2021 ACC COLLEGE FOOTBALL PREVIEW

5 GAMES TO WATCH

SEPT. 4

NO. 3 CLEMSON VS. NO. 5 GEORGIA

Primetime clash of two powerhouses could have national title implications, as Clemson attempts to make its seventh straight appearance in the playoffs.

SEPT. 4

NO. 14 MIAMI VS. NO. 1 ALABAMA

Miami quarterback D'Eriq King tore his ACL in the Cheez-It Bowl, but is expected to be back to face the reigning national champion Tide.

SEPT. 18

VIRGINIA TECH AT WEST VIRGINIA

The old Big East rivals will meet for only the second time since 2005. West Virginia owns the overall series 28-23-1, but the Hokies are riding a three-game winning streak against the Mountaineers dating back to 2004.

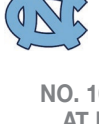

OCT. 16

NO. 14 MIAMI AT NO. 10 UNC

This game could determine the eventual Coastal Division champion; North Carolina and Miami were picked to finish No. 1 and No. 2, respectively.

NOV. 11

NO. 10 UNC AT PITT

Since Pitt joined the ACC in 2013, every game between these two teams has been decided by seven points or fewer. The division could be on the line.

University of Pittsburgh Athletics and University of North Carolina Athletics/Grant Halverson

The University of Pittsburgh's Kenny Pickett, left, and the University of North Carolina's Sam Howell headline a strong group of quarterbacks in the spotlight this season for teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

YEAR OF THE QB

Lawrence is gone, but many great arms remain across conference

It may seem odd to refer to 2021 as the Year of the Quarterback in the ACC – right after Trevor Lawrence's dominant Clemson career ended. But that's what this season is shaping up to be.

Of the 14 ACC teams, 13 will be helmed by quarterbacks with starting experience. North Carolina's Sam Howell is perhaps the best known after excelling during his first two seasons with the Tar Heels. Howell is one of the top contenders for the Heisman Trophy and is already projected as an early pick in next year's NFL draft. The emergence of Howell has North Carolina favored to win the ACC Coastal Division. "We've gotten all this publicity and all that's cool, but you've got to produce," North Carolina coach Mack Brown said. "Sam's gonna play good, but we've got to play good enough as a team before he can be considered for the Heisman at the end." The team picked to win the conference will have a new quarterback this year as D.J. Uiagalelei begins his first season as a full-time starter for Clemson. The sophomore signal caller steps into the large shoes left by Lawrence, but Uiagalelei is no slouch himself. The California native completed 67% of his passes in 10 games, including two starts, while throwing five touchdowns and no interceptions. The most experienced returning quarterback is Pitt's Kenny Pickett, with 36 starts under his belt. The senior elected to return to the Panthers for a fifth season, his fourth as a starter, instead of going to the NFL. "It's a deep conference," Pickett said. Howell, Uiagalelei and Pickett are joined by five other ACC quarterbacks on the list for the Maxwell

Award, which is given to the best player in college football. Brennan Armstrong (Virginia), Malik Cunningham (Louisville), Phil Jurkovec (Boston College), D'Eriq King (Miami) and McKenzie Milton (Florida State) were also named to the Maxwell Award watch list. Cunningham, Howell, Jurkovec and King were all named to both the Davey O'Brien Award watch list and the Manning Award watch list. Milton and Uiagalelei joined those four on the O'Brien Award list, while Pickett joined them on the Manning Award list. Uiagalelei, Howell and King are among the favorites to win the Heisman Trophy – according to both Vegas Insider and BetOnline.ag. "It's an exceptional class of quarterbacks that we've got to defend, for every defense in this conference," Pitt coach Pat Narduzzi said. Milton, a former UCF star, is returning to the field after missing two seasons following a major knee injury in late 2018. Milton was 29-6 as a starter in three years at UCF and finished sixth in Heisman voting in 2018. Cunningham will be looking for both he and his team to return to their winning ways in 2019 after the Cardinals finished last season with a 4-7 record, a drop-off from the 8-5 mark they posted the previous year. Jurkovec finally got to show off his talents in his first year at Boston College after transferring from Notre Dame. Jurkovec's 2,558 passing yards in his first 10 starts were the most by any Boston College signal caller in history. King is returning for another season at Miami, his second with the Hurricanes after spending four seasons at Houston. In 2020, King completed 64% of his passes while throwing 23 touchdowns and rushing for four more scores. Regardless of which team comes out on top in the ACC this year, the quarterback play should be entertaining at the very least. "I think we're in for a great year for quarterbacks in the ACC," Pickett said.

3 STORIES TO FOLLOW

1 WILL CLEMSON CONTINUE ITS SUCCESS WITH D.J. UIAGALELEI AT QUARTERBACK?

The sophomore quarterback has big shoes to fill as Trevor Lawrence's successor. Will Uiagalelei be able to lead the Tigers to the College Football Playoff again?

2 HOW EFFECTIVE WILL MCKENZIE MILTON BE FOR FLORIDA STATE?

McKenzie Milton was a dynamic quarterback at UCF, but a catastrophic knee injury in late 2018 kept him off the field for the past two seasons. Transfer Milton played well in FSU's spring game, but will that translate to the regular season?

3 HOW GOOD CAN NORTH CAROLINA BE?

Expectations are high for Mack Brown's Tar Heels and quarterback Sam Howell. Come mid-October, they face a four-game stretch that includes games against Miami, at Notre Dame and at Pitt, that will test their mettle.

PICK THE CHAMP

Pitt beat reporter Amanda Filipcic-Godsey makes her picks for the ACC divisional standings and champion.

ATLANTIC DIVISION	 (12-0)	 (9-3)	 (8-4)	 (6-6)	 (5-7)	 (4-8)	 (3-9)
COASTAL DIVISION	 (10-2)	 (9-3)	 (8-4)	 (7-5)	 (6-6)	 (3-9)	 (3-9)

DIVISION CHAMPS

ACC CHAMPION

Will the ACC champ make and/or win the college playoffs?

Clemson should make its seventh consecutive trip to the college football playoffs, but it's going to be tough to stop an Alabama repeat a year after the Crimson Tide outscored opponents by 29 points per game.

2021 BIG TEN FOOTBALL PREVIEW

5 GAMES TO WATCH

SEPT. 4

NO. 17 INDIANA AT NO. 18 IOWA

Two ranked teams with Big Ten title aspirations will square off to the start the season in a momentum-building matchup.

SEPT. 11

NO 11 OREGON AT NO. 4 OHIO STATE

The Big Ten champion Buckeyes will host the Pac 12 champion Ducks in their home opener, looking to contain Oregon pass rush threat Kayvon Thibodeaux.

SEPT. 18

AUBURN AT NO. 19 PENN STATE

Another critical non-conference matchup for the Big Ten as the Nittany Lions will host traditional SEC power Auburn in a White Out game.

OCT. 23

NO. 4 OHIO STATE AT NO. 17 INDIANA

The Hoosiers are seeking a Big Ten breakthrough win after the Buckeyes held on to beat Indiana 42-35 last season, despite five touchdown passes from IU QB Michael Penix Jr.

OCT. 30

NO. 19 PENN STATE AT NO. 4 OHIO STATE

The Big Ten title goes through the East Division. The Nittany Lions and Buckeyes could be positioned to battle for the division crown in late October.

TIME TO RISE

Big Ten teams looking forward to smoother 2021 after season marred by coronavirus

As Big Ten football teams enter the 2021 season, there is a feeling of normalcy.

Coaches and teams have held spring and fall practices without interruption. The threat of the pandemic remains, with the Delta variant hitting certain states like Texas and Florida hard. But the majority of teams in the conference are close to 100 percent vaccinated, making the likelihood of teamwide COVID-19 outbreaks less likely.

The pandemic affected different Big Ten programs in different ways in 2020. Ohio State, with its overwhelming talent, steamrolled to its fourth straight conference title. But two other conference bluebloods struggled. Michigan went 2-4 before shutting down the season in late November after a teamwide COVID-19 outbreak. Penn State lost its first five games before winning its final four to salvage some pride heading into the 2021 season.

"It reinforced some things that I realized and that I already knew, but it reinforced it," Penn State coach James Franklin said. "I'm a relational leader. I always have been. I want to connect with people, I want to be face-to-face, I want to embrace, I want to hug, I want to scream, I want to yell. That's who I am. And having every meeting up until Game 5 over Zoom and not in person and with a mask on when people can't see the emotion and the connection and the love that I have for them, had an effect."

Franklin is hopeful that those connections, and playing in front of full crowds of 107,000 at Beaver Stadium, will help spur the Nittany Lions to a quick turnaround in 2021.

"We'll be better for it," Franklin said. "It was painful on all of us and I get that, but I'm excited about where we're headed and what we're going to do this year."

West Division contender Minnesota was breaking in a defense with seven new starters and canceled two games in late November and early December due to a teamwide COVID-19 outbreak. The Gophers finished the year 3-4.

"I don't put a lot of stock into just the record, like all of you do, from last year," Minnesota coach P.J. Fleck said. "There was a lot of different things that were way more important to football that we focused on."

Iowa, meanwhile, was breaking in a new starting quarterback, Spencer Petras, who struggled in his first two games with the Hawkeyes. Petras threw just one TD pass to three interceptions in Iowa's first two games, both losses. But the 6-foot-5 Petras regrouped, leading Iowa to six straight wins to close the season by throwing eight TDs to two interceptions during that span.

"Spencer wasn't afforded the luxury of going through a spring practice as our starter or our normal preseason practice in the month of August," Iowa coach Kirk Ferentz said. "So I thought he did remarkably well considering the obstacles that he had to overcome."

Even Indiana, following its breakthrough 6-2 season in 2020, sees room for improvement in 2021. IU offensive coordinator Nick Sheridan didn't have the benefit of putting together a full playbook in his first season in 2020, based on the constant interruptions and loss of players due to positive tests or contact tracing.

"Our playbook was modified relative to the volume because of the time to prepare in practice," Sheridan said. "You were day-to-day relative to what the schedule was going to look like. Relative to what practice, preparation, and meetings would be so you were trying to adjust the best you could."

Kevin Brockway, CNHI Sports Indiana

5 NAMES TO KNOW

CHRIS OLAVE
WR | OHIO STATE

Olave paced all B1G receivers in 2020 by averaging 104.1 yards. His seven TDs and 729 yards receiving ranked second in the conference.

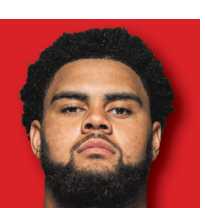

MICHAEL PENIX JR.
QB | INDIANA

Penix threw for 1,645 yards and 14 touchdowns in just over five games. He suffered a season-ending ACL injury against Maryland.

JAQUAN BRISKER
S | PENN STATE

Brisker thrived during his first season as a starter last year, with a team third-best 57 tackles.

HASKELL GARRETT
DT | OHIO STATE

Garrett posted career-highs in tackles (20), tackles for loss (four), sacks (two) and defensive touchdowns (one).

TYLER LINDERBAUM
OL | IOWA

Iowa running backs ran behind a Linderbaum-led line for 18 rushing TDs (second in Big Ten).

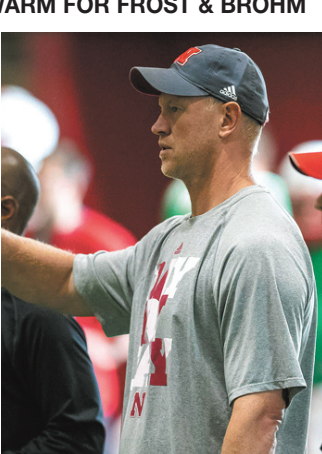

3 STORIES TO FOLLOW

1 COVID-19 CONCERNS

Unlike last year, the 2021 season has a firm start and end date. Similar to last year, however, is the looming threat of the coronavirus. Only two Big Ten teams — Penn State and Rutgers — made it through the 2020 regular season uninterrupted. Despite the presence of a COVID-19 vaccine, teams' and the Big Ten's management of the virus will be the dominant topic.

2 SEAT GETTING WARM FOR FROST & BROHM

Nebraska's Scott Frost (right) and Purdue's Jeff Brohm could feel the proverbial heat should their teams fail to show improved records this season. Frost is just 12-20 in three seasons at his alma mater, while Brohm has produced a 19-25 resume in four seasons with the Boilermakers. Fans of both programs are growing increasingly impatient.

3 KEEPING UP WITH THE SEC

Alabama's win over Ohio State in the College Football Playoff national championship last season added more fodder to the Big Ten-SEC rivalry. It's been six years since the Big Ten produced a national champion in Ohio State. Meanwhile, the SEC has churned out four since then in Alabama (three) and LSU. Then the SEC stole the offseason with the announcement of its impending expansion to include Texas and Oklahoma from the Big 12.

BIG TEN CHAMPION

CNHI Sports writers Kevin Brockway and Elton Hayes are split on which West Division team will make the title game. But they agree on which team will be the Big Ten Champion ... Brockway picks Ohio State over Wisconsin 45-24. Hayes is taking Ohio State over Iowa 35-17.
