Unlikely survivor: Organ transplant, cancer, and still here

BY JAMIE LUND
EDITOR@MLSTARGAZETTE.COM

“On our anniversary he was in his bed getting chemo and I was in mine,” said Deacon Wendy Hjelmberg. “He looked at me and said “I don't know if your my girlfriend or my wife, but can I come lay with you because I'm scared.””

She told him she had been his girlfriend for 36 years and his wife for 34 years and that she would come over and lay down with him.

Randy Hjelmberg, now 66, was 11-years-old when he began showing symptoms of Type 1 diabetes.

One day he had a diabetic reaction and went to the hospital. They stabilized his blood sugar and soon had him practice giving shots on a grapefruit.

“It was no big deal when it was a grapefruit,” Randy said. “But when I had to put it into my arm it was a whole different story.”

The family lived in Lindstrom at the time. He said his dad treated him to a big glass of milk and a cinnamon roll at the local bakery on Saturday mornings. He wondered if that was the start of his diabetes.

“It wasn't an easy life that we lived,” Randy said. “But we made do.”

He explained that they didn't know much about the disease in the mid 1960s. The only diabetic friendly treats at the time were Fresca and Tab. His mom kept him on a strict diet to manage his blood sugar levels. That was tough on a growing teenage boy. Randy ate tuna sandwiches, celery sticks, carrot sticks and a pickle for lunch until he graduated high school.

Randy and Wendy Hjelmberg hold their pups, Lucy and Kady.

The hungry teen went around the school lunchroom and ate other kids' leftovers, which caused his blood sugar levels to rise. However, his after school newspaper route brought the levels down before he got home for supper.

He married Wendy on June

10, 1978.

The insulin reactions off and on over the years caused organ and nerve damage. As a result he developed diabetic retinopathy, an eye condition that can be managed if it is caught early

Living in campers not allowed in most Pine County areas

BY T.A. LEBRUN
EDITOR@PINECITYMN.COM

An amendment to a zoning ordinance has been passed by the Pine County Board of Commissioners requires individuals occupying a camping trailer as their primary residence, to have means of sewage management, effective April 19, within all areas where Pine County regulates septic systems. The County regulates septic systems within 27 of the 33 townships as well as most cities.

Anderson said at the April 19 regular county board meeting that the ordinance to regulate the septic system requirements for campers on private property was originally put together because townships and cities wanted to have this area of zoning administered by the County.

Caleb Anderson, Pine County land & resource manager, said that the issue of living in campers was brought up a year ago and is a common call they get. He said that the County's septic ordinance does not currently address issues like this.

With the new language in the ordinance, Anderson said, “You have to have some type of facilities for a camper if you're not using it for occasional use ... if you're receiving mail at the property and it's serving as their principal dwelling, that is much different than if someone owns an RV that's back behind the house that isn't being used as the principal dwelling.” He added that installing a mound system isn't required and that a privy or tank would work.

County commissioner, Steve Hallan, asked if this would apply to people living in their camper while their house is being built. Anderson said that it would not apply to those types of situations. He added that those are not the type of calls they receive.

During the public hearing portion of the meeting, a Pine Lake Township man, Gerald Schoenrock, brought up individuals living in campers in his township. Anderson noted that there is enforcement and violation action that is in process in that situation.

ORDINANCE LANGUAGE

The ordinance states that it is illegal for any person to maintain, occupy or use any building (which includes recreational vehicles) intended for habitation that has a powered well directly connected to the building unless it has a subsurface sewage treatment system (SSTS) that disposed of wastewater in a manner that complies with the provision of the ordinance.

Language of the ordinance states that a recreational vehicle being used for

Long cold winter may break in May along with the dry spell

In small market television, you become a jack of all trades. In the last 35 years, I've done extra duty from janitor to receptionist. From 1998 to 2003, I was also sports reporter. Covering baseball this time of year was always hard because of rain and lingering snow. Track and field was tough, too. Not long ago, I ran into one of East Central's discus-throwers at a shoe store. He said the practice field was a big lake due to recent heavy rains. Though that may be a short-term pain, it is a long-term benefit. Last year, parts of Pine and Carlton Counties were under the gun for extreme drought. (category D3 on the U.S. Drought Monitor's chart) Thanks to a wet winter this year, the drought has gone away and we're back to normal conditions. Right now, the numbers indicate a cold 2022 so far. April was 5 degrees colder than normal. March was 3 degrees colder than normal. February was 9.5 degrees colder than normal. January was 7.6 degrees colder than normal. The numbers also show precip has picked up after last year's extreme drought. April's rain equivalent total was 1.5 inches more than normal. That would roughly be equal to 15 extra inches of snow. In May, we may not gain or lose ground in that journey because long range forecasters think we'll get normal rainfall to the tune of three inches or so. The long rangers (sounds like a cowboy outfit) also think spring will finally get here as average temperatures go towards nine degrees more than normal. Take that with a grain of salt, though, because they also said that about April. As this is being written on April 26th, stats from National Weather Service Duluth say we are five degrees cooler than normal as mentioned above. The long rangers feel May will play out like this: May 1-6 should be sunny, dry and warm. May 7-23 could be warm with frequent thunderstorms. May 24-31 should feature a cool down with showery conditions. A quick look at the extreme long range forecast indicates June will be warmer than normal, July normal and August cooler than normal. I guess we'll find out if this is true when we get there.

June Weather

enough or requires surgery if it is not. He lost kidney function until only one worked at about 12 percent of normal capacity. Randy was also diagnosed with diabetic neuropathy. High blood sugar can injure nerves throughout the body, but is most common in the hands and feet, according to mayoclinic.org. "I could't feel when I cut myself," Randy said. "I made lots of trips to the emergency room."

THE TRANSPLANT

In 1995 the couple attended a presentation in Duluth to learn more about insulin pumps. They spoke with the doctor after the presentation. He said Randy was an excellent candidate for a kidney and pancreas transplant. Later that year, Randy suffered a severe diabetic reaction and was rushed to the hospital in an ambulance. He remembered a few details clearly, the siren blasting, a big wooden door and the sound of his wife and daughter crying as he begged to be freed from the gurney.

"As I was hollering and screaming, all of a sudden I found myself up in the corner of the room near the ceiling," Randy said. "I could see the whole emergency room. I could see the doctor working on me and my wife and daughter nearby. All of a sudden I went back into my body and back to sleep and woke up the next morning.

Randy was placed on a transplant waiting list and required to wear a pager at all times.

A year later the pager went off and he raced to the hospital and waited for hours, but the organs were not usable and he was sent back home.

In 1999 he finally received his organ transplant.

"We kept our suitcases packed and in the middle of the kitchen floor like we were expecting a baby," Randy said.

The call came in at 8:30 a.m. and he was in a hospital room by 11:30 a.m. He was wheeled into surgery at noon and came out about midnight. His wife told him everything went well.

The new organs were added without removing the old ones, resulting in three kidneys and two pancreas.

His new kidney is near his belly button.

"We kept our suitcases packed and in the middle of the kitchen floor like we were expecting a baby,"

Randy Hjelmberg
Organ donation recipient

"Some doctors get excited when I have x-rays and they see extra organs," Randy said with a chuckle.

The doctors told the couple the average life expectancy after the two organ transplant is about six years. Randy defied the odds and is still here 23 years later.

His diabetes was gone with the new pancreas, although he did go back to the hospital several times due to blood clots.

"It's been an adventure," Randy said. "They cut you open and put new things in and say there you go, try to live life as best as you can."

Randy struggled with guilt after the transplant. The young man who died in North Dakota was close to his age. He encourages everyone to become organ donors.

BRAIN CANCER

The anti-rejection drugs that allowed his body to accept the new organs also killed off his body's ability to protect itself.

In 2012 he was diagnosed with brain cancer. The doctors discovered eight brain tumors that affected 70 percent of his brain. The doctor told his family his organs would survive with a full dose of chemo.

"They basically kill you and bring you back," Randy said. "I called it liquid death. They came in dressed in moon suits because they didn't want any of the liquid on the nurses. They shoved chemo in my body for a day, then I peed it out the rest of the week."

He did not recognize his wife or kids at times while undergoing chemo.

"It was horrible," Wendy said. One time while he was getting chemo, he said he wasn't sure if she was his girlfriend or wife, but asked if he could lay down with her as he was afraid.

He still suffers from short term memory loss due to the chemo.

They didn't expect Randy to survive, but he beat the odds.

The treatment worked and he was cancer free in 25 days, but continued the routine for a year. While in the hospital he was in the bathroom and fell and hit his head and suffered a second near death experience.

2016 was another rough year. Randy was diagnosed with MRSA, a staph infection that is resistant to most medications, MRSA related pneumonia and mono. He was no longer able to work and quit his job. He filed for social security and disability twice and was turned down. Later a judge awarded him both and said he should never have been turned down.

"During that waiting time, Randy started to have anxiety and depression, which lead to suicidal thoughts," said Wendy. "He had a plan. He was going to drive in front of a logging truck."

He began to see a therapist to help him work through his issues. Wendy also struggled and saw a therapist.

"The stress and anxiety after a transplant takes a toll on a body," Wendy said. "You do what you do for your loved ones."

PINE LAKE TOWNSHIP OPTS IN TO COUNTY ZONING

Also as part of the ordinance amendment, Pine Lake Township, located west of Finlayson, has now chosen to have the County regulate zoning within the township. Townships and cities in Pine County have the option of adopting the zoning ordinances of the County. Other townships and cities which previously adopted the county's zoning laws include Nickerson Township (adopted Jan. 21, 2020), City of Kerrick (adopted Jan. 21, 2020), City of Denham (adopted Jan. 21, 2020), New Dosey Township (adopted March 17, 2020), and Kerrick Township (adopted Nov. 3, 2020).

ENFORCEMENT OF ZONING

The County will enforce the zoning ordinance regarding campers, and complaints can be directed to the Pine County Zoning Board at Generally, enforcement of zoning violations involves county staff sending notices of violation where identified and working with the landowner to achieve compliance. When necessary, the zoning office works with the Sheriff's Office to issue citations, punishable by misdemeanor.

Complaints can be directed via email to septic@co.pine.mn.us or by phone at (320) 216-4220.

Do research when deciding what trees to plant

Our snow banks finally receded into history this past week. Even though snow was forecast for Rapid City, S. D. Our forecast was for rain, and that was just fine with me. Warmer temperatures were a welcomed experience.

Finlayson News
Maxine Meyer

It was last week when I stumbled into an article on Pear trees. Now that it's spring time here, my attention leans toward planting flowers, trees, and that vegetable garden I defend against deer and rabbits. But, this past winter our good sized apple tree toppled over as the snow bank melted. Yup, King's friends had chewed as much as they could get off that apple tree and although it died last year, they seemed to find more to chew on it this year and it finally dropped. As a result I was interested in what the article had to say about the invasive species pear tree. That "invasive species" description was hard for me to believe about a pear tree, it seemed impossible. And our neighbor, Janet Halonen, had planted a couple pear trees a few years ago, so I felt like I should continue reading.

After reading about the specifics about the Callery and Bradford Pear trees, I still couldn't believe it was true. So I next rechecked my sources. The first one was a reputable affiliate in New York. Their online article starts out with the heading: "Callery Pears: An Invader 'Worse Than Murder Hornets' Spreads to Over 30 States." A southern newspaper reporter for The Journal Gazette wrote: "Stinky but handsome and widely popular landscape trees have spawned aggressive invaders, creating thickets that overwhelm native plants." On and on I found reputable sources reporting that states as close as Indiana had that Callery tree and an offshoot, a Bradford pear, and it has been now document the popularity of this pear is a mistake. The tree is difficult to stop spreading, it seems to spring back even after being burned and the barbs were noted as "capable of going through a tire." Yikes, I wondered if I was still reading about a fruit tree.

To be honest, I never do research on the trees I select to plant. The only history I can remember hearing on trees I have planted is when I learned that it was developed by the University of Minnesota, typically those were apple trees. In learning that detail I felt comfortable that those apple trees would survive our rough winters. However, our visiting deer seem equally comfortable nibbling on young tree's and if there is fruit, all the better. But regardless, I think I'll be looking up more information on any trees I might be planting in the future.

Easter came and went and after eating myself almost sick, I decided to sit and read the ads and a couple got my attention. (But hey, I didn't eat any candy out of respect to my New Year's resolution., well-except for the two handfuls of Gary's M&Ms that is.) Gary and I headed to the department store the next day. Outside of the Christmas holiday, getting into a brick-and-mortar store has been quite a rare experience. You know, COVID took away that experience and just going out shopping for anything other than groceries was a real treat. Well, for me it was, Gary looked somewhat bored. I think we can safely say we are all back to normal on that front now.

King has been standing at a closed gate lately. I'm guessing this is his way of telling me he is ready to get out there and check out his other pastures to see if the grass is greener. His young deer friends have been getting out in all the pastures and sure seem to be enjoying themselves. Honestly, I usually wait to get horses out there around the first week of May, and that time is getting closer. Meanwhile I've got some repair work to do. Our fence lines have really gone through a tough winter and are pulled down all over along with a downed tree that needs to be pulled out. (Why do I feel Prince was somehow blowing the wind harder and bringing that tree toppling down on my fence.)

I never thought that COVID would still be cycling through the population at this late of a date. Yet, Minnesota is noted to have increasing numbers of a COVID variant. Protect yourself and keep yourself and your family healthy.

WHITE ENCHILADAS

- 1 lb. hamburger
- 1 sm. onion, chopped
- 1/2 sm. can green chili peppers, chopped
- Salt and pepper
- 1 sm. jar taco sauce, medium
- 2 c. cheddar cheese, shredded
- Large flour tortillas
- Sauce:
- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 1/2 sm. can green chili peppers, chopped
- 4 Tbsp. chopped onion
- 1/2 soup can water
- 1 c. sour cream

Brown meat: add onion, 1/2 can green chilies, salt, pepper and taco sauce. In a separate pan, mix sauce ingredients together and bring to a boil. Simmer until onion is tender. Fill tortillas with meat mixture, roll and lay in a 9x13-inch pan. Pour sauce over all and sprinkle with cheese. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes.

BREAKFAST BURRITOS

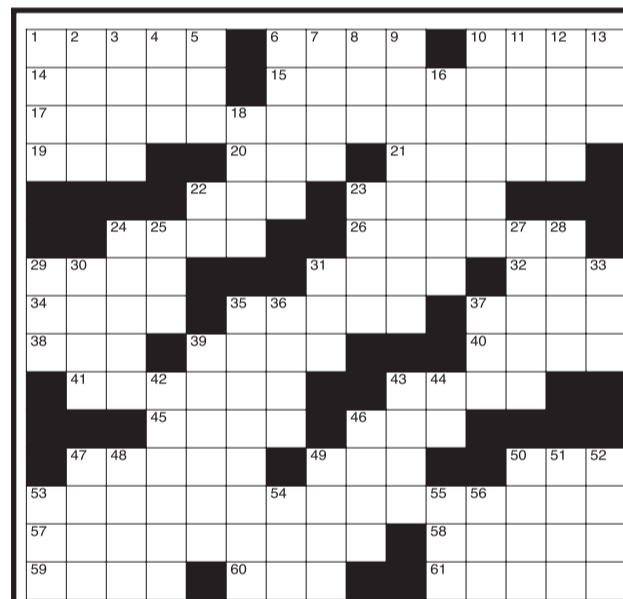

- 1 lb. country hash browns
- Chopped red or green peppers, to taste
- Chopped white or green onions, to taste
- 1 Tbsp. cooking oil
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Sour cream
- 6 eggs
- 2 Tbsp. hot pepper sauce
- 1-1/4 c. shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 4 to 6 flour tortillas
- Salsa

In fry pan, brown hash browns until tender. Add oil, peppers and onions. Cook and toss for 5 minutes. Beat eggs, water and hot sauce. Stir into skillet and season with salt and pepper. Stir in cheese. Cook and stir occasionally until set, about 6 minutes. Serve with tortillas, sour cream and salsa. An electric fry pan works well with this recipe but not necessary.

SALSA RANCH DIP

- 1-16 oz. carton sour cream
- 1 pkg. dry Ranch dressing
- 2 c. shredded cheddar cheese
- 1 can whole-kernel corn, drained
- 1 jar salsa, drained
- 1 can (16 oz.) black beans, drained and rinsed

Mix the sour cream and packet of Ranch dressing together. Add the rest of the ingredients; chill and serve with tortilla chips.

A big change is coming

You may have noticed in last week's issue, there were some ads hinting that a change is coming soon. For us, and hopefully for our readers, it is an exciting change.

What is the change, you may ask? Well, we have been hearing for a couple years from advertisers and readers wondering why we have three newspapers in northern Pine County, especially with the towns less than 10 miles apart. These three papers cover the same county, two of them cover the same school districts and most people know each other from town to town.

'Pond'erings

Jennifer Yocum-Stans

So, beginning with the May 5 issue, we will be introducing the North Pine County News. It will be a continuation of the Askov American, Hinckley News and Pine County Courier. We will still cover all three communities, both school districts and the county news as we always have. We are confident that with this change we will be able to give you a better quality product with more news, school, sports and feature stories each week.

We have been out visiting with advertisers and community leaders and we have received very positive feedback thus far. We have heard the phrase "you should have done this a long time ago," many times during these recent visits.

We very much appreciate the support we have received up to this point.

For our subscribers who currently have a subscription to more than one of these three papers, the months you have left on each subscription will be added together and the subscription will be extended by that number of months.

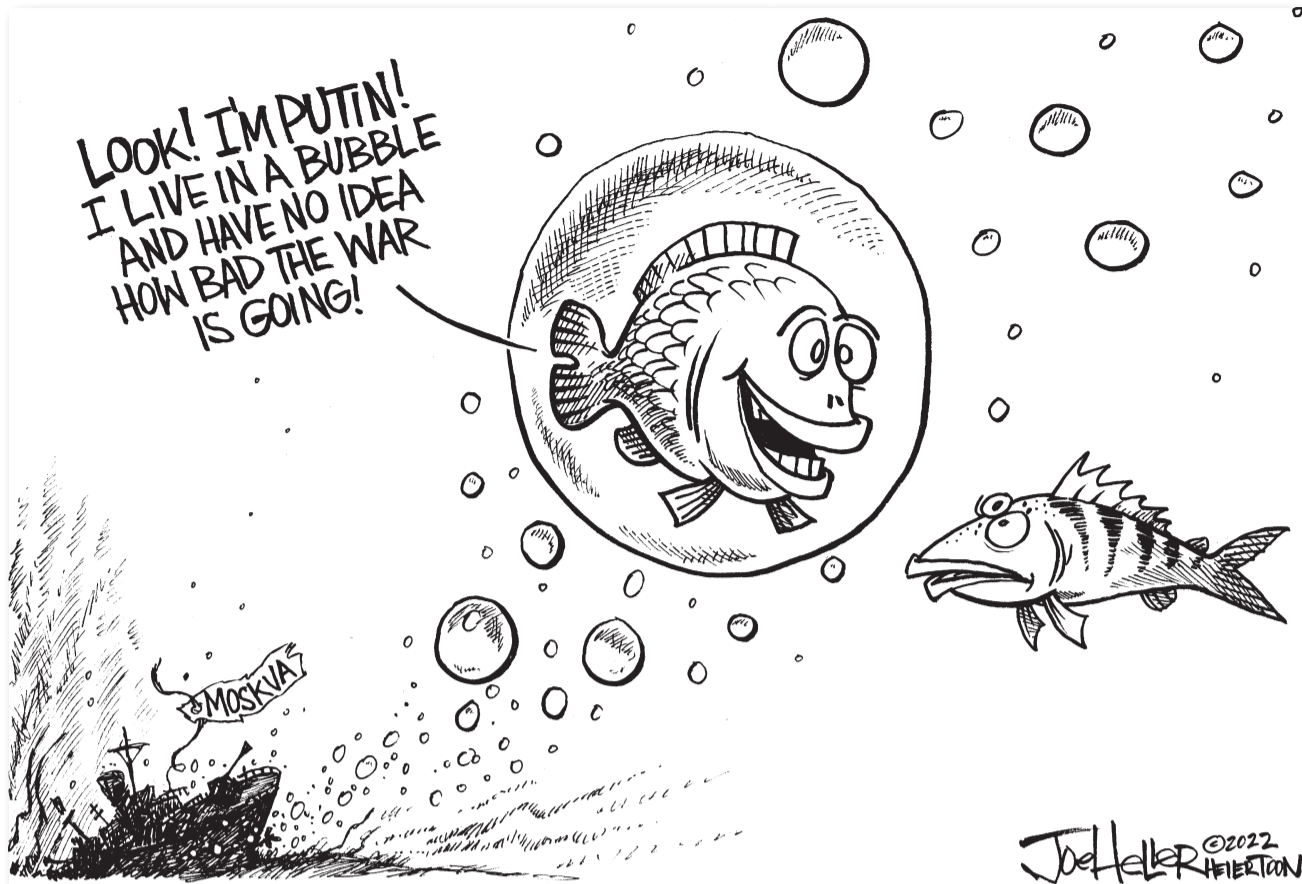

Every issue will also have a page dedicated to each town, there will be an Askov American page, a Pine County Courier page and a Hinckley News page that will focus on that community. We will also be able to offer a larger community events section.

We will continue to have the offices in Sandstone and Hinckley and you will still see the same smiling faces that have been greeting you these past few months. Also, phone numbers and emails will remain the same to make it easy for you to contact us when needed.

As an editor, I am very excited about the new paper. It will make delivering the news much easier and as I mentioned before this will allow for a much better product for all of our loyal readers and advertisers.

Again we appreciate the support we have received already, and hope you will enjoy the new paper. We welcome any questions, concerns or story ideas you may have and encourage you to reach out to us. I can be reached at the number or email below or our publisher, Jeff Andres can be reached at 763-689-1181 ext 114 or Jeff@northstarmedia.net.

American Legion posts in need of members

Editor's note: Although this article talks about the Sandstone American Legion, their struggle is shared by all small town American Legion and V.F.W. posts throughout the state. If you are a veteran, or know someone who is please encourage them to join their local American Legion or V.F.W. post. We need these organizations in our communities to stay strong. To all our veterans, thank you for your service.

Military services have a long tradition of providing honors for those who served and among one of the most sacred is the burial benefits provided to our nation's fallen. Replete with symbolism, honor and respect to all veterans and their immediate family, this burial service not only honors the fallen, but also helps to provide emotional support to the grieving family members.

As promised and at the minimum, veterans are entitled to a military honor free of charge by law. That means the folding and presentation of the American flag to the next of kin and the playing of TAPS by a bugler or other means. These honors are performed by a volunteer Honor Guard detail of at least two members of the Armed Forces, one of which must be a representative from the branch in which the deceased veteran served in and this member will be the individual who presents the flag.

Honors can include three-volley rifle salute to represent Duty, Honor and Country (not to be confused with a 21-guns salute).

The U.S. flag draped over the casket, a final "Stand Watch" and a final salute at the grave site.

It may surprise you to know that due to lack of resources and manpower, the Department of Defense (DoD) found this harder and harder to do and that is when a veteran organization such as the American Legion, stepped in and picked up the slack.

Chartered by US Congress in 1919, the American Legion was dedicated to serving veterans and their communities. That remains the legion mission today and it is one of the reasons I am a proud member of, the American Legion Post 151 in Sandstone, Minn.

Among a great many things we do for our community including cash grants that account for virtually 100 percent of whatever funding we can raise, we consider Honor and Remembrance our greatest duty. Our Honor Guard unit providing official Honor services for our local veterans who passed on. Usually, we conduct these Honors as a team with the active military personnel of the Armed Forces but often times, we are the only military representative for the deceased veteran when the DoD was forced to decline due to lack of man power and/or resources.

At post 151, I can tell you that we don't have a fancy bar where we would be sitting around drinking beer in smoke filled room and bantering about camaraderie with like-minded people. In point of fact, we no longer even own a building to cut operating costs while shifting our operations out of a basement. Our monthly meetings are full of topics like what can we do to help someone or some other community projects. None what we do is glamorous, fun or exciting, but as your Sergeant At Arms who has helped conduct many honor ceremonies, I can tell you first hand that our service means a lot to the family of the fallen and the feeling is very rewarding.

Currently, about 40 percent of the members in the American Legion are 70 years and older and for whatever reasons, they are struggling to get new members to join in for replacement. Some of articles I read say that perhaps because of slow adaption to new technologies and communication to the new generation of memberships.

As with other posts state wide, our post is also severely undermanned with 36 members but only with a dozen or so members that are active, most are in their 70s and 80s and yet they are relentless in their quest to serve. I am very proud to stand by them.

We are in desperate need of new members to keep the long tradition of Military Honor alive, to continue to serve and to be there when another brother-in-arms is fallen.

WILLOW RIVER NEWS

f "April showers bring May flowers" is accurate then we will certainly have a sunny May. At least that is what I am hoping for. I will be planting my seeds in little pots on May 1 as I did last year. That really helped things grow faster. I usually put them on my deck during the day and then bring them in at night. Last year I only forgot once and it was on a 33 degree night. Oops...the only thing that really suffered though was my squash. The other plants didn't freeze. I had really good luck with cucumbers last year and hope to again. I went through six jars of pickles and have six left. I hope all the farmers and gardeners have a great growing season this summer. It will help with the cost of things. It's hard to believe how much things have gone up in price. I'm glad I know how to garden and can, freeze and dry produce. According to Farmers Almanac 2022 it is a good day to "Brew Beer, Can Fruits and Vegetables, Potty-Train, Wean, Mow to Slow Growth, Castrate Farm Animals, and Get Married." Oh boy...what a fun day. Senior Recognition Night is May 4. Kindergarten Round-up will be from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Friday, May 6. All future Kindergarten students will need to be five years of age before September 1 to enroll for kindergarten. Please call or email Ms. Chas Balut for more information at: cbalut@isd577.org or by calling 218-372-3131 ext.

169. If your kiddos are too young for kindergarten you might want to sign them up for Early Childhood programs at Willow River. It really gives the kids a leg up when they get to kindergarten...and they have fun too. Registration is now open. Early Childhood Open House is May 12. The kids in K - 4th grade are getting ready for Poetry and Punch once again. Families of these students are welcome to come watch their kiddos present their poems. This event will be held Friday, May 13 in the auditorium. I remember when our kids did this. They work really hard to prepare and it is so wonderful the confidence it gives them. Good Luck kids... speaking in public is my most difficult task. It's Prom time once again in Willow River. The Grand March will be Saturday, May 14, 2022 in the school auditorium. I'm not sure of the time... stay tuned for that information. I will try to find out. Mark it on your calendar. Elementary Track and Field Day will be held on May 25, with the backup date being the next day. If you are interested in ordering a yearbook for 2021-2022, please contact Ms. Patterson at the school. The cost is $45.10. May 10 will be the PTO meeting at 5:30 p.m., May 17 will be the Willow River School Board Meeting at 6 pm, May 19 will be the Community Blood Drive, May 27 is an Early Release Day and also Graduation for the seniors at 7 p.m., May 30 is no school for Memorial Day. At St. Mary's/ St. Isidore's Church: St. Isidore upcoming CCW meeting will be Tuesday, May 3 at St. Isidore's at 6 p.m. First Communion Sunday is May 1, 2022 at 10:30 a.m. Mass at Holy Angels Church. May 29, 2022 is Doughnut Sunday at St. Isidore's after Mass.

Pastors join forces to put on spectacular Easter service, did they go too far?

Dear Tante Ingeborg,

The pastor of our church, Holy Waters Over The Dam Evangelical, thought the faithful could use a little enthusiasm in their worship so he reached out to Brother LeRoy Washington. Brother LeRoy leads the congregation at Redemption Gospel of Rhythm in the cities. The two pastors worked religiously on an Easter service for their parishioners which they conducted at ten o'clock Easter Sunday. It included singing, dancing, pantomime and pyrotechnics of an astonishing display.

During an enactment of the stone being rolled away from the Lord's grave, a deafening boom was heard and a blinding flash of light was seen. Three elderly members or our congregation fainted and the paramedics were called. Fortunately Brother LeRoy's church ladies provided coffee and fried chicken with collard greens for the fellowship hour and everything ended on a happy note.

I personally think that our pastor went overboard on the service and should have dialed it back out of respect for the elderly who are still not recovered. What do you think?

Signed, Wilma From WOTD Evangelical

Dear Wilma,

I sure wish your pastor had advertised that service because I bet it was a hum-dinger! The music alone must have been enough to raise the roof. Imagine the sheer joy the parishioners must have felt at such a stimulating service followed by fried chicken instead of dumpy donuts during fellowship hour. I hope the collection taken up by the ushers reflected great appreciation by the faithful.

I can just imagine what a great Pentecost service the congregations could jointly hold.

Good luck with that wonderful ecumenism and renewed expression of Faith and remember Tante Ingeborg cares...but not so much.

STURGEON LAKE TOWNSHIP PINE COUNTY

STATE OF MINNESOTA RESOLUTION NO. 2022-10 RESOLUTION APPROVING VARIANCES FOR MINIMUM FRONTAGE WIDTH AND MINIMUM LOT SIZE

WHEREAS, William and Laura Berube own Lot 1, Block 2 and Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 1, all in the plat of Dellyville on file in the Registrar of Deeds Office, Pine County, Minnesota; and
WHEREAS, all five of these lots are currently combined as one property in Pine County's records; and

Block 1 are located east of the platted road in the Dellyville plat and Lot 1, Block 2 is located west of the platted road in the Dellyville plat, and
WHEREAS, Lot 1, Block 2 already has an existing house and garage located on it while Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Block 1 are vacant; and
WHEREAS, Berubes now seek to separate Lot 1, Block 2 from Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Block 1 for purposes of constructing a residence on said Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Block 1; and
WHEREAS, once such lots are separated Lot 1, Block 2 will be approximately .43 acres in size and will have approximately 140 feet of front yard road frontage; and
WHEREAS, once such lots are separated Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 1 will be approximately 2 acres in size; and
WHEREAS, once Lot 1, Block 2 is separated from the other lots, Lot 1, Block 2 will not meet the Sturgeon Lake zoning ordinance Section 15.04 requirement that a lot shall have 300 feet of front yard width or the requirement that such lot shall have a minimum acreage of 5 acres of lot area and Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 1 will not meet the requirement that such combined lots shall have a minimum of 5 acres of lot area; and
WHEREAS, William and Laura Berube have applied for a Variance from the minimum lot size requirement and from the requirement of 300 front feet on a public road for Lot 1, Block 2; and
WHEREAS, William and Laura Berube have applied for a variance from the minimum lot size for Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 1; and
WHEREAS, on April 21, 2022, the Sturgeon Lake Planning Commission conducted a public hearing on the applications of William and Laura Berube (the "Berubes") for the three variances; and
WHEREAS, the property is currently in the Agricultural zoning district; and
WHEREAS, the Sturgeon Lake Planning Commission has held a public hearing on these proposed variances of April 21, 2022 and recommended approval of such variances.
NOW, THEREFORE, the Sturgeon Lake Planning Commission makes the following findings of fact and recommendation:
1, Berubes have applied for the following variances: a. a variance from the minimum lot size required by Sturgeon Lake Township Zoning Ordinance Section 15.04 for Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 1. b. a Variance from the minimum lot size required by Sturgeon Lake Township Zoning

Ordinance Section 15.04 and from the requirement of 300 front feet of front yard width for Lot 1, Block 2
2. There are practical difficulties in complying with the zoning ordinance in that the road that physically divides these properties has existed as a right of way for many years and has de facto subdivided these properties long before the Township zoning ordinance was in existence. The existence of the road prevents these properties from being merged together and takes up acreage that could have provided enough acreage to make the properties compliant under the Township's ordinance,
3. In light of the fact that Lot 1, Block 2 already exists as a physically separate lot (due to the road right of way) consisting of .43 acres in area and with a front yard width of 140 feet, the Berube's proposal to continue using the property in the same manner after the lot split is a reasonable use of the property in question.
4. In light of the fact that Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 1 will be used for residential purposes and will be as much as four times larger in area than the neighboring residential lots, such is a reasonable use of the property in question.
5. The requested variances meet the spirit of the Township's zoning ordinance in that the properties have already been physically subdivided as smaller lots prior to the enactment of the Township's Zoning Ordinance and no new smaller lots are being physically created by this transaction.
6. The plight of the landowner is due to unique circumstances regarding the creation of the plat prior to the existence of the Township's zoning ordinance and the fact that the individual Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Block 1 and Lot 1, Block 2 were all combined for tax identification purposes prior to the existence of the Township's zoning ordinance.
7. Because the other properties in the area are developed for residential purposes, granting the requested variances to allow an additional residence to be constructed on Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 of Block 1 will not alter the essential character of the locality.
NOW, THEREFORE, the Sturgeon Lake Planning Commission does hereby recommend that all three of Berubes's variance requests be approved by the Sturgeon Lake Town Board, APPROVED this 21st day of April, 2022 by the Sturgeon Lake Planning Commission.
