on the charge last December.

Probation for cocaine

Ashley Nicole Jones, 33, of Whiteville, pleaded to possession of drug paraphernalia Monday, March 14, in District Court here, and was put on probation for a year with a 120-day prison term suspended.

Jones was arrested for possession of cocaine last December. She was also ordered to do 24 hours of community service.

Brunswick County crimes

Elliott Dew, 28, of West Gaskins’ residence in Calabash Williamson Street, Whiteville, has been arrested on charges of first-degree burglary and two types of assault involving a Calabash woman on Friday, March 11, according to the Brunswick County Sheriff’s Office.

Dew is charged with burglary in the early morning hours by entering Hannah

Gaskins’ residence in Calabash with intent to steal a firearm, according to the warrant obtained by Deputy Charles Liles.

Dew is also charged with assault on a female by pushing and shoving her, plus assault inflicting serious injuries by causing Gaskins to sustain a sprained wrist and concussion when she was pushed to the floor.

No new information

The Columbus County Sheriff’s Office has released no new information about finding the body of Felicia Moore Porter, 44, east of Tabor City, on Friday, March 12.

Porter was reported missing from her home along Savannah Road Extension shortly after 2 p.m. on Thursday, March 11. Almost exactly 24 hours later, her body was found in a wooded area. An autopsy was scheduled for Monday, March 14.

Probation in 2014 break-in Jaquan Wandarias King, 18, of Whiteville, was recently placed on probation for three years in Superior Court here after he pleaded to breaking into a church in February 2014. King also faces several new charges of forcing entry to churches and stealing music instruments in late 2015 and early 2016.

A prison term of 15 to 36 months was suspended in the plea deal. King’s prior record showed three convictions of misdemeanor death by vehicle. King was the driver of a car

Prison in DWI case

Jennifer Rose Cartrette, 39, of Whiteville, was sent to prison for a year recently when her probation was revoked in Superior Court here. Cartrette was found asleep behind the steering wheel of a vehicle with the motor running in February 2012.

She was put on probation, and failed to report to her probation officer after her release from jail in September 2015, records show. Analysis of her blood in 2012 showed she was “drunk” on drugs.

Statewide gang database continues to grow

North Carolina law enforcement agencies are increasingly using a statewide database on gang members to combat crime in their local communities. The NC GangNET database is one element of Governor McCrory’s efforts to use intelligence gathering and information sharing to reduce criminal gang activity in North Carolina.

Members of a legislative subcommittee for Justice and Public Safety were told today that nearly 400 North Carolina law enforcement agencies are using NC GangNET, a database managed by the North Carolina Highway Patrol. In 2015, law enforcement officers queried the NC GangNET system more than 25,000 times. As of Dec. 31, 2015 there were approximately 5,000 validated gang members in NC GangNet.

J.P. Guarino, NC GangNET administrator, presented results from the “Gang Report” which includes recommendations on gang prevention, particularly among youths both in and out of the criminal justice system.

In the last several months, the Center has been working with various school systems in piloting a smart phone application called “SPK UP NC.” The app gives students a way to send tips to the proper authorities anonymously. The goal is to have the app available to all school systems.

Probation for cocaine

Ashley Nicole Jones, 33, of Whiteville, pleaded to possession of drug paraphernalia Monday, March 14, in District Court here, and was put on probation for a year with a 120-day prison term suspended.

Jones was arrested for possession of cocaine last December. She was also ordered to do 24 hours of community service.

Work is continuing on the box culvert project that will replace the narrow bridge on Canal Cove Road at Lake Waccamaw.

Date not set for service stop at lake

By JEFFERSON WEAVER
Staff Writer

Town utility customers below the canal cove Bridge will face a brief water and sewer outage sometime during the construction project there, but the exact date has not been set.

The bridge will be replaced with an aluminum box culvert, according to the Department of Transportation (DOT). Town water and sewer lines will have to be cut and moved to facilitate the project, leaving residents below the bridge without water and sewer for several hours.

“We are working with the contractor and DOT to make sure we have plenty of notice when this occurs,” Town Manager Harry Foley said at the March town commissioners meeting.

The project is slated to end May 5, Foley said, and when the cutoff date is scheduled, the town will contact affected residents.

“We’ll post it on our website, in the newspaper and on our water bills, if we have that much notice,” he said. “We’re going to do our best to make sure no one is surprised.”

The town, state and contractor attempted to find a way to maintain service during the cutoff, but details could not be worked out. Town officials are concerned that the grinder pumps that process wastewater at most residences could be affected by a lack of water pressure or supply.

Traffic will be detoured through Wooded Acres and Giles Byrd Road until the project is completed.

State jobless figures remain unchanged

By RAY WYCHE
Staff Writer

North Carolina’s unemployment rate for January (the last month for which figures are available) remains at 5.6 percent, the same rate as for December 2015.

The percentage of people who applied for jobs in January is lower than that of any of the first nine months of 2015.

The figures, compiled by the state Department of Commerce, is 0.1 percentage point lower than that of a year ago. While the national unemployment rate in January dipped below 5 percent, North Carolina’s rate was 5.6 percent.

The national jobless rate decreased 0.1 percentage point to 4.9 percent for January.

The figures represent people who have applied for unemployment benefits during January through the Employment Security Commission.

In an apparent paradoxical situation, the state’s labor force showed a gain of 23,200 workers during the month.

The industries with the biggest gains in the labor force were the government and the hospitality service.

Many of the workers who made up the increase in the labor force are employed in fast food businesses which pay wages near the bottom of the wage scale.

A non-government watchdog organization, the Justice Center, pointed out that North Carolina “is simply not creating enough jobs for everyone who wants to work,” said Patrick McHugh of the Justice Center.

One result of the scarcity of jobs is North Carolina workers are paid below the national average.

A North Carolina worker, on the average, took home $100 less per week than the national pay average.

Marbled salamanders are harmless, and extremely common in the area. This group of one male and two females were discovered under a barrel recently near White Marsh. They require small pools of water to hatch their eggs, and spend most of their lives in moist, dark areas. Contrary to popular belief, marbled salamanders are not venomous, and rarely bite except in self-defense. The females guard the eggs through the winter, generally in areas where water will pool in the spring. The amphibians are commonly found during the spring and fall, when people work in gardens and flower beds or clear debris.

Lake hopes to ‘pack the park’ May 14

By JEFFERSON WEAVER
Staff Writer

Many visitors go to Lake Waccamaw State Park for the peace and quiet.

On May 14, however, the park will be a noisy place.

The park will celebrate the N.C. State Parks’ centennial with an all-day music festival centered around the visitors center and new walking trail.

“Admission is free,” said State Park Superintendent Toby Hall. “We want to pack the park with people, especially those who aren’t familiar with the state park.”

The North Carolina State Park System was created in 1916, when the General Assembly appropriated $20,000 to preserve Mount Mitchell, the highest peak east of the Rocky Mountains. Since then, the state has established more than 40 parks, including Lake Waccamaw.

The parks are used year round by visitors, vacationers, scientists and biologists, students and naturalists. Lake Waccamaw State Park was established in 1976, and is a popular destination for short- and long-term camping, fishing, swimming and hiking. The lake itself, like all larger inland bodies of water in the state, has been managed and administered by the parks system since 1929.

The daylong music festival at Lake Waccamaw will feature everything from bluegrass to rock and roll at the visitors center.

Four bands are scheduled to play from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m., Hall said. The Gene Wayman acoustic jam will start that day, followed by Southern Just Us of Nakina, Ronnie Fisher and the Backroads Band playing country and Southern rock, and the well-known Peacock Brothers with Honey Don’t.

Hall said two stages will be set up to allow bands to set up without any lag time.

“We want to keep the music flowing all day,” he said.

A variety of vendors will be on hand, along with educational booths from groups like the Wildlife Resources Commission and Agriculture Extension. The Lake Waccamaw Fire Department will be selling hot dogs and hamburgers, and plans are being made for scout groups to sell ice cream.

“This is going to be fun for all ages,” Hall said. “We want as many people as possible. It should be a great day to enjoy the park, especially the new trail with the boardwalk.”

Vendor applications are still being accepted, Hall said. Call 646-4748 for more information.

“This is a big deal,” Hall said. “The parks exist for everyone, and it’s great to have a resource like this right here at home. We hope we see a lot more visitors this year. Lake Waccamaw is just a special place.”

young people and their educations.”

Mayor Terry Mann, also noted Collier’s dedication in helping young people.

“He took a lot of pride giving young people jobs in the store,” Mann said. “I’m not sure he needed them all the time, but I think he’d give them a job even if it was slow just to help them out.

“A lot of young people who worked in his store went on to become very successful. He was a mentor to many of them.”

Mann said that Collier always had downtown’s best interests at heart, and that, “he was just a good man.”

Todd Collins, who along with his wife Lori bought the store from Collier in 2007, said that Collier was a meticulous jeweler who sold diamonds across the U.S.

“Colliers was known for its attention to detail, craftsmanship and customer service,” Collins said. “His knowledge was deep and broad.”

Collins saw first-hand the number of times Collier helped people.

“If anyone needed any help, he would do anything he could,” Collins said. “That’s the kind of man he was.

“Whether they were in high school or college, he stayed in touch to see if they needed anything,” Collins said.

Collier very quietly helped many students with money for college or made calls to help them be admitted.

“He always kept that very quiet,” Collins said.

“What he did was between him and his students, but he helped a lot of students get an education.”

Collins joined Colliers in 1981 after a stint in the Marine Corps. Collins’ father died when Collins was 22, and Collier became a father figure to him, Collins said.

“He took me under his wing. I learned from the master,” Collins said.

Farmers can now show more pride in their livestock

The North Carolina Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services has launched a tag program to promote livestock born and raised in North Carolina.

The new Got to Be NC tag program uses special ear tags to identify N.C.-born-and-bred cattle, swine, sheep and goats. The voluntary program is a collaboration between the department's Got to Be NC marketing program, Livestock Marketing Section and Veterinary Division.

"Livestock production generates over $3.6 billion in farm income in North Carolina," said Agriculture Commissioner Steve Troxler. "We developed the Got to Be NC tag program to better promote the high-quality livestock raised in our state."

To qualify for the program, ranchers must be North Carolina residents, and participating animals must be conceived and born in the state. Participating livestock must be identified with an official Got to Be NC tag purchased by the producer before they are sold.

The tags cost $5 each. Ranchers must complete a producer tag record and submit it to the department after tagging their animals.

In addition to promoting livestock, the tags also will help producers comply with state and federal laws governing interstate transportation of animals.

The new tag program will

Got to Be NC Tag Program

affect the current N.C. Born and Bred competitions at the N.C. State Fair and N.C. Mountain State Fair. N.C. Born and Bred champions are chosen in competitions for market cattle, swine, sheep and goats. Starting in 2016, the winning animals will be known as Got to Be NC champions.

To qualify for the Got to Be NC competitions, producers who have traditionally sold their animals as N.C. born and bred during the fair will need to participate in the new tag program.

Ear tag order forms, membership applications and more information are available at www.ncagr.gov/markets/livestock/NCtags.htm. Additional questions should be directed to the NCDA&CS Livestock Marketing Section at 919-707-3151.

County agenda includes SEDC appointment, bids

The preliminary agenda for Monday's meeting of the Columbus County Board of Commissioners is brief.

Commissioners are expected to adopt proclamations designating the "Week of the Young Child" and commemorating Veterans Day.

Human Resources Director Virginia Taylor and Social Services Director Algernon McKenzie will give departmental updates.

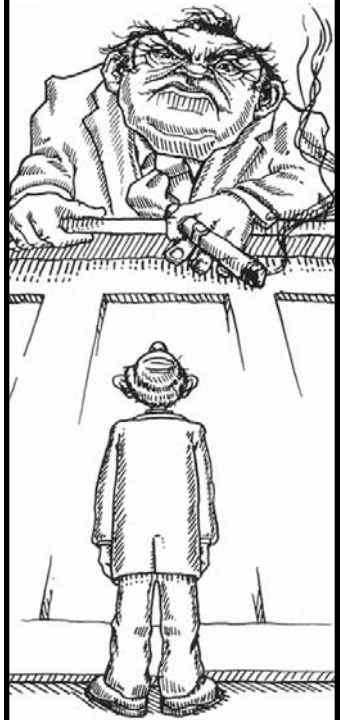

The board will consider awarding a contract in the Single Family Rehabilitation Program. County Manager Bill Clark is recommending approval of the next lowest responsible bidder.

Ricky Benton's term as a member of the Southeastern Economic Development Commission is expected by be renewed by commissioners.

The meeting gets under way at 6:30 p.m. at the Dempsey Herring Courthouse Annex on West Smith Street in Whiteville.

Deaths

The News Reporter, Thursday, March 17, 2016 -- 7A

DEATH NOTICE

LLOYD POE 'PEBO' COLLIER JR.

WHITEVILLE -- Lloyd Poe 'Pebo' Collier Jr. passed away peacefully Wednesday, March 16 following a lingering illness. He was born April 24, 1938 to the late Stenza Rogers Collier and the late Lloyd Poe Collier Sr. He was also preceded in death by one brother, Charles Roger Collier.

He graduated from Whiteville High School and attended Wake Forest University before coming home to help in the family business, Collier's jewelers, where he remained for 56 years.

He was a member of First Baptist Church, was the youngest Rotarian ever when he joined the Whiteville Rotary Club, was a registered jeweler since 1964 and was a vintage registered jeweler. He was well known for his unique personal jewelry designs.

He was a lifetime member of the Greater Whiteville Chamber of Commerce.

Pebo was an active member and supporter of the community as a sponsor of beginner sports through varsity sports in Columbus County. In his support of education, he and his wife Nancy enabled 85 students to further their education beyond high school. Along with the Kramer and Mann families, he leased and kept up parking lots in downtown Whiteville for many years. He was chosen as the Grand Marshal for the N.C. Pecan Harvest Festival.

As a vocalist, Pebo was well known for singing for weddings, at civic clubs and at church services. He hosted three "Bucket List Concerts" where he shared his great talent as well as gave others the opportunity to share theirs.

Visitation will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. Friday, March 18 at McKenzie Mortuary. A celebration of life service for Pebo will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, March 19 at First Baptist Church with Ryan Clore officiating. A graveside service will follow at Carver's Creek United Methodist Church in Council conducted by the Rev. Jimmie Tatum. Pallbearers will be Todd Collins, Alex Munroe, John Munroe Jr., Walter Munroe, Sammie Gore and Brian Worrell.

He is survived by his wife of 55 years, Nancy Sanderlin Collier; sister-in-law, Jane S. Morgan; nephews, Hob Morgan (Joy) and Alex Wishon.

During his illness, he was lovingly cared for by Nancy, Grace Ann Phillips, Catherine Radcliffe, Louise Rose and Lower Cape Fear Hospice and LifeCare Center staff.

Memorials may be made to Lower Cape Fear Hospice and LifeCare Center, 206 Warrior Trail, Whiteville, N.C. 28472 or Carver's Creek Cemetery Fund, c/o Amy Stephens, 574 N. Brady Plantation Road, Council, NC. 28434; or a charity of one's choice.

“I just appreciate the confidence of the people. I look forward to serving them another term. Without dedicated citizens, I do not feel that our government or our county would be able to survive these trying times and be able to move forward at the pace that we’re doing,” Prevatte said after the win.

Blackmon was gracious in defeat. “It’s tough to beat an incumbent when there are five people running, but James (Prevatte) is a good guy and he’ll do a good job.”

Smith said, “I appreciate all the voters that did support me. If people are satisfied with our government, (they should) keep voting like they voted.”

Byrd carried five of the 10 precincts in District 3: Bogue, Bolton, Waccamaw, Welches

With one precinct still yet to report Tuesday but the outcome clear, Byrd said he felt “very good” about his race. Asked whether he expected the primary to be closer he said, “No, not really, not from what my constituents and my supporters were telling me. what we did,”

Returns came in slowly, largely because the State Board of Elections ordered county boards to redact any Congressional race votes from totals announced.

That’s because after ballots were printed a federal court ruled that newly redrawn congressional districts were gerrymandered and forbade a primary under the old district lines. The General Assembly, meeting in special session, quickly drew new congressional districts in an effort to satisfy the federal court’s objections.

That special primary will be held June 7, assuming the federal court doesn’t overrule the new district lines.

At 9:51 p.m., elections officials here distributed print-outs they said contained final results; however, the State Board of Elections web site said at the time that one precinct in Columbus County still had not reported. When the state board updated its web site to show all 26 county precincts as having reported, there were some changes from the figures distributed a few minutes earlier by county officials.

Results are unofficial until the Board of Elections conducts its canvass Tuesday.

Neither Prevatte nor Byrd have Republican opposition in the November general election. In two other commissioner seats not on Tuesday’s ballot but to be voted on in November’s general election, incumbents Edwin Russ in District 4 and District 5’s Trent Burroughs have no Republican opposition. However, Russ faces opposition in the general election if unaffiliated candidate Lavern Coleman obtains enough signatures to get on the ballot.

Bond passes by a landslide

By ALLEN TURNER
Staff Writer

Columbus County’s results for the $2 billion Connect NC bond referendum closely narrowed statewide totals in which the bond issue passed by a landslide. Locally, 6,207 people voted for the measure and 3,339 voted against, an approval rate of 65.02 percent with 34.98 percent disapproving. Statewide, with all precincts reporting, 1,401,801 people voted for the bond and 736,488 voted against. That’s 65.56 percent in favor and 34.44 percent opposed. With the approval of the bond referendum, $350 million will be directed to community colleges, and Southeastern Community College is scheduled to receive $6.8 million of that amount. Other local recipients of additional monies as a result of the bond passage are Lake Waccamaw State Park ($1.51 million) and Lumber River State Park ($2.69 million). SCC President Tony Clarke said Wednesday, “I want to thank the voters of Columbus County and the State of North Carolina for approving the bond. As I went around the county and spoke to people, I explained how it’s going to help us be a better partner for economic development in Columbus County. “Obviously, we’re very excited about the bond and appreciate the local support, not only from the voters but also from local governmental units and civic clubs.”

and we’ve had a lot of people respond to that.” Smith said that different classes have been started and “the community as a whole has responded very well.” She emphasized, “We know this is something you don’t change overnight. We certainly didn’t get to be number 100 overnight, and we’re not going to be number one overnight. We still have a long way to go, but it’s a very good start.” County commission chairman Giles E. “Buddy” Byrd had not heard the news until contacted for comment, but he was elated to hear it. “Every little bit of improvement helps,” Byrd said. “One thing I know is that the county has been very instrumental in trying to stress a healthier lifestyle for our county employees. We have a screening they go through and that’s been very helpful, I’m sure.” Byrd said he thinks the county government’s efforts to stress a healthier lifestyle for its employees probably factored into the improvement. The latest rankings show dramatic differences between urban and rural counties, most notably premature deaths. Rural counties have higher rates of smoking, obesity, child poverty and teen births, and higher numbers of uninsured adults than their urban counterparts. Large urban counties have lower smoking and obesity rates, fewer injury deaths and more residents who attended some college. That shows up in the North Carolina rankings. Robeson, Vance, Halifax, Columbus and Edgecombe fared the worst, in that order, in North Carolina in 2016. The healthiest counties, in order, were Wake, Orange, Union, Camden and Mecklenburg. The county health rankings compare counties within each state on more than 30 factors that impact health, including such social determinants as education, jobs, housing, exercise, commuting times and more. The 2016 rankings include several new health-related measures: residential segregation, drug overdose deaths and insufficient sleep. Residential segregation between African-Americans and whites, a fundamental cause of disparities according to the rankings report, is highest in counties in the Northeast and Great Lakes regions and lowest among the Southeastern seaboard states. In areas where African-American and white residential segregation is highest, there are typically vast differences in health, well-being, opportunity and quality of life. Drug overdose deaths have increased 79 percent since 2002 and are reaching epidemic proportions in parts of the U.S. The highest death rates are in counties in northern Appalachia and parts of the West and Southwest. One out of three adults does not get enough sleep – less than seven hours a night – with implications for health and productivity. Lack of sleep is tied to higher levels of stress and depression, hypertension, heart and kidney disease, motor vehicle accidents and suicide. The highest rates of insufficient sleep are found in counties in the Southeastern U.S., while the lowest rates are in the Plains states. The rankings data also takes a closer look at health gaps in each state, comparing how the top performing counties stack up against the bottom performing counties on key measures. Enormous differences in health outcomes can exist within a state. Collier quietly helped many young people

Pebo Collier was recognized throughout his professional life as an expert gemologist and jeweler, but his measure as a man was more than that.

Like a number of people back in the day, he was fortunate enough to come home to a family business, one started by his father Lloyd in 1931.

Both father and soon were loyal to downtown Whiteville and the civic responsibilities that were expected of businessmen. Pebo Collier received honorary lifetime memberships to the Whiteville Rotary Club and Greater Whiteville Chamber of Commerce.

He could always be counted on to contribute whenever a cause arose that needed the financial support of the business community.

He was a believer in the importance of downtowns to the overall health of a community. He once had an opportunity to move Colliers Jewelers to a popular shopping center, and while it made business sense, he refused, realizing what Colliers meant to downtown.

But it was the relationships he built with the number of students he hired each year to wrap presents, do engraving or wait on customers that will make Collier's memory live on.

He helped many young people get through college financially. He was very private about the matter, but now that he's crossed over to the other side, it should be told that his (and his wife Nancy's) love and nurturing of their young employees has played a big role in the lives of many families today.

He was a big believer in the value of an education. Whiteville High School still awards the valedictorian and salutatorian of each class the Lloyd Collier Scholastic Award, and scholarships are given by Colliers Jewelers.

When he did find time to leave the store, he was an avid quail hunter and treated his bird dogs, most of which he named Bob (Bob I, Bob II, and Bob III) like family.

He also had a keen intellect and natural curiosity about the world that fascinated those who knew him. He seemed to know at least a little something about everything. Kite flying with his long-time friend, the late Dr. John Munroe, was one of his early hobbies.

Collier also had a love for music and a beautiful voice. He sang at numerous weddings and funerals, and in his later years, held "bucket list" concerts for family and friends.

Colliers Jewelers is known for its gems and gifts, but more importantly, it will be forever remembered for the man who was advocate, mentor and friend for the many young people who were touched by Pebo Collier's giving heart.

The point

Collier was one of the region's premier jewelers, but he'll especially be remembered for all the young people he provided jobs for in his store, and for all those he quietly helped make it through college.

Ramblin' with Ann

By ANN WORTHINGTON

Do you have the urge ever so often to get rid of everything you don't really need to keep, my friends?

Well, I've been trying to make myself do just that, but when opening a cabinet drawer to start my adventure, I couldn't believe I had kept so many things.

When I started opening envelopes and packages of cards, I forgot all about the job I had planned to do, because I spent hours just reading notes, cards and letters from my children.

Now how could I ever bring myself to get rid of these sweet and special memories, so I closed that drawer and decided to work on something else. As I sat looking at my "to-do list," I thought about how much time has changed things.

I remember that back in the day, most correspondence with each other was made by handwritten cards as letters. My parents would eagerly wait for the mail carrier to arrive, then walked to the mailbox on the side of the road.

They were so excited if they found a piece of mail from a brother, sister, aunt or other relatives.

My parents could hardly wait to open their letters and would read the contents out loud so we could all enjoy the adventures of other family members.

If we wanted to hear from friends or relatives or if we wanted to share news with them, it was mostly done by letters, then waiting a few days for the mail carrier to hopefully bring us a letter in return.

It's amazing to see the change in today's world. Instead of waiting to hear from a relative or friends, we just pick up the trusty telephone and talk for as long as we want.

Now we can text, see each other and pretend we are almost in the room with the person we are talking to.

The list goes on, but I still miss getting a handwritten letter from a friend or family member.

My friends, have you also thought about the fact that letter writing is mostly a thing of the past?

My husband just reminded me that it's time to eat, so until next time, be blessed abundantly, my reader friends.

As always, don't forget God loves you and so do I.

Public opinion

Too much noise

Why is it that Columbus County does not have a noise ordinance?

I have to get up very early in the morning, which means going to bed early. Several times a week, I am kept awake or awakened by neighbors playing music loud. On Saturday Feb. 13, I called for a deputy because the individual said he wouldn't turn it down and didn't care if I called law enforcement.

The deputy informed me that he couldn't make him turn it down due to the county not having a noise ordinance and that I should move to Whiteville if I didn't want to be disturbed.

Columbus County commissioners need to understand that not everyone works a 9-to-5 job and get a noise ordinance in place so the citizens can get some peace and quiet.

Allyson Nobles

Too much litter

I read with interest your recent article concerning the problem with roadside litter. I live on a well-traveled highway that is continually covered with litter. Prior to mowing a substantial amount of the roadway shoulder, I first have to pick up bags of litter.

A few years ago I had the task of picking up shredded cell phone and bank statements along the roadway and in my yard. Upon piercing together the fragments, the name and address of the culprit was found. I called the Highway Patrol office and was told to call the Sheriff's office, was then told to report this to Waste Management.

They in turn sent a man out and he said he would talk to this person.

A few weeks later the same person threw shredded litter out again.

Again Waste Management was called and this time they sent two men out. They said they would write him a letter of warning. The litter from this person continued until I read that he had died.

I guess the question is why is there no enforcement when culprits are caught red handed and who actually is the enforcer?

The Pencil Lady

Heaven has gained an angel. This woman was truly an angel on earth, so I know for a fact that they were waiting at the gates with her wings and halo. If you ever went to Whiteville Primary, then you all know whom I am talking about.

Gayle Stoll was not only the "pencil lady," she was the woman who brought smiles to many, many children and adults alike. If you were lucky enough to have crossed paths with this woman, even by chance meeting, you would never forget her.

Poll: Obama should appoint judge

A new High Point University Poll finds that majorities of North Carolina residents believe that President Obama should nominate and the U.S. Senate should consider replacements for Justice Antonin Scalia, the recently deceased Associate Justice on the U.S. Supreme Court, before the end of Obama's presidency. The poll also reported North Carolinians' job approval ratings for public officials and legislatures.

When asked whether President Obama should nominate a replacement, 60 percent of those polled said yes. The poll also asked whether the U.S. Senate should consider President Obama's nominee - keeping in mind that the U.S. Senate's Majority Leader had said that the next president rather than President Obama should nominate a replacement for Justice Scalia. Sixty-eight percent of North Carolinians said that the U.S. Senate should consider any nominee.

North Carolinians appeared to be following relatively closely the story of Justice Scalia's death and President Obama's decision to nominate a replacement for the U.S. Supreme Court Justice. Fifty-four percent of the survey respondents said they had heard a lot about the story.

"More than half of the poll participants indicated closely following the passing of Justice Scalia," says Brian McDonald, associate director of the HPU Poll and adjunct professor. "The poll confirms that North Carolinians are supportive of President Obama nominating a replacement.

In addition, almost 70 percent are in agreement that the U.S. Senate should consider any nominee of the current administration."

In the new survey, there were no large differences in job approval ratings from previous surveys for elected officials or government institutions. Forty-four percent of North Carolina residents approve of President Barack Obama's job performance while 47 percent approve of Gov. Pat McCrory's job performance.

U.S. Senators Richard Burr

and Thom Tillis have job approval ratings of 27 and 29 percent, respectively. As the HPU Poll has previously observed, many North Carolinians don't offer an opinion on the two senators. More than a third (40 percent) of North Carolina adults expressed no opinion one way or another on Sen. Burr's job performance, and 39 percent of respondents said they did not know or refused to comment on first-term U.S. Sen. Tillis' performance in office.

Furney Baker, antiques and Whiteville’s Rocket Boys

By FULLER ROYAL
Staff Writer

Editor’s Note: Several weeks ago, a fixture of Whiteville for four decades – Furney Baker – died, just months after his wife Kay. In 2002, staff writer Fuller Royal wrote this column about Baker and the interest he showed in the youngsters in his community.

I love the film “October Sky,” which is based on the book “Rocket Boys,” the true story of NASA engineer Homer Hickam and his rise from West Virginia poverty to his job training shuttle astronauts.

I own that film, which tells how Hickam and his high school-aged buddies built their own rockets from scratch in order to win a national science contest - and make their way out of an isolated mining town.

But few people realize that during the mid-1970s, long-time Whiteville resident Furney Baker was the father of model rocketry in Columbus County - sort of a Robert Goddard except with antiques and picture frames.

I have known Mr. Baker since I was a fifth-grader at the old Whiteville Elementary School. My family had just moved to First Baptist Church from First Presbyterian and Mr. Baker arrived a year later to be the church’s minister of music.

After several years, he became the minister of music at a Baptist church in North Myrtle Beach, but he loved Whiteville too much to leave, as did his wife Kay and children Blake and Shannon.

To make ends meet, he took over the running of the Any Ol’ Thing antique shop at the Courthouse Square.

About that same time, Lee Hinnant (the former news editor here at the paper) Mark Masten, Matt Hinson, Jim McNeill and a few others, myself included, developed an interest in model rocketry.

At the time there were two model rocket companies – Centuri and Estes.

I don’t know if Mr. Baker came up with the idea himself, if his son Blake planted the idea or if we just all nagged him to do it, but he bought a Centuri Rocket franchise and became a dealer.

He must have initially purchased several thousand dollars worth of stock – rocket launchers, engines, igniters and the rocket kits themselves.

We were in hog heaven. All the boys from First Baptist who had been in his choirs bought rockets. All of the younger Scouts in Troop 513 bought rockets. We couldn’t get enough.

You couldn’t ride a bike around McKenzie Woods without seeing or hearing some kind of rocket being launched.

We mowed lawns and raked leaves so we could buy rocket engines. The E-class engines were the most powerful and we delighted in putting those brutes in small rockets that needed no more than an A-class engine to lift off.

These rockets were launched by remote control and once they had reached apogee, they released a parachute.

Theoretically, the chute brought the rocket safely back down to earth - unless there was a tree.

Jim McNeill found that out. As a Webelo Scout, he launched one of his prized rockets as a demonstration for the Cub Scouts of Pack 512 of the Presbyterian Church.

The wind conspired with gravity and fed that rocket to the top of a pine tree across from the church. It stayed up there for years as a solemn reminder of the dangers of space flight.

It may still be there.

Every afternoon, if we weren’t at Scoutmaster John McNeill’s drugstore talking about rockets, we were at Mr. Baker’s looking at rockets and looking through his catalogues.

The ladies looking for antiques knew they had to get to his shop before school was over or they’d never be waited on.

At the pinnacle of the local rocketry craze, we would spend the occasional Sunday afternoon at the soccer field at Waccamaw Academy with mass launchings.

On one particular Sunday, the field looked like a war zone. We had three or four launch pads working simultaneously.

Jim brought a homemade bunker, which saved our skins several times that day.

It was a sight.

There must have been two dozen of us out there – fifth, sixth and seventh-graders – and most of our dads.

Charles Lee Price was there with a couple of rockets that even North Korea wouldn’t want. They never flew straight and ended up chasing us. The bunker was crowded with people hunkered down for safety whenever Charles Lee launched his rockets.

Knox Proctor was there. His rocket took the entire launch pad with it. We never found that pad.

One image that stands out in my mind that day was Berry Love and his father, Bobby.

Each time Berry sent a rocket up, his father stood there, cigar-in-mouth, and said, “There goes a gallon of milk.”

After a year of rocketry, we entered the seventh grade and our priorities changed.

Mr. Baker kept on selling rocket supplies, mainly because he had so many of them.

Years after he made his last order from Centuri, he still had supplies for sale. I think as recently as 10 years ago, he was finding stray pieces of rocket parts here and there.

To this day, I still tease Mr. Baker about our rocket days. He’s officially retired now, having sold his framing business.

I don’t think he ever made much, if any, money on those rockets. I think he just liked giving us an outlet - something to do. He made an opportunity available to us and for that we will always be grateful.

While none of us are astronauts, our rocket days opened our eyes to a still very active space program. And today, our eyes are open to the extent that some town folks from our boyhoods would go to enrich our lives.

Thanks, Mr. Baker.

Berries expected within two weeks

By RAY WYCHE
Staff Writer

If the air temperature cooperates, Columbus County’s strawberry crop should be ready for picking by April, or perhaps a few days earlier.

Jerry Robinson, who tends about five acres of berries north of Whiteville, said his crop at this stage of growth “is looking good.”

At the present phase of their growth, berries are sensitive to abrupt changes in air temperature.

When warm spring air puts blooms and small berries on the bushes, cold weather that could follow will often kill the blossoms and young berries. Strawberries are classed as a cold weather plant, meaning they can survive some chilly air, but a heavy frost can mean fewer berries.

Robinson is building a reputation for raising strawberries that rate high on the flavor scale.

He sells some of his fruit from his produce stand on the west side of U. S. 701 North, just south of the U.S. 74-76 overpass.

“We also sell wholesale and retail, and to grocery chains and hotels,” Robinson said.

Columbus County, home of the town of Chadbourn that called itself “The Strawberry Capital of the World” in the 1930s, was noted for the trainloads of locally grown strawberries that were shipped from the town every spring.

Now most of the berries grown in the county come from small garden plots and are eaten by the homeowner and his family, with perhaps a few quarts sold at roadside stands.

Pesticide Collection Day

There will be a Pesticide Collection Day Thursday, March 31 at the N.C. Cooperative Extension Office. Pesticides will be collected from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. All pesticides will be accepted free with the exception of the following items.

- Unlabeled container; 30-35 gallon containers and minibulk containers will be accepted on case-by-case basis.
- The following items will not be accepted.

- a. Non-pesticide HHW materials, (paints, oil, gas, explosives, drugs)
 - b. Cylinders-hard metal casing
 - c. Mini bulks
- The extension office is located at 45 Government Complex Road.

For questions or more information call Dalton Dockery at 640-6605.

City Schools get $89,000 Nutrition Center Grant

■ Funds will also benefit Columbus County.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture awarded the University of Kentucky $2.5 million in 2015 to form the Rural Child Poverty Nutrition Center to fund and administer sub-grants in persistently poor rural counties. The project reduced child food insecurity through improved program coordination among child nutrition and other nutrition assistance programs.

The Center has identified 17 sub-grantees, including Whiteville City Schools, which will receive awards ranging from more than $50,000 to almost $100,000 for creative strategies to improve access to USDA/FNS programs for families and children.

This project seeks to enhance coordination among school meals, WIC and Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) through improved inter-agency communication, the development of communication tools targeted at young families, and the development of social media resources to be shared across agencies and with the community school coordinator.

Rhonda Dutton, public information officer/community school coordinator, has been named to facilitate this grant in collaboration with Kathryn Faulk, director of school nutrition services.

Anyone interested in learning how this program can assist children of Columbus County with programs, school or community enrichment opportunities, recreational programs, faith-based events such as Vacation Bible Schools, to provide healthy and nutritious meals and snacks for ages 18 and younger may contact Dutton at (910)641-6439, (910)640-8080 or Kathryn Faulk at (910)642-4116.

Poll

Of the individuals and groups included in the poll, the U.S. Congress fares the worst, earning approval of only 17 percent of North Carolina residents. The U.S. Supreme Court earned an approval rating of 46 percent. The North Carolina General Assembly has a job approval rating of 33 percent.

The poll also finds about one-fifth (21 percent) of the same respondents believe the country is headed in the right direction, versus more than two-thirds (70 percent) of North Carolina residents who see the country as being on the wrong track. This is very similar to what the September/October 2015 HPU Poll found. That poll reported that 20 percent of North Carolinians believed the country was headed in the right direction, versus 70 percent of North Carolina residents who saw the country as being on the wrong track.

These observations are similar to those reported in the September 2015 HPU Poll. In September, the presidential approval rating was 41 percent, and the governor's rating was 38 percent.

No problems reported with voter ID rule

By JEFFERSON WEAVER
Staff Writer

Despite concerns that some voters might be denied a ballot, no problems were reported in Columbus County with the new voter identification law.

“Anytime you have something new, people are anxious,” said Board of Elections Supervisor Carla Strickland, “but we had no complaints.”

"We will always do what is necessary to make sure every person who wants to cast a vote, and has the right to do so, gets a ballot," Strickland said.

The new Voter Identification Law was in place for the first time during the March primaries.

Voters were required to present a valid form of picture identification at the polls before casting a ballot.

Opponents with the NAACP and other organizations feared the rule would dissuade minority voters from the polls.

Strickland said turnout did not seem affected by the ID law.

"It's rarely as strong as we'd like it to be," she said, "but we didn't see or hear of anyone not voting because they had to show identification."

Some voters were confused when they were greeted by a poll worker who asked for a driver's license or state-issued card, then asked to confirm their address for the voting rolls, Strickland said.

"The greeter was there to check similarity of name and physical appearance," she explained, "and inside, the poll worker was confirming the address and name. It was really two different parts of the same process."

The elections supervisor said the ID requirement helped remind some people to update their information at the Board of Elections.

"No one will be denied the right to vote," she said, "but it's vital to check and if necessary change your registration status if you have moved. Some folks forget to do that when they move to a new home.

"If you have a valid ID with a different address on it, that can slow the process a little, but you will get to vote. It's better for everything to be up to date."

Strickland said she heard of no complaints from voters regarding the ID requirement.

“Most people had their ID out and ready when they came up to the polling place,” Strickland said.

Whiteville senior Nydir Carr leads off the third inning with a hit in the Wolfpack's Three Rivers Conference baseball game with visiting Red Springs Friday. Moments later, Carr scored the game's first run of the game on a single by Nick Hood. Whiteville defeated the Red Springs squad 2-0 on the strength of a no-hitter by junior lefthander Mackenzie Gore.

Vikings fall to Fairmont 4-2

FAIRMONT - Dawson Elliott's two-run homer in the first inning gave West Columbus the early lead Tuesday, but the host Fairmont Golden Tornadoes acquired a run in the second inning and three in the third for a 4-2 Three Rivers Conference baseball victory.

The game featured a pitching duel between senior righthanders Cole Lovin of Fairmont and Trey Benton of West Columbus.

Lovin pitched a four-hitter while striking out 11 batters going the distance. He also had a key hit for the Fairmont team, which moved its Three Rivers Conference record to 2-1 and overall record to 5-1.

Benton, who has committed to play at East Carolina University next season, struck out nine and yielded five hits in his five-inning start. He was relieved by C.J. Coleman in the sixth inning. Benton hit a two-out single in the first inning and scored on Elliott's home run blast.

Cole Benton and Gage Hammonds also had hits for Coach Jeff Lamb's West Columbus team, whose conference record slipped to 1-2 and season record to 5-2.

Tyler Musselwhite had a double for Coach Knocky Thorndyke's Golden Tornadoes while Lovin, Seth Thorndyke, Gage Hardin and Steve Ivey had singles.

Fairmont, whose only loss of the season came last week in a 10-0 Three Rivers Conference setback to Whiteville, will play host to South Columbus Friday in another key TRC game.

West Columbus, whose conference-opening schedule has consisted of Whiteville, South Columbus and Fairmont, faces another big challenge Friday when it is scheduled to play host to Red Springs at 7 p.m.

Fairmont will play host to South Columbus Friday at 7 p.m.

In the girls softball game involving the two schools, Fairmont took a 12-0 victory.

In junior varsity action, Fairmont won the baseball game 6-5 and the softball game 15-14.

Gore's no-hitter leads Pack to 2-0 victory over Devils

By DAN BISER
Sports Editor

It was quick and efficient ... under control all the way.

On just 85 pitches, Whiteville High junior left-hander Mackenzie Gore fired the second no-hitter of his high school career while striking out 17 batters in the process.

The result was 2-0 victory over Three Rivers Conference rival Red Springs Tuesday at Legion Stadium.

It was the third Three Rivers Conference shutout in as many games for Coach Brett Harwood's Wolfpack.

Only one Red Springs runner reached base and that came on an infield error in the second inning.

Red Springs, which came into the game with an unbeaten record, hit only one ball out of the infield and that was a liner to rightfield by Jaylen Mack that was easily handled by Nydir Carr.

Gore struck out the side in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, and struck out at least two batters per inning until the seventh when he fanned one and got two to ground out.

It marked his first no-hitter since his freshman season when the Wolfpack shut down Voyager Academy 5-0 in the fourth round of the state 1A playoffs at the Duke University baseball field in Durham.

In his only other mound start this season, Gore carried a perfect game into the sixth inning while striking out 12 in a 7-0 win over West Columbus.

"I felt good tonight," said Gore. "We were having some difficulty getting runs, but we all felt confident about things."

"I feel like I had my rhythm down, and I was pitching to get people out ... not thinking about it (the no-hitter)," he added.

In two starts this season, Gore has pitched 13 innings, allowing one hit and striking out 29.

Harwood said he was glad to see Gore come across with such a strong pitching performance on a night when runs were hard to come by.

Neither team scored through two innings. In the top of the third inning, Whiteville's Nydir Carr led off and slapped a single to right field off Red Springs starting pitcher Drake Collins.

Carr sprinted to second on a mishandled pitch by the Red Springs catcher. After Gore drew a walk on a 3-0 pitch, Connor Grainger followed and hit into a force-out at second base that sent Carr to third.

Nick Hood followed with a single to left over a drawn-in Red Springs infield that scored Carr.

Hunter Cartrette followed with a walk that loaded the bases, but Collins prevented further damage by getting Hunter Harwood to ground out into a double play to end the inning.

In the fifth inning, Grainger connected on a two-out double and later scored when a two-out pop-up to second base was dropped, making the score 2-0.

Whiteville had five hits and a total of 10 baserunners for the night.

Whiteville, coming off a 3-2 non-conference loss to Wallace-Rose Hill last Saturday, improved to 3-0 in the conference and 4-1 overall.

A total of five Gore pitches were put into play by the Red Springs team, including two by Jaylen Mack, the Red Devil catcher and lead-off hitter.

Hunter Lowery relieved Collins in the sixth inning.

Whiteville also won the junior varsity game 10-3.

Whiteville played host to Wilmington Hoggard Wednesday night in a non-conference game. (See result at whiteville.com).

The two-time defending state 1A champion Wolfpack will travel to take on the St. Pauls Bulldogs Friday in a Three Rivers Conference match-up.

The St. Pauls squad appears to be a much improved team this season as it is off to a 3-2 start, including a 2-1 conference mark.

Stallions edge Mustangs in eleventh

ROWLAND - Riley Wilson's bases-loaded single in the top of the 11th inning supplied the game-deciding run for the South Columbus Stallions as they pulled out a 4-3 victory over the host South Robeson Mustangs in a Three Rivers Conference baseball game.

South Columbus scored three runs in the first inning but was then held scoreless until the 11th.

Evan Pickell got the win in relief, pitching the 10th and 11th innings. Devan Penny was the starting pitcher for the Stallions, going through the seventh. Mason Benton pitched the eighth and the ninth innings for the Stallions, who suffered a nine-inning loss to West Columbus last Friday.

Jay Wright and Landon Stocks each had three hits for Coach Bradley Strickland's SCHS team, which pushed its Three Rivers Conference record to 2-1.

Hunter Shelley and Robby Spencer each had two hits for the Stallions.

"We did a pretty good job of hitting the baseball," Coach Strickland said, "but we had a hard time of putting hits together when we needed them."

"It finally happened in the 11th and we're glad we didn't have to take it much further.:"

South Columbus will make a return visit to Robeson County on Friday when it is slated to visit Fairmont in a 7 p.m. game.

St. Pauls snares Gators 12-1

By FRANKLIN DAVIS

LAKE WACCAMAW - Throwing strikes and making the routine play are keys to winning in high school baseball. St. Pauls used that recipe to defeat East Columbus 12-1 Tuesday evening at "The Swamp."

Bulldog starting pitcher Jacob Oxendine walked just one batter and his teammates were flawless defensively as they built an 8-0 lead through six innings.

St. Pauls put three runs on the board in the top of the first. Two walks, a hit and an error did the damage. A diving catch by East's Hunter Reeves kept

St. Pauls off the board in the second inning. Consecutive doubles increased the margin to 4-0 in the third frame.

The second double was a fly ball lost in the dusk sky. Two walks, three singles and five wild pitches brought three more Bulldog runs in the fourth.

The Gators' first two batters in the third and fourth innings reached base, but Oxendine doused the threats with two strikeouts in the third and a strikeout and pick off in the fourth.

St. Pauls added a single run in the sixth and four more in the seventh. East committed five errors in the final two innings, helping the Bulldogs take a 12-0 lead.

Thomas Yates singled to lead off the Gator seventh. A wild pitch and throwing error moved him to third. Trey Wilkins single scored Yates and avoided the shut out. A second error and a walk ended Oxendine's evening. Ted McNeill came on in relief to record the final out.

Travin Squires was the starting pitcher for East Columbus. He allowed five runs, three earned, and four hits in three plus innings. Squires struck out four and walked five. Bradley Olsen pitched in relief. He gave up three runs on six hits and struck out four. Bray McKeithan pitched the seventh.

Smith pitches Spartans to win over Coastal Whiteville native Hunter Smith got his second pitching victory of the season on March 11 in UNC-Greensboro's 4-2 baseball victory over Coastal Carolina at Conway, S.C.

Smith, a key player on East Columbus High School's 2011 state 1A championship team and Whiteville High School's 2012 state 2A championship team, pitched seven innings against the Chanticleers.

The junior righthander allowed four hits while striking out six and walking three. He yielded one earned run.

He was relieved by Chad Sykes in the eighth inning. Sykes was credited with the save.

The win put Smith's season mound record at 2-0. He has made four starts for the Spartans this season and is carry-

Whiteville's Mia Shelley (right) and West Columbus' Lexi Bowen battle for the ball in Monday's Three Rivers 1A-2A soccer match between the longtime rivals at West Columbus. Whiteville, the two-time defending TRC champion, took a 9-0 victory while advancing its season record to 3-4.

Whiteville, S. Columbus garner Three Rivers soccer victories

A senior-laden Whiteville girls soccer squad served notice Monday they are still the team to beat in the Three Rivers Conference with a 9-0 victory over West Columbus. The host Vikings battled the Wolfpack on even terms on the scoreboard through the initial 20 minutes. Mia Shelley broke the scoreless tie with a goal at the 19:45 mark. Madison Hinson added a goal 12 minutes later to give Whiteville a 2-0 lead at intermission. Hinson's second goal, six minutes into the second half, increased the margin to 3-0. Logan Schultz headed in a perfectly placed pass from Abigail Owens and followed it up with another score to make the score 5-0 with 23 minutes left. The Viking defense finally succumbed to the constant Whiteville pressure and allowed four goals from the 11:37 mark to the 6:56 mark to end the contest. Abigail Owens scored twice. Shelley collected her second goal and A.J. Jamison also scored. Despite the score, Peyton Sasser played well in goal for the Vikings. Sasser turned away a number of Wolfpack shots. Eventually the volume of Whiteville scoring opportunities wore down a game group of Viking defenders. Whiteville is now 3-4 overall and 1-0 in conference play. The Lady Wolfpack plays Scotland County today. West Columbus is 1-3-1 overall and 0-1 in conference action. The Vikings played at South Columbus Wednesday. South Columbus picked up its first win of the season with a 2-0 shutout over East Columbus. Mary Katherine Zokal and Whitney Ward scored for the Stallions. Amanda Watts assisted on the Zokal goal. The Stallions are 1-3-1 overall and 1-0 in conference. East Columbus drops to 0-5 and 0-1. The Gators visit Red Springs Wednesday.

Lady Wolfpack tops Red Springs for third straight TRC win

Sage McLelland and Laura Thompson clouded home runs Tuesday night in helping pace the Whiteville Lady Wolfpack's 8-2 softball victory over Red Springs at the WHS field. Red Springs was held scoreless until the final inning as Whiteville upped its Three Rivers Conference record to 3-0. Whiteville scored four runs in the third inning and brought across three in the fifth behind McLelland's two-run blast. Thompson added a solo shot in the sixth to complete the scoring. Thompson and Eden Brown each had two hits for Coach Olivia Scott's Lady Wolfpack. Senior pitcher Malerie Leviner went the distance, striking out eight batters and yielding six hits. Three of the Red Springs hits came in the final inning. In the junior varsity game, Whiteville prevailed 23-0.

South Columbus bats lead way to TRC softball win over South Rob

ROWLAND - The South Columbus Lady Stallions unleashed a 16-hit attack Tuesday as they claimed a 13-7 Three Rivers Conference softball victory over previously unbeaten South Robeson. Victoria Harrelson and Alex Chestnutt each had three hits. Harrelson drove in four runs while Chestnutt, Sadryne Jacobs, Lindsey Jones and Hailey Sarvis had doubles for Coach Scott Johnson's SCHS squad. Anna Caroline Suggs went the distance in the pitcher's circle, allowing seven hits while striking out eight. Jones, Suggs, Sarvis and Carson Powell had two hits each. South Columbus took a 4-0 lead in the first inning, but South Robeson came back to tie the score in the bottom of the frame. The Lady Stallion squad grabbed the lead for good with three runs in the top of the second inning. SCHS upped its conference record to 2-1 and overall record to 4-1.

Lady Gators pound St. Pauls

LAKE WACCAMAW - Pitcher Valerie Carter allowed three hits, and Sayeh Campbell, Olivia Kissam and Kirklyn Wayne clouted doubles for the East Columbus Lady Gators Tuesday in a 26-0 Three Rivers Conference softball rout of visiting St. Pauls. The game was halted in the fifth inning by the 10-run rule,

Coach Morgan Jacobs' ECHS team took charge early, scoring nine runs in the first inning. The Lady Gators now have a 2-1 conference record and a 4-1 season mark. They will play host to South Robeson Friday at 7 p.m. St. Pauls will entertain Whiteville Friday,

Middle school baseball, softball round-up

The Central Middle baseball team opened its season with a 16-0 victory over Evergreen. Logan Hooks led the Hornets at the plate with three hits, including two doubles. Lincoln Ransom had two hits with a double. Jake Harwood and John Cook each doubled. Zack Ivey and Jarret Ward added singles. The winning pitcher was Jake Inman. Tayvon Tyler and Byron McNair had hits for Evergreen. Nakina downed Cerro Gordo 10-7 in baseball. Miller Gore was the winning pitcher, striking out 6. Gore also had three hits. Jackson McPherson had four hits for the Mustangs and Aveon Bellamy contributed three hits, including a triple. Tabor City shut out Chadbourn 15-0 on the strength of Austin Mayo's one-hit pitching. Williams downed Acme-Delco 12-1. In softball, Nakina topped Cerro Gordo 15-1. Alexis Todd struck out seven and walked no one in claiming the win. Todd and Katelyn Canady were each 3 for 3. Todd had a double. Farah Hammond added two hits and Raelyn Jacobs contributed a double. Lyric Samuel, Leah Floyd and Madison Nance had hits Cerro Gordo. Central downed Evergreen 16-0. Tabor City defeated Chadbourn 25-1. Williams topped Acme-Delco 15-0.

Boys tennis South Columbus remains unbeaten

South Columbus downed Fairmont 6-3 in boys tennis on Monday. This set up a TRC first-place showdown with St. Pauls on Wednesday. Both the Stallions and Bulldogs are undefeated. In Monday's match, South captured five of the six singles matches to clinch the victory. Noah Jarman, John Lewis, Mason Hewett, Flint Ward and Will Sellers all took straight set victories. Colby Cartrette and Hewett paired up for a win in #2 doubles for South Columbus. St. Pauls improved its record to 6-0 with a 9-0 win over Whiteville on Monday. Despite the loss, Whiteville coach Kyle Hutchison said he was pleased with his team's efforts. "We are young and have very little tennis experience. The players are working hard to improve and are learning more about the sport each match." Hutchison said. East Columbus will visit Whiteville Wednesday with Columbus Cup points at stake. On Tuesday, West Columbus traveled to Red Springs. The Red Devils took a 6-3 win. Adam Jens and Ryan Meadows took singles victories for West Columbus. Grayson Jarvis and Divine Hope paired up to win No. 1 doubles.

Whiteville High School

Dylan
Lawson

Baseball

A two-hit shut-out against a staunch Fairmont batting order gave the 15-year-old Lawson a win in his first varsity start on the mound last Friday. He struck out five batters in the 10-0 Whiteville victory with the game being halted in the fifth inning by the 10-run rule. “I was a little nervous at first, going against a team like Fairmont in my first-ever start, but I felt like I settled in pretty quickly and threw okay,” the WHS freshman right-hander said. “I knew my coaches and teammates had my back and that gave me some extra confidence.” Lawson, the son of Brent and Sonja Lawson, had an outstanding youth baseball career, and he has become the third WHS freshman in as many years to quickly become a member of the WHS mound rotation (following Mackenzie Gore and Brooks Baldwin). Both of his parents are graduates of UNC-Chapel Hill and Lawson hopes to enroll there and play baseball following his high school career. He also hopes to follow in his dad's footsteps and become a dentist. Bryce Harper is his favorite major-league player.

East Columbus High School

Kelsey
Carroll

Softball

Now in her third season as a starter for Coach Morgan Jacobs' ECHS softball team, the Lady Gator junior is handling the catching position. She has also played shortstop and centerfield. “It doesn't matter where I play, but I'm enjoying playing catcher right now,” said the daughter of Stuart and Judy Carroll. She has also played a key role on the ECHS volleyball team. The Lady Gators came away with a big Three Rivers Conference road win last week, turning back a strong hitting Red Springs team 7-3. “That was a big win because Red Springs is a much improved team and they had been scoring a whole lot of runs in their earlier games.” Carroll, who started playing softball at a very young age under the tutelage of her father, said that chemistry is her favorite class at ECHS. She hopes to continue her softball career in college.

West Columbus High School

Alexis
Bowen

Soccer

The sophomore is the daughter of Lori and Jamie Bowen. She loves being on the soccer field and remarkably finds the game atmosphere stress-free. She credits her parents and Coach Marc Edge with always encouraging her to do her best and strive to become better. Her best soccer moment was earlier this season when she recorded a “hat trick” and added two assists against Loris, S.C. Bowen believes her strong kicks and passing are her best soccer skills. She would like to attend UNC-CH or Campbell and major in pharmacy. With her free time, Bowen likes to hunt and just hang out with friends and family. At West Columbus, she is in the Beta club and a member of the concert and marching bands. She is a competitive senior dancer and a member of the Macedonia Baptist Church youth group. Alex Morgan is her favorite athlete, stromboli is her favorite food and math is her favorite subject. Bowen is a varsity cheerleader and played on the varsity volleyball team. Bowen describes herself as “determined and a hard worker.”

South Columbus High School

John
Lewis

Tennis

Lewis enjoys the strategy and sportsmanship of tennis. He gives his teammates credit for helping with strategy and making it fun to play. Lewis believes his best skill is his ability to place shots. His best tennis moment is anytime spent with the team reliving “awesome” moves in a previous match. Lewis plans to attend UNC-CH or Wake Forest and major in biology, eventually becoming a pediatric psychiatrist. The senior lists Anatomy as his favorite class at South Columbus. Lewis has played piano for nine years and competed in numerous competitions. He sings in the church choir. At South, Lewis is on the Math team, a Beta Club member and President of the National Honor Society. Harvick bests Edwards in closest finish ever at Phoenix

One of the best things that ever happened to Kevin Harvick's career statistics is Phoenix International Raceway.

Harvick won there again this past Sunday, edging Carl Edwards at the finish line by about a foot. NASCAR's electronic scoring recorded the winning margin at .01 seconds -- the closest ever at Phoenix and the seventh-closest anywhere since NASCAR started using electronic scoring.

It was Harvick's eighth career Sprint Cup win at Phoenix, his fifth win in the past six races there and his sixth victory in the past eight. He leads all drivers in wins at Phoenix, with four of those coming while he was driving for Richard Childress Racing, and the other four with his current Stewart-Haas Racing team.

The victory pushed his career win total to 32, which means a quarter of those came at Phoenix.

Although Harvick dominated the second half of the race, leading a race-high 139 laps overall, he didn't cruise to victory.

A caution for a crash by Kasey

Kahne with six laps remaining set up an overtime finish, which amounted to a two-lap shoot-out.

When the final caution flag flew, Harvick, Dale Earnhardt Jr. and Austin Dillon opted to stay on the track on old tires and keep their positions at the front, while the rest of the lead-lap drivers made pit stops for fresh right-side rubber.

Carl Edwards restarted at the head of the group with fresher tires and immediately began to close on Harvick once the green flag dropped. On the final lap, he nudged Harvick up the track and began to move alongside. Harvick bumped him back, and as the duo headed out of Turn Four toward the finish line, Edwards, riding on the inside groove, gave Harvick a body slam, but it didn't slow Harvick as much as it did Edwards -- which allowed Harvick to cross the finish line inches ahead of Edwards.

"I knew I was going to have to be on defense because [Edwards] beat me through the center of [Turns] Three and Four all day," Harvick said in his winner's interview. "I was fully expecting everything that I got, but I just needed to be able to get knocked up the track far enough to be able to put the throttle back down.

"I felt like I got back to the throttle even soon enough to be able to hold him off, but I was kind of a couple feet behind and was able to kind of scrub against his door a little bit to slow him back down, and by the time he'd realized that he was going to be behind, we had carried the momentum by him and we were at the start-finish line."

Edwards, who was smiling afterward, said he wanted to bump Harvick just enough to pass him, but not enough to wreck him.

"I thought I moved him enough to get by, but that's just racing," Edwards said.

Harvick said the exciting finish was due in part to the new lower-downforce aero package mandated by NASCAR this year.

"I think as drivers and as a sport, that's really the benefit -- one of the benefits -- of the low-downforce package and the tire situation," he said, adding that when tires wear significantly but don't wear completely out, it allows teams that take on new tires to catch up to those ahead of them on older rubber.

As Harvick pointed out, when a driver has a car as fast as his has been at Phoenix in recent years, a strategy gamble is the only way an opponent can have much of a chance to wrestle a win away from him.

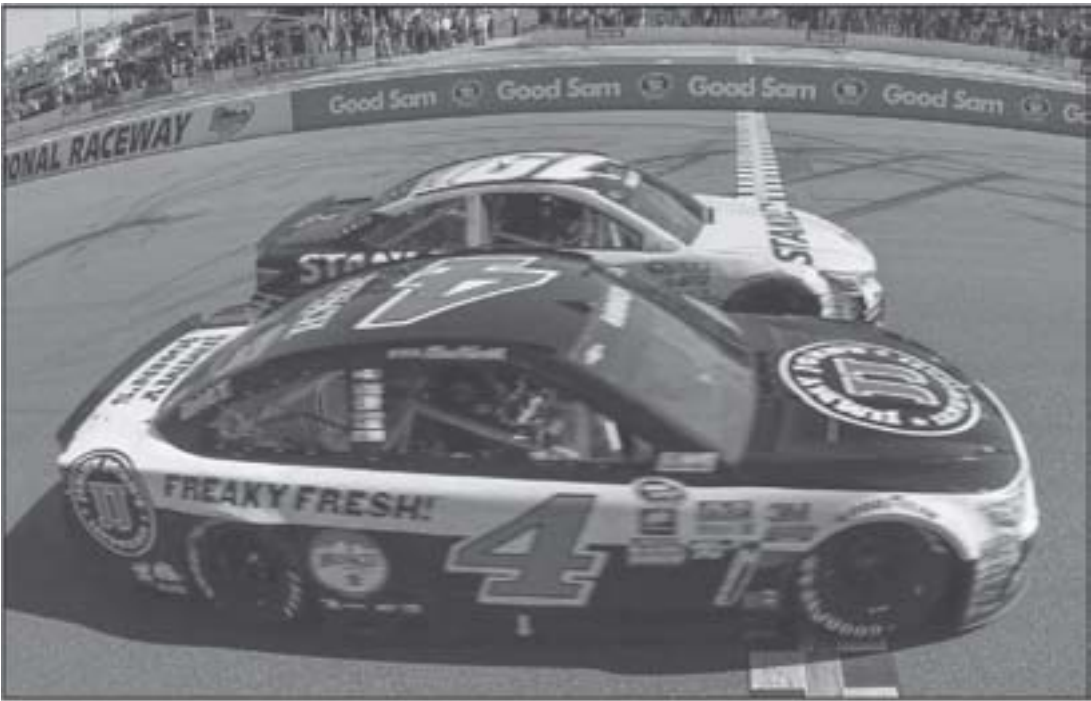

"I'm glad we're in that position because our cars are fast, and that's the only way they're going to beat us on days when it's all going well," he said.

The victory not only allowed Harvick to pad his stats, it gives his No. 4 team a berth in the Chase for the Sprint Cup and allows the team to begin experimenting with setups that will help as they try to defend their championship. That's especially important this year because of the lower-downforce aero package.

"Winning this race is going to allow us to really start to hone in on characteristics because it's going to be different," Harvick said.

Edwards finished second, ahead of Denny Hamlin, Kyle Busch and Dale Earnhardt Jr.

Harvick and Kyle Busch are tied atop the points standings, but Harvick gets top billing because the tie-breaker is a driver's best finish, and Busch has yet to win this season, although he has not finished worse than fourth in the first four races.

Kevin Harvick edged Carl Edwards to the finish line by .01 seconds in the Good Sam 500 at Phoenix International Raceway.

Request for Qualifications
February 29, 2016

The City of Whiteville is seeking qualified firms to provide general architectural/engineering consultation and design for the Horace B. Whitley Municipal Building, otherwise known as City Hall, located at 317 S. Madison Street in Whiteville, N.C. The City anticipates selecting one firm to provide architectural/engineering services for possible renovations of City Hall and/or recommendations to City Council on the potential of demolition and new construction of a new facility. The City will use a variety of factors in the selection of qualified architectural/engineering firm including, but not limited to, specific municipal/governmental experience, references and other details about the firm's abilities.

The City of Whiteville reserves the right to hire additional firms if the selected firm cannot provide the expertise for the specific project. Key points of interest to the City are: 1) quality of work for past similar clients; 2) Ability to be responsive within 4 hours in most cases; 3) Track record in assisting clients with completing projects in a timely manner as well as working within the budgetary requirements.

Deadline:
Please return 5 copies of the general information requested and 5 copies of the requested examples of the firm's work no later than March 31, 2016 at 3pm. PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS ON U.S. 74/76 AT HALLSBORO ROAD (S.R. 1001) BY UPGRADING THE AT-GRADE INTERSECTION TO AN INTERCHANGE IN COLUMBUS COUNTY

TIP Project No. R-5749

The North Carolina Department of Transportation (NCDOT) will hold an informal public meeting regarding the proposed improvements on U.S. 74/76 at Hallsboro Road (S.R. 1001) by upgrading the at-grade intersection to an interchange in Columbus County.

The meeting will take place on Tuesday, March 22 from 5 until 7 p.m. at the Hallsboro Church of God, 312 Giles Byrd Road.

The purpose of the project is to allow traffic flow better and safer due to the reduction in conflict points.

The purpose of this meeting is for NCDOT representatives to provide information, and answer questions regarding this project. The opportunity to submit written comments will also be provided at the meeting or by mail no later than April 5. Interested citizens may attend at any time during the above mentioned hours. Note: There will not be a formal presentation.

Project maps are available online at <http://www.ncdot.gov/projects/public-meetings/>.

For additional information, contact Scott Pridgen, Division Project Manager at P.O. Box 1150, Fayetteville, NC, 28302, by phone: (910) 437-2611 or by e-mail at gspridgen@ncdot.gov.

NCDOT will provide auxiliary aids and services under the Americans with Disabilities Act for disabled persons who want to participate in this meeting. Anyone requiring special services should contact Anamika Laad at alaad@ncdot.gov or 919-707-6072 as early as possible so that arrangements can be made.

NCDOT will provide interpretive services upon request for persons who do not speak English, or have a limited ability to read, speak or understand English. Kindly request it prior to the meeting by calling 1-800-481-6494.

Aquellas personas que hablan español y no hablan inglés, o tienen limitaciones para leer, hablar o entender inglés, podrían recibir servicios de interpretación si los solicitan antes de la reunión llamando al 1-800-481-6494.

County Clerk of Court.

This property is located at 8492 Old
74 Highway, Evergreen North Carolina 28438.

The auction is scheduled to be held at 10:00 a.m., Thursday, April 21,
2016 in the Lobby at the Columbus
County Courthouse, Whiteville, North Carolina.

The high bidder for the property must present at the auction a bid deposit of five percent (5%) of the amount of the bid, either in cash or a certified check. This deposit will be held by the County until either the Board of Commissioners rejects the high bid for the property or, if the Board of Commissioners accepts the high bid, the closing of the sale. The deposit will be forfeited to the County if the high bidder refuses to close the sale after the bid has been approved by the Board of Commissioners.

After the auction, the high bid for the property will be reported to the Board of Commissioners. The Board of Commissioners will accept or reject the bid within 30 days after the bid is reported to it. No sale may be completed until the Board of Commissioners has approved the high bid.

The County reserves the right to withdraw any listed property from the auction at any time before the auction sale of that property.

URGENT

EMERGENCY

When it's urgent, but not an emergency.

Runny noses, scrapes and fevers don't make appointments. And neither will you at Columbus Regional's new Urgent Care facility. Whether you took a nasty spill or your child brought home a cold, you can rest easy knowing that help is just around the corner — no trip to the ER necessary. Get the attention you need, quickly and affordably. And the best part? You'll be getting the same professional, trusted care that comes with any Columbus Regional Healthcare service.

Now open 7 days a week, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

We are part of the CRHS network of providers, including primary care, occupational medicine and surgical special-ists. Just another way CRHS is #morethanahospital.

Located on the CRHS campus at 508 Jefferson Street.

Columbus County Advertisement of Tax Liens

on Real Property for the Year 2015

Under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by Section 105-369 of the North Carolina General Statutes, I am hereby advertising tax liens for the year 2015 upon the real estate described below. The amount advertised will be increased by interest and cost, and the omission of interest and costs from the amount advertised will not constitute a waiver of the taxing unit s claim for those items. The real estate subject to the lien is listed in the name of the owner on the date the property tax became delinquent, January 6, 2016. If the taxes remain unpaid, the taxing unit will foreclose the lien and the property sold to satisfy the taxing unit s claim for taxes. This advertising list includes 2015 unpaid taxes for the towns of Brunswick, Boardman, Cerro Gordo, Fair Bluff, Sandyfield, and Whiteville. For townships Bug Hill, South Williams, and Williams, see the Tabor City Tribune March 16, 2016 edition.

This 17th day of March, 2016.

Medicaid reform announced by state officials

State health officials unveiled an innovative, multi-year draft plan on March 1 for reforming North Carolina's Medicaid program. The plan transforms the state from a fee-for-service, or volume-based system to a pre-paid health plan that is value-based. The goal of the new system is to promote community based comprehensive care management that integrates behavioral health as well as physical health to ensure beneficiaries are reaching and maintaining the highest level of health possible.

The proposed plan requires transition of the current Medicaid and N.C. Health Choice service delivery system to capitated contracts with Prepaid Health Plans (PHPs).

Key components of the transition to capitated contracts with PHPs include the following:

The entities eligible for a PHP contract are provider-led entities (PLEs) and commercial plans (CPs).

PHPs will receive capitated per-member per-month payments to provide all covered services for their enrolled beneficiaries. In a capitated payment system, a health care provider or managed care organization is paid a set amount for each enrolled person assigned to them, per period of time, whether or not that person seeks care.

Geographical coverage of PHPs will include three statewide plans and up to 10 regional PLE plans operating in six regions, and will cover the entire state.

Populations covered by the PHPs will include all Medicaid and Health Choice beneficiaries, except beneficiaries who are dually eligible for Medicare and Medicaid.

All services will be covered by the PHPs, except for dental services.

The primary care case management function provided by North Carolina Community Care Networks, Inc. (NCCCN) will transition to PHPs.

Local Management Entities/Managed Care Organizations (LME/MCO) such as Eastpointe will be able to provide services through existing arrangements during the first four years of capitated PHP contracts.

The new plan is also designed to provide more accurate and responsible state budgeting.

Medicaid beneficiaries will continue receiving services in the way they do now, until reform is implemented, which is expected to take approximately 36 months. After implementation, beneficiaries can expect more choice, more engagement and more coordination of their care. Over the next two months, DHHS will hold a series of 10-12 listening sessions across the state to gather feedback from citizens and other stakeholders.

SCC offering industrial training

Several continuing education industrial training classes are slated to begin at Southeastern Community College in April: Intro to Welding, NFPA 70E Arc Flash, General Industry Forklift Certification, and Instrumentation and Controls.

To pre-register or for more information, call (910) 642-7141, ext. 296, 397 or ext. 425. A $70 registration and $55 insurance fee must be paid at the first class meeting of the all courses, except Instrumentation and Controls, for which a $125 fee will be charged.

Financial assistance with registration fees and books to gain new employment-related skills may be available through the Workforce Investment Opportunities Act (WIOA) and other funding sources.

To see if they qualify, students should contact the Columbus County NCWorks Career Center immediately at (910) 642-7141, ext. 261 or visit the Center in A-Building on the SCC campus.

Intro to Welding will be offered Fridays, April 1- May 6 from 5-9 p.m. in M Building, room 134. Students will learn the fundamentals of welding and cutting processes most often used in industry. Various welding processes and techniques will be practiced in hands-on lab activities. This course is performance and safety oriented.

NFPA 70E Arc Flash will be offered Saturday, April 9 from 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. in T Building, room 101.

The course will emphasize rules specified by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) using the NFPA 70E standards and will address real world challenges that electrical workers face on a daily basis. Students will learn the importance of avoiding oversights that could result in shock and arc-flash accidents.

General Industry Forklift Certification - Is your forklift certification OSHA compliant? A general industry forklift certification class is scheduled Monday and Wednesday, April 11-13, from 5- 9 p.m. in T-Building, room 101. The Forklift Student Guide/certification card is required and can be purchased on campus for $4.50. The course includes a discussion of the principles and policies of forklift safety, an explanation of the obligations of employers and employees, the recognition of tasks that may involve operator's exposure to danger. This course will consist of classroom instruction and student demonstration of competency to safely operate a forklift on an obstacle course. You must be at least 18 years old to attend.

Instrumentation and Controls will be offered Tuesdays and Thursdays,

April 12- May 12 from 5:30-9:30 p.m. in T Building, room 101. This course is designed to provide participants with a basic understanding of the concepts related to industrial electronics and control systems.

Students will be exposed to industrial semiconductors, AC and DC motors, discrete and analog process control, switches and sensors, control systems and principles of automation.

Wednesday Morning Bible Study

It's A Jungle Out There...

Life can get a little wild and crazy, with responsibilities coming at us from all directions. Wouldn't it be nice to find a refuge? A safe place we can share with our close ones? We can trust our faith in God to protect us. "The Lord is good, a refuge in times of trouble. He cares for those who trust in him...." (Nahum 1:14) Find tranquility from the world's troubles at your house of worship this week. Go and give thanks to God!

“HAVING CHURCH THE BIBLE WAY”
A Bible Centered Church for the Whole Family

Our Church Family would like to extend a friendly invitation for you to come and visit with us. Lynn Hill Baptist Church is now in its sixth year of ministry in Columbus County and is positioned to grow its ministry to serve the community. We are a congregation that is excited about serving the Lord and interacting in ministry together.

You will find a friendly and welcome atmosphere here where you can grow in the knowledge and love of Christ. Members can find many opportunities here to serve the Lord. Our ministry includes many special fellowship activities and annual events such as “Family Field and Faith Day” for the whole family, Labor Day Church Picnic, and a Fireside Fellowship amongst others. We have several conferences and revivals, with accomplished Evangelists and Preachers. Our Youth Ministry has regular “Youth Alive” meetings on Wednesday and Sunday nights where the youth are involved in crafts, games, and Bible leaning.

In the services you will receive helpful and practical Bible centered messages and teachings from the Bible. You'll also have triumphant and joyful conservative music which is inspiring and uplifting in preparing one's hearts for worshipping the Lord the Bible way. We are Savior Driven, Family Oriented, Mission Hearted and Christ Honoring. We hope to see you this Sunday.

Come and discover a church that still worships the Lord the Bible way. We are located near the Highway 74 off ramps and Union Valley Rd. Lynn Hill Road is the first road on the left after crossing

Tabor City

Happenings and Events

By Dianne Nobles Ward

Promotions Director, Town of Tabor City

Easter is just 11 days away and the Easter Bunny has big plans in Tabor City. Hop on down to Tabor City Elementary School on Saturday, March 19 and attend the Annual Easter Egg Hunt that will be hosted by the Greater Tabor City Chamber of Commerce. Due to all of the rain the location has changed to the school. Bring your Easter baskets and get ready to find lots of eggs and candy. The egg hunt will begin at 10 a.m. Should the March 19 event get rained out, they will hide and hunt eggs on Saturday, March 26...same time, same place. Bring your children. If you would like to get additional information call Cynthia Nelson, EVP of the Tabor City Chamber of Commerce at 377-3012. Stay tuned for more information regarding another fun event “Train Day” that will be hosted by the Chamber. A celebration is currently being planned to celebrate the arrival of R.J. Corman Railroad and the trains coming to Tabor City. Details for this event will be coming shortly.

Tabor City will be hosting the State Dixie Youth Baseball Tournament this summer. Opening ceremonies will be held Friday, July 1 at the Athletic Complex behind Food Lion. Games will begin Saturday, July 2. Tournament Chair Richard Miller and Wayne Owens, South Columbus Dixie Youth President, are meeting with volunteers in an effort to make certain everything is a go in July. Volunteers are needed. Ad sales for the Dixie Youth Baseball State Tournament program books have begun.

Also don't forget to mark your calendars for the Annual Fourth of July Fireworks Celebration Saturday, July 2 at South Columbus High School.

The Town of Tabor City participated in the Annual TIPS Dinner Saturday, February 27th. This year's event was held at Barefoot Church in Whiteville and was very well attended. Lots of money was raised and auction items flew off the tables.

The Tabor City Visitor Center hours are Monday-Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. and Saturday's from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Stop by and get information about the beautiful state of N.C. and her many destination spots. Free Our State magazines, phone books, N.C. and Tabor City maps are available as well. Until next week.....

Living Hope offers free prenatal vitamins

In an effort to better serve their pregnant clients and to promote better health in Columbus County, Living Hope Pregnancy Support Services has begun offering a free 6-month supply of prenatal vitamins to women who have positive pregnancy tests.

This allows a pregnant woman to begin taking prenatal vitamins as early as possible in her pregnancy to help ensure her health and the healthy development of her unborn child.

The vitamins have been provided to Living Hope through a grant from Vitamin Angels of Santa Barbara, California.

The provision of free prenatal vitamins is the newest service of Living Hope, which is celebrating 25 years of service to Columbus County. Other services include free pregnancy tests and estimated due dates necessary for applying for Medicaid for Pregnant Women, and an Earn While You Learn incentive program. Living Hope provides ser-

So what is DE?

There was a time when the only flea product I would use was a chemical flea product. I wasn't informed that there was a choice. One day I noticed a dairy farmer had placed a burlap bag over the barn entrance. As his cows entered the barn they were dusted. Thinking this might be a great way to keep fleas off the dog, I used the principal of dusting by using a pump-type duster. More was dusted on me than the dog, however it worked.

So what product was used to do this little experiment? It's called Diatomaceous earth (DE). It was and still is my choice for “dusting” as it will eventually do what you want it to do except for one little problem, it can get in the eyes and nose of your pet and possibly you, as well as the cell phone or computer you might have near-by so be very careful. It does take time to work, unlike today's chemical products, which work almost instantly. DE will also work in the garden and around the house. Diatomaceous Earth can be used safely on many surfaces and floor coverings, vacuuming up the DE after allowed to sit for at least a few hours or overnight. Daily vacuuming is an important component of household flea control, regardless of what you use.

So What is DE?

DE is a fine-flour looking powder. It works by penetrating the shell of any walking insect, those with hard shells. It does so by cutting through the shells with microscopic fossilized diatoms, a type of algae. They are made of silica, a component of glass. Fleas and other insects with an exoskeleton (hard shell) are susceptible to the glass-sharp edges of the microscopic diatoms. The silica shards cut through the waxy exoskeleton surface, effectively drying out the flea, resulting in death to these types of insects and their larvae. For serious flea infestations of yard and garden though, a consultation with a pest exterminator is in order.

The good news is that Diatomaceous Earth is non-toxic to humans and animals; it is even used in some foods, (food-grade quality, not the DE used for pool filtration systems) and some health supplements. DE is also used for a variety of beauty and health care products.

Diatomaceous Earth does not have any residual problems, and because it is a mechanical killer versus a chemical killer, resistance to DE is not a problem.

Charlene High is the former publisher and editor of Natural Pet magazine, and has been involved with breeding horses, dogs and cats for more than 30 years. If you would like information on how to obtain DE or if you have an opinion on this topic, just send an email to yourpetrxtopics@gmail.com or write “yourpetrx” care of this newspaper.

You can also see us on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/yourpetrxtopics>.

Coconut controls diarrhea for dogs and people

By JOE AND TERESA GRAEDON
King Features Syndicate

Q. My dog gets colitis when she is under stress. The veterinarian prescribed medicines that help, but she can’t stay on them all of the time. Knowing my mother’s success with coconut macaroons to ease diarrhea after cancer treatments,

I thought of giving some to our dog. I didn’t want to give her cookies with sugar, so I just sprinkle unsweetened coconut (about 1/2 teaspoon) on her two meals a day, and all is well! She accepts it, and the diarrhea problem is kept under control.

A. Coconut has a reputation for combatting chronic diarrhea. We first heard about this remedy (two Archway brand coconut macaroon cookies daily) from Donald Agar in 1998. He suffered from diarrhea due to long-standing Crohn’s disease. His discovery was serendipity, but there is some actual research to support his experience. A study in the Journal of Medicinal Food (December 2013) found that virgin coconut oil and its component fatty acids discourage Clostridium difficile (C. diff) overgrowth.

Another reader inquired: “I assume it’s the coconut in the macaroons that does the trick. If so, rather than buying cookies, I would like to make them myself, gluten- and dairy-free. Am I missing the point of the cookies, or will my homemade ones work just as well?”

The coconut macaroon recipe we offer in our book “Recipes and Remedies” (online at www.PeoplesPharmacy.com) contains no gluten or dairy.

Q. After 10 years of suffering with restless legs syndrome (RLS), requiring ever-increasing amounts of ropinirole (Requip) to sleep, I thought I was losing my mind due to lack of sleep.

I spent hours pacing during the night, and usually slept in our second bedroom so that I would not disturb my wife. Even with medication, I needed to get up around 1 or 2 a.m. and work through a second episode of RLS before finally falling asleep again. Then the RLS suddenly stopped.

I told my wife that I wasn’t having the issue any longer and was puzzled by the change. Then she informed me that a co-worker suggested putting soap under the sheet. She had put a bar under our bottom sheet to see if it actually worked.

I still take my meds (because I am paranoid about not sleeping), but I need only a minimum dose. So far I’m thrilled with this bizarre solution.

A. We have heard from many people who use the soap remedy to prevent nighttime leg cramps. People with RLS also may find this remedy beneficial. We are pleased you’ve gotten such a good response.

The News Reporter, Thursday, March 17 2016 -- 5C

Another reader tried a different approach, which you might want to keep in mind if you need it in the future:

“I suffered from restless leg syndrome. After hunting for remedies, I realized all the products had magnesium in them. I bought a bottle of magnesium and take one every night. I have not had any more attacks.”

Q. I have painful idiopathic neuropathy in my feet and lower legs. I vaguely recall you suggesting benfotiamine for the pain. What dose is appropriate? I would like to give it a try and see if I get any relief. I have been using alpha-lipoic acid for years. It really hasn’t helped, so I would like to try benfo-

A. Benfotiamine is a B vitamin that has been shown to prevent the accumulation of dangerous compounds (advanced glycation end products) that lead to diabetic neuropathy (Diabetes, Obesity and Metabolism, December 2015).

One physician who uses this approach suggests starting with a dose of 300 mg twice a day. If his patients respond, he recommends a maintenance dose of 150 mg twice a day. Benfotiamine is available without a prescription.

In their column, Joe and Teresa Graedon answer letters from readers. Write to them in care of this newspaper or email them via their Web site: www.PeoplesPharmacy.com. Their newest book is “Top Screwups Doctors Make and How to Avoid Them.”

Music = Math!

Mini Quote:

“Music is the pleasure that the human soul experiences from counting without being aware that it is counting.”

—German mathematician
Gottfried Wilhelm
von Leibniz

March is Music in Our Schools Month, but we don’t have to limit music to just one month or to music class. Most concepts in music make noteworthy connections to math!

Rhythm and arithmetic

You have sung many songs without realizing you are counting beats with a certain pattern. For example, clap along while you sing “Rock-a-Bye Baby.” Notice how the syllables of the lullaby naturally suggest counts of 1-2-3 as you sing it, even though some syllables get more than one beat.

Fractions in music

We say “Rock-a-Bye Baby” is in “three-quarter time” because each measure, marked off by vertical lines in the sheet music, contains the equivalent of three quarter notes. (The time signature visually resembles the fraction 3/4.) Other songs have different rhythmic patterns. For example, a popular song in “four-four time” (where each measure gets the equivalent of four quarter notes) is “Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star.”

Notes can be whole notes, or half, quarter, eighth, 16th, 32nd or 64th notes. In 4/4 time, a whole note gets four beats.

Using fraction math, you can see that $\frac{1}{2} + \frac{1}{4} + \frac{1}{8} + \frac{1}{8} = 1$, just as four quarter notes would also add up to 1. Can you think of other fractions that would add up to 1?

Harmony and fractions

Borrow a guitar from a teacher or friend. The length of a guitar string affects the pitch of the note the string makes.

Choose one of the strings and pluck it, then play that same string while holding it down against the fretboard so that only half of the string’s length is free to vibrate. You notice not only the mathematical relationship that shortened strings have a higher pitch, but the two notes also sound the same, yet different.

Harmony involves fractions. The string lengths are in a 2-to-1 ratio, and the shorter length vibrates twice as much as the longer length. This produces the sound of an octave.

What other words does octave remind you of? Octagon? Octopus? If you write out the major scale (do, re, mi, fa, so, la, ti, do), the “low do” and “high do” span eight notes. (Play the white piano keys from C to the next highest C, for example.)

The low C and the high C are the same note, but different octaves.

Graphing music

We can see that sheet music notation is really just a graph. Written music graphs two variables: the length of time (duration) of each note, and the pitch (frequency) of that note.

Math songs

Not only is there math in music, but you can also bring music to math by singing (or writing!) songs about math.

The National Museum of Mathematics has held contests for math teachers and students to write math songs. Try taking a song you know and changing the words or adding onto it to illustrate whatever math concepts you are now learning in school.

Cook’s Corner

Easy Cheesy Corn Dish

You’ll need:

- 4 slices pre-cooked bacon
- 1 (15.25-ounce) can of sweet whole-kernel corn, drained
- 1/2 cup reduced-fat cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup mozzarella cheese

- 1/4 cup low-fat milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground sage
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

What to do:

1. Heat pre-cooked bacon according to directions. Crumble into small pieces.
2. Combine all ingredients in a small baking dish. Place uncovered in a cold oven. Set for 400 degrees and bake for 12 minutes.
3. Remove dish from oven; stir ingredients thoroughly.
4. Place back in 400-degree oven and bake 10 more minutes until bubbly. Cheese and milk will form a sauce in the casserole. Serves 4.

* You’ll need an adult’s help with this recipe.

Get every child ready to read at Smart Start

The Columbus County Partnership for Children (Smart Start) is preparing to offer Every Child Ready to Read® @ your library® (ECRR). This program is a parent education initiative that places emphasis on the fact that literacy begins with parents and other primary caregivers in a child's life as their first teachers.

This interactive project will be offered to families with children ages birth to five in this month. After completing the required training sessions, each family will receive a $50 voucher to purchase books from the Scholastic Book Fair at the Smart Start Early Learning Facility (ELF), a one-year membership to the ELF and a certificate of completion.

Interested parents, grandparents or primary caregivers should call the ELF at 212-6352 to register. A maximum of 10 families will be accepted to participate. Prior participants are not eligible. Classes will meet March 29 and 31, and April 5 and 7 from 1 to 2 p.m. Participation is required in order to receive incentives.

The principles of ECRR are supported by several studies and designed to offer the tools and strategies that parents and caregivers can use to help teach children to read in a fun and engaging way. Emphasis is placed on six beliefs, including "reading is an essential life skill, learning to read begins at birth, and parents and caregivers are a child's first and best teachers."

The four-part training includes an introductory workshop and three subsequent training workshops to facilitate children learning the five early literacy skills of talking, singing, reading, writing and playing.

Workshop topics include Fun with Words, Fun with Letters and Fun with Science and Math for Parents and Children.

Each session will involve interaction between the parent/caregiver and the child, so the child must be present with the caregiver. Families are encouraged to register early since space is limited.

Register and request additional information by calling 212-6352. For information about the Columbus County Partnership for Children or its various other activities, call 642-8226. Visit the Partnership at 109 W. Main St. in Whiteville or online at www.columbusmartstart.org. "Like" the Columbus County Partnership for Children on Facebook.

Google hangouts

Chadbourn schools plan forum

Chadbourn's middle and elementary schools will have a parent involvement forum Thursday, March 17 at 5:30 p.m. in Chadbourn Baptist Church. A full course supper will be served and parents, pastors, community leaders, school personnel, business leaders and church members are urged to attend to discuss vision for the community, educational concerns for children, school events and what research says about parent involvement.

Based around the theme, "It takes a Village to Raise A Child," the goal is to have open discussion to determine how to enhance and impact the lives of children in the Chadbourn community. People are encouraged to come prepared to discuss their dreams, wishes and aspirations for the community.

All who plan to attend should call Chadbourn Middle at 654-4300, Chadbourn Elementary at 654-3825, or email parent coordinator Dorothy Bellamy at dbellamy@columbus.k12.nc.us. A head count is necessary in order to prepare food for supper.

In North Carolina Donald trumps the GOP but not Hillary

With less than a month until North Carolina holds its presidential primary elections, Republican registered voters – and those Independents who lean Republican – favor real estate mogul Donald Trump over all other candidates vying to be the GOP nominee in the 2016 race for the White House, according to the latest Elon University Poll.

But Trump would currently lose a general election match-up to Democratic Party front-runner – former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton – among all likely voters.

It's not that North Carolinians love Clinton, the Elon University Poll found.

When respondents were asked their opinions about a series of hypothetical match-ups this fall, Clinton and Texas Republican Sen. Ted Cruz were in a statistical dead heat – and Florida Republican Sen. Marco Rubio would likely carry North Carolina.

Yet neither Cruz nor Rubio hold the same command as Trump in the crowded Republican field.

And on the Democratic side of the election, despite trailing Hillary Clinton in North Carolina in their party's primary election, Vermont Sen. Bernie Sanders would also beat Trump and Cruz in a hypothetical match-up.

However, in North Carolina, Sanders would fall to Rubio in a potential match-up.

The Elon University Poll's live-caller, dual frame (landline and cell phone) survey of 1,530 likely voters – was conducted Feb. 15-19.

The survey had a margin of error of 2.51 percentage points for a sample of North Carolinian likely voters weighted by age, gender, race and phone use.

With questions asked just of the 733 registered Republicans and Republican-leaning Independents, the margin of error was 3.62 percentage points.

With questions asked of the 728 registered Democrats and Democratic-leaning Independents, the margin of error was 3.63 percentage points.

Favored Republicans
Donald Trump: 28 percent; Ted Cruz: 19 percent; Marco Rubio: 16 percent; Ben Carson: 10 percent; John Kasich: 7 percent; Jeb Bush*: 4 percent; Other: 1 percent; Undecided: 15 percent.

* Former Florida Gov. Jeb Bush announced the suspension of his campaign following the South Carolina primaries Feb. 20, one day after the Elon University Poll concluded its calls.

Rubio stands the most to gain in North Carolina as the Republican field narrows. Registered Republicans and Republican-leaning Independents were asked about their second choice for the party's nominee, and Rubio's name was cited by 22 percent of respondents.

Cruz was named by 18 percent of respondents, and Carson by 13 percent.

Nine percent of respondents named Trump as their second choice.

Trump holds another distinction in the latest Elon University Poll: topping the list of "worst choice" for president. Thirty-nine percent of all likely voters described Trump as such.

He was followed on the "worst choice" list by Clinton at 29 percent and Sanders at 12 percent.

"As in the rest of the nation, Trump leads North Carolina in having both the most supporters among GOP primary voters and the most detractors among just about everyone else," said Assistant Professor Kenneth Fernandez, director of the Elon University Poll. "The paradox of Trump is that he is simultaneously leading the Republican field while being the Republican that voters in both parties are most likely to say would make the worst president of the United States."

Favored Democrats
Hillary Clinton: 47 percent; Bernie Sanders: 37 percent; Other: 1 percent; Undecided/Don't Know: 14 percent.

Former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton's 10-point lead over Sanders, a U.S. senator from Vermont, is smaller than it was in November when she led Sanders by 33 points. Clinton does better with those voters who are registered Democrats (58-28 percent) ; Sanders does better among Independents who lean Democratic (66-25 percent).
