Throwing a holiday party? The web has some drink ideas

It may be early November but it's never too early to get started on the drink selection for your holiday party.

From mulled wines and fruity sangrias to flavored martinis and pumpkin-spiced everything, holiday cocktails have come a long way from the hot buttered rums and Brandy Alexanders of yore. So if you're looking for a few ideas for your own bash, boot up the laptop and log onto some of the following videos for a few pointers.

Martha Stewart has a few on her website (www.marthastewart.com/252489/holiday-cocktails), as she is joined by New York bartender Charles Corpion to demonstrate the making of three drinks – the Candy Cane, the Winter Solstice and something called the Blizzard, which is Irish whiskey, Frangelico, Baileys and coffee topped with Grand Marnier-infused whipped cream. Delicious and formidable.

If you're looking for something that packs a little less of a punch, Amanda Storey of MyRecipes.com has her "5 to Try Holiday Cocktails" (www.myrecipes.com/how-to/5-to-try/5-to-try-holiday-cocktails), among them an easy-to-make homemade eggnog, a blood orange sangria and a champagne pomegranate cocktail – a combination of pomegranate juice, ginger ale, a little brandy and champagne. She calls it "an absolute festivity unto itself." You be the judge.

For those trying to stay on the straight and narrow and avoid the "holiday 15" this November and December, Health.com (www.health.com/food/healthy-holiday-cocktails) has what it calls some "healthy-ish" drink options, the arguably healthiest being the Sparkling Greyhound – a mix of vodka, grapefruit juice and club soda for a total of 87 calories. And that's with a half-cup of liquor.

Powell looks to lead Seton Hall to The Dance in 2019-20

Being first is a big deal to Myles Powell. Just ask his family. After three seasons leading Seton Hall to the NCAA Tournament but getting no further than the second round, the Pirates’ star point guard considered ending his college basketball career early and declaring for the 2019 NBA Draft. He eventually opted to stay in school for his senior season, citing the example he wants to set for his siblings.

“Going back to finish what I started & most importantly be the first one in my family to have a college degree,” Powell tweeted back in May. “LET’S GO WIN A NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.”

Such leadership is what coach Kevin Willard and the Pirates are counting on as they embark on the 2019-20 season as the preseason favorites in what looks to be wide-open Big East, with the conference’s preseason Player of the Year in tow.

Powell’s talent as bonafide scorer is unquestioned. He’s improved his scoring average each of his three seasons, topping out in 2018-19 at 23.1 points per game, and is considered a genuine threat from anywhere on the court.

What is in question is his playmaking ability and his consistency. Too often over his career, he’s sleep-walked through games only to catch fire in crunch time with a flurry of baskets. If he is to get the Pirates deeper into The Dance and to a Final Four berth, he’ll need to maintain his focus for 40 minutes a game.

Powell and the Pirates can be seen in action Tuesday, Nov. 5, when they open the 2019-20 season at home against the Wagner Seahawks in a game airing on Fox Sports 1.

Grey's Anatomy

In a new Halloween episode called "Whistlin' Past the Graveyard," Alex (Justin Chambers) is feeling optimistic that he can impress investors at Pac-Gen North, until he hears decidedly unwelcome news about skeletons being unearthed at the construction site. With few other options, he asks Richard (James Pickens) to help distract the money men and women from those distasteful reports. Elsewhere, Teddy (Kim Raver) bites off more than she can chew when she tries to create original trick-or-treat costumes for kids Allison and Leo.

Perfect Harmony

In the new Halloween episode "Halle-Boo-Yah," Arthur (Bradley Whitford) helps Ginny (Anna Camp) conquer her inferiority complex as she tries to take on a new management role at work. Meanwhile, Dwayne (Geno Segers) bows out of a long-established seasonal tradition, prompting Wayne (Will Greenberg) to fear he and his lifelong buddy are starting to grow apart. Tamberlee Hill and Rizwan Manji also star.

The rivalry gets under way in the premiere with five bands, each performing its own take on hit songs. Groups include The Rees Family of Nashville, Tenn.; Wanmor, a band of New Jersey brothers; Juat Sibs from California; Florida sister and brother Juna N Joey; and the California quartet The Mitchells. Judges include Ciara, Debbie Gibson, Nick Lachey and YouTube star David Dobrik.

Great Performances

The performing arts series opens its third annual “Broadway’s Best” lineup of weekly offerings with a dazzling London production of “42nd Street,” a stage adaptation of the vintage movie musical about an aspiring actress (Clare Halse) who gets her big break when her show’s leading lady (Bonnie Langford) is injured. Tom Lister and Philip Bertoli also are featured in the huge cast of nearly 60. Songs include “We’re in the Money,” “Shuffle Off to Buffalo,” “Lullaby of Broadway” and the title tune.

Ultimate Thanksgiving Challenge

Some of America's most creative chefs vie in holiday-themed challenges for a grand prize of $25,000 (and bragging rights) in this four-part competition. The culinary fun begins in tonight's premiere, "Bang for Your Buck," as host Giada De Laurentiis welcomes the six chefs and challenges them to take a low-cost item and transform it into a memorable Thanksgiving appetizer.

The Affair

The title may be somewhat generic, but this splendidly acted TV drama earned critical kudos and multiple Golden Globe Awards during its five-season run, with both Maura Tierney and original leading lady Ruth Wilson picking up trophies along the way. Wilson's character is no longer part of the show, but Tierney, Dominic West and their colleagues are still turning in first-rate performances as the drama airs its series finale, which sees everything coming full circle on Whitney's (Julia Goldani Telles) wedding day.

His Dark Materials

Philip Pullman's epic fantasy comes to the small screen as a new limited series, a U.S.-British co-production set in a world wherein every human being has an animal called a daemon, a manifestation of the soul that is, in some respects, similar to the patronus in the "Harry Potter" stories. Young actress Dafne Keen stars as Lyra, an orphan who has grown up at Jordan College, Oxford, England and serves as the protagonist of the fantasy. Ruth Williams, James McAvoy and Lin-Manuel Miranda also star.

Prodigal Son

Bright's (Tom Payne) all-consuming hunger to find answers leads him to a junkyard, where he narrowly escapes a hail of gunfire in the new episode "Q&A." Later, he and the NYPD team discover multiple human bodies on the scene, spanning decades. Bright strongly suspects the deaths are the work of a serial killer who had something to do with The Surgeon.

BY GEORGE DICKIE

BEST 'LETTERED' SERIES

"F Troop" (ABC, 1965-67)

Movie veteran Forrest Tucker starred with Ken Berry and Larry Storch in this lightweight satire about the bumbling soldiers of Fort Courage, a fictional U.S. Army outpost in the Old West, and the indigenous tribe they befriended. In fact, TV trivia mavens will note that the Hekawis (a play on "Where the heck are we?") originally had a more salacious name that began with the letter F, but network censors figured out the reference and had it changed. Though the series lasted only two seasons on ABC, it ran for decades in syndication.

"The A-Team" (NBC, 1983-87)

This action-adventure series about a ragtag band of ex-Special Ops-turned-soldiers of fortune not only resurrected the career of 1960s leading man George Peppard, made a star of brawny Mr. T and launched the 1980s-90s juggernaut that was Stephen J. Cannell Productions, but it also spawned a cottage T-shirt industry from such catchphrases as "I love it when a plan comes together," "Hannibal's on the jazz" and "I ain't gettin' on no plane." Its premiere after the 1983 Super Bowl garnered 26 percent of the viewing audience, fourth on Nielsen's all-time list.

"V: The Series" (NBC, 1984-85)

Disguised as humans, carnivorous, lizardlike extraterrestrials known as "Visitors" invade Earth, and a small group of rebels band together to fight their fascist reign in this sci-fi allegory of the Nazis' takeover of Germany in the 1930s. Based on two highly regarded early '80s miniseries

(and reimaged in 2009), this show was one of the most anticipated of the 1984-85 season, but cast trouble, cheesy special effects and a $1 million-per-episode cost doomed it to oblivion.

"The L Word" (Showtime, 2004-09)

The "L" stood for lesbians, and they – and their sex lives – were front and center of this groundbreaking and often graphic drama about a group of gay, bisexual, transgender and straight people living in trendy West Hollywood. Well received by fans and critics, it featured first-rate acting talent, including "Flashdance" star Jennifer Beals, Oscar winner Marlee Matlin ("Children of a Lesser God"), Leisha Hailey, Pam Grier and Katherine Moennig.

The Wonderful World of Disney Presents The Little Mermaid Live!

Airing to mark the 30th anniversary of Disney's beloved 1989 animated musical version of the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale, this two-hour special is a hybrid that features live musical performances by cast members that are woven into the original feature film. Auli'i Cravalho ("Moana") appears as Ariel, the titular mermaid, while Queen Latifah plays Ursula the sea witch and Graham Phillips ("The Good Wife") plays Prince Eric. Grammy-winning musical artist Shaggy voices the tiny crab Sebastian, while John Stamos appears as Chef Louis.

Empire

Hoping to take Cookie's (Taraji P. Henson) mind off Lucious (Terrence Howard), Carol and Candace (guest star Tasha Smith, Vivica A. Fox) take her to Miami on a girls' trip in the new episode "Heart of Stone." Meanwhile, Lucious has an unsettling visit with Leah (guest star Leslie Uggams) that leaves him in a reflective mood. Elsewhere, Andre (Trai Byers) makes an audacious decision about Treasure's (Katlynn Simone) upcoming album, while Giselle (Nicole Ari Parker) goes behind Becky's (Gabourey Sidibe) back to find a new audience for Tiana (Serayah McNeill).

10 p.m. on 6 CBS
NCIS: New Orleans

Still reeling from his brother's murder, Lasalle (Lucas Black) embarks on a quest for revenge by tracking a drug ring he believes was responsible for the killing in the new episode "Matthew 5:9." Elsewhere, while Pride (Scott Bakula) is assisting with the case, he crosses paths with Eddie Barrett (guest star Eddie Cahill), an elusive type who obviously knows far more than he's willing to share. Vanessa Ferlito also stars.
