Late Laughs

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert (R)

As a performer, there are three things you don't want to follow: animals, children or a fascist takeover of your country — "Cabaret" aside.

Biden loves Florida because it's the only place he's considered middle-aged.

Poll results have raised concerns that democratic erosion may have sent many citizens on a downward spiral of feeling powerless, apathetic and disconnected. Yeah, but what can you do? It doesn't matter. I don't want to think about it.

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon (R)

For both parties, it [the election] wasn't great, but also not terrible. It was the political equivalent of eating at TGI Friday's.

Apparently [Donald] Trump blamed Melania for convincing him to back Dr. Oz, saying that it wasn't her "best decision." Then Melania was like, "Well, it certainly wasn't my worst."

I saw that in 2024 the Summer Olympics — they just unveiled their mascot. And it is a hat. ... Honestly, the only thing that mascot doesn't look like is a hat. It looks like a holiday-themed poop emoji.

A man in the U.K. was just arrested for throwing eggs at King Charles. Yup, some of the eggs shattered on the ground, and, this is tragic, but it's been reported that all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put them back together again.

[SAT] Test sheets flew out of a UPS truck. The students should have known this was going to happen because one of the questions on the test was, "If a UPS truck is driving at 50 miles per hour with the trunk open ..."

Jimmy Kimmel Live! (R)

which makes sense, because if you've ever been to Hollywood Boulevard ... a Spidey suit isn't just a Halloween costume; it's a lifestyle.

NASA rammed a spaceship into an asteroid to try to knock it off course. Well, it worked! ... But it really is hard to believe we live in a country where scientists who are smart enough to target and hit an asteroid that's 11 million miles away live right next door to people who are so dim they think vaccines turn you into a refrigerator magnet.

An app called Preply ... polled people in various U.S. cities to find out how often they use curse words. ... New York wasn't even in the top 10. In fact, New York was tied for fourth among cities that curse the least. I don't know about that: we just spent a week in New York [and] I'm pretty sure I heard a pigeon call me a son of a b——.

The Daily Beast reported that he [Herschel Walker] paid for an abortion in 2009. ... At this point, Herschel Walker has misrepresented so much of his life they should give him the "Liesman trophy."

Late Night With Seth Meyers (R)

Authorities in New York arrested a mother after she allegedly allowed her 10-year-old son to get a tattoo. Worse, the tattoo was to celebrate one year without a cigarette. You'll think about it on the way home and like it more.

The CDC named several states in its worst category for flu levels, including Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and South Carolina. Basically, if your college football team is any good, get your flu shot.

A T-Rex dinosaur skull will go up for auction next month and is expected to sell for 20 million of Nic Cage's dollars.

The Northeastern University School of Law mistakenly sent acceptance emails to nearly 4,000 applicants. Even worse, Harvard Law accidentally sent an acceptance email to someone whose dad didn't even go there.

New clues: 'The Irrational' takes an unexpected approach to investigating crime

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Some investigators just have the knack when it comes to seeing the missing piece in confounding investigations. In "The Irrational," a brand-new crime procedural premiering Monday, Sept. 25, on NBC, Prof. Alec Mercer (Jesse L. Martin, "The Flash") is pulled from the world of academia to lend his highly sought-after expertise to virtually unsolvable cases.

"The Irrational" is based on the popular book "Predictably Irrational" by author Dan Ariely, about the theories behind decision-making and rational thought. The series drops Mercer into active investigations in dire need of a fresh perspective. With law enforcement and investigators at a loss for tying suspects and motives to shocking crimes, the professor joins the team to lead them down his unique path of discovery.

In its series description, NBC notes that Mercer's "insight and unconventional approach to understanding human behavior lead him and the team on a series of intense, unexpected journeys to solve illogical puzzles and perplexing mysteries."

In the official trailer for the series, Mercer is seen very much at home at the front of a lecture hall, teaching one of his psychology intro courses before he meets a little bit of resistance when he encounters law enforcement. An investigator asks him if he's the "science guy," leading Mercer to quip, "That's Bill Nye. I'm actually the behavioral sciences guy." His sense of humor shows itself again when his theoretical approaches are gently questioned before he remarks, "Gravity was just a theory at one point."

What are the methods behind Mercer's breakthrough analysis of these high-profile, dead-end cases? Well, the trailer gives a glimpse into the theories he uses to shed light on where investigative trails have gone cold. Mercer shoots off a few choice $10 phrases like "predictable irrationality," "paradoxical persuasion," "attentional blindness" and "bereavement sex" as some of the things knocking around his head as he takes a new look at tough cases.

While Mercer is increasingly pulled away from his academic work as he successfully aids federal investigations, he does make sure to keep two of his best and brightest graduate students in the loop. Molly Kunz ("Chicago Fire") stars as Phoebe, a protégé of Mercer's who enthusiastically follows in her professor's footsteps, both literally and figuratively. Arash DeMaxi ("Partner Track") is Owen, another one of Mercer's students who gets pulled into his new side gig.

"The Irrational" also stars Maahra Hill ("Delilah") as FBI agent Marisa, Mercer's main contact and partner in these investigations. Travina Springer ("Ms. Marvel") is Kylie, Mercer's sister and current roommate. While the pair are close siblings, Kylie is more of a free spirit than Mercer, who uses his own creativity to shake up bureaucracies. Soma Chhaya ("The Breadwinner," 2017) stars as Jasmine and Ella Cannon ("iZombie") is Lila.

This isn't Martin's first rodeo when it comes to the world of TV crime procedurals. He is probably best known for his eight-season run as Det. Ed Green on "Law & Order," of course popping up in the main series' many spinoffs over the years. "Law & Order" is notorious for its cases being ripped from the headlines, and perhaps the close relationship the series had with true crime was part of what motivated Martin's move years after he wrapped on the prolific crime drama.

In 2022, Martin began hosting the seventh season of "How It Really Happened," an HLN series that delves into horrific murders and their investigations. Martin told People last August, "I never thought of myself as a host, really, of anything. I rather enjoy being able to hide myself in a character. But this was such a cool project." He added, "It's amazing to be part of something where you're literally on the pulse of what's actually happening. These mysteries aren't solved, so they're continuously being investigated."

"The Irrational" writer/producer Arika Lisanne Mittman has some serious hits on her resume with one especially notable title. Mittman currently executive produces NBC's science-fiction drama "La Brea," which has been renewed and is expected to premiere its third season sometime next year. The cult hit time-traveling drama "Timeless" came from the mind of Mittman, arguably cut short after two seasons. The most direct throughline from "The Irrational" to projects in Mittman's past is the Sherlock Holmes-centric procedural hit "Elementary." What is it that we love so much about smart-aleck criminal investigation consultants with all the answers?

"The Irrational" debuts following the singing competition series "The Voice" on NBC and joins the new series "Found," the network's second new original series premiering this fall. Another procedural, "Found" follows a crisis management team that focuses on finding missing people. With most networks relying on non-scripted series amid the ongoing WGA and SAG-AFTRA strikes, NBC's new scripted dramas will be some of the fall's lone non-competition or reality offerings.

Don't miss the series premiere of NBC's brand-new crime drama, "The Irrational," debuting Monday, Sept. 25.

Teamwork, travel and timing: 'The Amazing Race' returns for 35th season

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

After more than two decades on the air, "The Amazing Race" has amassed a huge following on CBS. Across its 34 seasons to date, those behind the scenes have found new and innovative ways to keep the reality series fresh and exciting year in and year out. Now headed into its 35th season on the Viacom-owned network and its streaming service, Paramount+, "The Amazing Race" is bigger than ever – literally. Don't miss the season premiere of "The Amazing Race," complete with a new, longer format, Wednesday, Sept. 27.

First taking viewers by storm in 2001, one year after the success of CBS's other hit adventure-reality series, "Survivor," "The Amazing Race" drew viewers in with its unique worldwide scavenger hunt premise. Focusing on several teams (usually teams of two), the action-packed show films in several countries on different continents the world over and captures the stress, excitement and determination faced by each pair as they book their flights, decipher clues, compete in a series of challenges and race against time (and the other teams) for the million-dollar prize.

Until now, with the exception of premieres and finales, episodes have traditionally been limited to one hour each. Season 35, however, ups the ante by making each of the 13 individual episodes into a 90-minute special event. These extended episodes will follow "Survivor," which is also releasing a season of 90-minute episodes, for three hours of non-stop reality entertainment on CBS. Additionally, the new season returns to the much-adored format of requiring contestants to book their own flights, rather than relying on pre-booked chartered jets for travel, which was a necessary adjustment for safety reasons during the pandemic. Despite the changes, much of "The Amazing Race" stays the same in fall 2023, including the usual $1-million grand prize and host Phil Keoghan ("Tough as Nails").

In a recent interview for CBS News Los Angeles' KCAL News, Keoghan discussed "The Amazing Race" Season 35 and his involvement in the newest season of "Tough As Nails." Clearly excited for the upcoming "Race," Keoghan noted his delight that the show is still fresh and fans continue to support it. "We just finished filming our latest season," Keoghan told KCAL News anchor Marci Gonzalez, alluding to the fact that the cast and crew are a full season ahead in their filming schedule. "I still can't quite believe we've done 36 seasons. Almost a quarter of a century I've been working on this show and it's such a privilege.

"It's a show that has just resonated," Keoghan continued. "And to still be relevant after more than two decades on a show like 'The Amazing Race' is pretty awesome."

Those who noticed the Season 36 mention should note that, yes, the show is looking ahead to a 36th season (to be released in 2024), but there is a bit more to it than that. In fact, what airs on television as Season 35 is actually the race that was filmed most recently. As a result, viewers are essentially getting to see Season 36 content first. The race filmed first will be released as Season 36 next year.

Nevertheless, Keoghan remains true to TV tradition (and his contract) and remains relatively tight-lipped about Season 35 (and 36) locations.

"What I can tell you is that we go to some countries we have never been to before on 'The Amazing Race,'" the host told Gonzalez when she asked for specific location details. "We've been to about 100 [countries] in the last 20-something years, traveled over a million miles, but ... to me, it's just exciting to go somewhere new and different that the teams have never been to before."

According to Hindi-language newspapers Danik Bhaskar and Morning News India, the show filmed in Jaipur and Amber, India, between June 22 and 24. Meanwhile, in an exclusive interview with Variety's Michael Schneider, Bertram van Munster and Elise Doganieri (both of "The Quest"), executive producers of "The Amazing Race," joined Keoghan in sharing a bit more news about other stops, including new-to-the-show location Slovenia.

"It's a really spectacularly beautiful country," van Munster of Slovenia said. "It's almost like a fairytale place."

The EPs also discussed the return of the Express Pass, "in which one team can try to leapfrog to the leg's finish line by completing a special task," and the U-Turn, "in which teams can potentially force another team to go back and complete another task" (per Schneider).

Ultimately, Keoghan believes "we're sharing the world with people," adding that it's always a pleasure to offer fans the opportunity "to see the most incredible places around the world from the comfort of their favorite chair."

So, take a seat in your favorite chair and don't miss the return of "The Amazing Race," premiering in its new 90-minute format immediately following an extended episode of "Survivor." The three-hour adventure-reality block begins Wednesday, Sept. 27, on CBS and Paramount+.

'The Voice' returns minus one country superstar

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Bye-bye Blake: "The Voice" returns for its 24th season, premiering Monday, Sept. 25, on NBC. One familiar face, however, won't be returning with the rest, as long-running "Voice" coach Blake Shelton ("Body Language," 2021) announced he won't be returning to the series for the first time in its 12-year history.

According to NBC, the star has left the show in order to spend more time with family on his Oklahoma ranch, with Shelton having previously been quoted as saying: "I've been wrestling with this for a while, and I've decided that it's time for me to step away from The Voice after Season 23."

"This show has changed my life in every way for the better," he continued, "and it will always feel like home to me. It's been a hell of a ride over these 12 years of chair turns, and I want to thank everyone at 'The Voice' from NBC, every producer, the writers, musicians, crew and catering people; you are the best.

"[...] I've made lifelong bonds with [host] Carson [Daly] and every single one of my fellow coaches over the years, including my wife, Gwen Stefani! I have to give a huge shout-out to the singers, the 'Voices,' who come on this stage season after season and amaze us with their talent, and a special thanks to those who chose me to be their coach. Lastly, it's about y'all, the fans, who watch and support these artists, who coaches, and everyone at 'The Voice' who are chasing their dreams. It would not happen without you!"

Season 23's mega mentor Reba

McEntire ("Reba," 1988) is set to fill the country star's mighty big boots (and his chair) during Season 24, joining veteran coaches Niall Horan ("The Show," 2023), John Legend ("Bigger Love," 2020) and Gwen Stefani ("The Sweet Escape," 2006).

This will be Stefani's first season on "The Voice" without her husband (Shelton) coaching alongside her. While appearing on a talk show earlier this year, Stefani commented on the upcoming absence, joking: "Hopefully, it'll give me a chance to win, so there's that."

Previously, Stefani won The Voice once (Season 19, with Carter Ruben), while Shelton leaves the show with nine wins under his belt (seasons 2, 3, 4, 7, 11, 13, 18, 20 and 22).

Whether Stefani will cinch a win, fans will have to wait and see when "The Voice" returns for Season 24, premiering Monday, Sept. 25, on NBC.

Star-studded celebration: A celebration of arts, science, entrepreneurship and more, 2023's "Hispanic Heritage Awards" will be broadcast Friday, Sept. 29, on PBS.

"The historic 'Hispanic Heritage Awards,' which were created by the White House to commemorate the establishment of Hispanic Heritage Month in America, are among the highest honors by Latinos for Latinos and supported by 40 national Hispanic-serving institutions," the Hispanic Heritage Foundation states, shared in a description on their website (hispanicheritage.org). The event has now been taking place annually for 36 years, highlighting greatness in countless fields.

This year, the Hispanic Heritage Foundation honors many talented

This film kicks off a week of Anderson short releases, with new shorts "The Swan," "The Ratcatcher" and "Poison" following on Sept. 28, 29 and 30, respectively. "Street Flow 2" (2023)

The story of three very different brothers living in a tough suburb of Paris continues in the new French movie "Street Flow 2," premiering on Netflix Wednesday, Sept. 27. Now a few years on from the events of the first film, brothers Soulaymaan (relative newcomer Jammeh Diangana), Demba (Kery James, "Cash," 2016) and Noumouké (Bakary Diombera, "Ganglands") are still trying to make their way through tough circumstances. After his brush with death, Demba tries his best to turn his life around, while Noumouké gets involved in brawls between rival neighborhoods and Soulaymaan takes his first steps as a lawyer. As the brothers try to move forward together, they'll have to resist a wave of violence and brutality coming their way. Also starring Georgina Elizabeth Okon ("Mortel"), Krystel Roche ("The Passage," 2018), Sana Sri ("You Resemble Me," 2021) and Kadi Diarra ("Hippocrates: Diary of a French Doctor," 2014), "Street Flow 2" is written by star James and directed by Leila Sy ("Yo mama," 2023). Toufik Ayadi ("Saint Omer," 2022), Christophe Barral ("Saint Omer," 2022), Frédéric Jouve ("Un Peuple," 2022) and Marie Lecoq ("Other People's Childre," 2022) are producers.

"Encounters"

Taking a closer look at some extraordinary true stories, the new, four-part docuseries, "Encounters," premieres on Netflix Wednesday, Sept. 27. Traveling the globe to explore encounters with otherworldly phenomena, each episode is a deep-dive into a single story. Looking into "strange lights in the sky over small-town Texas; submersible space crafts haunting a coastal Welsh village; an alien encounter with schoolchildren in Zimbabwe; non-human intelligence reportedly interfering with a nuclear power plant in Japan," the stories are "told from the perspective of firsthand experiencers — in the places where the sightings occurred — and guided by cutting-edge scientists and military personnel, the series goes beyond the science to highlight the profoundly human impact of these encounters on lives, families and communities" (per Netflix). Directed by Yon Motskin ("Generation Hustle"), who also executive produces the series, "Encounters" comes from Amblin Television, Boardwalk Pictures and Vice Studios.

"Love Is in the Air" (2023)

2023's "Love is in the Air" makes its streaming debut, Thursday, Sept. 28, on Netflix. Starring singer-songwriter Delta Goodrem ("Neighbours") as Dana and Joshua Sasse (Her Pen Pal," 2021) as William, this romantic comedy follows as Dana — a fiercely independent young pilot struggling to keep her family's business afloat — finds herself face-to-face with the man sent to ground her business once and for all . . . and, to make matters worse, finds herself falling for him, too. Charming and heartfelt, this Australian film was written and directed by Adrian Powers ("A Royal in Paradise," 2022) — with additional writing credits to Caera Bradshaw ("Dive Club") and Katharine McPhee ("Keep Yarning Strong," 2021). "Love Is in the Air" also stars Roy Billing ("Nude Tuesday," 2022), Steph Tisdell ("Class of '07"), Simon Brook McLachlan ("Me & My Left Brain," 2019), Daniela Pizzirani ("Skin Deep," 2020), Mia Grunwald ("Elvis," 2022), Hugh Parker ("The Family Law"), and newcomers Dante Surace and Richard Wheeler.

"Gen V" - Season 1

The supes are back and ready for more action: from the world of "The Boys" comes the new action series, "Gen V," premiering Friday, Sept. 29, on Prime Video. Heading away to Godolkin University, the prestigious superhero-only college where students train to be the next generation of heroes, the new series follows the first group of young heroes to know that their powers come from Compound V and are not natural-born gifts. As the students grapple with ordinary college chaos — from grades and parties to finding out who they are — they also deal with much higher stakes where their powers are involved. When a group of young supes at the school discover something sinister is going on, they'll be put to the test as they're forced to confront whether they're the heroes or villains of their own stories. Starring Jaz Sinclair ("Chilling Adventures of Sabrina"), Chance Perdomo ("Chilling Adventures of Sabrina"), Lize Broadway ("Here and Now"), Shelley Conn ("Bridgerton"), Maddie Phillips ("Teenage Bounty Hunters"), London Thor ("Shameless"), Derek Luh ("Shining Vale"), Asa Germann ("Two Little Boys," 2020), Patrick Schwarzenegger ("The Staircase"), Sean Patrick Thomas ("Till," 2022) and Marco Pigossi ("Invisible City"), the series also features appearances from "The Boys" cast members including Jessie T. Usher, Colby Minifie, Claudia Doumit and P.J. Byrne.

"CHiPs" – Complete Series

Having originally aired on NBC from 1977 - 1983, Rick Rosner's ("240-Robert") crime drama series, "CHiPs," will be available to stream on Prime Video — in its entirety — as of Saturday, Sept. 30. With six seasons available to binge, "CHiPs" stars Erik Estrada ("Call Me Kat") as the rambunctious Officer Francis "Frank" Llewellyn "Ponch" Poncerello and Larry Wilcox ("The Ray Bradbury Theater") as Ponch's steadfast, straitlaced partner, Officer Jonathan "Jon" Andrew Baker. The series follows the duo (both motorcycle officers of the California Highway Patrol — the CHiP) as they tackle big-city traffic faux-pas — everything from speeding cars to over-the-top freeway pile ups — keeping the roads safe for residents of The Golden State. A high-octane adventure from start to finish, this long-running series also stars Robert Pine ("Lakeview Terrace," 2008), Paul Linke ("Parent-hood," 1989), Brodie Greer ("L.A. Heat"), Lou Wagner ("Planet of the Apes," 1968), Randi Oakes ("Acapulco Gold," 1976), Michael Dorn ("Star Trek: First Contact," 1996), Lew Saunders ("Cocktail," 1988), Tom Reilly ("Uptown Girls," 2003), Tina Gayle ("Fury to Freedom," 1985), Brianne Leary ("Black Sheep Squadron"), Clarence Gilyard Jr. ("Die Hard," 1988) and more.

"The Batman" (2022)

Starring Robert Pattinson ("Twilight," 2008) as the titular vigilante, 2022's "The Batman" is now available to stream on Prime Video. This gritty iteration of the popular DC-comic, directed by Matt Reeves ("Dawn of the Planet of the Apes," 2017), begins with the murder of Gotham City's mayor — a confounding case requiring the help of reclusive billionaire Bruce Wayne (Pattinson) and the Gotham City Police Department. The superhero soon discovers the culprit to be the Riddler (Paul Dano, "There Will Be Blood," 2007) — an explosive serial killer targeting Gotham's elite — and while in pursuit of the criminal, Wayne uncovers far-reaching corruption throughout his city. Written by Reeves and Peter Craig ("Top Gun: Maverick," 2022), "The Batman" also stars Zoë Kravitz ("Mad Max: Fury Road," 2015), Jeffrey Wright ("The French Dispatch," 2021), Colin Farrell ("The Banshees of Inisherin," 2022), Andy Serkis ("Luther: The Fallen Sun," 2023), John Turturro ("Barton Fink," 1991), Peter Sarsgaard ("Shattered Glass," 2003), Barry Keoghan ("The Killing of a Sacred Deer," 2017), Jayme Lawson ("The Woman King," 2022), Luke Roberts ("Black Sails"), Stella Stocker ("Blithe Spirit," 2020) and more.

Ramsay reclaims fall

'Kitchen Nightmares' returns for Season 8 after ten-year hiatus

By Caroline Collacutt
TV Media

Superstar chef Gordon Ramsay is adding an old-favorite dish to Fox's fall menu as "Kitchen Nightmares" returns with its highly anticipated eighth season after a decade-long hiatus. New episodes premiere Monday, Sept. 25, on Fox.

The network is no stranger to Ramsay's distinct — now practically trademarked — in-your-face, abrupt and (sometimes) devastatingly honest critiques, as Fox is currently home to four other shows hosted by the celebrity chef: "Next Level Chef," "MasterChef," "MasterChef Jr." and "Hell's Kitchen," which is slated to return with its 22nd season — dubbed "Hell's Kitchen: American Dream" — on Thursday, Sept. 28 (also on Fox).

His most popular (and perhaps most quoted) series — "Kitchen Nightmares" — first aired in the U.K. as "Ramsay's Kitchen Nightmares" before making its debut on Fox in 2007. The series ran for nearly 100 episodes before concluding in 2014, much to viewers' dismay.

Later, in 2017, Ramsay told the Daily News: "Yes, it was wrong to pull my own show off air. ... The biggest demand over the last four years is for 'Kitchen Nightmares' (to come back)." Hungry fans have been waiting since then for word of the show's potential return.

Gordon Ramsay in "Kitchen Nightmares"

Now, with Season 8 around the corner, Fox has shared an updated synopsis for the series: "Chef Gordon Ramsay hits the road to help struggling restaurants all over the United States turn their luck around. Ramsay examines the problems each establishment faces, from unsanitary refrigerators to lazy or inexperienced staff, and searches for resolutions. With help from his team, Ramsay redecorates each eatery to give it a fresh new look and updates the menu as needed. Ramsay's ultimate goal is to make the restaurants he visits popular and profitable, but it's up to the restaurateurs to take his advice and turn their business nightmare into the American dream."

In each episode, Ramsay gives himself, restaurant owners and the rest of their team one week to turn their failing restaurant into spick-and-span, neatly operating (and with any luck, delicious) businesses.

Originally produced by ITV Studios (now known as ITV America), the series will now be produced by Gordon's very own Studio Ramsay Global — and the more Gordon Ramsay, the better. With more insults, code violations and stomach-churning dishes, "Kitchen Nightmares" returns to Fox, Monday, Sept. 25.

"Krapopolis" - Season 1

Every family has their drama, and this ancient family is no exception. Fox's newest animated comedy series, "Krapopolis," makes its streaming premiere on Hulu Monday, Sept. 25. Centering on "a flawed family of humans, gods and monsters attempting to guide humanity out of the savage wilderness and into a new lifestyle experiment they're calling 'civilization,'" the series follows along as they attempt to run Krapopolis, one of the world's first cities, without killing each other in the process (per Fox). The story follows the exploits of Tyrannis (Richard Ayoade, "The IT Crowd"), the mortal son of a goddess and the king of Krapopolis; Deliria (Hannah Waddingham, "Ted Lasso"), goddess of self-destruction and questionable choices, and Tyrannis' mother; Shlub (Matt Berry, "What We Do in the Shadows"), Tyrannis' father, a half-centaur, half-manticore; Stupendous (Pam Murphy, "Get Shorty"), Tyrannis' half-sister; and Hippocampus (Duncan Trussell, "The Midnight Gospel"), Tyrannis' half-brother, the offspring of Shlub and a mermaid. Created by Dan Harmon ("Community"), "Krapopolis" comes from Fox's Bento Box Entertainment and is executive produced by Harmon, Steve Levy ("Strange Planet"), Alex Rubens ("Rick and Morty") and Season 1 showrunner Jordan Young.

"Love in Fairhope" - Season 1

Fall into a "first-of-its-kind real-life romantic drama" (per Hulu) with the new reality series "Love in Fairhope," premiering on Hulu Wednesday, Sept. 27. Focusing on five generations of women in the picturesque small town of Fairhope, Alabama, the series follows along as they navigate life and love in a community where everyone knows everyone else's business. All the while, they'll see where one group's "romantic dreams, passions and inspirations will take them" (Hulu). From Evolution Media, Hello Sunshine and Tremont Road, the series is executive produced by Reese Witherspoon ("Wild," 2014), Sara Rea ("Project Runway"), Alex Baskin ("Vanderpump Rules"), Lauren Weber ("The New Moon Party," 2016), Brian McCarthy ("The Real Housewives of Orange County"), Joe Kingsley ("Botched") and Benton Bohannon ("Summer House").

"The Kardashians" - Season 4

Through the newest phases of their lives and with a fresh series under their belt, fans can still keep up with one of television's most recognizable families. Season 4 of "The Kardashians" premieres Thursday, Sept. 28, on Hulu. Following the Kardashian-Jenner clan — including mom Kris and daughters Kourtney, Kim, Khloé, Kendall and Kylie, as well as their significant others and kids — through the latest chapters of their lives, cameras capture it all as they navigate motherhood, co-parenting, building their own business empires and their high-profile careers. This season, "from second chances and new beginnings to unexpected blessings, they continue to bear it all together, a reminder that the most beautiful part of life is family" (per Hulu). The series is executive produced by the family in collaboration with Ryan Seacrest, who, in addition to his tenure hosting "American Idol," was a longtime executive producer of "Keeping Up With the Kardashians," the series that first launched the family into the spotlight and ran for 20 seasons. Kris Jenner, Kourtney Kardashian Barker, Kim Kardashian, Khloé Kardashian, Kendall Jenner and Kylie Jenner also act as executive producers for the series, alongside Emma Conway ("Betty White's Off Their Rockers"), Danielle King ("Million Dollar Listing New York") and Ben Winston ("The Late Late Show with James Corden"), and co-executive producers Sean Alvarez ("American Chopper: The Series") and William Newman ("Saving Paradise," 2021).

"Rachael Ray's Italian Dream Home" - Season 1

It's time to practice your Italian, as Season 1 of "Rachael Ray's Italian Dream Home" will be available to stream on Hulu as of Thursday, Sept. 28. The series follows as celebrity chef and television personality Rachael Ray realizes her lifelong dream of owning and renovating her own Italian dream

Kim Kardashian stars in "The Kardashians"

home — a picturesque spot located in the rolling hills of Tuscany. But, as any good chef does, Ray has set a timer on her task: she needs the villa up and running by her upcoming anniversary party, celebrating her marriage to husband John. Throughout the episodes, fans are welcome to watch as Ray's creative team (including designer Michael Murray) tackle over-the-top projects, including double toilet bathrooms, a music hall, a hosting space built for the best in the business, an underwater wine vault, a subterranean guest room, and even a primary bedroom with a kitchen — yes, a second kitchen, stove and all. Last but not least, this culinary superstar will create her dream kitchen (a full sized one this time), adding the finishing touches to her own Italian masterpiece... just in time for a celebration, too, as the first season culminates in an unforgettable evening for both Rachael and John.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I feel like I know Alvin Olinsky on "Chicago P.D." from something as a youth. What did the actor do before?

A: Elias Koteas, formerly of "Chicago P.D.," wasn't exactly "a youth" when he got his big break, but you might have been a youth when you saw it.

Opinions differ on what his star-making role actually was, but most have narrowed it down to one of two big-screen hits. In both cases, he was playing a street-wise tough in a teen-skewing film.

In 1987, he played a skinhead named Duncan in "Some Kind of

of his co-stars. That was kind of Hughes' calling card — casting adults as teens meant the actors were a little more able to do the dramatic and comedic heavy-lifting his movies required.

In between those two big roles, the Montreal-born Koteas won a Genie (the name of Canada's movie awards at the time) for his starring role in "Malarek." Again he was playing a street-wise kid, but this time in an adult-oriented film — the true story of Victor Malarek's transformation from troubled teen to respected journalist.

Koteas returned for "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles III" in 1993, but that more or less marked the end of his teen-movie career. He put a proper cap on it three years later when he starred in the very adult, multi-award-winning "Crash" (1996), about people who have a sexual fetish for car accidents (not to be confused with 2004's "Crash," about racism in America).

Piles of critically acclaimed roles followed, including his five-year run as part of the "One Chicago" TV universe, mostly on "Chicago P.D.," from 2013 to 2018, playing Det. Alvin Olinsky of the CPD Intelligence Unit.

Q: Did Robert Downey Jr. do a third "Sherlock Holmes"? Or will he? At the end of the second movie, it said "The End?" (with a question mark).

A: Is there already a third film with Robert Downey Jr. ("Iron Man," 2008) playing the legendary detective Sherlock Holmes? No. Will there be? Probably.

That's the best answer available right now.

I say probably because a lot of work has been put into it already, and because the previous two were basically cash machines for Warner Bros. studios — the sequel, 2011's "Sherlock Holmes: A Game of Shadows," earned more than half a million dollars at the box office.

It was originally supposed to come out in 2020, but it's been cursed — by script rewrites, by director changes, and later by the pandemic. But everyone involved insists it's still going to happen.

The latest assurance came in April of this year, from Susan Downey, one of the previous films' producers (and also Robert's wife), who told Un-Wrapped podcast that it's "in the hopper."

"We're going to do it when it's right with the right people. But it is a priority for the company and a priority for Robert."

Previously, Jude Law, who plays Dr. Watson in the movies, said the new script would acknowledge all the time that's passed between films by making it pass for the characters as well.

"We're going to play up the fact that they haven't seen each other for a long time, either," he told Entertainment Weekly in 2018.

Q: Has Da'Vine Joy Randolph done anything since "The Lost

City"? I thought she made that movie and I want to see more.

A: Da'Vine Joy Randolph has been incredibly busy since playing Beth the publicist just a year ago, in 2022's "The Lost City."

Since its release, she reprised her role as the determined and endlessly patient Det. Williams on the second season of the streaming hit "Only Murders in the Building" and appeared in the controversial HBO drama series "The Idol."

She also appeared in a trio of indie movies — "Rustin," "The Holdovers" and "A Little White Lie." And she's continued her side gig as a voice actor, most notably voicing Mama Luna in the mega-hit "Puss in Boots: The Last Wish," released last Christmas.

All this in just over a year.

So if you're just discovering Randolph now, you have plenty of catching up to do.

And you'd better get to work because she's adding more to the pile. She has a role in "Shadow Force," the
