Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert

Ladies and gentlemen, ... thank you for being here for a very special night of "The Late Show." We were supposed to be off tonight [Oct. 8]. This wasn't supposed to be a show night for us. My plan was to be in sweatpants right now with a clutch of peanut butter pretzels in one hand and a jar of Nutella in the other, slowly slipping into a flavor coma in hour eight of a "Below Deck Med" marathon. But instead, we fired up the old show machine for one night only, for a very important reason: it's Matt Damon's birthday. Happy birthday, Matt. ... Matt, I got you what you wanted — an interview with Vice President Kamala Harris.

"The Late Show," of course, is just the latest stop in her media blitz this week [Oct. 6-12]. In the last few days, she's appeared on "60 Minutes," "Howard Stern," "The View," plus "Inkmaster," "The Mandalorian" and explaining the child tax credit on "Bluey."

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

Last night [Oct. 9], Harris' running mate, Tim Walz, held a campaign event on Twitch during a World of Warcraft livestream. Not to be outdone, JD Vance just appeared on a series of TikTok makeup tutorials.

After Trump turned down CNN, Fox News offered to host a second presidential debate, but Trump immediately said no. Fox was upset. They changed the name of their morning show to "Fox and I Thought We Were Friends."

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

[Donald] Trump was not in a MAGA-nanimous mood today [Oct. 8]. There's another new tell-all book on the way from legendary journalist Bob Woodward. ... The bigly scoop for Bob Woodward involves Trump's KGBFF. ... And this is quite a detail, during the height of the pandemic, ... [Trump] secretly sent his buddy Vlad [Putin] a shipment of hard-to-get COVID testing machines for his personal use. ... Bob Woodward reported that Putin said, ... "Please don't tell anybody you sent these to me." Trump said, "I don't care. Fine." And Putin said, "I don't want you to tell anybody because people will get mad at you, not me. They don't care about me." And you know you aren't too bright when Vladimir Putin has to help you with PR.

I want to extend warm and safe wishes to those watching in the path of Hurricane Milton. ... They say Milton could be a storm for the history books if the state of Florida still had history books — which they do not.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

Former President [Donald] Trump held a rally on Saturday [Oct. 5] in Butler, Pennsylvania, which featured a moment of silence, specifically when he said, "Please welcome JD Vance."

A sixth senior member of New York Mayor Eric Adams' administration has resigned. OK, who's even left at this point? At this rate, his communications director is just going to be a Times Square Dora.

Mexican film on an epic scale: Garcia-Rulfo, Huerta star in 'Pedro Paramo'

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Anyone who has ever visited Mexico (or watched a travel show set in the country) already knows that it is an ancient and dynamic land teeming with good food, colorful tapestries and a rich culture devoted to honoring the dead. While many non-Mexicans may have been introduced to its culture through American films such as "Coco" (2017) and "The Mask of Zorro" (1998) or the artsy biographical drama "Frida" (2002), Mexico has its own vibrant cinema history, which was celebrated by Netflix with a news release announcing "Pedro Paramo" this past August.

To be released just four days after Mexico's Day of the Dead observances, "Pedro Paramo" sets the tone for the country's next holiday: Revolution Day. At once a stunning visual feast and an epic tale of one man's complicated family history, "Pedro Paramo" premieres Wednesday, Nov. 6, on Netflix.

Based on the 1955 novel of the same name by late Mexican author Juan Rulfo, "Pedro Paramo" follows the titular character's son, Juan Preciado (Tenoch Huerta, "The Forever Purge," 2021), as he promises his dying mother that he will return to Comala, the town where he was born, to find the father he never knew. Along the way, he discovers that the remote town is not the prosperous hub he had been led to believe it was, but rather a ghost town in every sense of the word.

Driven on his quest by a desire to fill in the missing pieces of his family history, Juan encounters all manner of people — some living, others long dead — who help him to understand the nuances of the hope (and the lack thereof) attached to family values, complicated blood ties and personal goals.

Manuel Garcia-Rulfo stars in "Pedro Paramo"

Adapted from the source material by writer Mateo Gil ("Vanilla Sky," 2001), "Pedro Paramo" is the first feature directed by four-time Oscar-nominated cinematographer Rodrigo Prieto ("Brokeback Mountain," 2005). The 133-minute, Spanish-language film made its official debut at this year's Toronto International Film Festival, where it was described as "a mesmerizing story of desire, corruption and inheritance."

Starring "The Lincoln Lawyer's" Manuel Garcia-Rulfo in the film's titular role, "Pedro Paramo" also stars Mayra Batalla ("Huesera: The Bone Woman," 2022), Ilse Salas ("The Good Girls," 2018), Hector Kotsifakis ("The Inmate"), Giovanna Zacarias ("On the Road," 2012), Ari Brickman ("Crime Diaries: The Candidate"), Gabriela Nunez ("Prayers for the Stolen," 2021), Dolores Heredia ("Vantage Point," 2008) and Noé Hernandez ("La Reina del Sur").

In the official TIFF description of Netflix's newest film, Colombian-Canadian festival programmer Diana Cadavid writes that "in Comala, nothing is as it seems.

"Juan speaks with someone, only to be informed that person has died," Cadavid's TIFF synopsis continues. "Deserted streets are suddenly teeming with life. Figures dissolve into soil or are washed away in a deluge. The closer Juan gets to locating his father, the more the realm of the dead eclipses that of the living, while Pedro Paramo's infamy as a merciless tyrant only burgeons. Will Juan's spirit be absorbed into the phantasmagorical tapestry of this place where the voices of those who have passed forever echo in the wind?"

The themes and questions at the heart of "Pedro Paramo" align well with the Latin-American literary tradition of magical realism, popularized by late "Love in the Time of Cholera" author Gabriel Garcia Marquez, who held the novel's author, Rulfo, in high esteem as one of his inspirations. By blending the worlds of the living and the dead and pairing that unique genre of spiritualism with reflections on memory, legacy and parentage, Rulfo — and filmmaker Prieto by extension — speak to many values at the core of Mexican culture.

This sentiment is also at the heart of a statement of release issued by Francisco Ramos, Vice President of Latin American Content for Netflix, in mid-August of this year.

"The recognition of Mexican cinema and literature within and beyond our borders is unquestionable," Ramos' statement begins. "Their quality and transcendence resonate because they define us just as we are. ... Almost 70 years after its publication, 'Pedro Paramo' remains one of the fundamental pillars of our literature, a seminal work of universal transcendence."

Prieto's film is the third adaptation of Rulfo's iconic novel, but according to LatinoSlant.com, neither Carlos Velo's ("Torero," 1956) 1967 "Pedro Paramo" nor José Bolanos' ("Nana," 1979) 1977 version was a success due to foreign casting decisions and a national film industry on the decline.

Now, however, with growing access to foreign films, expanding technical features in filmmaking and more appropriate casting choices, Prieto's 2024 version seems poised to give Rulfo's source material the glowing reception it deserves.

"We made the decision to undertake the film adaptation of 'Pedro Paramo' with the utmost respect, rigor and commitment," Ramos wrote in his release ahead of the film's TIFF debut. "To this end, we were able to bring together an impressive group of artists and technicians, mostly Mexican, headed by the renowned and award-winning cinematographer Rodrigo Prieto."

Don't miss the Wednesday, Nov. 6, premiere of Prieto's feature directorial debut, "Pedro Paramo," only on Netflix.

Must-see TV: New episodes on HBO dominate Sunday night

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

It is that time of year again. The leaves are falling, there's a chill in the air and the couch feels even more cozy than usual, especially when Sunday night rolls around. TV lovers have always looked forward to the fall TV lineup, and this year, like so many others, HBO has stuffed the first prime-time block of the week full of can't-miss new episodes. "The Penguin," "The Franchise" and "Somebody Somewhere" all return with new episodes Sunday, Nov. 3, on HBO.

While the weather inches closer to winter, the silver lining to the shorter, colder days is the perfect conditions for evening TV viewing. From exciting, brand-new hits to a heartwarming fan favorite series returning for a bittersweet final season, HBO has everyone's tastes covered on Sunday nights.

Kicking off the night is the penultimate episode of "The Penguin," one of the season's most anticipated and well-reviewed debut series. Starring Academy Award nominee Colin Farrell ("Sugar") under a considerable amount of prosthetics as Oswald "Oz" Cobb, the show continues where 2022's blockbuster film "The Batman" left off, telling the story behind the man who will become the titular Penguin.

Lauded by viewers and critics alike, "The Penguin" goes beyond comic book character adaptation to be a stellar crime drama in its own right. Having already taken down his main rival, Oz looks to control Gotham City's criminal underworld at any cost. With just one more episode to go before the season finale, there is no telling who will turn on whom to be on top.

Also starring in "The Penguin" are Cristin Milioti ("Palm Springs," 2020) as Sofia Falcone; Rhenzy Feliz ("Runaways") as Victor Aguilar; Michael Kelly ("House of Cards") as Johnny Viti; Shohreh Aghdashloo ("The Expanse") as Nadia Maroni; Deirdre O'Connell ("The Path") as Francis Cobb; Clancy Brown ("Billions") as Salvatore Maroni; James Madio ("The Offer") as Milo Grapa; Scott Cohen ("The Girls on the Bus") as Luca Falcone; Michael Zegen ("The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel") as Alberto Falcone; Carmen Ejogo ("Your Honor") as Eve Karlo; and Theo Rossi ("Luke Cage") as Dr. Julian Rush.

Coincidentally, up next in the Sunday lineup is a new episode of the joke-dense sitcom "The Franchise," a satire spoofing the production of a comic book franchise film. The film within the show, "Tecto: Eye of the Storm," is plagued with minor and major disasters, from stars being blinded by lighting effects to studio executives dropping in to deliver production-stopping news. Poking fun at a certain bloated cinematic universe, "The Franchise" explores the chaos behind the scenes of a big-budget film series on its last gasp.

The man with "Tecto" on his shoulders is first assistant director Daniel Kumar, portrayed by Himesh Patel ("Station Eleven"). Constantly putting out fires — literally and figuratively — Daniel manages to keep it all just barely under control with the help of Dag (Lolly Adefope, "Shrill"), the new third assistant director who has the cheerful, eager attitude of someone new to the franchise machine.

Also starring in "The Franchise" are Aya Cash ("You're The Worst") as film producer Anita; Jessica Hynes ("W1A") as script supervisor Steph; Billy Magnussen ("Game Night," 2018) as Tecto actor Adam; Darren Goldstein ("The Gilded Age") as studio representative Pat; Isaac Powell ("Dear Evan Hansen," 2021) as personal assistant Bryson; Richard E. Grant ("Can You Ever Forgive Me?" 2018) as former theater actor Peter; and Daniel Bruhl ("Becoming Karl Lagerfeld") as director Eric.

Cult hit dramedy "Somebody Somewhere" rounds out the evening on HBO, returning with a new episode of its third and final season. The feel-good, Peabody Award-winning series has amassed a loyal following throughout its short but mighty run, boasting really lovely, grounded performances that are as touching as they are laugh-out-loud funny.

"Somebody Somewhere" stars Bridget Everett ("Unbelievable") as Sam, a woman who finds her voice and a new community in her small Kansas hometown after she moved back to care for her sick sister. Her new friend group of lovable misfits includes Joel (Jeff Hiller, "American Horror Story"), Fred Rococo (Murray Hill, "Life & Beth") and her sister Tricia (Mary Catherine Garrison, "Veep"). Also starring are Jennifer Mudge ("The Irishman," 2019) as Susan; Mercedes White ("Empire") as Tiffani; and Meighan Gerachis ("Shining Girls") as Irma. Joining the cast this season is Olafur Darri Olafsson ("Lady Dynamite") as Iceland.

This season, Sam faces both welcome and uncomfortable life changes as Tricia begins dating again, the gang hits the ball diamond and hopeless romantic Joel moves in with his new love, Brad (Tim Bagley, "The Perfect Couple").

Everett spoke fondly with Collider last May about one of the defining relationships on the show, the fast friendship between Sam and Joel, saying, "You don't really get to see a lot of people in their 40s that are friends, fall in love with each other and get lost in each other. That's a younger thing to do."

Settle in for a full night tuned in to HBO with new episodes of "The Penguin," "The Franchise" and "Somebody Somewhere," airing Sunday, Nov. 3.

Clairvoyant Tyler Henry shocks guests during live season finale

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Beyond the basics: Catch a glimpse of "the great beyond" during the Season 1 finale of the fascinating series "Live From the Other Side with Tyler Henry," airing Tuesday, Nov. 5, on Netflix.

Moderated by Amanda Kloots ("The Talk"), this weekly series offers live interviews with famed clairvoyant Tyler Henry. By connecting patrons to their deceased family, friends and loved ones as a medium, Henry found widespread fame as he traveled across the country in the TLC series "Hollywood Medium With Tyler Henry" and soon gained worldwide notoriety, earning his first series with Netflix: "Life After Death with Tyler Henry."

Only 28 years old, Henry has worked with clients such as the Kardashian family, Megan Fox ("Transformers," 2007) and the late Alan Thicke ("Growing Pains"), earning himself a client waitlist that is quickly growing towards its millionth name as he claims the title of the "most sought-after medium in the world" (per Netflix).

The clairvoyant is now tackling his next project, offering his unique skills to celebrity clients during live, hour-long conversations. According to the streamer, "'Live from the Other Side with Tyler Henry' [invites] celebrity guests for emotional readings that might help them find hope, healing and long-awaited answers from their loved ones who've died." Henry has no idea who his guest might be prior to the cameras rolling, meaning that each and every encounter is a surprise — one he can't prepare for ahead of time, ensuring that Henry has no preconceived notions before meeting his next client.

Tyler Henry hosts "Live from the Other Side with Tyler Henry"

"I liken my job to that of a mailman," Henry told Tudum. "In the sense that I don't write the letters, I just deliver the message. My priority is to ensure that I'm doing the message justice. I'm not responsible for what I get, but I do feel responsible for how I deliver it. I try to be tactful, diplomatic and thoughtful of the person's feelings, but it's very much an interpretive process."

Featuring mind-boggling and heart-wrenching conversations with the likes of Chrishell Stause ("Selling Sunset"), makeup artist Chris Appleton, Nina Parker ("Friday Night Vibes"), Billy Porter ("Pose"), comedian Nikki Glaser ("FBoy Island") and media personality Harry Jowsey ("Perfect Match"), Season 1 of "Live From the Other Side with Tyler Henry" concludes Tuesday, Nov. 5, on Netflix.

History-making match: Chronicling the blood, sweat and tears put into preparing for the fight of a lifetime, "Countdown: Paul vs. Tyson" makes its debut with a two-episode premiere airing Thursday, Nov. 7, on Netflix.

With one known as the most feared fighter in boxing and the other a controversial YouTuber-turned-MMA hopeful, fans have been anxiously awaiting the upcoming match between Mike Tyson, 58, and Jake Paul, 27. First scheduled to take place in July, this eye-catching matchup was rescheduled for Friday, Nov. 15, at AT&T Stadium in Arlington, Texas, and is now expected to draw in countless viewers from around the globe.

Following months of training leading up to the event, this three-part documentary is set to generate even more excitement for the match — which, according to the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation, will be sanctioned as a legitimate professional fight, with eight two-minute rounds, 14-ounce gloves and an outcome that will affect both of their professional records.

The Netflix synopsis shares: "A three-part documentary series with intimate access to fighters The Problem Child, Jake "El Gallo" Paul (10-1, 7 KOs) and the Baddest Man on the Planet, Mike Tyson (50-6, 44 KOs) as they prepare for Netflix and Most Valuable Promotions' (MVP) highly anticipated 'Jake Paul vs. Mike Tyson' heavyweight boxing [match]."

"Countdown" will, they explain, "take viewers behind the scenes of Paul and Tyson's respective training camps to capture the incredible grit, determination and physical demands needed to prepare for what will be an explosive, can't-miss professional boxing mega-event."

Offering viewers a unique, behind-the-scenes look at the fighters' individual journeys, the docuseries also promises interviews with Paul and Tyson's closest friends, loved ones and co-workers, sharing candid and unfiltered moments from their rigorous training routines.

In addition, the series also shines a spotlight on a rematch taking place the same night — Nov. 15 — between undisputed super lightweight champion Katie Taylor and unified featherweight champion Amanda "The Real Deal" Serrano, who face off in a match of their own as the night's co-main event.

Directed by Tim Mullen ("Quest for the Stanley Cup") and Jackie Decker ("Gloves Off"), the three-part series "Countdown: Paul vs. Tyson" makes its way into the ring Thursday, Nov. 7, on Netflix.

"Meet Me Next Christmas" (2024)

Sing in the season with Netflix's first Christmas romance film of the year when "Meet Me Next Christmas" premieres Wednesday, Nov. 6. Seasonal surprises abound as Layla (Christina Milian, "Love Don't Cost a Thing," 2003) sets out on a race through New York City to gets tickets to the sold out Pentatonix Christmas Eve Concert, the hottest show in town. With an unexpected ally, professional concierge Teddy (Devale Ellis, "Sistas"), by her side, Layla is determined to do whatever it takes to make it to the show and earn the affection of James (Kofi Siriboe, "Queen Sugar"), the man of her dreams. Featuring Pentatonix members Mitch Grassi, Scott Hoying, Kirstin Maldonado, Kevin Olusola and Matt Sallee, "Meet Me Next Christmas" also stars Kalen Allen ("With Love"), Nikki Duval ("Workin' Moms") and Wesley French ("Cashing In"). With a screenplay written by Molly Haldeman and Camilla Rubis (both of "The Expanding Universe of Ashley Garcia"), the film is directed by Rusty Cundieff ("Chappelle's Show").

"Arcane" - Season 2, Act 1

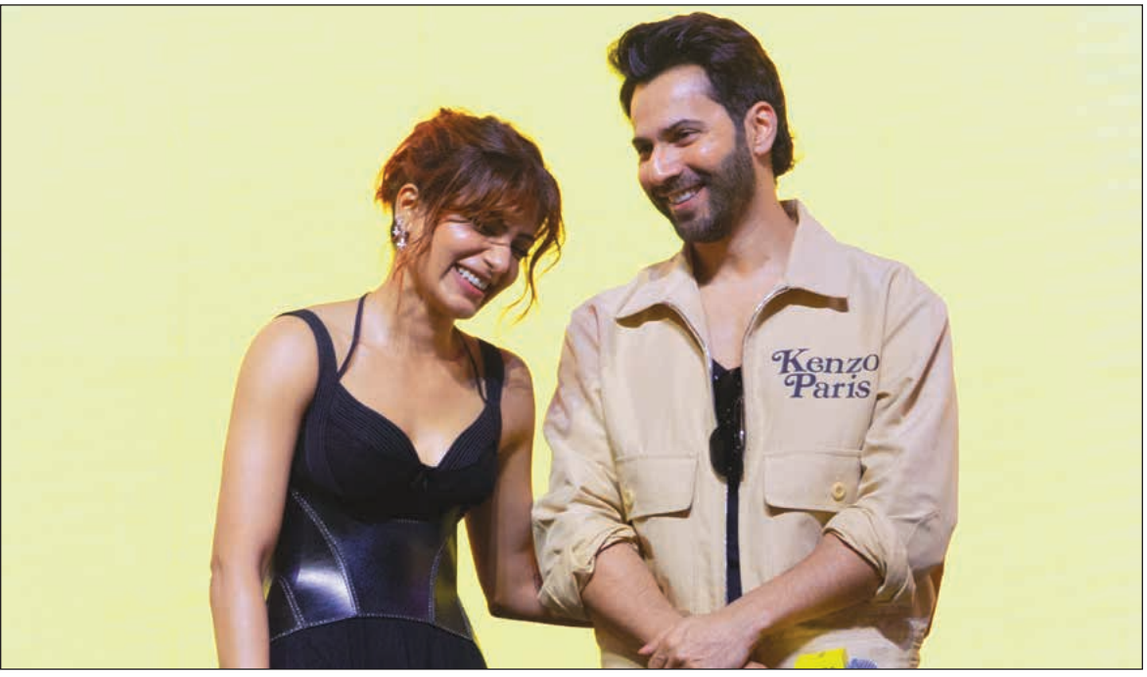

League of Legends fans can dive back into the world of the games when "Arcane" returns Saturday, Nov. 9, for its second and final season. The second and third installments are set to air Nov. 16 and Nov. 23, respectively. Set in the utopia of Piltover and the oppressed underground of Zaun, the series explores the origin stories of several of the game's characters, with a focus on sisters Jinx (Ella Purnell, "Fallout") — also known as Powder — and Vi (Hailee Steinfeld, "Dickinson"). This season, set in the aftermath of the explosive events from Season 1, finds Jinx launching an attack on the Piltover council. With the relationship between Jinx and Vi still anything but amicable, Jinx will have to grapple with the impact of her actions as the conflict between Piltover and Zaun comes to a head. From Riot Games, the series comes from creators Christian Linke and Alex Yee in their first major producing roles. Kevin Alejandro ("Arrow"), Katie Leung ("Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix," 2007), Jason Spisak ("Young Justice"), Toks Olagundoye ("Castle"), J.B. Blanc ("Breaking Bad"), Reed Shannon ("Blaze and the Monster Machines"), Brett Tucker ("Mistresses"), Mick Wingert ("Kung Fu Panda: The Paws of Destiny") and Harry Lloyd ("The Theory of Everything," 2014) also voice star.

"Outer Banks" - Season 4, Part 2

Wrapping up its latest season with four drama-packed new episodes, "Outer Banks" returns Thursday, Nov. 7, to Netflix for Season 4, Part 2. Set against the picturesque backdrop of the Outer Banks of North Carolina, this teen mystery drama follows the lives of the locals who live in a popular coastal tourist town year-round. When the group happens upon a legendary treasure map that comes with an unbelievable prize and a dark secret early on in the series, they quickly find their lives changed forever. This season, the Pogues are attempting to live a normal life in their new safe haven, which they've dubbed Poguelandia 2.0. But it isn't long before the group — including John B. (Chase Stokes, "Dr. Bird's Advice for Sad Poets," 2021), Sarah (Madelyn Cline, "Glass Onion," 2022), Kiara (Madison Bailey, "Black Lightning"), Pope (J.D., "Do Revenge," 2022), JJ (Rudy Pankow, "Uncharted," 2022) and Cleo (Carlacia Grant, "Greenleaf") — are back out on another adventure, with a new treasure on the horizon. Created by Shannon Burke ("Abandon," 2002), and twin brothers Jonas and Josh Pate (both of "Surface" and "Good vs Evil"), the new season is directed by Jonas Pate. Austin North ("I Didn't Do It"), Carolina Arapoglou ("Stranger Things"), Julia Antonelli ("WITS Academy"), Cullen Moss ("Your Honor"), Deion Smith ("Will Trent"), Charles Halford ("True Detective"), Charles Esten ("Nashville"), Drew Starkey ("Love, Simon," 2018) and David Jensen ("Queen Sugar") also star.

"Citadel: Honey Bunny" - Season 1

Set in the Citadel universe, the new spinoff "Citadel: Honey Bunny" premieres Thursday, Nov. 7, on Prime Video, set against the backdrop of India in the '90s. While Bunny (Varun Dhawan, "October," 2018) is a stuntman and Honey (Samantha Ruth Prabhu, "The Family Man") is a struggling actress, they find themselves caught up in a "high-stakes world of action, espionage and betrayal" when they team up for a side gig (per Prime Video). When Honey and Bunny's dangerous and unlikely past catches up with them years later, the estranged couple must team up once more to protect their family. Created by Anthony and Joe Russo ("Everything Everywhere All at Once," 2022), "Honey Bunny" is directed by "The Family Man's" Krishna D.K. and Raj Nidimoru, with a screenplay by D.K., Nidimoru and Sita Menon ("Farzi"). Kay Kay Menon ("Haider," 2014), Emma Canning ("Masters of the Air"), Simran ("Rocketry: The Nambi Effect," 2022), Saqib Saleem ("Crackdown"), Sikandar Kher ("Aarya"), Soham Majumdar ("Kabir Singh," 2019), Shivankit Singh Parihar ("Dalchini") and new talent Kashvi Majmundar are also in the cast.

"Cada Minuto Cuenta" – Season 1

On September morning in 1985, tragedy struck Mexico City, as an 8.1 magnitude earthquake brought buildings to the ground and families to their knees. See how heroes were forged in the debris of a fallen city in the brand-new series "Cada Minuto Cuenta," premiering Friday, Nov. 8, on Prime Video. According to the streamer, the fictionalized series "intimately portrays the people who lived through the tragedy firsthand, but above all, it tells the story of how heroes and heroines were forged, keeping the catastrophe at bay and making every minute count in their rescue efforts." Following a doctor with a dark past, a journalist seeking fame, and a family in distress, this breathtaking survival story explores how every minute offers the opportunity to change the course of one's life. With episodes directed by Jorge Michel Grau ("We Are What We Are," 2010), Moises Ortiz Urquidi ("High Heat") and Fernando Urdapilleta ("Estrellas solitarias," 2015), "Cada Minuto Cuenta" stars Oswaldo Rada ("Telephone," 2023), Enrique Arreola ("Duck Season," 2004), Jorge León ("Before I Forget"), Rocio Guzman ("Down the Rabbit Hole," 2024), Alphonso Escobedo ("Analema," 2023), Lesslie Apodaca ("Diseñando tu amor"), Jorge Gidi ("Bardo: False Chronicle of a Handful of Truths," 2022) and Conchi León ("Hurricane Season," 2023).

"13 Going on 30" (2004)

From director Gary Winick ("Bride Wars," 2009), the beloved coming-of-age comedy "13 Going on 30" is now available to stream on Prime Video. On her 13th birthday, the oh-so unpopular Jenna Rink (here, played by Christa B. Allen, "Revenge") makes a wish while stuck in a closet at her own party: to be thirty, flirty and thriving. The next morning, Jenna (now played by Jennifer Garner, "Alias") wakes up exactly where she hoped to be. She's 30-years old, living in the big city, dating a cute guy and working for a high profile fashion magazine alongside her best friend. Very quickly, however, Jenna learns that growing up isn't always as easy — or fun — as it seems, and that most adults could use a reminder of who they used to be. Crafted by writers Josh Goldsmith ("What Women Want," 2000) and Cathy Yuspa ("The King of Queens"), this nostalgia-filled flick features a cast including Mark Ruffalo ("Spotlight," 2015), Judy Greer ("Archer"), Andy Serkis ("The Batman," 2022), Kathy Baker ("Picket Fences"), Phil Reeves ("Sideways," 2004), Sam Ball ("Pumpkin," 2002), Marcia DeBonis ("Heels"), Sean Marquette ("The Goldbergs"), Kiersten Warren ("Bicentennial Man," 1999) and Joe Grifasi ("Presumed Innocent," 1990).

Barefoot Contessa shines in Season 6 of 'Be My Guest'

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

The Barefoot Contessa prepares for a night of hosting at her East Hampton home, as a brand-new episode from Season 6 of the Emmy-winning series "Be My Guest with Ina Garten" premieres Sunday, Nov. 3, on Food Network.

A talented chef, New York Times bestselling cookbook author and once the steadfast host of the renowned Food Network series "Barefoot Contessa," chef Ina Garten has far more to share than can be contained in her recently released memoir, "Be Ready When the Luck Happens." Lucky for her, every episode of "Be My Guest" allows Garten to share everything — including tips and tricks for the kitchen, memories from her career, hopes for future projects and so much more.

Throughout the series, Garten takes the time to discuss career highlights and upcoming projects with each of her esteemed guests, all while sharing divine recipes that impress even the most seasoned celebrities — chef or not. So far, Season 6 has seen the appearance of chef Bobby Flay ("Beat Bobby Flay"); award-winning actor, comedian, writer and producer Julia Louis-Dreyfus ("Seinfeld"); comedian Stephen Colbert ("The Late Show with Stephen Colbert"), alongside his wife, producer Evie McGee-Colbert ("After Midnight"); and actor Wendell Pierce ("The Wire"). From country fresh omelettes and green goddess dips to cherry pistachio biscotti and sour cream coffee cake, Garten impresses her co-stars with her own delicious recipes, all easy enough for anyone to replicate at home.

Ina Garten hosts "Be My Guest with Ina Garten"

In upcoming episodes, Garten is set to be joined by bestselling novelist Ann Patchett ("Tom Lake," 2023) and by world-renowned chef Eric Ripert ("Avec Eric"). While Patchett, according to the network's episode description, "shares childhood revelations and her winning formula for writing bestsellers over Ina's cherry clafouti," Ripert takes over the kitchen to make his own seared tuna with ginger soy salad.

"I love having friends come spend the day with me when we have time to talk and cook together — we have a very good time. Hope you can join us!" said Garten, sharing her ongoing excitement for the series.

"Be My Guest with Ina Garten" continues with more kitchen conversations Sunday, Nov. 3, on Food Network.

"A Man Called Otto" (2022)

Find new meaning in life with the comedy drama film "A Man Called Otto" when it becomes available to stream on Hulu Wednesday, Nov. 6. Six months ago, Otto Anderson (Tom Hanks, "Forrest Gump," 1994) lost his wife. Having completely given up on life and unable to see any meaning to it, Otto is ready to end it all. But, when a young and lively family moves in next door, Otto meets his match in the quick-witted Marisol (Mariana Trevino, "Club de Cuervos"), who challenges him to see life differently. Based on the bestselling novel of the same name by Fredrik Backman, "A Man Called Otto" is directed by Marc Forster ("The Kite Runner," 2007), with a screenplay by David Magee ("Life of Pi," 2012). Rachel Keller ("Legion"), Manuel Garcia-Rulfo ("The Lincoln Lawyer"), Mike Birbiglia ("Billions"), Cameron Britton ("The Umbrella Academy"), Mack Bayda ("Making a Scene," 2023), Juanita Jennings ("The Deliverance," 2024), Peter Lawson Jones ("White Boy Rick," 2018) and Kelly Lamor Wilson ("Unnecessary Meanness," 2013) also star. Hanks, Gary Goetzman ("My Big Fat Greek Wedding," 2002), Fredrik Wikstrom ("A Man Called Ove," 2015) and Rita Wilson ("Mamma Mia!," 2008) are producers.

"NCIS" - Seasons 1-11

Get back on the case with a cozy fall binge when Seasons 1-11 of "NCIS" stream on Hulu beginning Friday, Nov. 8. A franchise-launching smash-hit series that's been on air since 2003, "NCIS" is itself a spinoff of the hit CBS series "JAG." The series follows the special agents of the Major Case Response Team working for the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) in Washington, D.C. Headed up by Supervisory Special Agent Leroy Jethro Gibbs (Mark Harmon, "Freaky Friday, "2003), the team gets to the bottom of some tricky cases involving Navy and Marine Corps personnel. The team also includes (at different points throughout the seasons) special agents Anthony DiNozzo (Michael Weatherly, "Dark Angel"), Ziva David (Cote de Pablo, "Seneca," 2019), Timothy McGee (Sean Murray, "Harts of the West"), Ellie Bishop ("I Am Number Four," 2011) and Caitlin Todd (Sasha Alexander, "Rizzoli & Isles"); forensic specialist Abby Sciuto (Pauley Perrette, "Almost Famous," 2000); and medical examiners Dr. Donald "Ducky" Mallard (David McCallum, "The Man from U.N.C.L.E.") and Jimmy Palmer (Brian Dietzen, "Congratulations," 2012). "NCIS" comes from creators Donald P. Bellisario ("Quantum Leap") and Don McGill ("CSI: Crime Scene Investigation").

Mariana Trevino and Tom Hanks star in "A Man Called Otto"

"Poolman" (2023)

Get to scrubbing! The absurdist mystery comedy film "Poolman" makes its Hulu debut Friday, Nov. 8. Set in the bustling, sun-soaked city of Los Angeles, "Poolman" follows city native Darren Barrenman (Chris Pine, "Star Trek," 2009), who fills his days by maintaining the pool at the Tahitian Tiki apartment block and looking for ways to make his town a better place to live for all. But, Darren's life takes an eventful turn when a femme fatale named June Del Rey (DeWanda Wise, "She's Gotta Have It") recruits him to help uncover a dark truth involving a corrupt politician, a greedy land developer and a shady business deal. At the end of it all, Darren uncovers a hidden truth about not only the City of Angels, but also about himself. Marking Pine's directorial debut, "Poolman" is written by Pine and Ian Gotler ("Doula," 2022). Produced by Gotler, Pine, Stacey Sher ("Erin Brockovich," 2000) and Patty Jenkins ("Wonder Woman 1984," 2020), the film also stars Annette Bening ("Apples Never Fall"), Stephen Tobolowsky ("One Day at a Time"), Clancy Brown ("Billions"), John Ortiz ("American Gangster," 2007), Ray Wise ("Fresh Off the Boat"), Jennifer Jason Leigh ("Fargo") and Danny DeVito ("It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia").

David McCallum, Michael Weatherly, Sean Murray, Cote de Pablo and Mark Harmon in "NCIS"

Ree Drummond hosts "The Pioneer Woman"

The Pioneer Woman

FOOD 10:00 AM

If there is one place to be, it's cook and author Ree Drummond's house. With a nod to the changing seasons, she cooks pecan crusted pork chops with a whiskey cream sauce, glazed apple cider doughnuts, root veggies with Italian sausage and more.

College Football

(5) 7:30 PM

What probably looked like a great scheduling coup previously with two iconic football schools facing off has turned into something less as the down-on-their-luck Florida State Seminoles head into South Bend, Ind., to take on a resurgent Notre Dame.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I loved Lt. Dixon on "Law & Order," especially the scenes where she used sign language. Did she just learn ASL for the role or does she have a background in it?

A: Camryn Manheim ("The Practice") has an extensive and impressive background in sign language, even if she's pretty modest about how she got it.

"I just needed to get to university so my parents wouldn't cut me out of the will," is how she framed it in a 2015 interview with The Associated Press.

When she was young and applying to university — at her parents' demand — she needed to pass two languages but had already failed French and Spanish. She said she took two semesters of American Sign Language (ASL) just to qualify for the University of California at Santa Cruz.

Years later, in an event that sounds like one of her "Law & Order" episodes, she witnessed a pedestrian being hit by a car and, when she rushed to help, she discovered the victim was deaf. With her limited ASL, she managed to interpret for the first responders. "I felt terrible that I didn't know more," she said in the same AP interview.

So she began taking classes again and eventually became so fluent that she was qualified as an ASL interpreter.

That's how, as Lt. Dixon in NBC's "Law & Order" revival, she can speak with her character's deaf son.

Unfortunately, [spoiler alert for the new season of "Law & Order"] we won't be seeing any more of those heartwarming scenes. Her character was written off the show at the beginning of this season — the show's 24th.

It was done abruptly, with a new lieutenant showing up at a crime scene and then a text message on screen from Dixon.

On her Instagram, Manheim said she was "thankful for the three wonderful seasons" she had on the show, adding, "Something wonderful awaits me around the corner, and I can't wait to see what it is."

Q: Is Mikey Day going to be doing more "Is It Cake"?

A: Netflix hasn't announced yet whether Mikey Day's ("Saturday Night Live") reality cooking show, "Is It Cake?," will get a fourth season.

It's a little hard to even speculate. Viewership of the show's third season was definitely down — Netflix reported that the second season got roughly 21 million views in the six months after its release, whereas the third season only got nine million.

But nine million views could still be enough to earn a fourth round. It seems pretty inexpensive to make, with just one set, one full-time cast member (Day) and relatively modest prizes — the Season 3 winner took home $65,000. As a comparison, a single episode of Netflix's historical drama "Bridgerton" costs $7 million to make.

Perhaps the biggest question is how much longevity there is in the show's premise: each episode, a group of amateur bakers make cakes that look like everyday objects — suitcases, bowling pins, anything but cakes — and try to fool a panel of celebrity judges. Does Netflix think there's another season's worth of reality drama in there? There's a theoretically infinite number of items that can be turned into cakes.

If it does come back, it seems likely that Day will come with it. His situation hasn't changed much — all along, he's been doing this show off the side of his desk, so to speak, while continuing to be a featured player in "Saturday Night Live."

Q: What's Hugh Laurie's next project? I was sad to see "Avenue 5" go so soon.

A: Hugh Laurie ("House") is working on two different projects at the moment, but there are question marks hanging over both.

It was announced in February 2023 that he would appear in the third season of Apple TV+'s spy drama "Tehran," but nothing's been heard of that since, even though the second season was released all the way back in the summer of 2022.

Filming was almost certainly delayed by the Hollywood strikes (though producers reportedly signed an "interim agreement" with the actors union to film while the strike was going on), but that doesn't totally explain the absence of news since.

Meanwhile, it was announced that an even older series, BBC and AMC's "The Night Manager," is finally getting a second season. Laurie was the villain in the first season in 2016, who [eight-year-old spoiler alert] was apprehended at the end.

When the BBC announced the list of returning actors, he wasn't included. But it did say he'd be involved as an executive producer. So as things stand, we won't see him on screen, but the situation has the potential for at least a surprise cameo.

Another thing that offers hope of a reprise: the BBC announced that his character's son in "The Night Manager," played by Noah Jupe ("A Quiet Place," 2018), will be returning for the second season. So, Laurie's character will, at least be part of the conversation.
